Fifteen Hot Rounds, All Ending in the Gothamite's Favor.

Daly, Although Somewhat Groggy, Takes His Medicine Like a Man.

Heavy Fines Imposed by the American Trotting Association Magnates.

Boston, Dec. 5 .- The fifteen round glove fight for a purse of $1,000, winner to take all, between Mike Daly, of Bangor, and Jack McAuliffe, of New York, light-weights, at the rooms of the Cribb club to-night, resulted in a draw. Mc-Auliffe was the heavier, weighing 144 to Daty's 138 pounds. Con McAuliffe and Bob Drew seconded the New Yorker while Rill Daly and Danny Gill seconded Daly. The fight was announced to begin at 8:30, but there was a long wrangle ever the articles of agreement, and it was after 11 o'clock when the men entered the ring. From the ffrst McAuliffe landed his blows when and where he pleased, and Daly acted on the defen sive most of the time. In the second round Daly got in a teriffic right-hander on McAuliffe's wind that nearly took him off his feet, but McAuliffe replied with a blow that split Daly's left ear. In the third round McAuliffe worked Daly into his own corner and

In the third round McAuliffe worked Daly into his own corner and DEALT HIM HOT ONES, first with his left, then his right, landing on his jaw. In the fourth and lifth rounds Daly was caught off his guard and received several blows on the jaw. In the sixth McAuliffe feinted with his right, then swinging suddenly, put in his left with terrible force on Daly's chin, nearly lifting him off his feet. In the seventh there was some close in-fighting, but most to McAuliffe's advantage. In the eighth Daly got in his second teiling blow, landing in McAuliffe's nose, but drawing no blood. In the ninth McAuliffe caught Daly on the jaw with his right, staggering him, but Daly recovered and got in a swinging cut on McAuliffe's mouth that swelled his upper lip. In the next four rounds McAuliffe did all the leading and Daly's blows were wild. McAuliffe countered his blows and showered blow after blow upon him, in several instances nearly knocking him over the ropes. In the fourteenth and fifteenth rounds Daly appeared somewhat groggy, but kept gamely at work, and when time was called the referee declared the contest a draw. Joe Lannon acted as final referee.

been raging in every room in the house. Sugarman said it was some time before he could fully realize what had been done. When he did he started and gathered up all the tape. After this he took down the sacks of rags. Then he saw Wollf and demanded what it all meant. He raised such a rumpus that Wollf's brother threatened to throw him out of a window. At just this point the most interesting portion of all comes in. Sugarman says the Wollfs then begged him not to say anything about the matter. He refused to countenance the matter and hurried off to inform the insurance agent, a man of the name of Proeger. "Judge of my surprise," he said, "when Proeger also pleaded with me to say nothing of the matter, as it might get out." He did nothing more just then, except to take the tape and sacks home and stow them away. The Wollfs kept pleading so hard with him not to nake the matter public that finally he consented to let it drop if they would promise never to try anything of the kind again. They did no. After that, Sugarman says they also told him how nicely THE CHEMICALS WOULD WORK.

ment, under oath, that puts him in a bad fix. Sugarman swears that Barnard and Abraham Wollf and he were partners in the clothing trade on Third street, in 1886. They had the entire house. About the time of the Jewish holidays he noticed that Bernard Wollf was beginning what seemed to him a series of experiments with different qualities and sizes of candles. It appeared as if he was endeavoring to learn just how long it would take a candle of a certain thickness and quality to burn a certain distance. Between times he was visted by a red-bearded Russian, who always carried small bottles of different colored fluids. Sugarman did not understand the language they spoke, so consequently did not treatment of the ballot in cancus. It did not seem to trouble him in the least. He kept open house that evening in his room at the Ebbitt, where he entertained a number of Minnesotians and Senator Washburn, on the other hand, said it would meet with their approval. The basis which the president and secretary of the treasury propose to adont is the column of silver. ment he found that similar preparations to those below had been made. The tape ran from that point to the floor above, where the state of affairs was propose to adopt is the coinage of silver the same. Upward of a thousand yards of tape had been used. HANDSOME HARRY HANGED. The Brutal Murderer of Police man Brennan Pays the Penalty. NEW YOKK, Dec. 5 .- Harry Carlton, alias "Handsome Harry," the murderer of Policeman Brennan, was hanged at the Tombs prison at 7:30 this morning. Carlton was attired in a well-fitting black suit or clothes. He looked pale but maintained that steady nerve which he all along displayed. When near the gallows the sheriff and under sheriff gallows the sheriff and under sheriff stepped to one side, and Atkinson at once adjusted the noose, pulled the black cap over Carlton's head, gave a signal and the murderer of Policeman Brennan swung into the air a dangling, limp mass of lifeless humanity. A few convulsive twitches and all was over. It was within a few seconds of 7:30 o'clock when Carlton walked under the gallows, and at 7:30 o'clock he was hanged. The execution was as near perfection as such things can be. The crime for which Carlton paid the penalty was cold-blooded, cowardly and heartless in the extreme. It occurred alty was cold-blooded, cowardly and heartless in the extreme. It occurred on Sunday morning on Oct. 28, 1888. His victim was James Brennan, a policeman attached to the Thirty-fifth street station house. The facts of the shooting as elicited at the trial which begun on Dec. 10, 1888, are as follows: In company with two young toughs, named pany with two young toughs, named Eddie O'Hearn and "Youle" Burke, Carlton entered Robert Tucker's barroom, at the southwest corner of Thirty-third street and Third avenue. It was early in the morning, A few minutes previously a waiter named Julius Roesseler had entered the saloon. The three men asked the waiter to treat.

He refused, saying that he did not know any of them. Some angry words followed, the most vehement being Carlton. Presently the four went out on the sidewalk where Carlton and his companions assaulted Roess-ler. The disturbance attracted the attention of Officer Brennen, who, a square away, and, as he ran to the scene the trio took flight. He pursued them, and, as he was gaining on the fugitives they halted. When Brennan had come within a few yards of Carlton, the latter drew out his pistol—one of 38 call-bre-and fired two shots. Both bullets struck the policeman in the face and he died two hours later. After the shooting the murderers fled, but after a brief chase they were arrested by Officer Coleman. Carlton claimed on his trial that he did the shooting in self-defense.

of either Ohio or Texas; that it is superior for nearly all wool manufacturing purposes to the finest scoured wool in the country, and yet it was said, it paid a duty of only 10 cents a 100, when it should have paid, upon a proper and just classification, from 30 to 60 cents per pound. It was stated that last year about 24,000,000 pounds of this wool was imported, principally from Bradford, England, and sold in the markets of this country at from 92 to 65 cents a 100, while in the same market fine scoured California wool sold at 55 cents per pound. Quotations from the Philascoured Cantornia wool sold at 55 cents per pound. Quotations from the Phila-delphia market were read in support of this assertion. It was also stated that this fine grade wool was manipulated by machinery, before ship-ment, especially constructed, to coli into small rings in imitation of waste for the sole purpose of excling the law for the sole purpose of evading the law a id avoiding the payment of just customs duties. A committee, consisting of Messrs. Lawrence, McDowell, Harpster, Cossitt, and Wallace, waited upon Secretary Windom this afternoon, and protested against the admission of this specified waste at a rate less than is so-called waste at a rate less than is charged upon wool schedules as partly manufactured wool. The secretary stated to the committee that he was then stated to the committee that he was then engaged in a thorough investigation of this subject, and he assured them that full justice would be done the wool growing interests of the United States. The next annual meeting of the association will be held at Chicago on the second Wednesday in June next. The convention adjourned until to-morrow.

PERRIN ARRESTED AGAIN. The Assistant Cashier of the Hurley Bank in Hard Luck.

Special to the Globe.

ASHLAND, Wis., Dec. 5.-Phelps Perrin was bound for trial to-day on the charge of robbing the Iron Exchange Bank at Hurley. Bail was fixed at $4,000, which the defendant readily furnished, and he had just started for the street with his attorneys when sheriff Mattson once more It was curious to note how few men under arrest. Perrin was taken into under arrest. Perrin was taken into custody the second time on an order of arrest issued out of the Milwaukee county court for Edwin W. Baker and Phelps Perrin. The case is a quasi criminal one, and is brought by the United States Express company to recover $59,000 alleged to have been stolen from the express company. Bail is required in the sum of $25,000 for each defendant. Perrin has thus far failed to secure sureties and is in custody of the secure sureties and is in custody of the secure sureties and is in custody of the sheriff. The warrant was read to Baker at the county jail this afternoon. Baker has not been able to secure $4,000 bail, and it is extremely unlikely that he can get $29,000. The case against Louise Thayer, the woman in the case, will be taken up to-morrow morning. What part she had in the great bank robbery is not yet known. is not yet known.

ALL FOR GAAND LARCENY. Six Prisoners Indicted by the Grand Jury Arraigned Before Hicks.

Six prisoners were arraigned before Judge Hicks yesterday on indictments found by the grand jury. All were charged with grand larceny and all charged with grand larceny and all pleaded not guilty. Charles Boland stole jewelry and clothing and was piaced under $500 bonds. He had no autorney and W. G. Merson was assigned to his case. Lem Connor, a pale-faced negro, pleaded not guilty to two indictments. His bail was placed at $500 on each indictment, and his case was set for Dec. 11. The man who answered to the name of John Olson was a Swede who has often been under arrest before. He stole some pocketbooks, etc. from Hale, Thomas & Co.'s store. His case was set for Dec. 11. and his bail was fixed at $400. Harry Benham, a pronounced blonde, who would look better at hoeing potatoes than at playing the role of "Black Bart" around the union depot, said he was seventeen years old. He will be tried next Monday. When the names of James Wheeler were called, two men looked like old timers, stepped to the clerk's desk. They seemed well ac-quainted with the ropes and entered a vigorous kick against being arraigned on an indictment without ever having a preliminary hearing. They stole clothing. W. H. Donahue, they thought, would defend them, and their trial will come off next Tuesday.

LAWING ABOUT LAND.

William Levings Virtually Accuses Edison Gibbs of Swind-William H. Levings thinks that he has een defrauded in a real estate deal. The alleged swindler is Edison A. Gibbs. The suit was on trial yesterday before Judge Lochren. Levings claims that Gibbs induced him and three other parties to purchase forty acres of land parties to purchase forty acres of land out near Hopkins station, at $600 per acre. After the land was bought and divided into fifths, one-fifth going to each person, it was discovered that Gibbs had not paid a cent for his one-fifth. He alleged that his share had been given him as a sort of commission for effecting the sale. Leving affects to believe otherwise and alleges that Gibbs induced him and the others to pay an exorbitant price for the land—more than the owner asked for it. The deal having been conducted through Gibbs, he is alleged to have bled enough money out of the other parties to the purchase to pay for his share. On this ground Levings asks that Gibbs On this ground Levings asks that Gibbs be ousted and that his share be divided equitably among the other four part-ners. The case was not finished.

ariaigned on the charge of vagrancy, preferred by Inspector Lawrence. After the detective had told of the arrest, Murray claimed that he had only arrived from Chicago on Tuesday.

"Do you know a man named John Clarkson?" inquired tee court, looking at the man who gave the name of Murray.

"Oh, I guess I might as well own up," exclaimed the prisoner, with a smile.
"You just finished serving a term in the St. Paul workhouse, didn't you?" inquired the judge.
"Yes, sir."
"Well, both of you can board at the Minneapolis workhouse for the next ninety days."

John Clark was the name given by a man who was charged with the larceny of an overcoat, valued at $18, from F. T. Vanstrum. John admitted his guilt,

Ed. A. Stevens-The statement o Chief Stetson that the building ordi nance supersedes the state law and re nance supersedes the state law and relieves him of responsibility in the matter of seeing that the law is enforced is the veriest bosh. The law and ordinance are both in force and it is time that our city officials attended to their sworn duties and quit trying to transfer the blame to others. It might not be amiss to give the saloonkeepers and crap-shooters arest next Sunday and instruct the police to report a list of all high buildings with and without fire escapes. More lives may be saved by escapes. More lives may be saved by so doing.
Secretary Hall, Board of Trade—We have shipped eighteen cars of clothing to the Dakota sufferers, but we yet have the money in our possession, and its course has not yet been decided. We are, so to speak, on the horns of a dilemma. All public and official sources tell us there is little or no suffering. On the other hand private advices tell us that there is great suffering there.

AMUSE MENTS.

One of the prettiest plays that has graced the stage of the Grand opera house for many a day, "The Burglar," a comedy drama, elaborated by Gus Thomas, from a sketch entitled "Editha's Burglar." A. S. Lipman got a warm welcome, and was warmly applauded for his excellent work. Little Aimee Stoddard, as "Editha," was wongerfully bright in her pretty little part. Sidney Drew's comedy was decidedly droll.

A Receiver for Westphal. to have appointed a receiver for the estate of Herman Westphal. In his application Muller alleges that on the 5th of April, 1889, Westphal borrowed $4,000 from the City Bank of Minneapolis, giving as security a note for four months, indorsed by Muller and Jacob Barge. Muller says that Westphal failed to pay the note when due, and that of the says that westphal failed to pay the note when due, and that afterward he paid half the note, $2,000. He claims, moreover, that Westphal is about to turn over his property to Dunnington & Anderson, who have a claim against him of $6,000. Muller wants a receiver appointed so that he can get his share out of Westphal.
