

WHEELS.

Additional City News on Page 6. MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

Ald. Potter's proposition that the city should own and control the plant necessary for street lighting purposes is a movement in the direction of the much promised, but not as yet attained, trenchment and reform. This is the second attempt Mr. Potter has made to hold the Republican municipal administration to its promise.

The city assessor in his annual report to the council will recommend several changes in the manner of raising money to meet the expenses of the city government. He will recommend that each citizen be allowed at least $30 worth of household furniture which shall be exempt from taxation.

Some of the councilmen who had fun with Ald. Potter's proposition are now realizing that, with perhaps a few modifications, the ordinance introduced by Ald. Potter is a good thing. Mr. Parry has had considerable experience with Minnesota snow storms, and now some of the councilmen are realizing that it was right when he said that it wasn't pleasant to wade through a foot of snow on the sidewalks.

Attorney R. L. Penny has been retained by the "Visual Signal Company of New Haven, Conn." to represent them in Minneapolis. This company claims that it was to have had a chance to bid on the new police headquarters for Minneapolis. Mr. Penny is quoted as saying that unless the company be represented is given a chance to compete for the money, the commission proposes to expend, he will know the reason why.

Minneapolis Globes. A scintilla fire was reported yesterday as existing at 1117 Second street south and at 617 Twelfth avenue south.

Miss Carrie Fanning, daughter-in-law of Max Seeblinn, aged forty years, died yesterday of pneumonia, at 1419 Chicago avenue.

The regular weekly business meeting of the North Board of Health will be held at their headquarters, No. 516 Sixth street south, tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Ernest Wells, the North Minneapolis butcher who disappeared suddenly Saturday night, is still missing. It is feared that he wandered away while intoxicated and has frozen to death.

William A. Stewart, aged forty-one years, of 3025 Nicollet avenue, died yesterday of heart disease. Mr. Stewart was a son-in-law of Charles B. Reed, the city assessor.

The following names were announced as nominees yesterday: E. Sundberg and Emma Gorgerson, Martin Jensen and Peter Boen, P. Warner and Anna Potoczek, Ed. Selling and Sisle Miller, F. Libbert and Annale Toussaint.

Notwithstanding that an increased capacity was filed last week, the output of the mills amounted to almost 20,000 barrels. The aggregate figures were 118,590 barrels—averaging 10-22 barrels daily—against 143,700 barrels the week before, and 22,000 barrels for the corresponding time in 1889.

Richard Semson, an unmarried man who was killed by a street car, was buried yesterday at 1329 Plymouth. He was a native of Minnesota No. 17, leaving behind him a valuable chest of tools. It was thought he had gone to Norway, but a letter was received announcing that he had not arrived there.

Diphtheria has proved exceptionally fatal in the family of Mrs. J. W. Thompson, retired merchant, whose home was at 2923 Third street. On Dec. 24, Mrs. Thompson retired with her little girl, aged six years. On the 17th little boy, aged two and a half years, died of the disease. He will be buried from his home today.

The installation of Minneapolis Council, Order of Cluven Friends, was perfected at Elks' hall Thursday evening with a charter of fifty-six names. The following were elected and installed officers: Past counselor, N. A. Schlemmer; counselor, G. B. Anderson; M. D. Vice counselor, Mrs. Ida A. Anderson; secretary, J. P. Phelps; treasurer, W. H. Alexander; and all other officers. The installation was held at Elks' hall, and was presided over by John G. Launing, wardens, L. S. Sawyer, guard, and all other officers; trustees, John A. Schlemmer, Mrs. S. L. Farr and H. L. Pratt.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL. C. M. Badger and wife have returned from their Eastern trip.

Mrs. E. T. Man has departed for Portland and San Francisco.

Assistant Dairy Commissioner Howard has recovered from his attack of the grip.

Col. A. H. McVey, a prominent lawyer of Des Moines, Ia., is the guest of George A. A. A. A.

Mrs. J. S. Crombie entertained about fifty of her friends at her residence, 23 Thirteenth street south, last evening.

Rev. Thomas Timothy, one of the assistants of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, has returned from a tour to the West to resign his office.

About thirty friends of Mrs. F. B. Bowen participated in a dancing party which was given at her residence, 1413 Mount Curve avenue, last evening, and all enjoyed a thoroughly good time.

The second social ball of the Ocala society took place at Berglund's hall last evening and was largely attended.

One of the most prominent events of the week in society circles was the reception given by Mrs. Rufus R. Rand at her residence on Hudson place yesterday afternoon and evening. The decorations were simple but tasteful, and though there was an attendance of about 300, the affair was somewhat informal. About 100 married ladies were present, and the afternoon while about the same number of young people participated in the evening's pleasures. A very interesting program followed the dancing, and the affair was much enjoyed by the "favored ones." King's harp music was favored, and the same music was retained for the program. A dinner served as a caterer.

THE BURNS BANQUET.

Sixth Anniversary Celebration by the Minneapolis Caledonian Club.

The Veterans of a Hose Company Hold Their Family Reunion.

Has the Milling Combine Peetered Out?—The Latest Phase.

The Divorce Court Yields Up Its Usual Entertainment.

The sixth annual Burns banquet of the Caledonian Club of Minneapolis was held at the Nicollet house last evening, and about 150 brave and bonnie lassies sat down to the tables and did full justice to an elaborate spread.

The committee of arrangements, consisting of Messrs. W. C. Allen, J. D. Shearer, D. F. Simpson, James M. Boyd, Jr., W. A. Kerr, J. D. Forbes, William Stevenson, A. Miller and William Guthrie, who were assisted by officers of the club, made everybody feel at home. It was to their foresight and good management that one of the pleasantest gatherings of the Scottish clans in Minneapolis was due.

A few justices had been done the night before last, and the committee of arrangements, consisting of Messrs. W. C. Allen, J. D. Shearer, D. F. Simpson, James M. Boyd, Jr., W. A. Kerr, J. D. Forbes, William Stevenson, A. Miller and William Guthrie, who were assisted by officers of the club, made everybody feel at home.

Attorney R. L. Penny has been retained by the "Visual Signal Company of New Haven, Conn." to represent them in Minneapolis. This company claims that it was to have had a chance to bid on the new police headquarters for Minneapolis.

Minneapolis Globes. A scintilla fire was reported yesterday as existing at 1117 Second street south and at 617 Twelfth avenue south.

Miss Carrie Fanning, daughter-in-law of Max Seeblinn, aged forty years, died yesterday of pneumonia, at 1419 Chicago avenue.

The regular weekly business meeting of the North Board of Health will be held at their headquarters, No. 516 Sixth street south, tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Ernest Wells, the North Minneapolis butcher who disappeared suddenly Saturday night, is still missing. It is feared that he wandered away while intoxicated and has frozen to death.

William A. Stewart, aged forty-one years, of 3025 Nicollet avenue, died yesterday of heart disease. Mr. Stewart was a son-in-law of Charles B. Reed, the city assessor.

The following names were announced as nominees yesterday: E. Sundberg and Emma Gorgerson, Martin Jensen and Peter Boen, P. Warner and Anna Potoczek, Ed. Selling and Sisle Miller, F. Libbert and Annale Toussaint.

Notwithstanding that an increased capacity was filed last week, the output of the mills amounted to almost 20,000 barrels. The aggregate figures were 118,590 barrels—averaging 10-22 barrels daily—against 143,700 barrels the week before, and 22,000 barrels for the corresponding time in 1889.

Richard Semson, an unmarried man who was killed by a street car, was buried yesterday at 1329 Plymouth. He was a native of Minnesota No. 17, leaving behind him a valuable chest of tools. It was thought he had gone to Norway, but a letter was received announcing that he had not arrived there.

Diphtheria has proved exceptionally fatal in the family of Mrs. J. W. Thompson, retired merchant, whose home was at 2923 Third street. On Dec. 24, Mrs. Thompson retired with her little girl, aged six years. On the 17th little boy, aged two and a half years, died of the disease. He will be buried from his home today.

The installation of Minneapolis Council, Order of Cluven Friends, was perfected at Elks' hall Thursday evening with a charter of fifty-six names. The following were elected and installed officers: Past counselor, N. A. Schlemmer; counselor, G. B. Anderson; M. D. Vice counselor, Mrs. Ida A. Anderson; secretary, J. P. Phelps; treasurer, W. H. Alexander; and all other officers. The installation was held at Elks' hall, and was presided over by John G. Launing, wardens, L. S. Sawyer, guard, and all other officers; trustees, John A. Schlemmer, Mrs. S. L. Farr and H. L. Pratt.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL. C. M. Badger and wife have returned from their Eastern trip.

Mrs. E. T. Man has departed for Portland and San Francisco.

Assistant Dairy Commissioner Howard has recovered from his attack of the grip.

Col. A. H. McVey, a prominent lawyer of Des Moines, Ia., is the guest of George A. A. A. A.

Mrs. J. S. Crombie entertained about fifty of her friends at her residence, 23 Thirteenth street south, last evening.

Rev. Thomas Timothy, one of the assistants of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, has returned from a tour to the West to resign his office.

About thirty friends of Mrs. F. B. Bowen participated in a dancing party which was given at her residence, 1413 Mount Curve avenue, last evening, and all enjoyed a thoroughly good time.

The second social ball of the Ocala society took place at Berglund's hall last evening and was largely attended.

One of the most prominent events of the week in society circles was the reception given by Mrs. Rufus R. Rand at her residence on Hudson place yesterday afternoon and evening. The decorations were simple but tasteful, and though there was an attendance of about 300, the affair was somewhat informal. About 100 married ladies were present, and the afternoon while about the same number of young people participated in the evening's pleasures. A very interesting program followed the dancing, and the affair was much enjoyed by the "favored ones." King's harp music was favored, and the same music was retained for the program. A dinner served as a caterer.

THE FLOUR MILLS. The English Syndicate's Last Payment—The C. C. Washburn Mills.

The third and last payment upon the Pillsbury-Washburn mills by the English syndicate which bought them several months ago will be made Feb. 10. At that time there will be a formal transfer of the property to the owners and the business for the first time will be conducted under the name of the Pillsbury-Washburn Flouring Mills company.

The Pillsbury and the Washburn flouring mills, which the English syndicate made the offer to lease the C. C. Washburn mills for twenty years at 12 1/2 per cent per annum at a valuation of $1,000,000 and it is now being operated, but the Pillsbury, which was shut down Jan. 11, will probably not be started again until it has been given an extensive overhauling.

A Pugilist Who Practiced the Noble Art Upon His Wife. Lillian M. Osborne was granted a divorce from her husband, Arthur G. Osborne, by Judge Lockren yesterday afternoon. The case drew a crowd of avid listeners, most of them of the

THE PINE LUMBER CUT.

Review of This Industry in the Northwest for 1889.

A Noticeable Reduction, and the Causes Bringing It About.

Under-Consumption Rather Than Over-Production the Chief.

The Outlook for This Year Is Extremely Favorable—The Figures.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman in its issue of yesterday printed a review of the cut of the saw mills in the Northwest for 1889, covering Minnesota in its entirety, the Mississippi valley as far south as St. Louis, Wisconsin as far east as the Wisconsin valley and all the territory tributary to the Soo road.

The outlook for this year is extremely favorable. The figures show that in the Mississippi valley, from Brainerd to the mouth of the Crow, and from the river, the Wisconsin valley, in the Duluth district, the Ashland district and the Chicago, St. Paul and Duluth, the Wisconsin Central and the Soo railroads, there was a net decrease in the production of shingles, amounting to 756,404,777 feet.

The largest decrease was in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

The cut in the Wisconsin valley, north of Minneapolis, in which the cut has been in normal years as high as 180,000,000 feet, but in 1889 it was only 48,870,684 feet, a reduction of 72,828,134 feet from the cut made last year.

THE POLICE COURT.

Judge Mahoney Listens to All Sorts of Stories.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and with the aid of a woman who was in the workhouse he pulled off the stolen coat and handed it back to the owner, Christ Olson.

Al Carlson was arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of stealing an overcoat from J. Engdahl. He admitted the theft, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or to go to the workhouse. He chose the latter, and as he started toward the cell room he called Engdahl to him, and