ing over from abroad men and women every day to teach in Catholic schools; and yet the HARRISON administration imposes no penalties, nor does it make an effort to encourage the native-born law-abiding Catholics in any instance.

The Boston committee furthermore recite that the president suffered the nation to be insulted without protest when he attended the inauguration of the Catholic theological seminary at Washington and took a seat on the left of the presiding officer, while the seat of honor on the right was given to Cardinal LASCARIS, who is a subject of the pope.

The country stands appalled in the presence of the frightful calamity which befell Secretary TRACY's family yesterday morning, and the sympathies of the world go out to the homeless, wifeless, childless man as he sits to-day amidst the desolation of one of our happy homes.

There has been nothing like it in the history of American official life since the bursting of the sun on the Trenton, when two members of President TYLER's cabinet were killed.

A strange fatality which seems to attach to the members of the HARRISON administration. Mr. BLAINE is sorrowing under the shadow of a series of domestic afflictions that rarely fall to the lot of one man, and now the secretary of the navy is made a victim of a horror of such grim reality that one shudders at the thought of it.

Mr. TRACY is a comparatively new man in public life, yet he has made the best record of any member of the cabinet. He has come to be recognized as the business man of the cabinet.

unless they were fixed so that Republican politicians could handle the appropriation with the view of making it count in the election of 1892. The only alternative he presented was that the date of holding the fair should be postponed until 1893, the year after the Columbus centennial.

PLATT has a great head for politics, but it isn't worth a copper for historical purposes. New York isn't ready to force the fighting, nor will she be until that Albany bill passes.

Gov. MCGILL'S effort to raise the one-term issue against Gov. MERIDITH is a stronger working majority for the organization that New York had effected. In the meantime Chicago has been working like a beaver to recover the ground lost in the former contest.

It is long since the Pioneer Press had a special commissioner, it is believed a member of its editorial staff, in the election of 1882. The only alternative he presented was that the date of holding the fair should be postponed until 1893.

tion, yet it is said to be also applicable to portable or hand lamps; and, while in point of intensity it is not superior to electricity, its light is much softer and far easier to the eyes. It feeds itself, requires neither pipes, wires nor other connections, and is made to produce in sizes from 200 to 7,000 candle power. It is absolutely non-explosive, and is applicable to any purpose, and can be handled with equal safety by a child or by an adult.

Mr. Reed makes a note of those present thus abstaining, and orders their names entered into the roll as present, thus obtaining a quorum and deciding the question. In explaining his position yesterday he said:

There was a provision in the constitution which declared that the house might establish rules for compelling the attendance of members. If members could be present and refuse to exercise their functions, and yet not be counted as a quorum, that provision would seem to be entirely null.

There is a vital point, and on it some light is thrown by the following part of a dispatch from Washington to the Indianapolis journal:

An appropriation allows every senator or the chairman of a committee the service of a clerk during the session of congress, at a compensation of $8 per month. The settlement of the contest of the fight over his wealth prevents any further exposure of the disgraceful manner in which the grand estate which he inherited was managed.

Who is Judge Hilton, and how did he get his six hundred thousand dollars? These are pertinent queries just now. Judge Hilton is sixty-eight years of age. He is naturally a politician in the crafty sense of that term. He got his money in the Tweed regime. He was a recognized member of that ring, Peter B. Sweeney, became the president of the Democratic party.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.).

With the constitution, common sense and common right on his side, Speaker Reed should be able to maintain the unanimous opposition of the Democrats. He will not insist that the Democrats have the right to stand with him to the end and stand firm.—Philadelphia Press (Rep.).

Never in the history of national legislation in this country have there been so many bills introduced and so many of them passed. The fact that Stewart depended upon Hilton for aid in everything outside of his regular business affairs was never open to question. It was in the goods man was nominated for secretary of the treasury by President Grant.

Men are like drums—the one with the big head makes the most noise.—Yonkers Statesman. My son don't advertise your griefs. If you have crooked legs do not wear striped pantaloons.—Boston Transcript.

What's the matter with that man over there? He looks down in the mouth. "He ought to. He's a throat specialist."—Cleveland and Furnisher. "You don't you think I'm a little horse?" asked Johnny Cusmo. "You have named the wrong animal, Johnny," replied Joe. "You are a little monkey."—New York Sun.
