

SAINT PAUL. Additional City News on Page 8.

NOTED ABOUT TOWN.

A large force has been put on the excavation work for the foundation of the Metropolitan opera house, and from now up to the end of August the building will be pushed to completion.

The street lights are usually lit before dark throughout the city, excepting one place, and that, perhaps, the only district in the city where plenty of light should be provided.

The large number of ladies and gentlemen who have visited the pictures on exhibition at Gustave Heinemann's demonstrate how highly citizens would appreciate a picture gallery if one was established in the city.

It is remarkable how the retail business of the city gravitates towards Seventh street, there being a great store on that street, and the improvements projected in many of the older buildings will assuredly maintain the supremacy of this street.

THE PASSING SHOW.

Hon. F. M. Goody Koonz, of Chamberlain, S. D., and ex-Railroad Commissioner John H. King, of Rapid City, arrived in the city yesterday and were shown about the city by Chief Grain Inspector Clausen and Secretary James Bixby, of the Minnesota Railroad commission.

Ex-Senator Colin F. MacDonald, of St. Cloud, was registered at the Merchants' yesterday. Good political prospects are predicted for the wide-awake editor from Stearns county, who will be back to the state senate next year.

John Cooper, of St. Cloud, came down to the Merchants' yesterday and met John Howard and a crowd of other good fellows, who are all in the city.

J. D. Lafferty and W. F. Orr, of California, Northwesters, were at the Merchants' yesterday. The hotel register and Col. John Dodge both had a cold chill when Mr. Lafferty wrote down his address, but both recovered, and Mr. Lafferty insists that it isn't half as cold at his far Northern home as some people seem to think.

Senor Sarasate and Eugene D'Albert, of New York city, were Ryan guests yesterday.

O. C. Hartman, of the firm of Hartman & Mallet, of Duluth, was at the Ryan last evening.

W. J. Northrop, of Duluth, is spending a few days in the Saintly City on business, and is at the Windsor.

QUIPS AND FANCIES.

Ald. Kavanagh and P. H. Kelly recently exchanged placards, and now Judge E. H. Wood and Hon. W. F. Murray are similarly engaged. The judge claims to have seen a check book, used by Murray during the last Congressional campaign, in which figures, which disclosed payments of a questionable character. Mr. Murray gets back at Judge Wood by denying there were any "questionable" payments during that campaign, and adds that this check book was stolen from the committee rooms. How, he asks, did it come into the possession of the No. 2 Democrat?

Has the forthcoming city election anything to do with the division of citizens' unions in the various wards of the city? The officers of these unions naturally wield a certain amount of political power; they can make it hot or otherwise with aspirants for public office.

Middleton, of the Second ward, says an elderly man should be sent to represent that ward in the city council. Mr. Middleton is an elderly man.

Clarence Robb has sold his bull dog, banished his game wren, and is occupying his leisure moments by cultivating the acquaintance of the House of Kelly and the House of Flanery, in the Second ward.

There ought to be some system in providing seed wheat for destitute Dakotans. There have been representatives from South Dakota asking for subscriptions, representatives from North Dakota desiring assistance to a guarantee fund, and now there appears a delegation from a portion of the State in the Twin States. It is only proper that relief should be afforded these poor farmers so that they may be able to cultivate their farms, but there is no reason why it should not be done systematically.

ANOTHER BRIDGE EAP

Peter Pearson's Jump to Death From Robert Street Bridge.

Dementia, Induced by Sickness, Impels Him to the Suicide.

Love's Young Dream Accelerated by a Matrimonial Organ.

Four Incendiary Fires in the West Seventh Street Territory.

The body of Peter Pearson is lying at the morgue, a limp mass of bruised and maimed humanity, with brains and blood oozing from the fractures of the skull and from the ears, mouth and nose—a case of suicide. Pearson was an unmarried printer, twenty-eight years of age, and came here some months ago from Chicago. His parents live on Hill street in that city. For ten days he has been ill, and yesterday Dr. Senkler was called in. About 7 o'clock, when his room-mate, Dan Cross, also a printer at the West Publishing company, returned to their room at 50 East Seventh street, the landlady informed him that Pearson had "gone out of his head," and advised that care be taken of him, as he had been pacing the room imagining blood oozing from the ears, mouth and nose, and insisted on going out for a walk to get away from imaginary Chicago friends who were importuning him to return. So Cross accompanied him. They went down Seventh and over to the river, and in the middle of the street a friend named Bill Brown, who continued with them out upon the Robert street bridge. Near the first pier Pearson stopped, and when Cross reached him Pearson quieted down, but insisted on going out for a walk to get away from imaginary Chicago friends who were importuning him to return. LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM.

Started by a Matrimonial Bureau and Romantically Consummated.

A brief but decidedly interesting romance was brought to a sufficiently satisfactory finale yesterday evening by the marriage at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Delevan, of the city, of Walter D. Delevan, of Detroit, to Miss Amelia White, daughter of a highly respected and wealthy farmer of Osceola county, Iowa. The story of the courtship leading up to yesterday's ceremony is an unusual one. The bride was one of four sisters who resided on the farm with their parents when not attending high school in Sioux City. Each of the sisters graduated from that institution, the last to do so being the fair Amelia, who completed her education six months ago. The White girls are known as the handsomest in the county, and it is popular gossip that they are in some degree heiresses. The oldest of the girls, now Mrs. Delevan, referred to above, was the only one who married yesterday morning, was the first to leave the old farm and become a wife, which she did by marrying Walter D. Delevan, a commercial traveler, employed by Boggs & De Witt, the wholesale druggists of Chicago. Subsequently photographs appearing in the columns, an answer was received by her in turn, her correspondent proving to be Walter D. Delevan, a commercial traveler, employed by Boggs & De Witt, the wholesale druggists of Chicago. AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

The largest audience which ever sat and stood in the Harris theater greeted the Cleveland minstrels last night. At the rise of the curtain the seats were occupied, and it was but a short time afterward that men and women were crowded in the foyer—standing, looking over shoulders, and from the balcony. The troupe, however, does not seem as strong as that which entertained us last year, but what is here is very good. The actual play of the evening, "The Two Sisters," is a comedy, and is a work of Emerson and Dougherty, who, long ago, distinguished themselves as nut crackers. The music is by Humphreys, who was thereupon arrested, and his examination fixed for to-day.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

The Verbal Agreement With Fulton Did Not Go. The jury in the case of R. M. Fulton against William Pitt Murray returned a verdict, as instructed by the court, in favor of the Murrays. The action was brought to recover $25,000 for false and eighth contract to lease Fulton lots on Eighth street upon which to erect an opera house and business block. Fulton claimed that he had spent considerable money in having an architect and otherwise in commencing operations, and that the Murrays were anxious to have him withdraw from the block, that when the work had progressed to the point of commencing the erection they refused to execute the lease in the name of Fulton, and had been agreed that the case was watched with interest by real estate men, who saw a chance to bring numerous actions in case the verbal agreement should be decided to be valid.

Now is the Time

To purify your blood and fortify your system against the debilitating effects of spring weather. At no other season is the bitter taste in the mouth more prominent, the breath so offensive, the drowsy dizziness so frequent, or that extreme tired feeling so prevalent. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine to build up the system, purify the blood, cure biliousness and headache, overcome that tired feeling and create a good appetite. Try it this spring.

"I wish to enroll my name as one of those who have derived health from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For many years I have taken it, especially in the early spring, when I am troubled with dizziness, dullness, unpleasant taste in my mouth, and a general feeling of weakness. It relieves my headache and makes me feel greatly refreshed. The two bottles I have used this spring have been worth a dollar a dose. I advise all my friends to take it." L. J. Bixby, 693 43rd Street, town of Lake, Chicago, Ill.

BONDS FOR SEED GRAIN.

Dickey County, North Dakota, Proposes to Help Itself. Chairman Wetmore, of the board of county commissioners, in company with J. M. Loehhart and O. J. Burgen, of Ellendale; John McCarthy, of Ludden; and C. E. Tallmadge, of Otter, all residents of Dickey county, North Dakota, were in the city yesterday in the interests of the farmers of their county, making an effort to secure seed grain and feed. The delegation proposes a practical plan for obtaining the necessary funds and grain. The county is financially in good condition, and proposes to issue bonds to the amount of $200,000 to be placed on the St. Paul market at once. With this will be purchased 20,000 bushels of wheat, 6,000 bushels of oats, and a similar amount of flax. The contracts for the grain are already completed with the Minneapolis elevator men, and transportation has been secured over the Great Northern and Soo roads.

REMNANT SALE TO-DAY.

One of the unavoidable consequences of an active and brisk state of trade is the accumulation of Remnants. To prevent this accumulation from becoming too large, we have sorted out all REMNANTS and ODD LOTS in every department, and will offer them. Ladies' Cloth-Top Lace Boots in new shades are very nobby and stylish this season. The new London Piccadilly Shoes are a favorite in Ladies' Street Boots and Ties. New patterns in Slippers and Ties. TRIBUTE TO BURNS

Paid in a Y. M. C. A. Lecture by Dr. Robert Christie. The last of the course of popular lectures under the auspices of the junior department of Y. M. C. A. was delivered by Rev. Robert Christie, D.D., in House of Hope church, last evening. The subject was "Robert Burns." Dr. Christie was in his happiest mood, and pleased the assembly greatly. He drew pictures of the cottage life, traits of character, and after-life surroundings of the plowboy poet, and quoted largely from his writings to illustrate the genius and surroundings of the poet, as well as to describe references to the poet's life and character. He referred to his lack of scholastic education, and commended his genius that enabled him to write in the most favorable surroundings, to study out the true genius of song. He asserted that the poetry of Burns is fact, not fiction. His composition was not wrought in the library of a litterateur or by the musical wave of the sea, but the sentiment flowed from the daily surroundings of a humble life, and the nights were spent in brooding over that sentiment which he was to put into poetry that arose to the divine altitude of reason. The address was received with frequent applause.

QUESTION OF FINANCE.

Claim of a Phonograph Company Against A. G. Postelthwaite. The Minnesota Phonograph company yesterday commenced an action in the district court to recover $50,000 from A. G. Postelthwaite, who, it is alleged, subscribed for 100 shares of the Phonograph company at $50 a share, but refused to pay for them or to accept the certificate of stock. The company was organized in January, 1888, with a capital stock of $100,000, of which E. B. Ward, Charles H. Chabourn, S. Van Olive, F. A. Seymour and A. G. Postelthwaite, John L. Martin entered into an agreement with the Minnesota Phonograph company to give it full control, in the state of Minnesota, of a lease and license to the North American Phonograph company, which controlled the Edison patents, at an annual rental of $30 per phonograph. Martin was to receive 3,125 paid-up shares of stock in the Minnesota company, 2,250 shares of this stock was to be by him transferred to the North American Phonograph company, 125 shares of it were to be sold for $6,250, which amount was to be deposited in the treasury of the Minnesota company. The Minnesota company was to pay to Martin $81,250 upon the stock, and also to deliver to him 395 shares of stock in the North American company. John L. STONECUTTERS INCENSED

At a Meaningless and Misleading Want Advertisement. William Ploch, formerly an employe of the Reimer brewery, in West St. Paul, has been run down by Secretary Ward, of the stonecutters' union, as the man who has recently inserted advertisements in a St. Paul morning paper for stonecutters to go to Mandeville, offering to pay $4 a day and board. The advertisement appeared several times, and was answered by Mr. Ward, who offered to supply the men at the price offered. No reply was received, and an investigation showed that there was nothing in Mandeville, and that the presence of stonecutters. Ploch was called to account for his advertisement, but refused to state why he had inserted it. The latter with his wife, have been living at Mandeville for some time past, and were believed by the people of the town to be persons of means. Ploch is found to be well connected in St. Paul, but he is not recognized by his family for some reason. It is believed Ploch's intention by the advertisement was to create a false credit for himself among his former associates rather than to defraud stonecutters in any way. The man is said to be without means, though once possessing considerable property. He is now living in Minneapolis.

INCENDIARIES AT WORK.

Four Blazes in the West Seventh Street District Last Night. The third incendiary fire in three hours, in the West Seventh street district, broke out about 11 o'clock last night. It was in Garland's trunk factory, on the West Seventh street, between and Goodrich streets. There was quite a lot of material which may be more or less damaged by water, but so far as could be ascertained last evening, the loss will not exceed $800; insured. During the progress of the second incendiary fire in a stable owned by Douglas, near West Seventh street, at 9:30 last night, the front and rear of Stahlman's hardware store, at 709 West Seventh, were broken into, but the burglars were frightened away before anything was taken. The opinion is that West Seventh street tonight have been setting fire for the purpose of attracting policemen from their beats, and thus have an opportunity to steal.
