LABOR TRUMPHANT

The Great Carpenters' Strike at Chicago is Settled at Last.

Both Sides Concerned Ratify the Findings of the Judicial Umpires.

The Terms of Settlement Are Based on the Eight-Hour Day.

Thursday Morning 4,000 Men Will Resume Work on New Buildings.

CHICAGO, May 5.—The great carpenters' strike is finally settled. The necessary papers were signed today, and ratified by both sides concerned in the arbitration. A last report will be made to-morrow morning to the judicial umpires, and Thursday morning scores of buildings that for four weeks have been practically deserted will echo with the sounds of hammer and saw in the hands of fully 4,000 journeymen carpenters. The two arbitration committees of the new boss carpenters' association and the strikers met this evening at the Grand Pacific hotel with Judges Briggs, McCann and Tuley, and after a session of three hours' length settled the last detail. The journeymen achieved an almost sweeping victory. They made concessions on but two points, and every journeyman carpenter throughout the city was jubilant to-night over the result. The only disappointment was that the stubbornness of the old association has left its members wholly out of the final settlement. The official statement of the terms of settlement will not be issued by the two parties to the arbitration till to-morrow, but it is reliably stated that the document signed in the presence of the three judges provides that eight hours shall constitute a day's work, to begin at 8 a. m. and end 5 p. m. The noon hour will be curtailed by special arrangement. The journeymen and the majority of the workmen, but not in such way as to permit more than eight hours' work between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. The minimum rate of wages has been fixed at 25 cents an hour, and thereafter at 37 1/2 cents an hour. Overtime is to be paid at time and a half, and Sunday and public holidays are to be paid at double time. Apprentices, concessions were made by both parties. The employers agree to employ only union men, and for men required to work with the non-union men.

COOPER'S GRAND COUP.

They Hope to Make Their Strike International.

CHICAGO, May 5.—According to the predictions of the stockyard coopers, who are now on a strike, there is a probability of their cause being taken up by the English dock laborers, and the strike becoming international. At a meeting of the Brotherhood of Coopers, held this morning a committee was appointed to communicate with John Burns, the English labor leader, and to request him to send a committee of coopers to London to handle any of the beef or other products shipped there by the Chicago packers. It is believed that Burns has taken great interest in the cause of the men at the yards, and that within the past few weeks they have received a letter from him in which he expressed the hope of visiting the United States this summer and inspecting the coopers' situation. The men, in an open letter, say that by the terms of their employment they are subject to being sent without notice to any of the yards for two weeks' notice or forfeit ten days pay, which the companies withhold, one day out of the ten, for the first ten weeks of their service. Sometimes, they say, they are only given two or three days' work per week, and are compelled to remain at the yards for ten days' pay; that if a workman is two minutes late in the morning he is docked an hour's pay, while if his work is finished before the close of the day he is not paid for the full day.

PERFECTING ORGANIZATION.

Woodworkers Will Pool Issues With Carpenters.

CHICAGO, May 5.—General meetings of the sash, door and blind makers were held in several parts of the southwest side at noon today. The meetings were held for the purpose of strengthening the union now being formed, the men employed at the machines promising their support. It was decided that they would, by a measure, post their issues with the carpenters, and no union man of the latter organization will handle work turned out by mills refusing to grant the demand for eight hours. There was no strike at N. K. Fairbanks' works as expected this morning, and the strike of the gas men, which was to take place this morning, failed to materialize. The expected strike of the dock men on the Western Transportation company's line and the Anchor line did not take place. The reason is said to be that they are not sufficiently numerous to take their places. There is no change in the situation of the carpenters' strike. Negotiations for several days with the new boss association are said to be complete, and the men will resume work in a day or two.

FIRST STRIKE IN DENVER.

Machine and Wood-Workers Walk Out.

DENVER, Col., May 5.—Last Friday members of the machine, wood-workers and turners' union made a demand upon the millwrights for a reduction of hours from ten to nine, with ten hours' pay. This being refused, the men, numbering 125, quit work this morning. They were joined by the benchmen, numbering 250. Among the mills affected are the largest in the city. They will not close down, but will attempt to fill their present contracts with the aid of short force of old union men, who have been getting for some time past the wages now demanded by the union. This is the first strike in Denver this year.

WALTERS ON THE WARPATH.

Colored Men Inspired by the Success of the Whites.

CHICAGO, May 5.—The recent success of the white waiters in securing recognition for their union, better pay and shorter hours, has caused the inauguration of a similar movement by the colored waiters. A preliminary, the forty men at Brockway's restaurant struck to-night on being refused their demands. The strikers went in a body to the restaurant, closed by and were persuading the waiters there to go out when the proprietor promised to grant whatever the strikers wanted. The Milan waiters concluded to let the Brockway men do the fighting. Trouble in other establishments looked for.

This Looks Like Peace.

KANSAS CITY, May 5.—The railway ticket agents of this city who are members of the Kansas City ex-employees' association, have received orders from their general passenger agents to revive their association which went out of existence, practically, last year. This is looked upon as an indication that rates will be speedily restored.

Conductors' Demands Refused.

OMAHA, May 5.—General Manager Dickinson, of the Union Pacific, yesterday sent a reply to the grievance committee of the Union Pacific conductors, requesting that they make a request for twelve miles per hour basis for extra time of freight conductors. It is believed that the demands of the conductors will be settled satisfactorily.

INTELL, Pa., May 5.—The Irwin miners, at a mass meeting held today, decided not to work until their demand of 65 cents per ton is granted. About 800 men were present, and the resolution was carried by an overwhelming majority.

SEWER FOR BRITISH GOLD.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—The stockholders of the United Gas Improvement company held their annual meeting today, at which the preliminary steps were taken towards the organization of a new gas investment company. This new enterprise is to be capitalized at $5,000,000, of which one-half is to be subscribed in this country, and the other half to be offered to English capitalists. The capital will be divided into 100,000 shares, each of $50 par, and 2,000 of these will be issued at par as founders' shares to subscribers in consideration of their organization. As soon as the organization of the new company is effected 30 per cent will be paid in cash, and the balance of $3,500,000 will be applied as follows: $1,000,000 to pay out for the absorption of the present United Gas Improvement company, $1,000,000 to go to the new concern as immediate working capital, the $1,500,000 of capital of the present organization going to the stockholders of the company as accumulated in addition. The old officers are all re-elected except William T. Carter, George Thomas Dolan, and Randall Morgan. The board is as follows: President, W. W. Gibbs; directors, George Thomas Dolan, William G. Warden, Henry G. Gibson, Randall Morgan and Samuel T. Bodine. A meeting for the organization of the new company will be held next month.

HAS NO USE FOR INGALLS.

The President of the Kansas Alliance Sees the Senator.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 5.—The Alliance President Clover, of the Farmers' Alliance of Kansas, comes out squarely against the re-election of Senator Ingalls. He says: "I claim that Ingalls is in the right position on the Farmers' alliance, but it is because he is cute enough to say the right thing and explain it in such a way that he is not simply to try to fool the farmers, not because he cares any more for the Kansas farmer now than he ever did. He never has done anything for the Kansas farmer, but he has been sent to the senate fifty years yet, and he never would. Who ever heard of him doing anything, but he is always saying something, and there is quite a difference. He is no doubt laughing in his sleeves, thinking his interview fooled the farmers of the state, but I want to say in this he is greatly mistaken. His earnestness for the farmer is the same kind of show for money as all for effect, and sincere in nothing. I have wished a thousand times he was a different man, but he never will be."

The emperor was accompanied by Chancellor Billow, presiding over the Bundesrath today, took part in the discussion of the colonial questions and delivered a long speech thereon. He was neither an optimist nor a pessimist in regard to the colonial policy, he said, but made some good nominations.

Dr. Phelps, superintendent of the woman's department, said that there had been no poisoning, that he knew of, and no general sickness among patients since they had the gripe in the winter. Steward Kerr said, "The doctor I heard of is not I read it in the papers yesterday. It is not so, and would like to know how the gripe was started." Superintendent Kilbourne said: "We know nothing about this matter. There has been no poisoning from any cause in the institution since the present beef was introduced from the friends and relatives of patients wanting to know all about this."

MELTED AS IT FELL.

Farmers Gladdened by the Snow Storm of Sunday.

MONTPELIER, May 5.—Four inches of snow fell here yesterday and followed last night by a hard frost, which will hurt fruit blossoms and vegetables some. The ground was very dry here, no rain having fallen since seeding commenced. About three-fourths of the seed on some fields was un-sprouted. Farmers were feeling blue. This snow will probably start grain to grow. The country needs a good soaking rain badly.

C., May 5.—Will Leaphard, the young negro convicted of criminally assaulting his two cannon, a white girl of sixteen, and sentenced to be hanged April 11, but who obtained a respite, was lynched in Lexington jail last night. The accounts indicate that the lynchers succeeded in securing the cell after Leaphard had been ordered to the jail after securing the keys, unlocked the main and entered door after door here to-night charged with this. They could not open with the keys. Leaphard watched the mob, and realizing that he would be killed, seized a bolt from the door and waited for the attack. As the lynchers shot through the grating of his cell he

ROYALTY IN THE VAN.

An Imposing Reception to Ex-Lord Stanley.

Stanley was held at the Albert hall this evening, and was attended by the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Cambridge, the Duke and Duchess of Teck, Prince and Princess von Hohenzollern, the Duke of Fife, the Duke of Argyll, the Count of Paris and a large number of people. The princes of the royal family headed a triumphal procession which conducted Stanley and his colleagues into the hall. The assembly, which completely packed the building, rose en masse to applaud, and presented Stanley with a magnificent society. In an appropriate speech, presented medals to Stanley. The explorer on rising to reply was greeted with another outbreak of cheering. In returning his thanks he said he hoped that the warm personal welcome he had received would be a stimulant to the little that he could tell of his adventures, assisted by a huge chart. The Prince of Wales moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Stanley, and the Duke of Edinburgh seconded the motion. A medal presented to Stanley is of gold, and bears his figure. Copies of the medal in bronze were presented to his colleagues, including Mr. Bonney, by the Prince of Wales. In the course of his speech Mr. Stanley said that Carpenters had asked what was the utility of his expedition. To this he replied that the gain to humanity was great. The expedition had opened up a new, rich and productive region, and had enabled the world to teach millions of degraded human beings in the forests that in vegetable products they would find a far vaster value than the flesh of their fellow creatures. As a Christian nation, he said the English people ought to rejoice that they had rescued 400 persons from slavery and returned 200 to their homes in Egypt, and had delivered 8000 from a state of impenetrable impossibilities to the active service of a friendly nation. It was his intention to say that every mile traversed would serve in the future to extend British commerce, industry and enterprise. Finally he addressed the limits of the Congo, adding territory covering thousands of miles without force of arms.

The last gun of the spring campaign has given out its mellow thunder and the fiery orator will to-day be succeeded by the silent ballot. The canvass is over, and it is a fair presumption that by the time this reaches the eye of GLOBE readers far and wide over the city, the mind of each voter will have been made up. Last day's thunder rarely soars political mill. The roar-back sprung on election morning falls on very inattentive ears. Nothing is now left but a full, free ballot, an honest count, and a victory for the entire Democratic ticket.

Members of both committees were busy with their pencils last night, and estimates ran wild. It was difficult to find a posted Democrat who had figured Smith's majority at less than 2,500. The most conservative estimate of weight that was obtainable is printed at the head of this column, while most of the estimates ran from 3,000 to
