The Duluth & Winnipeg Pushing Toward the International Boundary.

An Increase of Capital Stock to Defray Cost of Construction.

Chicago & Northwestern Decides to Build to the Black Hills.

Western Railway Magnates Evolve a New Scheme to Restore Harmony.

Special to the Globe.

DULUTH, Minn., May 5.—President B. N. Baker, of the North Star Construction company; Robert L. Chamberlain and W. H. Fisher, manager; R. C. Mungler, W. P. Warner, W. A. Barr and W. H. Knowlton, of St. Paul, stockholders and officers of the Duluth & Winnipeg railway, and Grant & Foley, contractors, are here to close up important business, chief of which is the building of docks and terminals, the locating of big repair and construction shops, a contract for the extension of 300 miles of road to the international boundary, the building of the line from Duluth to Cloquet and the removal of the general office from St. Paul to this city. Extensive one-story docks will be located above Rice's Point just west of the city limits. Coal and merchandise docks and warehouses will be located in this city. The company has such positive assurances of great business that improvements will be made on a large scale. The Duluth to Cloquet line is reported an excellent line, which can be built at comparatively small expense. The line is about 100 miles of steep grade and all curves are easy. The length of the line from the union station in Duluth to Cloquet is 180 miles. The contract for the extension to the boundary has been let, and Foley Bros. & Co. will at once begin to build. As soon as they can be hired and set to work 3,000 men will be shoveling dirt and laying rails. By November the line will be graded to connection with the Winnipeg & Duluth at the boundary, and by 1891 trains will be running to Winnipeg. A meeting of stockholders it was decided to raise the capital stock of the road to $20,000,000, to be paid in 1900, and to be used in the work of construction.

Duluth office of the Globe is located at No. 105, Chamber of Commerce building, with Magraw Bros., & Osmun, real estate dealers, whose subscriptions and advertisements will be received.

TO TAP THE BLACK HILLS.

Two Lines to Be Extended to Deadwood.

Special to the Globe.

DEADWOOD, S. D., May 5.—It was definitely announced today that the Chicago & Northwestern railroad will build into Deadwood. The contract was let on Saturday to build the road from Deadwood to the boundary, and the road is to be completed by Oct. 1. This makes two roads, the Burlington & Missouri and the Northwestern, that intend building into Deadwood this summer.

DIVISION OF EARNINGS.

The Western Railway Magnates Evolve a Plan to Put Together.

CHICAGO, May 5.—The much-talked-of meeting of the Western Railway presidents convened here today to discuss the rate situation, and attempt once more to adopt an agreement strong enough to hold the roads together. The gathering was entirely distinct from the Interstate Commerce Railway association. Every line in the West was represented in person or by letter. Its statement that there could be no legal objection to dividing earnings after they had been taxed at the rate of 10 per cent, was a statement that the outcome of the gathering, if successful, would be that of a division of traffic. Nearly the entire day was given to the consideration of passenger rates being left to the general passenger agents, who are to meet to-morrow. All the roads represented were ready to sign an agreement for a division of traffic, provided such an arrangement could be made without violating the section of the interstate law which prohibits pooling. No suitable plan could be devised, and the meeting finally adjourned until to-morrow, when the subject will be taken up again. Before adjourning a resolution was adopted providing that the Interstate Commerce commission should meet Thursday for the purpose of forming one set of regulations to govern the freight traffic in the territory of the Western Freight and Trans-shipment association, and to arrange for the restoration of freight rates at the earliest possible date.

ANXIOUS TO LITIGATE.

Maurice O'Connell's Plea for an Opportunity Denied.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Judge Blodgett today denied temporarily a motion to make Maurice O'Connell a party defendant in the suit of Morris K. Jesup, trustee, against the Illinois Central Railroad company, the Cedar Falls & Minnesota Railroad company and the Duluth & Sioux City Railroad company. The court, however, gave O'Connell leave to renew his motion when the case was reached for hearing. The motion was made on a petition, which contains some serious allegations. Jesup says that O'Connell began, in his capacity of trustee, proceedings in the United States circuit court to compel the Sioux City and Illinois Central railroads to fulfill their contracts in leases made by the Cedar Falls and Minnesota road. These contracts provided that the lessees should keep the roads in repair and the plants in operation. The suits are said to have never been prosecuted. O'Connell's petition alleges that the neglect is caused by Jesup being interested in the Dubuque road, which is affiliated with the Illinois Central. O'Connell is trustee of a mortgage executed by the Cedar Falls & Minnesota road, and claims to be ready and anxious to pay the suit, but that there is every reason to believe that Illinois Central can be held liable.

MILLIONS TO BACK IT.

A Movement for a New Line From Ocean to Ocean.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., May 5.—A big railroad scheme, with millions to back it, is on foot for a transcontinental short line from New York to the Pacific. The enterprise is in the hands of a body of English capitalists and American railroad men. The enterprise has been secretly at work for a long time. From Leavenworth to Denver the route surveyed two years ago, and known as the Denver short line, is now being re-surveyed. The route is 1,000 miles long, and will be built in sections. THE FIGHT FOR SELF.

Mr. Doubleday's Great Problem Discussed at Length.

To the Editor of the Globe: I have read with a very deep interest the communication which you published in the GLOBE written by Mr. Doubleday. He touches on a problem which is being turned over in the hands of many earnest, thoughtful citizens with intense energy; and we may well believe that upon the conclusions reached in those minds depends in a certain measure the future of our country. Will you then kindly permit me to venture, without any assumption of authoritative knowledge on matters so important and profound, to add a few remarks? I do not that the writer referred to represents an immense number of our citizens who put forth in their own minds the same query as he does, but are yet awaiting some satisfactory answer to their thoughts. An exchange of ideas, however, is not a matter of indifference, and wholly impersonal manner of which he sets such an admirable but unfortunately rare example, is, perhaps, never more to be desired than in such a case. I should waste no time over these trifles.

I have been impressed with the thought that Mr. Doubleday sees and thinks aright when he concludes (as I understand him) from the extent and magnitude of the patent evils which he points out—evils all the more striking in a country of the size and wealth of these United States—that the more existence of a protective tariff is not sufficient to account for them, or responsible for them. In other words, may we not conclude justly that we are considering no more question of policy, but that a state of affairs so universal as he shows it to be existing in all parts of our country, and affecting not only all classes of its population, and by which 96 per cent of the inhabitants are seemingly benefited, is the result of a law of nature; that such a state of affairs must have a common or first cause equally universal, and of sufficient force to overcome the natural tendency of man or power to produce such direful effects? I understand the gentleman to possess a mind expansive enough to grasp this country of the size and wealth of these United States—that the more existence of a protective tariff is not sufficient to account for them, or responsible for them. In other words, may we not conclude justly that we are considering no more question of policy, but that a state of affairs so universal as he shows it to be existing in all parts of our country, and affecting not only all classes of its population, and by which 96 per cent of the inhabitants are seemingly benefited, is the result of a law of nature; that such a state of affairs must have a common or first cause equally universal, and of sufficient force to overcome the natural tendency of man or power to produce such direful effects?

Now, assuming the truth of all his facts, which I am in no way desirous of denying, and minimizing, the question of paramount importance to discover the true effective and universal cause, if there be one; and then we could hope to be in a better position for seeking out a remedy equally effective and universal; a remedy powerful enough to neutralize and overthrow so powerful a cause.

Hardy's Recommendation.

Light.—I want a set of false teeth, Dr. Stumps. Dr. Stumps (the dentist)—Well, sir; this is the place to get them. I'm making the best teeth in the city. I can guarantee you that they will last for years. I can guarantee you that they will last for years. I can guarantee you that they will last for years.

A Serious Defect.

Yonewine News. Artist (to Agriculturist)—Possibly your knowledge of art is a trifle limited? Agriculturist—Mebby; but I know suthin' about cows. Artist—Isn't the cow well drawn? Agriculturist—Drawed good 'nough, but 't's 'gosh, she ain't 'chewin' her cud.

Opposed to the Practice.

New York Sun.—"Why doesn't that man pull the bell instead of monkeying all night with the latch key?" "He's a horse car conductor, and doesn't like to ring them up."

Accommodating.

Light.—Brown—Why do you make your paths zig-zag fashion, running this way and that way? Proprietor Summer Resort (Prohibition plan)—Why, most of my customers leaving my place prefer to walk that way.

DEFEAT.

Conquered at last, she in his arms stood twined, And in her eyes he read confession true, That all her many victories combined, Less sweet were to her than her Waterloo. —Chicago Herald.

virtue and sound principle have not held on our people which they merit, and which can alone insure the prosperity of the country. To treat, then, merely the secondary causes, such as protection, monopoly, etc., is to fence with little straw men, whilst the real enemy does his work unchecked. I submit, then, as my grand conclusion, that the evil condition of our country is to be ascribed to some radical defect in the education and training of our citizens, and the need of some power (whatever it may be) capable of developing a full and true grasp of the principles of action and of drawing the human will to the practice of those principles.

THE STAR OF BETHLEHEM.

This is the Year Fixed Upon For Its Reappearance.

For ten years the eyes of astronomers have been turned toward Cassiopeia. Mr. Doubleday thinks that we agree as to the cause of the dangerous evils existing in our country. I would respectfully ask permission, Mr. Editor, to propose the question as to the nature of that defect and the practical means of applying a remedy.

Undertaker Spindle Makes a Voluntary Assignment.

CREDITORS WILL SUFFER.

Rival Boom Companies Seek to Condemn Lands for Flawage Purposes.

The assignment of E. J. Spindle, undertaker, was made known yesterday by the filing of the customary documents in the office of the clerk of the district court. The assignee is Frank Foster, of Minneapolis, and the assignor, Mr. Spindle, was wholly voluntary. The liabilities will probably reach $4,000, and the assets, it is thought, will not be sufficient to pay more than 15 or 20 cents on the dollar. Mr. Spindle attributes his trouble to the heavy load of bad debts left him by the firm in which he succeeded as sole proprietor. The city creditors are the Northwestern Casket company, of Minneapolis, about $1,500, and Mrs. M. E. Cannon, of Stillwater, whose claim is upwards of $1,000. After application of the St. Croix Boom and Boom company for the appointment of commissioners to condemn lands for flawage purposes, the assignee will be heard to-day by Judge McNeil in the Chicago county court at Center City. At the same time the rival, or Staples company, which has already been engaged in condemnation proceedings for dam purposes will ask leave to condemn additional lands. In view of the recent decision of Judge Marshall, holding that the St. Croix company had obtained no rights on the Wisconsin shore, the corporation's case will probably be to buy up, as best it can, the lands comprised in the disputed territory.

At a meeting held in the vestry of Ascension church Sunday evening a committee of five was appointed to formulate a constitution and by-laws upon which to base the organization of a young men's club, auxiliary to the church, which has already been organized by mutual intellectual and spiritual help, and to establish public rooms for the assistance of the laboring classes in other chances for social pleasures, frequenting the saloons.

It is probable that the city printing work scheduled at to-night's meeting of the council.

William Garrison, the young man who stole some clothing from Brouson & Folsom's rafting shanty, was yesterday sentenced to thirty days in the county jail.

The street railway company has heretofore favorably considered the matter of some time extending the electric line west from Third street by way of Pine street to the city hall. The company may now be expected in anticipation of the coming four-days' races at Lily lake. There are present no vacancies in the board of directors, and it is expected that the directors of the city hospital association will hold a meeting at the Elbert house to-day.

The Warning Wasted. New York Sun. Father (who had put an attachment on the gas pipe, so that the gas would be extinguished at 10 o'clock)—Were you surprised last night when the gas went out? Daughter—No, papa. Something curious happened, though. Just as Charles was going to turn down the gas it went out, and we couldn't light it again.
