

THE DAILY GLOBE

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY AT THE GLOBE BUILDING, COR. FOURTH AND CEDAR STREETS BY LEWIS BAKER.

ST. PAUL GLOBE SUBSCRIPTION RATES. DAILY (NOT INCLUDING SUNDAY). 1 yr. in advance $5.00. 6 mos. in advance $3.00. 3 mos. in advance $1.50. One month .75c.

DAILY AND SUNDAY. 1 yr. in advance $10.00. 6 mos. in advance $6.00. 3 mos. in advance $3.00. One month $1.50.

WEEKLY ST. PAUL GLOBE. One Year $1.50. Six Mos. .90. Three Mos. .50.

Rejected communications cannot be returned. Address all letters and telegrams to THE GLOBE, St. Paul, Minn.

Eastern Advertising Office, Room 21 Tribune Building, New York. Complete list of rates kept on hand for reference.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER. WASHINGTON, June 4. For Minnesota: Fair, except showers in eastern portion; slightly cooler, except stationary temperature in southern portions.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS. Place of Observation. Height of Barometer. Direction and Force of Wind. Amount of Rain.

Table with columns for Place of Observation, Height of Barometer, Direction and Force of Wind, and Amount of Rain. Rows include St. Paul, Duluth, and other locations.

LOCAL FORECAST. For St. Paul, Minneapolis and vicinity: Fair weather; slight rise in temperature.

THE STORY OF A DAY.

King William will visit the czar. Bismarck may represent Potsdam in the Reichstag. S. R. McManis, the druggist, makes an assignment.

Waterworks cause some inconvenience in the camp at Red Rock. The late Representative Randall is enticed in the house.

Ullrichman agreed to purchase the Jefferson collection of papers. Nellie McClelland captures the great Eclipse snake at Morris Park.

Prince Ferdinand is to be removed from the Bulgarian throne. Efforts are being made to suppress slavery and the liquor traffic in Africa.

A Nebraska circus employee is fatally assaulted for demanding his share of the money. Waterworks sell its chance for the South Dakota capital to Huron for $50,000.

St. Paul and Minneapolis will continue to take census returns until Wednesday night. That Western association of business men in Denver, Minneapolis, Omaha and Milwaukee.

WHAT TO EXPECT. Now that the enumerators have completed their rounds and are handing in their returns, there will be much of the eagerness, especially in the cities that fear the buoyancy of rapid growth.

Now that the enumerators have completed their rounds and are handing in their returns, there will be much of the eagerness, especially in the cities that fear the buoyancy of rapid growth, to know the result that there is in the case of exciting and doubtful conditions.

Now that the enumerators have completed their rounds and are handing in their returns, there will be much of the eagerness, especially in the cities that fear the buoyancy of rapid growth, to know the result that there is in the case of exciting and doubtful conditions.

Now that the enumerators have completed their rounds and are handing in their returns, there will be much of the eagerness, especially in the cities that fear the buoyancy of rapid growth, to know the result that there is in the case of exciting and doubtful conditions.

Now that the enumerators have completed their rounds and are handing in their returns, there will be much of the eagerness, especially in the cities that fear the buoyancy of rapid growth, to know the result that there is in the case of exciting and doubtful conditions.

Now that the enumerators have completed their rounds and are handing in their returns, there will be much of the eagerness, especially in the cities that fear the buoyancy of rapid growth, to know the result that there is in the case of exciting and doubtful conditions.

Now that the enumerators have completed their rounds and are handing in their returns, there will be much of the eagerness, especially in the cities that fear the buoyancy of rapid growth, to know the result that there is in the case of exciting and doubtful conditions.

Now that the enumerators have completed their rounds and are handing in their returns, there will be much of the eagerness, especially in the cities that fear the buoyancy of rapid growth, to know the result that there is in the case of exciting and doubtful conditions.

the young women are more than holding their own in the past. There have been recent notations of the progress of the "weaker sex" in these relations. One of the most conspicuous of these is in the case of Miss Fawcett, who has just taken the highest honors in the examinations at Cambridge University, England.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

The census taking is practically ended. Yesterday closing the work of the enumerators, and all that remains to be done is to tabulate their returns. The GLOBE has no disposition to criticize unless there is just ground for it, but we do know that there is an apparently well founded impression in this community that the work of census taking in this locality was slighted and bungled to an inexcusable degree.

fine-spun theories, the fact remains that the royal road to wealth is closed against the masses. Only the favored and few are permitted to tread its pathway. This is in the very nature of an industrial and financial system where everything runs to combination and all things are controlled by aggregated capital.

A GOOD MAN ATTACKED. A prominent Canadian paper assumes to look over the line and patronizingly perceive a healthy growth of moral sentiment, perhaps due to the influence of ennobling neighborhood, although that is modestly left to inference. The anomalous feature in the picture it draws is that of the highest postal functionary of the land.

A NEW YORK PAPER figures up its fourteen aggregations control two-thirds of the railroads in the United States. The VAN DERBILT is at the head, and including the Chicago & Northwestern, has 15,663 miles.

IT IS NOT a quite satisfactory drift of things when the Illinois noblemen have the vote to 20,000,000 acres of United States land. The verbal mistle is a word that in that direction would not be untimely.

WHEN JAY GOULD was young and working for cents he cut his initials and the publishers of the Chicago Tribune never seen it since. He had a larger coin now.

THE postmaster general wants a better device for letter boxes on residence doors. It needs to be cheap and secure, and easy for the carriers.

THE base ball umpire is having a little rest now. The verbal mistle is a word that in that direction would not be untimely.

LAST Sunday night a preacher at Philadelphia died in his bed. There is no moral given by the incident.

BISMARCK is no umbrella sort of a man. He doesn't shut up when things look threatening about him.

QUIPS AND QUIRKS. Politics makes strange bedfellows. It is the other day that the "Klids" and the P. P. were at daggers' points.

A QUEER DELUSION. The fanciful theory has taken possession of some Canadian papers that a great many people are crossing the line from North Dakota into Manitoba and the Northwest territory in order to enjoy the greater advantages of a Canadian home.

the women who have taken the law have generally met encouraging success. Only the favored and few are permitted to tread its pathway. This is in the very nature of an industrial and financial system where everything runs to combination and all things are controlled by aggregated capital.

THE Princess of Wales presides in the most graceful style and is likely to be glad over the assurance of becoming a grandmother before she wears the queenly robes. Her mother-in-law shows no disposition to oblige her by getting out of the way.

THE most interesting internee struggle is promised in the fight for supremacy among the candidates for the next governor. Shoud Mission, Col. Bobler's renomination, as many of the faithful allege they will, the candidacy of Senator D. M. Hoag will be voted in victory for the second place on the ticket.

THE most interesting internee struggle is promised in the fight for supremacy among the candidates for the next governor. Shoud Mission, Col. Bobler's renomination, as many of the faithful allege they will, the candidacy of Senator D. M. Hoag will be voted in victory for the second place on the ticket.

THE most interesting internee struggle is promised in the fight for supremacy among the candidates for the next governor. Shoud Mission, Col. Bobler's renomination, as many of the faithful allege they will, the candidacy of Senator D. M. Hoag will be voted in victory for the second place on the ticket.

THE most interesting internee struggle is promised in the fight for supremacy among the candidates for the next governor. Shoud Mission, Col. Bobler's renomination, as many of the faithful allege they will, the candidacy of Senator D. M. Hoag will be voted in victory for the second place on the ticket.

THE most interesting internee struggle is promised in the fight for supremacy among the candidates for the next governor. Shoud Mission, Col. Bobler's renomination, as many of the faithful allege they will, the candidacy of Senator D. M. Hoag will be voted in victory for the second place on the ticket.

THE most interesting internee struggle is promised in the fight for supremacy among the candidates for the next governor. Shoud Mission, Col. Bobler's renomination, as many of the faithful allege they will, the candidacy of Senator D. M. Hoag will be voted in victory for the second place on the ticket.

THE most interesting internee struggle is promised in the fight for supremacy among the candidates for the next governor. Shoud Mission, Col. Bobler's renomination, as many of the faithful allege they will, the candidacy of Senator D. M. Hoag will be voted in victory for the second place on the ticket.

THE most interesting internee struggle is promised in the fight for supremacy among the candidates for the next governor. Shoud Mission, Col. Bobler's renomination, as many of the faithful allege they will, the candidacy of Senator D. M. Hoag will be voted in victory for the second place on the ticket.

THE most interesting internee struggle is promised in the fight for supremacy among the candidates for the next governor. Shoud Mission, Col. Bobler's renomination, as many of the faithful allege they will, the candidacy of Senator D. M. Hoag will be voted in victory for the second place on the ticket.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

A pretty well-defined rumor comes down from Hennepin county that, despite the most emphatic denial that he is a candidate for any position whatever, A. C. Haugan's adherents are persisting in quietly laying the wires for his nomination as state treasurer.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

A Famous Few portrait painters have, at the age of 60, attained the position of professional success which she has attained. A native of New Orleans, Miss Campbell is now a resident of New York. Her father was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the South, and the family have been prominent social leaders of the Crescent City for several generations.

PACIFIC NORTH WEST.

Another Chapter of a Newspaper Man's Observations on the Coast. Spokane Falls with Its Water Power and Model Electric Line.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

PACIFIC NORTH WEST.

Another Chapter of a Newspaper Man's Observations on the Coast. Spokane Falls with Its Water Power and Model Electric Line.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

As a sort of a postscript to my letter from Tacoma, published in last Sunday's GLOBE, I wish to add a few observations on the Pacific Northwest which could not be included in my former article because of my inability to compress into newspaper space all that I saw during my trip. The interest in Twin City people here in that section has been manifested by the number of questions propounded to me since my return. Among other questions, I have been asked why I did not write of Spokane. My answer is that my stop in that pretty little city was so short as to enable me to form an intelligent opinion as to its prospects. They have a great water power there, and I am inclined to think they are banking on it considerably.

governed by as strict a sense of business integrity and as high moral principles as prevail in Eastern cities. What kind of hotel accommodations and traveling facilities do you find in the Pacific Northwest enjoy? No better anywhere. The hotels are first-class; good, high rates, but you get your money's worth in the signs of facilities. I have already spoken of the superb accommodation furnished by the Northern Pacific on both its main and branch lines. The cars are the best that are made by the Pullman company, and the dining car service is all that could be required. It is no fulsome compliment to say that the Northern Pacific is not excelled by any railway service on the continent. The steamship service on Puget sound is equal to the Hudson river navigation. The Union Pacific, the Southern Pacific and other coast lines are all giving special attention to equipment and service, so that the traveler can have no just grounds for complaint on the score of accommodation.

I saw many familiar faces in the Pacific coast towns, and recognized many familiar names on the signs of thriving business houses. St. Paul and Minneapolis have contributed very largely to the prosperity of that section by means of their mail and traveling facilities and enterprise into the business affairs of the Pacific Northwest. I would require the services of a census enumerator to give a list of all the familiar faces I saw, but whenever I met a St. Paul or Minneapolis man, I was sure to find him in the van of the progress. Among my newspaper acquaintances, I found Mr. Carle, formerly of the Pioneer and formerly of the Globe's counting room. Messrs. Boyton, Metcalf, Bradley, Maxfield and Ehle, all of the citizens of Tacoma useful lessons in enforcing journalism. Ed Ungle, formerly of the Globe, and Mr. Painter, late of the Globe, were also present, and same high service for the people of Seattle. And the best of it, they are All Getting Rich. but not proud to recognize old acquaintances and to make them feel at home amid their palatial surroundings. Observation has taught me that a newspaper man is the hardest person in the world to be spoiled by prosperity, and I would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.

After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.

After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.

After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.

After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.

After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.

After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.

After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.

After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.

After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation. After a careful retrospect I am prepared to say in all candor that for the next ten years—yes, for the next twenty years—would not give the experience to confirm the truthfulness of that observation.