The Galens Who Compose the Minnesota State Medical Board.

Probably no profession is more subject to jibes and unfavorable comment in these times of general learning than that of medicine.

view of perfecting the practice which has for its object the cure and preservation of mind and body.

A law was passed in 1883 by the Minnesota legislature that prohibited any one from practicing medicine without a diploma from a medical college.

In 1887 that law was amended so that no one after July 1 of that year should be licensed to practice medicine in the state unless he had attended three courses of lectures of six months each in a reputable medical college.

Dr. F. C. Bowman, of Duluth, is president of the Minnesota State Medical association. He is but thirty-eight years old, but his executive ability has fixed his habits of thought and pushed him to the front in his profession.

Dr. W. D. F. Wood is secretary of the board, and a very efficient one he has been for a little more than a year. It is his duty, besides doing the office work assigned to a secretary, to see that the laws are not violated by quacks and to see that they do not impose on the public.

This law has been referred to by medical periodicals as the highest type of law in the United States and recommended its adoption by other states.

The board meets four times a year for the purpose of conducting examinations with a view of licensing physicians.
