

THE DAILY GLOBE

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY AT THE GLOBE BUILDING, COR. FOURTH AND CEDAR STREETS.

BY LEWIS BAKER.

ST. PAUL GLOBE SUBSCRIPTION RATES. DAILY (Not including Sunday). Daily in advance $5.00 3 mos. in adv. $12.00 6 mos. in adv. $22.00 1 yr. in adv. $40.00 1 mo. in adv. 1.00 One month, 7c.

DAILY AND SUNDAY. 1 yr. in advance $10.00 3 mos. in adv. $20.00 6 mos. in adv. $35.00 1 mo. in adv. 1.00 One month, 7c.

SUNDAY ALONE. 1 yr. in advance $2.00 3 mos. in adv. $5.00 6 mos. in adv. $8.00 1 mo. in adv. .25c One month, 3c.

THE WEEKLY (Daily - Monday, Wednesday and Friday). 1 yr. in advance $4.00 3 mos. in adv. $10.00 6 mos. in adv. $16.00 1 mo. in adv. .50c One month, 15c.

WEEKLY ST. PAUL GLOBE. No. 1111 Broadway, N. Y. City. One Year, $1.00 3 Months, 30c 6 Months, 50c

Rejected communications and articles will be returned only if accompanied by return postage.

Eastern Advertising Office, Room 21 Tribune Building, New York. Complete files of the Globe always kept on hand for reference. Patrons and friends are cordially invited to call at our office and view the facilities of our Eastern Office while in New York.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18.—For Minnesota and Iowa: warmer; easterly winds. For North and South Dakota: warmer; followed by showers; southerly winds; warmer. For Wisconsin: warmer; easterly winds.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

Table with columns: Place of Observation, Barometer, Thermometer, Wind, etc. Rows include St. Paul, Duluth, Minneapolis, etc.

LOCAL FORECAST.

For St. Paul, Minneapolis and vicinity: Fair; warmer.

THE STORY OF A DAY.

Fierce storms pass over Great Britain. Many famous races are arriving at Balmle. The Western Union's main office in New York is burned. Arrests in the Minneapolis census fraud cases are expected at any moment.

BUT A PARTY TRICK.

Some committee—or persons who call themselves such—in Virginia, has published the declaration that the Republican party in that state will take no further part in elections until it has the assurance that there will be an honest count. This is put out evidently by the tools, or under the inspiration, of MARIONNE. Frank was the only suggestion of relief for his monstrous collapse at the polls in 1888. All the better elements of the Republicans deserted him, and he was beaten over 40,000 votes. It was a good deal of a cyclone for him politically, and he has only been heard of since now and then coming out with a bill with large patronage, and affording a chance to pose as martyrs. There has been no election in the state for nearly a year, and nothing to suggest the condition now proclaimed except the necessities of the party elsewhere. Virginia has been in a state of anarchy between the parties for a dozen or more years. At the last two presidential elections it was carried by the Democrats by a few thousand, the last one little more than 1,000. In 1888 the Republicans carried it on a Congress by a margin of a thousand on a very tight vote. That the Republicans insist, and his honesty is proved by the election of Republicans. This theory has served to give several Republican candidates the house who the voters failed to elect them. The Republican party in Virginia is largely composed of white men. It has been the constant boast that 25,000 Confederate soldiers were sent to the front. The pitiful lie when no money is in sight is too absurd for serious proclamation. They are certainly strong enough to point out where they have been defeated, and they are strong enough to invoke the protection of the law. This disbandment is the trick of desperate politicians, and too transparent to do protracted service.

AN ORGAN'S WAIL.

The Pioneer Press endeavors to belittle the Alliance independent movement by calling it "the Bill Edwin party," but beneath its attempted jocoseness there is readily discovered a feeling of serious apprehension on the part of the machine organ that somebody's boat is going to be capsized by the cyclone which BILL EDWIN helped the farmers to put in motion. First, and worst of all, it sees a serious menace to the McKINLEY machine. More than that it sees that even KNUTE NELSON's vaunted popularity cut no figure in a convention of intelligent farmers, who were bent on freeing themselves from monopoly in the state, and in the machine bosses and their organ the most that there could be any kind of a political convention held in this state that would not respond to the touch of the boomer.

HIS OWN MEDICINE.

The Republican county committee of Boss QUAY's own county in Pennsylvania has been called to meet to-day to investigate a case of political bribery which must be painfully suggestive of the methods of the boss. It is his committee, and his fellows are the defendants. A congressional nominating body convened, and QUAY's name was left. Three of his men were bought up to remember that any battle was fought there. This is evidently a novel experience of lobbying for DONNELLY. The executive claque became such a nuisance that an honest old farmer had to rise from his seat and ask that the vote buyers and vote sellers be excluded from the hall. It is with bad grace, therefore, that the governor's personal organ should hasten to brand the new party and its ticket as the work of professional agitators who were working for hire. Common truth and common honesty demand a vindication of the alliance convention from the charge of corruption that Gov. MERRIAM's organ makes against it. In all truth, it refused to be corrupted, and its great offense in the eyes of the machine bosses is that it nominated a ticket composed of men who cannot be bought or sold.

perience for QUAY, but it is a blunder in him to make trouble about it. The man nominated proposes to follow the example of the senator and preserve entire silence. He knows that graver charges have been made against QUAY and his nominee for governor, and are only met with indignant silence. He has the nomination by the law's force, but how the voters were obtained need not trouble the moral element of a man who has been under the tuition of QUAY.

AFFECTS THE LADIES.

Another case in which the ladies are interested in the tariff question is in the seal plush used for cloaks and sacks. This is worn by those who cannot afford the real article, and is an excellent imitation. This has been made exclusively in England until a year or so ago, when a few mills were established in this country. But one of them has succeeded in making a fair article, and that much inferior to the original. The duty on the article in the present tariff is 50 per cent, which should afford ample encouragement for the home industry if the natural conditions are adapted to it. The McKINLEY bill adds nearly 40 per cent more. It will raise the price from $4 a yard to $7.25 and $7.50. It will be a big thing for the owners of the American mill, but it is all at the expense of the people who have to practice economy in their purchases.

THE RECOUNT.

It is, perhaps, on the principle that misery loves company, the Minneapolis papers are urging that there shall be a census recount in St. Paul. If there is any valid reason for such a recount, we are sure that there is not a man in this city who will oppose it. But as no good reason has yet been suggested why the government should incur the expense and labor of a recount here, we fail to see why it should be discussed at all. In any event, a recount, if necessary, there is no occasion why it should be mixed up with the Minneapolis affair. It would be entirely separate from, and independent of, the middle our Minneapolis friends are in.

THE RECOUNT.

It is, perhaps, on the principle that misery loves company, the Minneapolis papers are urging that there shall be a census recount in St. Paul. If there is any valid reason for such a recount, we are sure that there is not a man in this city who will oppose it. But as no good reason has yet been suggested why the government should incur the expense and labor of a recount here, we fail to see why it should be discussed at all. In any event, a recount, if necessary, there is no occasion why it should be mixed up with the Minneapolis affair. It would be entirely separate from, and independent of, the middle our Minneapolis friends are in.

THE RECOUNT.

It is, perhaps, on the principle that misery loves company, the Minneapolis papers are urging that there shall be a census recount in St. Paul. If there is any valid reason for such a recount, we are sure that there is not a man in this city who will oppose it. But as no good reason has yet been suggested why the government should incur the expense and labor of a recount here, we fail to see why it should be discussed at all. In any event, a recount, if necessary, there is no occasion why it should be mixed up with the Minneapolis affair. It would be entirely separate from, and independent of, the middle our Minneapolis friends are in.

THE RECOUNT.

It is, perhaps, on the principle that misery loves company, the Minneapolis papers are urging that there shall be a census recount in St. Paul. If there is any valid reason for such a recount, we are sure that there is not a man in this city who will oppose it. But as no good reason has yet been suggested why the government should incur the expense and labor of a recount here, we fail to see why it should be discussed at all. In any event, a recount, if necessary, there is no occasion why it should be mixed up with the Minneapolis affair. It would be entirely separate from, and independent of, the middle our Minneapolis friends are in.

THE RECOUNT.

It is, perhaps, on the principle that misery loves company, the Minneapolis papers are urging that there shall be a census recount in St. Paul. If there is any valid reason for such a recount, we are sure that there is not a man in this city who will oppose it. But as no good reason has yet been suggested why the government should incur the expense and labor of a recount here, we fail to see why it should be discussed at all. In any event, a recount, if necessary, there is no occasion why it should be mixed up with the Minneapolis affair. It would be entirely separate from, and independent of, the middle our Minneapolis friends are in.

THE RECOUNT.

It is, perhaps, on the principle that misery loves company, the Minneapolis papers are urging that there shall be a census recount in St. Paul. If there is any valid reason for such a recount, we are sure that there is not a man in this city who will oppose it. But as no good reason has yet been suggested why the government should incur the expense and labor of a recount here, we fail to see why it should be discussed at all. In any event, a recount, if necessary, there is no occasion why it should be mixed up with the Minneapolis affair. It would be entirely separate from, and independent of, the middle our Minneapolis friends are in.

THE RECOUNT.

It is, perhaps, on the principle that misery loves company, the Minneapolis papers are urging that there shall be a census recount in St. Paul. If there is any valid reason for such a recount, we are sure that there is not a man in this city who will oppose it. But as no good reason has yet been suggested why the government should incur the expense and labor of a recount here, we fail to see why it should be discussed at all. In any event, a recount, if necessary, there is no occasion why it should be mixed up with the Minneapolis affair. It would be entirely separate from, and independent of, the middle our Minneapolis friends are in.

THE RECOUNT.

It is, perhaps, on the principle that misery loves company, the Minneapolis papers are urging that there shall be a census recount in St. Paul. If there is any valid reason for such a recount, we are sure that there is not a man in this city who will oppose it. But as no good reason has yet been suggested why the government should incur the expense and labor of a recount here, we fail to see why it should be discussed at all. In any event, a recount, if necessary, there is no occasion why it should be mixed up with the Minneapolis affair. It would be entirely separate from, and independent of, the middle our Minneapolis friends are in.

THE RECOUNT.

It is, perhaps, on the principle that misery loves company, the Minneapolis papers are urging that there shall be a census recount in St. Paul. If there is any valid reason for such a recount, we are sure that there is not a man in this city who will oppose it. But as no good reason has yet been suggested why the government should incur the expense and labor of a recount here, we fail to see why it should be discussed at all. In any event, a recount, if necessary, there is no occasion why it should be mixed up with the Minneapolis affair. It would be entirely separate from, and independent of, the middle our Minneapolis friends are in.

WAR TAX TALKS.

The Courier-Journal has little faith in Mr. Blaine's recovery scheme. Here is what, in a double-edged editorial, that paper says about the premier's pet idea: It seems impossible for Mr. Blaine to understand the operation of international commerce. He says: "The aggregate balance of trade with all Latin America is against us." This simply means that we buy more of Latin America than it buys of us. We do this because we get what we want cheaper there than elsewhere, whereas Latin America can buy what she wants cheaper in Europe than in the United States.

THE LOTTERY ISSUE.

Their organs real forth lottery to the extent of several columns each week. They are flooding the country with their newspapers and lottery literature to the total exclusion of all matters and matters that vitally affect the interests of the farmers. And that is the way of it. A game of perpetual office-seekers and their voters are never known to look after any other interest but their own. The voters know what to do with these political leeches as well as we can tell them.

THE ELECTION BILL.

An Ignoble Record. Louisville Times. The party that stole the presidency in 1876 through the operations of Louisiana and Florida returning boards and a partisan extra-constitutional electoral commission, the party that bulldozed every honest man out of the North in 1880, the party that expended, through Quay, Clarkson and Dudley, $400,000 of Wanamaker's money to buy a majority in the Electoral College, is now engaged in "reforming" elections by operation of the force bill now before Congress. It calls itself the party of honest elections.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

THE ELECTION BILL.

It is to be noticed that while our propped laborers in the factories are not sell their products to Brazil in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe. Does Latin America really want any great quantity of our agricultural products? Certainly not. Latin America is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Latin America wants dry goods, furniture, boots and shoes, hardware and articles made in the mills and factories. It is not our farmers who are in competition with the "pauper labor" of England, our unprotected farmers sell and buy in the United States in the competitive markets of Europe.

ABDUCTED AND SLAIN

Christian Residents of Erzrum Are Horribly Maltreated by Moslems. Men and Women Murdered Without Provocation by Bloodthirsty Turks. Southwestern England Turned on Edge by Storms Resembling Cyclones. Thieves Get Away With a Number of Stanley's Wedding Presents.

STANLEY IN HARD LUCK.

Thieves Get Away With a Number of His Wedding Presents. LONDON, July 18.—The number of present stolen from Stanley's collection on the day of the explorer's marriage is ascertained to be much greater than first admitted. Efforts were made to keep the matter quiet but the great and sentence of Mrs. Hatchard gave it publicity, and later developments disclose the fact that she was not the only thief present at the reception.

PIERCE STORMS IN BRITAIN.

Houses Ruined and Valuable Stocks of Goods Destroyed. LONDON, July 18.—The amount of damage done by yesterday's storm in London and South of England is enormous. The streets in many localities were submerged, and houses and shops were flooded. Entire stocks of valuable goods are ruined. In the various towns in southern England similar damage was inflicted, and in some cases houses were undermined to such an extent that they will have to be torn down. The grenadiers quartered in the West end, who a short time ago were engaged in the most serious of the war, were summarily dealt with. Taking advantage of the disaffection against the government, the police men and postmen, they made demands upon their superiors for a relaxation of the onerous routine duty to which they were subjected. These demands receiving no consideration, they rebelled against the rigid discipline, and refused to obey the orders of their superiors. A strike at the very framework of our institutions. It denies the right of the government to appoint and remove the regulators of its elections and the judges of its own election returns—in fact, it takes the voting regulation and the election returns out of their hands.

Faneuil Hall to be Filled.

It is a party necessity solely that the voters should be put through. The one plan that the Republican speakers make is that no one should object to a law to secure honest elections, though the voters should be put through. The one plan that the Republican speakers make is that no one should object to a law to secure honest elections, though the voters should be put through. The one plan that the Republican speakers make is that no one should object to a law to secure honest elections, though the voters should be put through.

Merely Partisan Politics.

Philadelphia Times. It is a party necessity solely that the voters should be put through. The one plan that the Republican speakers make is that no one should object to a law to secure honest elections, though the voters should be put through. The one plan that the Republican speakers make is that no one should object to a law to secure honest elections, though the voters should be put through.

To Perpetuate Read's Methods.

Philadelphia Record. The enactment of the Lodge force bill would simply mean the application of the same method to every Democratic state of the methods of Speaker Read's committee on contested seats, and just what that would mean may be judged from the awful election record in the present Congress.

They Do Not Own the People.

Des Moines Register. The bill will probably become a law, for its selfish and interested framers own the core before which the issues are tried. But they do not own the people. They are the servants of the people, and they are to be judged by the sense of justice and decency an appeal lies from every improper act of a Congress which is, after all, only the hired and paid servant of the great American people.

Rushing on to Destruction.

Buffalo Courier. The Republican leaders have made up their minds to put the bill through, and they will do it if they can. If it has any justification, it must be that it will give the Southern Republicans a protection in their needs. When they come up and they need no such protection, and that the bill will be an injury to them and their cause, that ought to be enough to settle the question against the bill. It would be with reason and power, and rushing on to destruction.

Must Meet in November.

LONDON, July 18.—In the house of Commons Mr. W. H. Smith, replying to a radical protest against a November session, said he trusted that members of the house sent by their constituents to transact business would endeavor so to conduct as to conduce to the interests of the country. He added that the urgency of public affairs necessitated a November session.

American Rifleman at Niederwald.

BERLIN, July 18.—The American rifleman paid a visit to the Niederwald today and placed a wreath of laurels on the German monument. President Webber delivered an address. In the afternoon five Americans to the Rudesheim and partook of a killfeast.

Influenza Paralyzes Business.

PARIS, July 18.—The influenza is epidemic in St. Louis, the whole population of the place being affected. Business in the public departments is suspended.

Cotton and Breadstuffs Burned.

LONDON, July 18.—The Manchester Canal company's warehouse in Liverpool has been burned, and a large quantity of cotton, grain and flour was consumed. The damage is estimated at $300,000.

Dupuy Asked to Keep Quiet.

PARIS, July 18.—M. Ribot, minister of foreign affairs, has requested M. Dupuy to postpone his interpolation in regard to negotiations with the powers relative to the McKinley bill until a vote shall have been taken upon the direct taxation bill.

Hamburg's New Archbishop.

BERLIN, July 18.—Prof. Schoenfelder, of the Wurzburg university, has been nominated archbishop of Hamburg.

Stanley's Health Improving.

LONDON, July 18.—Henry M. Stanley is improving in health. He takes a short walk every day.

RANSOM HORTON

Is now under way, and it will pay you to call in or correspond with us if you are going to need anything in Furs next Winter. On Seal Jacks, $25 to $50. Can be saved, and all goods are cheaper. We are offering some Unusual Bargains in Jackets and Walking Coats. Our Seal Jacks, $85. Astrakhan Garments, $40.00. Mink Sacques, $75.00. Natural Seal Jackets, $75.00. Beaver Sacques, $125.00.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.

Now, You know it, only you are indifferent. It's hot, and you don't like to think of Furs, but then you'll wish next Fall you had, so be wise and do it now.