

MINNEAPOLIS.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

REPAIRS FULLY. (Sung to the air of "Little Annie Rooney.") A winning way, devoid of guile, He worked his racket all the while; And with him hand and foot, Did Little Enoch Ray.

He never drank rum punch or wine, But every month, come rain or shine, He took his bit and the bottle, Little Enoch Ray.

CHORUS. He's our Enoch Ray in his duds, He's in Canada, we're in the soup, Not long did he tarry, He never was in a hurry, Little Enoch Ray our sweetheart.

The new special agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals reported that in the past month he had investigated five cases of cruelty to children, had one severely repaired and two lame horses taken from express wagons, made eleven calls on poultry dealers and had the cocks put in shape and the chickens watered, repaired two men for neglecting and mistreating their horses, and called on the city engineer to see that the city should protect this gentleman. Such activity in hot weather is dangerous.

The liquor men are to have a newspaper to fight their battles for them. A weekly paper, to be devoted to the interests of the brewing and distilling industry of the Northwest, to be known as "The Brewer and Distiller," is to be published in Minneapolis. It is to be a long-lived paper, and the exponent of this important industry in which so much capital, together with the property interests, is invested, as well as a faithful news gatherer in this heretofore uncultivated field.

The council committee has returned from its tour of investigation, and the result is that nothing new is learned. The health officer has long been telling the city council that Minneapolis is taking care of its health and that it is the best in the country, and that, with the addition of a few improvements, it would have no superior. In fact, the city council knew better. So they sent a committee down East at the expense of the city and it is presumed that the report will be an improvement which the health officer asked for could have been made for about the sum which the junket has cost but it is not likely that the Minneapolis council to do that.

Now, if anything is done, it will be that the health officer is recommended before the city, with the exception of the junketing expenses. But then the city has a "retrenchment and reform" council, and something must be paid for luxuries.

It is reported that the lack of only one thing made the special committee junket to Washington seem tame—the absence of Sterling's bag.

A sense of the fitness of things occasionally reaches even the churches. It is reported that a Minneapolis congregation on Sunday sang "No Kingdom Cometh by Force."

A Republican organ states that N. H. Curtis is looking for a position with more money and honor and less work connected with it than with a police commission. As a suggestion, why not let the commissioner inspecter of electric lighting at the north pole?

The Times is advised that it would be more neighborly, as well as more in accordance with the rules of justice, to give the Globe the credit, instead of the Chicago Tribune, when matter originally printed in the Globe, is re-issued.

"Come back in time for enumeration and all will be forgiven," was the message telegraphed to one Enoch Ray, formerly of Minneapolis, last night by Mayor Babo.

Ald. Sterling is cursing fate. The council committee was so busy on its recent trip that the Eighth ward council member of practical non-existence, stop in Washington and exchange condolences with the hat because of Jim Bradish's perversity.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

The much abused cigarette is now to be recognized at gentlemen's banquets hereafter. At the Lurline banquet the club members followed coffee and came before the cigars. Of course some of the athletes sniffed at them contemptuously, and made unfeeling remarks about "the undertaker's joy" and "census takers' snuff" when the smoking really began it was noticed that the cigarette fiends were by no means in the minority.

Speaking of the banquet, it seemed strange that not more than one-quarter of the membership had attended to the feast which was given in honor of the returning crews from the Duluth regatta, where they were to be honored. Lurline courses. Such an occasion as this, it would seem, should have attracted at least a majority of the boatmen to celebrate the occasion. The Lurline need not complain of the indifference of the public, when they show so little interest in themselves in the welfare of the club.

It is hard to find a betting man who won much money at several recent meetings. As a rule they seem to have won the first few days and dropped what they won, and more to fore than they got through. Even so, imperturbable a sport as Col. W. A. Tanner says he wishes the horses had all been struck by lightning before they reached Minnesota. His bookmaker lost $3,000 for him, and besides that, the colonel lost enough by his individual bets to pay for several very nice Christmas presents. Some of the Eastern bookmakers made money, but they did so by successful hedging on other books, so they couldn't lose any way you put it.

The Twin City Athletic club is going to be a success from the start, although the start, it must be confessed by its most enthusiastic members, was made rather early in the season. However, its gymnasium will be in complete readiness by fall, and the directors of the club will have learned several needed lessons in management by the time that indoor sports succeed field athletics. The opening entertainment of the club was quite a flattering success, and the interest that has been kindled does not give any indication of dying out.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Rigoletto" was presented to a large audience at the Grand last evening. Manager Hess saw that night in the lobby of the Grand that it was not certain whether he would play here next summer or not, unless the total of the three weeks' engagement came up to a certain figure by Saturday night, and it would not pay him. To-night "Faust" will be staged, and has proven one of the best things the Hess company do. Burt Shepard's Moderns company do. They will begin a four nights' engagement with a Saturday matinee, commencing Thursday, Aug. 14. Mr. Shepard's company has been with Haverly's, Pinrose and West's and several other minstrel companies, has surrounded himself with a company of eleven artists. The specialties are new and novel, comprising a grand first part, in which the entire company represents the leading characters, in beautiful costumes, of all the popular operas of the great composers, and a second part, in which several of the boys, selected from the principal churches of New York city, and several other new and striking specialties.

Seventeen drums were in court yesterday, most of whom were sent to the workhouse.

DEMOCRATIC FEAST.

The State Central Committee Guests of the Jefferson Club.

The Cleveland Club Wants Local Self-Government for Minneapolis.

The Board of Trade Passes Upon the Court House Question.

Another Story of the Sale of the Times to a Political Syndicate.

The Jefferson club to-night will entertain the members of the Democratic state central committee at its rooms in the globe building. The feast is to include refreshments among other features, and the occasion is one which will bring the local workers of the party together with representatives from different parts of the state. It is an invitation to all who hold the state convention at Minneapolis, but it will be done by the way and hospitably, and while it is in Minneapolis is justly entitled to the honor, there will be no "right" over the matter, as might be inferred from statements in the Republican papers.

The members of the state central committee who have accepted invitations are: J. M. F. Moore, Minneapolis; Daniel Lawler, St. Paul; A. R. Pfau, Mankato; E. C. Stringer, Hastings; T. H. M. Johnson, Minneapolis; H. C. Sheppard, Winona; N. H. Marble, Duluth; A. E. Aarnes, Monticello; M. J. Sullivan, Minneapolis; J. H. Crocker, Faribault. There will also be quite a number of Democratic leaders present, including W. W. Johnson, J. M. Mathews and Bronson, of Stillwater; Wells, of Preston; Judge Thomas Wilson, of Winona, and others. It is likely that the board of trade, the professional committee, who are to meet at the West hotel Wednesday, will be present.

LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT.

The Cleveland Club Decides That Is What Minneapolis Wants.

There was a large attendance at the weekly meeting of the Cleveland club last evening. The necessity of local self-government for Minneapolis was freely discussed, and the desirability of the present platform contain a plank in reference to the matter was emphatically commended. There was some plain talk concerning the way the city is managed, and the club members have been thrashed by the Republicans, who have secured, through the legislature, the right to elect a police commissioner, which robbed a Democratic mayor of the power he was elected to wield. Letters were received from E. J. Harrison, a Democratic candidate for governor in Pennsylvania, returning thanks for the club's congratulations, and from Senators C. K. Davis and W. D. Washburn in reference to the club's protest against the "Lodge Bill" for federal elections. The former returned the compliment by promising to receive his "most considerate attention," but Senator Washburn volunteered the opinion that there is little probability of his doing so.

"I will see the actual necessity for this ordinance," the first-mentioned clause of the ordinance provides that no person shall practice any business or profession without first procuring a license therefor. The ordinance also provides that no person on his beat who requires a license shall be allowed to do any business without first procuring the same; and any officer who does not enforce the ordinance shall be liable to a fine of $100. PLENTY OF SMOKE.

But the Burning Board of Trade Caused Little Damage.

The board of trade meeting yesterday strongly resembled a thunder storm on a July afternoon. First there were murmurs, then a heavy rain of discussion, and finally, after a few minutes, peace and sunshine. It was all on account of the court house. Judge Atwater started it by reading a series of resolutions which censured the commission roundly for considering any business of the city, and the erection of a court house to cost more than $2,000,000, and closing by recommending that the commission on legislation, take action to secure the passage of a law which would give the board of trade the right to make contracts for a building the cost of which shall exceed $2,000,000. The commission on legislation, in its report, had recommended in favor of holding strictly to the appropriation, and architects with hot irons. Among other things he said: "It was just as well known to the gentleman who were in this scheme, at the time the plans were adopted, and to the architect, Long & Keck, that the building, as planned, would cost more than the appropriation. The board of trade, on the commission, but they are hoodwinked by the commission. The board of trade and the architect of seeing the millions' interests taken care of, send out for the poor men. We are taking care of the millions; they can take care of their own.
