ST. PAUL, MINN., MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 9, 1891.

NO. 68.

AGAIN STORM SWEEP

The Northwest Catches the Biggest Fall of Snow of the Winter.

Traffic on the St. Paul Electric Lines Delayed to Some Extent.

Trains on the Railways Experience Heavy Wheeling in Some Places.

The Fall of the Beautiful Reported General Over the State.

St. Paul was given another thick coat of the "heaviness" yesterday. The storm, which began early in the morning, continued throughout the day, and, in consequence, nearly everybody hugged his fireside. The snowfall in the city was probably the heaviest of the winter, but only a trace of the storm was more serious. Passenger trains on the railroads running into the city were but little delayed. The Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads were annoyed a little by the snow in the state of Minnesota, but west of Grand Forks and Fargo their tracks were clear. About a foot of snow covered the Eastern and Northern divisions of the road, but a very little delay in traffic. The lines between St. Paul and Chicago caught a great deal of snow, but a few trains to cause trains to be abandoned. None of the roads made use of snowplows.

In the city the electric cars were kept in motion most all day, but there were a number of short stops on the various lines. The Grand avenue line was blocked for several hours late in the afternoon, and the interurban trains were considerably delayed.

Lyons' Bulletin.
Observer Lyons issued the following bulletin at 5 o'clock yesterday:
The storm that moved hither from the southeast to-day is central over Lake Michigan. Snow has been general, and the fall for the morning has averaged from one to eight inches over the upper Mississippi valley and the greater portion of the northern and Michigan, where it is still snowing at this writing. The maximum fall is reported from La Crosse and Duluth, and occasional light snow has fallen over North Dakota and Montana. The area of high barometer and cold wave over the north of the United States, however, the lowest temperature reported from there is only 2 deg below zero. The order of the day is very signal, because the temperature will fall to about zero by 8 a. m. March 9, sent from Washington, D. C., that the cold spell would be verified, but the cold spell will evidently be of short duration, as an area of low barometer has appeared over the Gulf of Mexico, and the wind is blowing from the south, with a high barometer and clearing to fair and milder weather result for St. Paul and vicinity.

SEVERE ALL AROUND.
The Heaviest Fall of Snow of the Winter.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 8.—The heaviest snow storm of the season yet in early this morning and continued throughout the day. The eastern passenger train on the Omaha road was delayed several hours, and other trains reached this city behind time. An attempt was made to start the electric street cars in the morning, but it was a useless task and they were taken back to the power house. About eight inches of snow had fallen, and the storm bids fair to continue all night.

KANSAS, Kans., March 8.—The severest snow storm of the season commenced last night, and continued steadily all day to-day. At this writing a heavy snow storm is blowing from the west, and the temperature rapidly falling, bidding fair to be the worst night of the winter. Should it continue for two or three days it will be impossible for trains to move to-morrow.

ST. STEPHEN, Wis., March 8.—In the neighborhood of a foot of snow fell in to-day's storm, but there being only a light wind, little drifting is reported, and beyond delaying trains and blowing a regular blizzard and the temperature rapidly falling, bidding fair to be the worst night of the winter. Should it continue for two or three days it will be impossible for trains to move to-morrow.

BEAVER, Minn., March 8.—A terrific snow storm, apparently covering the whole north half of the state, has aged all day. There is nearly two feet of snow now on the level.

THE SOUTH UNDER WATER.
Very Heavy Rains in Tennessee and Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 8.—The rainfall in this city and section of the South for the past two days is unprecedented. Nearly five inches has fallen in this city during the past forty-eight hours. Specials from the adjacent country report the heavy rain as general. The entire lower part of the Mississippi is under water, and all trains on the Illinois Central road are delayed. Jackson, Miss., reports the Pearl river as having risen six feet in thirteen hours, and all trains delayed; no train having arrived from the South since Saturday. The Mississippi at Memphis is one and a half foot above the danger line and still rising.

JACKSON, Miss., March 8.—The severest rain storm for years has prevailed almost throughout the entire state during the past thirty-six hours. Five inches of rain fell at Vicksburg, and the heaviest rainfall ever known is reported from many points. At the smaller streams have overflowed their banks, and much damage has been done to roads and bridges. The railroads have been washed out, and all are all delayed or abandoned. At Yazoo City the river is now ten inches above the highest point reached last year, and the highest along the coast that many wrecks are feared. Heavy winds prevail, and the storm has seldom been surpassed in severity at this time of the year.

LOVED HIS COUSIN.

Joseph Ribot Stabs His Wife to Death With a Sharp Knife.

The Cause Found in His Infatuation for a Pretty Young Cousin.

Detectives Find Letters Which Show a Reason for the Deed.

The Murderer Sent to a French Prison for Twenty Years at Hard Labor.

PARIS, March 8.—The latest cause of the crime is the fact that of Joseph Ribot, a gentleman of good social position, education and fair business standing, who, in spite of the advantages, appears to have been utterly unable to resist the fascinations of a beautiful and unprincipled woman. Mr. Ribot had been well known here for years as a competent official of a railway company, whose line to Lyons and Marseilles constitutes one of the principal through routes of travel in France. Respected by his brother officers, energetic in his methods, and apparently capable of repressing himself from the meshes of red tape that environ all French official life, when the exigencies of the case demanded such an assertion of independence, M. Ribot occupied an enviable position. In 1875 the tried railway manager was married to Mlle. Guillemin, the niece of the deputy representing the department Du Rhone. The bride was an estimable lady, but was not at all in love with the man who led her to the altar, neither had M. Ribot any real affection for his future wife. The match was entirely one of the kind known as "marriage of convenience," in which almost every other consideration except love enters. In the present case the fact that Mme. Ribot was possessed of a very handsome fortune may have largely decided the railway manager's choice. But even wealth could not insure happiness, and there was very little of that article in the Ribot household before the arrival of Mlle. Essilda Dillac, Mme. Ribot's lovely young cousin, aged twenty, who came up from the provinces to finish her education as a painter in the art school of Paris, and still less when Mlle. Dillac was a very clever woman, who never denied herself the slightest gratification from fear of the possible consequences, and when she discovered, as she soon did, that M. Ribot was charmed with her face, she was not deterred from carrying on the amour by the fact that her husband-to-be was the husband of her relative. As to M. Ribot, his experience again and again in the matter of going down hill, and if he possessed any real staminalia at the outset it was terribly weakened by the soft glances of his innamorata. Of course, the billing and cooing of the lovers could not be carried on under the very eyes of the woman they were deceiving, and this resort was had to correspondence. These tender missives, now in the hands of the police, are filled with oratorical sentiments of the most glowing kind.

Passionate Variety.
From being a person of average amiability, M. Ribot's demeanor toward his wife changed rapidly for the worse. He used to visit her in the treatment, and when he was trying to poison her. Matters were going on in this unhappy manner when, four weeks ago, M. Ribot was charged with the murder of his wife. The police were at once summoned. M. Ribot was liberated, and the case placed in the hands of several of M. Goron's best detectives. They naturally applied first to M. Ribot's simple and unassuming life, but were not greatly enlightened. The facts, according to the master of the house, were these: M. Ribot was a man of a deep sleep, and yesterday it transpired that Wilson had collected the rents, given receipts for a portrait, had found a pocket of money, and had taken a short vacation. M. Ribot was arrested and held in custody until he had given five hours. Wilson is seventy-two years old, but is said to have an extravagant young wife.

Assaulted by Strikers.
NEWARK, N. J., March 8.—James Grimshaw, a striker at the Clark mills, was arrested for assaulting James Ryan, a scab spinner, to-day. Ryan was formerly a member of the union. He has been in the hose house, where the men are lodged, for five weeks, and is now being held in the city jail. A riot ensued, which the police promptly suppressed, but before the riot was over several men were out for the arrest of C. Hughes and David Buchanan, leaders of the Clark strike.

In Beecher's Memory.
BROOKLYN, March 8.—A special memorial service was held by the Sunday school of Plymouth church to-day in commemoration of Henry Ward Beecher. After an elaborate musical programme and a prayer by Rev. Lyman Abbott, Supt. Spearman made an address relating incidents in the life of the great preacher.

The Yobnack's Indebtedness.
NEW YORK, March 8.—Of the $250,000 worth of bonds issued in order to take up the indebtedness and finish the new Brooklyn tabernacle, $25,000 of the issue has been subscribed for by Rev. T. De Witt Yobnack. Russell Sage, it is said, will exchange his $125,000 mortgage for the same amount in bonds.

LEIDERMANN WAS MURDERED

Clearing Up the Mystery of the Physician's Death.

LONDON, March 8.—Further facts have come to light regarding the murder of Dr. Leidermann, whose body was found in a ravine near San Remo, and who was at first supposed either to have committed suicide or to have fallen by accident down the ravine. Dr. Leidermann was a German, and formerly resided in Manchester. In December last he engaged quarters at the National hotel at San Remo, and had frequent visits to Monte Carlo, subsequently two Germans joining the doctor at the hotel, and all three departed together, by rail, Dec. 29. On the evening of the 30th the two Germans returned to the hotel without Leidermann. In response to inquiries they explained that Leidermann had suddenly become ill, and had been placed in confinement in an asylum at Nice. That night the two Germans left the hotel without having seen the body of their departed. The body of Dr. Leidermann was afterwards found as described. The spine of the murdered man was found to be punctured by a pin similar to those used in picking cards at the gaming tables of Monte Carlo. The police are of the opinion that the dead man had been rifled. It was evidently the intention of the murderers to give the idea that the deceased had been seized of the gambling at Monte Carlo, and that in desperation he had committed suicide.

SPAIN IS IN A SWEAT

Over the Intimation That Uncle Sam May Gobble Up Cuba.

Willingsness Expressed to Shed a Few Gallons of Blood Over It.

Parnellites and the Antis Stir Up Old Ireland in Great Shape.

Battenberg Insulted by the English -- Bismarck May Enter the Reichstag.

MADRID, March 8.—The Herald, in an article protesting against a supposed scheme of the United States government to annex the island of Cuba, says Mr. Blaine ought to recollect that the congress of American nations plainly proved that Spanish-Americans are not disposed to allow themselves to be absorbed by the great northern republic. The people of Cuba, it says, are strongly opposed to the proposition of becoming a part of the United States. Probably, with the exception of a few tradesmen, there is no one in the island who is desirous of annexation. Spain, the Herald continues, would shed her last drop of blood in resisting any attempt to deprive her of her colony, fearing neither a Cuban revolution nor a war with the United States.

THE BAND WAS MUTE.
Musicians Who Play Only Parnell Music.

DUBLIN, March 8.—Messrs. Lane and Manrice Healy, members of parliament, went to Middleton to-day to address an anti-Parnellite meeting. On arrival they were received by the town commissioners. Outside of the station a band which had been engaged to escort them to the town refused to play, but followed mute. The subsequent march was a success, and was attended by contingents from every parish in Cork, headed by priests, nuns, and school children. The meeting, which was held in the evening, was a success, and was attended by contingents from every parish in Cork, headed by priests, nuns, and school children. BATTENBERG INSULTED
By Englishmen Who Do Not Like His German Jags.

LONDON, March 8.—Queen Victoria's liking for her German relatives is causing a good deal of discontent in England, where there is a profound sentiment against the more and more pronounced laudation of the alien princelings and better be bestowed on natives of Great Britain. Prince Henry of Battenberg, who masqueraded as the governor of the Isles of Wight, and real sea and messenger to run errands for his royal mother-in-law, is said to have been the subject of a most uncomplimentary ground taken by the trades council is that the labor question ought not to be mixed up with.

ILLUMINATED THE TOWN.
SEAKIM, March 8.—Gen. Grenfell, commander of the Egyptian army, read to an assembly of sheikhs from all parts of the Sudan yesterday the king's proclamation of general amnesty. The proclamation was received with fervent cries of loyalty by the sheikhs. General Grenfell followed, and the evening the town was illuminated.

Two Cowardly Shots.
BELFAST, March 8.—While a Belfast contingent returning from the Newry meeting was passing Tandragee station two shots were fired from a carriage, wounding two persons seriously. The occupants of the carriage were detained at Tandragee, and a weapon was found upon any of them.

Defeated the Natives.
PARIS, March 8.—The French Senegal expedition has won another victory on the Niger with native troops and French officers. The natives of Diema were defeated with a loss of 600 killed and wounded, including their chief. The French lost eleven killed and wounded.

CROSSED IN LOVE.
Why the Son of a Swedish Nobleman Killed Himself.

CHICAGO, March 8.—Arvid Erickson, twenty-one years of age and the son of a Swedish nobleman, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart, at No. 9237 Commercial avenue, this afternoon. Erickson came to Chicago Aug. 2 last and immediately obtained employment from Charles Williams, the manufacturing jeweler in Kensington. Young Erickson was an expert watchmaker and jeweler and was made foreman of the establishment soon after. Some time ago Mr. Williams jokingly remarked that he ought to bestow his affections upon some young lady, to which Erickson replied that he had been tempted by the charms of a girl, and that his coming to America was owing to an affair between a woman he loved and himself. To-day while the family were at church Erickson shot and killed himself in his room.

Killed His Brother.
PARIS, March 8.—John Jackson was killed by his brother William at Arthur City last night. They, with another brother, were engaged in fishing and running a ferry across the River. William Jackson was drinking heavily and John began upbraiding him for his conduct, telling him that he was losing the respect of every one. William resented the lecture, and in the row that followed shot John through the neck, killing him instantly. Constable Ashby arrested William and jailed him.

Gets Thirty Years.
BOSTON, Tex., March 8.—The Jury today (Sunday) returned a verdict of murder in the second degree against Quince Wilkerson, and assessed his punishment at thirty years in the penitentiary, for the killing of Bill Blake at Holland in 1888.

ARGENTINE'S PANIC

General Impression That It Is Over for a Time.

Buenos Ayres, March 8.—The panic in financial circles is over and business will be resumed to-morrow. The feeling in the gold market is more quiet, and confidence is restored. A number of prominent merchants and bankers met at the government house and appointed a committee to decide upon the question whether it would be more advisable for the government to issue notes or a loan. The committee decided in favor of a loan, to which the banks offer to subscribe $3,000,000. The government has decided to issue a loan of 100,000,000 piastres at 6 per cent interest. Subscriptions will open to-morrow.

LOST AT MONTE CARLO.
Tremendous Sums Dropped at the Gaming Tables.

MONTE CARLO, March 8.—Several instances of the futility of trying to "beat the bank" are recorded here this week. The first is that of the Englishman who, a week ago, by an extraordinary run of luck, won the sum of £7,000 at the gaming tables. Not satisfied with his success, the winner continued to tempt fortune, and the result was that he lost not only all he had won, but £15,000 besides. A second case is that of an Englisher who, Monday last won £500 at the gaming tables, but since passed into the hands of the croupiers. This unfortunate is an Italian duke, whose winnings if he made his money, not recorded, but who is known to have lost within the last few weeks the handsome fortune of 1,000,000 francs.

Eugenie in Poor Health.
LONDON, March 8.—The ex-Empress Eugenie is reported to be in very bad condition physically, and little more than a wreck mentally. There is no allegation of insanity, but her unerring attention to the town refused to play, but followed mute. The subsequent march was a success, and was attended by contingents from every parish in Cork, headed by priests, nuns, and school children. The meeting, which was held in the evening, was a success, and was attended by contingents from every parish in Cork, headed by priests, nuns, and school children.

SHUFFLED OFF AT TOLEDO.
An Unknown Man Takes His Life With Drugs.

TOLEDO, O., March 8.—There is considerable excitement in Toledo to-night over the mysterious suicide of a well-dressed stranger in the best hotel in the city last night. On Friday night a young man, whose name was given as Charles J. Edwards, but gave no place of residence, about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Rev. Father N. Kelly, a prominent Catholic priest, called up the body house and asked if Edwards was there, receiving an affirmative reply. Later he called up the chief of police, and intimated that he feared Edwards intended to commit suicide. The chief promptly departed, and the man was taken to the hospital and opened the door. On going in they found the man dead. On a table by his side were several vials of laudanum, one of which was of aqueous extract of opium, and one of prussic acid. In the grate were several sheets of paper, which, on examination revealed the fact that everything that might reveal the man's identity had been destroyed, except the name of the doctor, who gave initials "M. N. C." Dr. Quigley says the man came to the city Friday night, and that he was a stranger. Father Quigley, Dr. Quigley took the man into his parlor. Edwards snuffed himself on his chair so he could read the papers, but he did not read. "Doctor, I have come to Toledo to commit murder," Father Quigley, who is grossly ignorant of French, and who, feet tall, reached forward with one hand and cried: "Stop! Would you shed your neighbor's blood, and on Friday night you were trying to poison me?" Redeemer gave up his blood for mankind," Dr. Quigley says. Quigley only obtained a promise from Edwards to give up his blood for mankind. He was a fairly good-looking man, about twenty-four or twenty-five years of age, five feet six inches in height, with light hair, a high forehead, complexion, blue eyes, dark brown curly hair, straight nose and regular teeth. He was dressed in a dark coat and vest, light-colored trousers and neat patent-leather shoes. In his trousers he carried a gold watch and a pair of gold-bowed spectacles, and on the lapel of his vest was pinned a small Masonic badge with the square and compasses. He was intelligent in appearance, and showed himself while about the hotel to be a man of education and good breeding. His clothes are of stylish cut, even to his underclothing, which is of an expensive order. The marks on the laundry are "C. C."

The Bribe Didn't Go.
WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 8.—Reports are being sent out to-night that the United States Marshal Barring and others obtained $1,000 to settle the criminal case now pending against E. Sutherland, of Hazleton, who is charged with sending obscene matter through the mails. Mr. Barring is said to have proposed to him to effect a settlement, but he refused. The case will come before the United States court at Scranton in April next, and Sutherland must appear and answer.

Hadn't Been Introduced.
DECATUR, Ill., March 8.—Sylvanus R. Cooper, aged forty-eight, was adjudged insane yesterday. He fell in love with a woman to whom he had never been introduced, and when he proposed marriage and was refused he went crazy. He is a widower with two grown children.

Caftay on the Rack.
OMAHA, Neb., March 8.—A court martial will be in session at Fort Omaha next week, in which spy developments are promised. It is alleged that Capt. H. E. Caftay, Second Infantry, will be on the rack. It is hinted that the investigation is to determine how sick the captain was when in the Indian country during the Indian campaign. He evaded duty on a physician's certificate of disability.

DITCHED IN A STORM

The Santa Fe Fast Passenger Train Is Ditched at Havana, Ill.

Sleepers, Coaches and Baggage Cars Piled Together in Confusion.

Fireman Saddler Killed and Several Passengers Fatally Injured.

The Survivors Walk Barefooted a Mile Through Sleet and Snow.

PEORIA, Ill., March 8.—The Jacksonville Southern fast passenger train over the Atchison, Topoka & Santa Fe, which left here at 1:30 this morning, met with a terrible accident at Havana, forty-one miles south of here. The train consisted of baggage car, coach, chair car and two sleepers, and was an hour and a half late owing to the terrible storm which raged all night. At Havana there is a sharp curve a mile and a half from the depot, and the engine struck the curve at the switch and left the track. All the cars followed, piling up in great confusion. The half-dressed passengers clambered out of the windows and through the roof of the demolished cars, and hastened, barefooted, through the sleet and over the icy roads for the nearest houses. The passengers who were in the coach created their injured companions. Under the engine was Fireman Saddler, who was instantly killed. He came here a few days ago from the Baltimore & Ohio road and was a stranger. By the side of the engine was Engineer George Birkhead, of this city, with one arm and a leg cut off. The other injured were: Edward Hemmett, of Peoria, burned and badly bruised; Walter Conover, of Maisto, Ill., left arm torn out and fatal injuries; Charles Mulvaney, of Streator, Ill., back and head crushed; Bill Jones, of Peoria, head and neck broken; Louis, seriously bruised; Express Messenger Bates, of Chicago, left foot torn off and badly bruised; Frank P. Lewis, of Peoria, seriously jammed in the breast. The conductor, M. F. Kennedy, was also injured. Carver, Ill., and C. L. Hughes, brakeman, of St. Louis, were also injured by being thrown against the car seats when the wreck occurred. The wreck immediately took fire and burned with great rapidity. It was with the utmost difficulty that some of the passengers were rescued, and one or two were severely burned. A wrecking train was sent out from Jacksonville at once, but when it reached the scene the fire had swept the debris out of existence. The loss to the company, including the death and accident claims, will not fall short of $100,000. An unusually small list of passengers were aboard the train. The people who were injured, but not killed, had to make their way on the sleet and through the terrible storm to shelter without shoes or any clothes. A. C. Woods, of Jacksonville, Ill., was the only one who was not injured. He was the father of a family of five children, and his wife and two children. The family was rescued in a miraculous manner. The train was derailed when suddenly I felt a tremendous crash and found myself on the opposite side of the tracks. I was thrown against the car seats. My first thought was for wife and children, and I managed to get them together, though the car was lying on its side. I was the only one who was not injured. I pushed the children out of the car, and they were wrapped in the women and children in blankets in the sleepers and were thankful to be alive.

Gagged the Watchman.
LISTWELL, Ont., March 8.—Last evening incendiaries bound and gagged the night watchman at Hess Brothers' furniture store, and then fired the store, which was totally destroyed. The water works' pumps and fire alarm had been tampered with, and the result was the destruction of the factory. The loss has not yet been estimated. There is $21,000 insurance on the building, in which the Western Lancashire & New York of Ireland companies are interested.

Died From Exposure.
WINNIPEG, Man., March 8.—A Regina dispatch reports that Rev. Father Gratton, Catholic priest of Regina, was found dead this morning five miles outside of the city. He left on Thursday to assist at the elections. On his return, his body was found in a snowdrift. He had been exposed to the elements for several days.

Deadly Trichinosis.
MARSHFIELD, Mo., March 8.—The terrible trichinosis are doing deadly work in Ida county. Two more Germans died yesterday, making five altogether in the past week. It is thought several more will die. About a dozen of the afflicted ones are improving and will probably recover. A leading physician has examined the bodies of the afflicted, and says that about 5,000 of these deadly trichinosis exist in each of the patients' bodies.

Affected by Gas.
NORTHCH, Conn., March 8.—This morning several persons were prostrated by coal gas during services in the Lutheran church. Rev. Mr. Schaeffer was the first affected, and then one after another of those present followed until about a dozen of the afflicted were taken to their homes and soon recovered. The ignorance of the sexton as to the working of the furnace caused all the trouble.

Clothing Destroyed.
Special to the Globe.
WINNIPEG, Man., March 8.—Fire last night destroyed Chevier & Co.'s stock of clothing, $15,000; insurance, $7,000; Bennett, photographer, $500, insured; McFarland, boots and shoes, $500; insured.

Passenger Trains Collide.

The Survivors Walk Barefooted a Mile Through Sleet and Snow.

Johnson May Sell.
CLEVELAND, O., March 8.—J. Palmer O'Neil, of Pittsburg, one of the members of the league committee to take care of the Cincinnati League club, came to Cleveland to-day, and it is believed that his object is to purchase from John Johnson his Indianapolis franchise. P. Dell Robinson, the Cleveland member of the committee, is out of town, and Mr. O'Neil did not see him. O'Neil refused to state whether he had seen Johnson, but it is believed that Johnson is willing to sell if he can get his price.

Roseland the Favorite.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 8.—The interest taken in the Tennessee Derby by owners, trainers and the public seems to increase daily. Roseland is probably first choice, but it is hard to say which one of several others can be considered second choice. Many claim Faithful to be the favorite, and others hang their faith on Chimes and Joe Carter.

Won on a Foul.
BUFFALO, N. Y., March 8.—The fight to a finish between Paddy Brennan, of Buffalo, and John Douglas, of Salamanca, N. Y., which took place Saturday night in a barn at Pontonville, was a fair fight, and the result was a win by Brennan in the second round on a foul made by Douglas. About 1,000 people paid $2 each to see the fight.

Nine Declarations.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 8.—Nine declarations have been made at the Kentucky Oaks, as follows: Ada B., Rosa H., Virginia Dan, Correction, Hinoio, Glycerine filly, Ella T., Hyers, Dosta and Aunt Betsy.

FRACTURED HIS SKULL.
Brutal Treatment of a Chicago Chinaman.

CHICAGO, March 8.—John Lee, a Chinaman, was set upon by a crowd of boys and a drunken white man to-day on the Michigan street, and assaulted with a shower of stones. The Chinaman retaliated, and was thrashing the drunken man soundly when John McDougal, a painter, ran out of a neighboring house and fell upon the Chinaman with a bill of wood. One of the boys now rushed up and deliberately dropped a brick on the head of the Chinaman. The crowd of nearly 500 persons that had gathered around the scene, and who were shouting "Kill him! Kill the Chinaman!" Lee's skull is fractured, and his recovery is doubtful.

REVOLVER AND KNIFE
Used to Kill His Wife and Child Himself.

BATESVILLE, Ind., March 8.—To-day John Drisshear, a well-known hotel-keeper of this place, while drunk, and mad with jealousy, attacked his wife with a revolver. He shot her in the head, inflicting a serious wound. Another ball struck her corsets just over the heart. Drisshear then placed his revolver in his pocket, and shot his year-old daughter Myrtle, and shot her through the heart, then shot his cook Peggy Jones, hitting her in the back and inflicting a serious wound. While the crowd which had gathered quickly in the parlor and others were attending the fatally injured woman, Drisshear was shot dead on the floor, having cut his throat with a case knife.

Shot His Landlady.
Special to the Globe.
HELENA, Mont., March 8.—Carl Teichert, a prominent musician and restaurant keeper, shot and seriously wounded his landlady, Miss Mary Grady, to-day. Teichert, with his wife and child, had been occupying the upper part of Miss Grady's house on Wing street. He is reputed to have had rather loose ideas of his marital relations, and his landlady, hearing of his proclivities, told his wife to tell him his landlady to task for this to-day in forcible language. She replied by giving him a severe thrashing, and he shot her. The bullet struck her in the left breast, glancing across her lung, and she died. The physician who treated her could not recover if no unfavorable symptoms develop. Teichert is in jail.

Will Help Neither.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 8.—The Emerald branch of the Irish Land League met to-night and adopted a resolution that they would give no money or other aid to either of the factions of the national party in Great Britain. They recommended that all other branches of the league in the United States, Canada and Australia take similar action.

After Twenty Years.
PLYMOUTH, Ill., March 8.—Fully twenty years ago Mrs. Dunsworth, then a little girl, accidentally ran a piece of glass into her foot. Yesterday a physician extracted the glass, which had but recently made its appearance beneath the cuticle.
