GOVERNOR'S GUESTS.

His Excellency the Host and the Legislature Warmly Welcomed.

Lawmakers Handsomely Entertained at a Reception Sans Ladies.

Party Feuds Forgotten as the Solons Surround the Festal Board.

The Governor Holds the Cup in Which We Bury All Unkindness.

The unpleasant weather of last evening had little effect upon the reception given by Governor Merriam to the members of the legislature, at his mansion, 25 University avenue, which from 8 to 12 was crowded by the lawmakers and state officials.

Gov. Merriam, assisted by Senator Davis, Lieut. Gov. Ives, and Mr. Champlin, received the guests, who began to arrive soon after the hour of eight.

From that time a stream of guests arrived, and the governor, receiving their compliments to the governor, strolled at their own sweet will through the magnificent apartments of the executive residence, at liberty to smoke the fragrant weed of Havanna, sip the delectation of the South, or gaze at the beautiful paintings and bronzes which adorn the residence of the chief executive of the state.

The magnificent drawing, dining and reception rooms were crowded by the lawmakers, who, forgetting the din of strife in the arena of the capital, discussed in most pleasant manner the effects of the anti-slavery bill introduced by Senator McHale, who was conspicuous by his absence.

Despite the statements to the contrary, the Hennepin county delegation was present in full force, and took part in the social entertainment provided. While many of the guests sought the seclusion of the library and drawing rooms, many lingered in the oak-carved hall to listen to an exquisite programme of music rendered by the string orchestra under the direction of Prof. George Seibert, which was as follows:

March—"Batafora".....Adriano Olivetti.....Light Opera Selection—"The Marquis".....Taxone Waltz—"La Serenata".....Strauss Selection—"Gloria Gioconda".....Strauss Selection—"Merry Monarch".....Morse Galop—"The Fame and Fortune".....Wiegand Selection—"Heart and Hand".....Lecocq Selection—"The Standard Bearer".....Fainbach

At the hour of 10 the guests were marshaled into the dining room, where, on the massive dining table, a feast was spread consisting of all the delicacies of the season. The delicate china and glassware, together with the exquisite silver epergnes, twined with pearls and diamonds, reflected the light of wax candles and gas jets, was a sight which will be remembered by all present.

Gov. Merriam and his guests were seated at the table, and while the dreary waltz of Strauss and Von Suppe was executed by the orchestra, say that each guest was provided with a share of the caterer's art, which would have done credit to Delmonico, of New York, or Bignon's, of Paris, or Borel, of St. Petersburg. The products of Tokage, Champagne were served at a temperature of frigidly which must have made many of the guests fancy they were in the realms of paradise. The representation of the various papers were presented and diplomas conferred upon eighteen graduates. The programme is as follows:

Music. Salutatory.....Garry Sackett High School....."Improvement in Agriculture".....Charles Owen Gilliland. Essay—"Treatment of Farm Animals".....Charles Owen Gilliland. Essay—"Butter and Cheese Factors".....August Hummel. Essay—"A Farm Home".....John Adolph Johnson. Essay—"Feeding as a Science".....Merton Lionel Matterson. Essay—"Agriculture from a National Standpoint".....Nils Lindberg Monson Essay—"Agricultural Education".....Emil Peter Sandsten. Essay—"Rural Schools".....Hans Jensen Wein. Essay—"The Farm Home".....Arthur Ferdinand Borchert. Music.

"April Showers Bring May Flowers." Small comfort that to a man without a Mackintosh, $4 and upwards at the "Plymouth," sole agents.

Wants Heavy Damages. James Dasey has instituted an action against the Northern Pacific Railroad company to recover $10,000 damages. Dasey was struck by a caboose while in the act of coupling it to a train. He claimed the caboose was put in motion without warning, and caught him when his back was turned toward it, and resulted in the permanent injury to his left hand.

The Plymouth Clothing House. Sole agents in Minneapolis and St. Paul for men's waterproof garments, manufactured by Charles Macintosh & Co., London and Manchester, England.

Not Exorbitant Damages. Charles T. McCumber has instituted an action against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company to recover $1,500 damages. McCumber was a fireman on a locomotive at the time of a collision at Lake City, Oct. 12 last. He was thrown against the boiler head, where he was held by coal from the tender piling upon him until escaping steam scalded him badly, injuring his lungs so as to impair his voice, and burning his entire right leg, besides causing other injuries.

If you wear a Mackintosh, cloth surface, you are not a nuisance to your neighbor in the car. The swiftest rainy day garment—$4 and upwards at the "Plymouth."

The Simplicity Blotter Bath. Is the best device for copying letters yet invented. Especially good for typewriter work. For sale by H. E. Wedelstaedt & Co., 55 East Third street.

"Penny Wise, Pound Foolish." Is the man who "can't afford" a $1 Mackintosh to save a $20 suit.

A TEMPORARY CLOUD.

F. E. Bryant Arrested on a Charge Which Will Probably be Explained Away.

Forrest E. Bryant, hitherto a young man of unblemished reputation, is behind the bars at the county jail this morning. He was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzlement, made by Henry J. Peters, of the St. Anthony Park North Improvement company. Bryant was formerly the trusted secretary of the improvement company, and it is now charged that he converted $2,600 of its means to his own use. He was arrested at his residence, 542 Lincoln avenue, and arraigned in the municipal court in the afternoon. He waived preliminary hearing and the court held him to the grand jury, with bail fixed at $3,000. The prisoner made no attempt to secure bail, saying that he preferred to lay in jail rather than solicit bonds.

A Horrible Accident With Fatal Results at South St. Paul.

Touching Eulogy Pronounced Over the Remains of Mrs. Johnson.

While C. I. McCarthy, of the firm of McCarthy & Donnelly, was at Rosemont, Minn., yesterday afternoon, consulting with the coroner of Dakota county, a messenger arrived who announced to the latter that the body of a little girl had been found in the river near Pine Bend. The child, which is pretty badly decomposed, is about from eight to ten years of age, and the general supposition of those living in the vicinity of the river is that the body is that of little Mabel Horton, the daughter of Walter F. Horton, who was tried for the murder of his wife last fall and acquitted. It will be remembered that upon the night of the tragedy in question, Horton, accompanied by his wife and child, started together down the river in a flatboat. The next morning the body of Mrs. Horton was recovered near the spot where Horton claimed the accident happened, but the river was carefully deposited in every direction, no clue to the fate of the child was had. The fact that the child could not be found gave rise to the theory that she had been carried away by the current during the trial of the case, and it was with this theory that Horton had placed the child in safe hands upon that awful night.

Others were of the opinion that the child was in the hands of the county attorney, who, at the proper moment, would confront Horton with this living evidence of the crime. The fact that the child could not be found was considered by many to be the strongest evidence without change from the Twin Cities of the truth of the story. The mother and child had been accidentally drowned, was a pure concoction of his own to conceal his crime. Now, if this theory is correct, the case will be dispelled, and relief in the matter will come to some extent established.

Pine Bend is a small village between Langdon and Rosemont, and is situated on the side of the river, and distant about ten miles from St. Paul. McCarthy & Donnelly, the undertakers, have been notified by the coroner of the finding, and they will probably go after the remains this morning, and bring them to this city, where the work of identification will begin.

Incipient Agriculturists. Exercises and Examinations at the Experiment College.

The students of the state school of agriculture passed through the ordeal of examination yesterday, conducted by the board, consisting of O. C. Gregg, J. O. Barrett, A. Gamble, F. M. Currier, E. A. Webb and Editor Blue, of the Northwestern Agriculturist.

The students were very successful in the examinations, and showed that a good year's work had been done. The subjects of examinations were as follows:

Soils and fertilizers, physical geography, botany, arboriculture and horticulture, grasses and legumes, physiology, anatomy, manual training, geometry, chemistry, breeding, agriculture, civics, dairying, agriculture, veterinary, entomology, manual training, agriculture, feeding, vegetable gardening.

To-day will close the school year, and the second annual commencement exercises will be held at the schools at 2. An interesting programme will be presented and diplomas conferred upon eighteen graduates. The programme is as follows:
