Inside History Relative to Handling the Crop of Last Year.

Wheat All Off Color, Caused by the Hot Waves During Summer.

Gov. Merriam's Sound Instructions to the Chief Grain Inspector.

Wheat Inspectors Ferreting Out That Unholy Combination.

Samuel G. Scott was recalled when the investigating committee went into session yesterday morning. The testimony of Tuesday was reviewed. The witness was asked of his own knowledge whether there was anything in the condition of the elevators that would cause the owners to cheat. He replied that he couldn't state that he did know of any such thing.

Gen. Barrett asked if he ever knew of a change in the price of wheat to be ordered. Witness replied that on June 2, 1890, F. H. Irons ordered an advance of five cents per bushel on some wheat, and the next day a reduction of three cents per bushel on certain grades. Each member of the combine was assessed to pay Irons $5,000 salary. There was a committee which fixed the price ordinarily, but in their absence Irons had authority to fix the prices arbitrarily.

A Mr. Chambers was the only member of the committee that he knew. He had been under the impression that Mr. Irons controlled the agents of the elevator companies in the combine, but when he applied to Mr. Irons for a position that gentleman told him he did not know Mr. Chambers was the man to whom he must apply.

Canning on the Stand. Charles Canning followed for a continuation of his examination began the other day. Asked whether he had ever attempted to find whether there was an overage or shortage in his elevator, the witness replied that he had not last year. He said it would not be surprising if there was an overage of 11,000 bushels in handling 50,000,000 bushels. He thought a dockage of an ounce to a bushel of wheat was too much. Neither did he think one-fourth of an ounce would be right, but he thought it could be done in less than an ounce. He would not say that he had ever asked for less than an ounce in buying. Asked what would be the effect of posting 30,000 bushels of damaged wheat demoralized, Mr. Canning replied:

In my opinion, the receipts of the warehouse in which that wheat was stored would be demoralized until such time as it could have been done in less than an ounce. He would not say that he had ever asked for less than an ounce in buying. Asked what would be the effect of posting 30,000 bushels of damaged wheat demoralized, Mr. Canning replied:

In my opinion, the receipts of the warehouse in which that wheat was stored would be demoralized until such time as it could have been done in less than an ounce. He would not say that he had ever asked for less than an ounce in buying.

Mr. Canning continued to stand in the afternoon, and again he was subjected to severe cross-examination by Mr. Clausen.

"Mr. Canning," said the inspector, "did you ever get a better grade for grain than you shipped it for?"

"How many times?" "I don't know exactly, but a good many."

Casualty Claims. He had often heard farmers complain of the grades given them at Duluth. The witness strenuously denied that he had ever graded too loosely. His grades had been uniform, but on one occasion when he had grades on fifteen cars shipped to Duluth he afterwards graded lower, and the lower grades were advanced in Duluth. The inspector inquired into Mr. Canning's knowledge of wheat grades.

"Is there anything in the rules to authorize this department at terminal points, or the country buyers to grade bleached or damp wheat as No. 1 northern?"

"That is a question hard to answer. It all depends on what extent the wheat was bleached."

"What is the rule for No. 1 northern admit of any stained or bleached grain?"

"I believe it can't be admitted unless it is not stained or bleached."

Inspector Clausen explained the nature of the crop of 1890. It was very different from any crop before grown in the Northwest. The wheat had a peculiar green tinge, such as was never before known. The best that was possible was done with this crop. The grain was stained. Some was graded No. 2 northern and some No. 3 northern. Some of it was rejected. Millers refused to handle it. They thought the crop was very bad. Complaints came from all sources, and in the midst of it all, word was received from Buffalo that Minnesota No. 2 northern had gone No. 3. The New York people were complaining. Some of the wheat was analyzed by Fred Harper, of the state experimental station. It was

All Off Color, except the best grade, and the cause was proved to have been the hot waves during the summer. The confidence in the Minnesota crop was somewhat shaken in the East, but A. J. Sawyer went to Buffalo and succeeded in partially restoring it. The inspector held a consultation with Gov. Merriam with regard to the publication of the letter from Prof. Harper on the cause of the condition of the wheat, as it would aid to restore confidence in the state grain department. He knew the result would go so far as the East was concerned. The governor said:

Stand by your grades. Do not publish that letter, for it is bad business. It is a derogatory own war. If your grades are correct they must be maintained.

All this time the farmers in the Fifth district were making a great howl. This was the first time that Prof. Harper's letter had been read publicly. The professor had said that the wheat might gain color by warehousing, and said the inspector, his observations were correct. The wheat is now going from the elevators greatly improved in color.

W. W. Erwin objected to this statement by Mr. Clausen. His statement, said the attorney, was made as an excuse. This is satisfactory to the inspector, but not to the committee. It is not certain but that there was a desire on the part of the buyers early in the season to bear down prices. Mr. Erwin wanted the statement thrown out of the minutes.

The question was deferred. The witness, Canning, was then taken into custody by Assistant Attorney General Childs and questioned with regard to samples of wheat he had submitted as

The Graduates of the High School on Exhibition Yesterday.

The assembly hall of the high school was filled to overflowing yesterday afternoon with a crowd of fond mamma and papas, kinsmen, friends and taking summer gowns. Overhead were four American flags, and from chandelier chandelier hung festoons of evergreens. The temporary stage was trimmed with ferns, and on it sat eighty-four of the brightest young men and women of St. Paul, the class of '91.

Walter B. Cannon followed, and with an amusing speech presented a chair and a pedestal for the rostrum to the school. Miss Grace Warner told of the origin of the Boadiceans, the girls' secret society. To the C. E. T., the junior girls' society, she presented the Boadicean saucer. At the close of the speech she stepped to the back of the stage, and drawing aside the brown and red curtains, disclosed a beautiful life size state of Hebe, which she presented to the girls of the high school in a very pretty little speech.

Miss Eden McNight dived into the future and told what would become of the class Karl Harbaugh's prophecy on the program. He told in rhyme, and left the fate of Miss McNight as amusing a mystery as the lady or the tiger here. The singing of the class song to the tune of Clementine, the words written by Miss Lillian Moore, ended the program, and left the class to the merriment of admiring and congratulating friends.

The commencement exercises take place this evening in the People's church.

THE THIRD DISBANDED.

Adj. Gen. Mullen's Latest on the Militia Intelligencer.

Adj. Gen. Mullen yesterday issued the following general order providing for the transfer of the companies of the Third regiment to be retained in the service, and mustering out Company H, of the Second, on the ground of inefficiency:

First—Upon the recommendation of the regimental commandant, Company H, Second infantry, stationed at Blue Earth City, is mustered out, and the enlisted men thereof are hereby honorably discharged from the military service of the state.

Second—Company I, Third infantry, will at once, on receipt of this order, properly pack all public property for which he is accountable and ship the same to Charles E. Chapel, military stockkeeper, St. Paul, Minn.

Third—Companies A, stationed at Anoka, E. stationed at Spring Valley, and H, stationed at Wadena, of the Third infantry, and the company commandant thereof, on receipt of this order, report by mail to the commanding officer of the Second infantry.

Fourth—Companies I and K, Third infantry, will, on receipt of the report of the inspector general, receive the sum for inspection for the year 1891, and be held as reserve companies until further orders. In the commanding officers thereof will report directly to general headquarters.

Fifth—The commanding officer of Company G, Third infantry, will, until further orders, be in direct communication with the national guard regarding the causes which led to the disruption of the Third regiment. He knows the attack is simply a case of vulgar vindictiveness and cruelty beneath his notice as an officer and a gentleman.

A TRADE MARK.

"Sweet Lotus" to Be Protected Against "Peach Blossom."

Judge Nelson, of the United States circuit court, has filed a decree in the case of The Wellman & Devine Tobacco Company against The Waco Tobacco Works, granting an injunction prohibiting the defendant from using a certain trade mark for wrapping tobacco. Judge Nelson, in the opinion, says that while the name "Peach Blossom," used by the defendant, is not similar to the name "Sweet Lotus," used by the plaintiff, the designs are so similar, lettering, colors and design, with similar lettering thereon, and the designs are enough alike to deceive the public who are purchasers; that the methodical imitation of the wrapper and style of labels appears to be intentional and not accidental.

Laboratory for the Great Northern. The Great Northern Railway company has decided to establish a laboratory in St. Paul, for making mechanical and chemical tests of iron, steel, oils and other materials. A testing machine of the Retble or other make will be a part of the equipments of the laboratory, which will be used for testing the strength and grade of iron and steel used by the company. This will be the first laboratory of the kind established by any of the railroads in St. Paul.

Pupils Step Higher. The pupils to be promoted from the various ward schools to the high school were partially fixed yesterday, and the allotment is:

Humboldt, 24; Longfellow, 13; Hendricks, 4; Madison, 28; Webster, 27; Cleveland, 33; Monroe, 11; Franklin, 42; Lincoln, 75; Baker, 31; Rice, 27; Hancock, 2; Ramsey, 5. The other schools have not reported.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U.S. $100,000 New York, June 4, 1891. The Mercantile Trust Co. Pay to the order of Ada M. Fralich. $10,000. J. D. Jordan Ass't Secretary. G. W. Fralich President.

A CHEQUE AND ITS HISTORY. The above cut is the fac-simile of a business transaction which, unexplained, would convey but a slight meaning to the general public. To the members of the Globe staff, however, it is a reminder of a sad event. William G. Fralich was for several years a faithful and efficient worker for the GLOBE, first as city editor and later as telegraph editor. Along in 1889 he took out a policy for $5,000 in the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, and a year later another for the same amount. In November last, completely worn out one Saturday night, he laid down his pen, went to his hotel, and to his bed. On Dec. 7, accompanied by loving friends, he went to Thomsville, Ga., where he lingered until April, dying on the 27th of the latter month. The Equitable was notified of his death May 28, and the company, noting the country over for its reliability and promptness, issued a cheque for $10,000, payable to Mrs. Ada M. Fralich, June 4, just a week after receiving the notice.

The Boston St. Paul. BEWARE. Your money will go. Some people would rather have their pockets picked than be victimized by excessive charges, and we're not surprised at it, for the pick-pocket risks his liberty and must take the consequences if he happens to be caught. No fair-minded purchaser can object to paying a price which leaves for the seller a margin of moderate profit; but it is a very different matter when the buyer is called upon to foot an exorbitant bill. We are satisfied only when we completely satisfy our customers. We can make it to your interest to deal with us, because our system of doing business permits no extravagances, and we come close to cost every time. Blue Imported Tailor-Made Serge Suits, $20.00. We are patient people—the ox is nowhere in comparison. We buy lamp-chimneys by the dozen; they go on snapping and popping and flying in pieces; and we go on buying the very same chimneys year after year. Our dealer is willing to sell us a chimney a week for every lamp we burn—a hundred or more a year—and we plow for him, pay him for goading us. Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" do not break from heat; they are made of tough glass. As likely as not our dealer would rather his chimneys would break; "it's good for the business," says he. He buys the brittlest ones he can get. "What are you going to do about it?" Pittsburg. Geo. A. Macbeth & Co.
