Conference of City Officials to Elucidate the Bell Charter.

City Attorney Lawler Sees a Way Whereby Salaries Can Be Paid.

A Poor Woman and Her Family Evicted for Not Paying Her Rent.

The New Wind-Up Dished Up to Suit the Palates of Everybody.

The question of raising funds for the purpose of paying the police and fire departments, street work and city officials' salaries for the next three months was yesterday carefully discussed by the mayor, City Attorney Lawler, City Treasurer Reis and City Comptroller Poutian.

Mr. Poutian, he was of the opinion that the Bell charter prohibited him from signing any warrant upon the treasury unless there was money in the particular fund with which to pay such warrant.

Mr. Poutian's views were published in the Globe yesterday, and stated that the law prohibited the transfer of money from one fund to another, and though there was money to the credit of certain funds, there was no money available to pay salaries until after the tax levy was made in October next.

As a result of the conference yesterday, the controller announced that the city attorney had construed the law that funds could be transferred from one account to another.

The city controller and city treasurer shall each forthwith, as soon as the tax estimate is made in the year 1891, and as soon thereafter in any year as any tax estimate is made, open an account in his books separate and distinct accounts for each of the several divisions of taxes shown in the tax estimate of the year current year, and in making any future tax estimate for expenditures and in making any future levy the city council shall itemize the same so as to show separately the amount to be collected from taxes for the use of each department of said city, as said departments are designated in section three above.

Mr. Lawler's construction of the law is that the clause prohibiting the transfer of money from one fund to another does not apply to the funds now in existence, but to the funds which the above section authorized to be opened and kept by the treasurer and controller after the tax estimate is made in 1891.

As the tax estimate will be made up in October, the controller can therefore transfer money from one fund to another until that date in order to pay salaries.

This decision will be hailed with delight, especially by the street force, whose salaries have not been paid since May 15 last.

Mr. Poutian stated that as the pay rolls for the street force up to June 15 had been passed by the council, the men will be able to receive their salaries in a few days.

The June salaries of the police and fire departments and the street force salaries for the latter half of June will be no paid as soon as the pay rolls are passed by the council at their regular meeting.

Joy was therefore brought to the hearts of all employees of the city, and things will go on as before.

In the Black Goods Department we offer as a special leader 20 pieces of Black French Serge at 79 cents a yard.

At the other end of the store is a new lot of Imported India Mulls, black grounds with colored figures, at 15 Cents.
