TWENTY LIVES LOST.

A Train in North Carolina I shes Over a High Bridge.

List of the Unfortunates Crushed and Mangled by the Fall.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 27 .- One of the most disastrous railroad wrecks known in the annals of this state occurred this morning about 2 o'clock at Boston's Bridge, two miles west of Statesville, on the Western North Carolina road. Passenger Train No. 9, known as the fast mail, which made up at Salisbury, pulled out at 1 a. m. loaded with passengers. It was composed of a baggage and mail car, second and first-class coaches, Pullman sleeper and Superintendent Bridge's private car. This sleeper, which was from Golds-boro, usually contains a good number of passengers from Northern points, and last night was no exception. The run to Statesville, a distance of twenty-five miles, was made on time, but just after leaving Statesville there is a high stone bridge spanning Third creek and down into this creek plunged the entire train, a distance of at least sixty-five feet, wrecking the whole train and carrying death and destruction with it.

Twenty passengers were killed outright, nine seriously injured and about twenty badly bruised and shaken up. The scene at the wreck beggars description. The night was dismal and, to add to the bortor of the situation, the water in the creek was up. It was only through the most heroic efforts of those who had hurried to the scene of the wreck that the injured were not drowned.

The accident was caused by the spreading of the rails. The bridge was not injured, and trains are running for not injured, and trains are running on schedule time. Twenty dead bodies are now lying in a warehouse at States-ville. The injured are having the best of care at private residences and hotels.

Cleeper and Flagman Shoaf.

The train fell on the north side of the brack; the engine lies partly up the embankment on the west side. The first-plass coach lies on top of the secondclass coach lies on top of the second-class coach, and Supt. Bridger's car partly covers the sleeper. It is sup-posed that, as the engine was making about from twenty-five to thirty miles bridge, the track under his cab, within arm's reach of him, were the bodies of two female passengers. How their bodies got from the first-class coach to the engine, will never be known. Miss Luellen Pool held the head of her mother out of the water until her strength was exhausted, when the head dropped and the mother was drowned. Parts of the sleeper and of the first-class coach are in the water. Supt. Bridgers was not aboard: his car was being hauled empty to Asheville. A car load of convicts arrived from Newton early in the morning, and the wreck is being cleared. The bridge is not damaged in the least, and trains will soon be running over it.

Moreover, the purchasing syndicate had a crew to work with Seelye's, of equal size and as fully experienced and equipped as his, and more than this, the reports, estimates and maps of both crews had to agree as to the whole land. Also, as the sale was by forty-acre tracts—that is, the timber was so sold, all that ran over was a certain acre tracts—that is, the timber was so sold, all that ran over was a certain quantity to the forty acres, going into the deal—there was surely a careful examination of the smallest subdivision of the sections known to public surveys.

Report That the Insurgent Army Has Surrendered to Balmaceda.

Envoys of the Constitutional Party Do Not Despair of Success.

Telegrams of Conflicting Import Flying All Over Europe.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Senor Laz ano, the Chilian minister at Washington, to-day received a cablegram, dated Valparaiso, the 26th, from M. M. Aldunate, the minister of foreign affairs, saying that on the 25th, the insurgent army was completely defeated in Vino del Mar. A division of the Chilian government army cut off their retreat to the ships and obliged them to surrender unconditionally. All the country, the dispatch adds, applauds the valor and skill of the government army.

During the afternoon, Mr. Foster, the ecretary of the congressional envoys, had three or four dispatches dated to in the loss of over 350 lives, the injury of over 1,000 people, and which caused which he thinks throws considerable which he thinks throws considerable doubt on the accuracy of the report of the surrender. These dispatches are addressed to Mr. Montt, the principal Chilian envo , and say that the news is favorable; that the Constitutional army forces are still advancing; and that the Congressional party is still confident of the defeat of Balmaceda's army. Mr. Errazuriz asks that the reports given out by the agents of the "Dictator" be denied. The news imparted by Balmaceda's agent at Buenos parted by Balmaceda's agent at Buenos Ayres, he also says, is as incorrect as that given to the public by Mr. Vicuna, who has been elected to succeed Balmaceda as president.

The news referred to as being given out at Buenos Ayres is supposed to be similarlto that received here by the agent of the government. The discrepancy in the dates and of the nature of the contents of the dispatch received by the Chilan minister and those received by Mr. Foster, coupled with the fact that the United States government has received no official news of the reported surrender, although it has its representsurrender, although it has its represent-atives in the vicinity, Mr. Foster thinks is omnous, and tends to yet make the issue one of uncertainty.

FOSTER IS NOT SURE.

The Insurgent Envoy Has Doubts of a Surrender.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The dispatch received here by the Chilian minister, announcing the defeat of the insurgents at Vina del Mar, was shown to Mr. Foster, one of the insurgent representatives, this morning, and that gentleman was asked if he had heard anything from his party. He replied that he had received the following cablegram from there late last night:

there late last night:

Iquiqui, Aug. 26.—Notices inspired by the dictator's agents in Lima absolutely without truth.

This, Mr. Foster said, probably referred to the reported defeat of his party. "I do not say that the dispatch received by the Chillan minister is not correct," he continued, "but I think that in case the battle had been fought on the 25th, and won by Balmaceda, he would not have delayed so long in spreading the news." Mr. Foster also took into consideration that the forces of Balmaceda outnumbered those of the insurgents, but said that in case the insurgent party was defeated it only insurgent party was defeated it only meant a prolongation of the war, and that the insurgent forces would be in-that the insurgent forces would be increased in every possible way, and the dictator fought to the end.

Speaking further of the matter, Mr. Foster said that the attempts of the Congressional party to obtain a foothold in the country occupied by Balmaceda's troops were very desperate and rash, but that such a course had been repeatedly urged upon the leaders of the army by many persons of wealth living in Valparaiso who sympathized with the revolutionary cause and by many others who had been furnishing money to aid the Congressional army.

The following cablegram was received to-night by the Chilian representatives of the Constitutional or insurgent party: IQUIQUE, Aug. 27.—The Constitutional or constitutions.

special to the Globe EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Aug. 27.-Fred Kuischke, a boy three years old, had a miraculous escape from death yesterday. He was walking along the North-western tracks near his home, and just as an engine, going thirty miles an hour, rounded the curve he stepped upon the track, his mother, not twenty yards away, screaming and crying. The engineer saw the child and endeavored to reverse his engine, but it was impossible to bring it to a halt. Just as the engine came upon the child the little fellow stubbed his toe and fell headlong on the track the engine version over on the track, the engine passing over him safely. He was unharmed. A arge crowd saw the miraculous escape.

pecial to the Globe. CLOQUET, Minn., Aug. 27 .- An attempt was made this evening by a three-quarter breed Indian named Louis La Prairie, belonging on the Fond du Lac reservation, to kill Indian Farmer J. S. Stack. La Prairie is one of the Indian police, and the farmer recommended his removal for incompetency and drunkenness. He went to the farmer to-night about 7 o'clock, near the C. N. Nelson company's store, and proceeded to abuse him. Mr. Stack stood the abuse for a long time, but at last was forced to knock the half-breed down.

Mr. Stack then proceeded into the store in company with Attorney Mitten, and a few minutes later was followed by La Prairie, who apparently tried to smooth matters over. The Indian farmer told him to go about his business, but instead of complying La Prairie drew a revolver and fired, the bullet coming within an inch of its intended victim. Mr. Stack rushed at La Prairie and threw him down and attempted to wrest the revolver from him, and in the scuffle La Prairie pressed the trigger, but again missed, the powder burning Mr. Stack's whiskers. Stack took the revolver away and had the des perate man lodged in jail. La Prairie was a little under the influence of liquor, and if the Indian farmer had killed him he would have been held justified for the act by those who witnessed the scuffle. Mr. Stack was not harmed in the least.

A HEARTLESS WOMAN. Mrs. Maynes, of Denver, Evidently

Maynes and his wife Minnie on a ranch about forty miles from this place and to-night they were brought to Denver and lodged in jail. The charge and lodged in jail. The charge placed opposite their names is murder. Maynes is a lumber merchant of this city, and was married to his wife Jan. 1 last. In March Mrs. Maynes, being in a delicate condition, went to Mme. Astle, the abortionist who is now under arrest, and was delivered of twins, which were placed in a stove and roasted before the husband's eyes while they were still alive. The police say that this so preyed upon the mind of Maynes that he made a full confession to them of the awful crime.

The latter declined but promised to send her to Denver and supply her financial needs while she was being treated for an abortion. The sister says that after Gertie reached Denver Turner failed to keep his promise and it is supposed that she his promise and it is supposed that she received some financial aid from a young man named Frankel, a former clothing store clerk in this city, with whom she was intimate, but who is now employed was intimate, but who is now employed in a Denver shoe store. Gertie Harris' father now lives in this city. He is poor, but respectable, and when she wrote him for money he was unable to send it. Her sister says that she received a letter from Gertie Wednesday in which the latter wrote that she was out of her trouble and was working in a glove factory at $30 a month; that she had paid a woman $25 to procure an abortion and that the woman was demading an additional $25. She wrote that a young woman with whom she had become acquainted had supplied her with the necessary funds.

LYON VS. STEWART.

The Senator Says He Has Paid $200,000 Blackmail. NEW YORK, Aug.27.-James E. Lyon has brought an action in the supreme court against Senator William M. Stewart, of Nevada, for $1,000,000 damages. The suit grows out of complications over mines, among them being the over mines, among them being the Emma mine of Utah. Linn claims that Stewart, while acting as his attorney, conspired with Trevor W. Park and others to deprive him of his mining rights. Stewart, he alleges, made statements to him regarding the property which led him to dispose of his holdings for $200,000. Stewart, he claims, realized $2,000,000 by the deal. Senator Stewart says the mining claim of Lyon was considered "pure blackmail." He went to Linn and told him he thought it was a case of blackmail and asked went to Linn and told him he thought it was a case of blackmail and asked him his price. This Lyon named, got the money and gave a release. A motion was made to-day to strike out the allegations of blackmail, and other alleged irrelevant matter in the answer, and decision was reserved.

In his complaint against Senator Stewart, Lyon alleges that Stewart, while acting as his attorney in 1870 and

In his complaint against Senator Stewart, Lyon alleges that Stewart, while acting as his attorney in 1870 and 1871, conspired with Trenor W. Park, of Vermont, and others to deprive him of his mining rights. He says that Stewart realized about $2,000,000 and he received only $200,000 for his claim. Lyon states that he owned the Moulter and St. Louis mines in 1870. People claiming to own the Emma mine adjoining had encroached on his property. Trenor W. Park and H. Henry Baxter were the equal owners of one-half of the Emma mine. Lyon brought suit against the Emma Mining company, which was then incorporated in New York, for damages, and opposed the application of the Emma mining company, for a mining grant. The case was referred to Benjamin R. Curtis, of Boston.

It is at this point that Lyon claims Stewart's services were not such as an attorney should be guilty of in his dealings with a client. Stewart led him to believe, he says, that Curtis was engaged on the Alabama claims at Geneva, and would not be able to give his attention to the gase for a lowe while va, and would not be able to give his attention to the case for a long while. Because of such representations Lyon agreed to sell his rights in his mines for agreed to sell his rights in his mines for $500,000, and withdrew his protest against the mining grant asked for by the Emma Mining company. Subsequently Lyon heard that Curtiss had nothing to do with the Alabama claims. Payment of the $500,000 was deferred, and Lyon was finally induced to join Park and others in a scheme to form an English company and dispose of the Park and others in a scheme to form an English company and dispose of the mines on the London market. Stewart was employed by Lyon to go to London in connection with the matter. Lyon alleges that he found that Stewart and Park conspired with Baxter in London to defraud him of his interests, and that by false representations Stewart induced him (Lyon) to sell out to Park for $200,000, of which amount he paid $50,000 to Stewart and C. J. Hillyer, as his counsel. The mines were sold in London for $6,500,000. It is alleged by Lyon that Stewart and Park had entered into a private agreement, while Stewart was a private agreement, while Stewart was his counsel, and that Mrs. Stewart received $125,000 from the Emma Mining company, while Stewart received $1,000,000 out of the London sale.
