WHERE WAS ZOLA?

A Court Scene From Which He Might Have Drawn Material.

The hearing upon the writ of habeas corpus by which Rosie Norton sought to recover her six-year-old girl from James Mathews yesterday was the occasion of a sad spectacle in real life that brought tears to the eyes of several spectators.

Some days ago Rosie Norton went to County Attorney O'Brien with a story to the effect that her child had been abducted by James Mathews, a janitor and driver.

Under advice of that officer a writ of habeas corpus was sued out. Judge Kelly heard the petition yesterday.

Rosie Norton, supported by two sisters and one or two other ladies, testified to the effect that she is the mother of the child.

Mathews testified that he is the father of the child and asked that his custody be given to him or to some capable authority other than the mother.

He said he had had improper relations with the mother for some time prior to the birth of the child, and that before its birth the mother sent for him.

He then agreed to live together as husband and wife, and they lived together as such until a few days since, although no marriage was solemnized.

Rosie Norton admitted that she had sustained the relations of a wife to Mathews for several years, but denied that he is the father of her child.

She said that she had been married to Perry Chalmers. The child in dispute was present in court and was overjoyed to see the mother, from whom he had been separated for some time.

He played around the judge's rooms in a joyful manner during the hearing of the matter, occasionally going to his mother and kissing her.

Mathews motioned the child to go to him, but it shrank from him in a way that brought tears to his eyes.

After hearing the evidence Judge Kelly said: "There are two questions raised, one as to the custody of the child and the other as to its proper custodian."

It is not necessary to think the acts of the child, or to think the acts of the parties, or to think the acts of the parties, or to think the acts of the parties.

MUST HAVE MONEY.

City Aldermen Decide That Certificates of Indebtedness Must Be Issued.

Ald. Sanborn and Mr. Lawler Disagree in Their Reading of the Charter.

The City Railway Must Complete the Fort Snelling Line by Nov. 1.

Various Public Questions Passed Upon by the City Fathers.

It was long past the appointed hour, 7:30 o'clock when the board of aldermen last evening got down to work.

President Cullen was detained on important business, so Ald. Gehan presided over the meeting.

Those present were Ald. Eichenberg, Dott, Conley, Copeland, Dobner, Dorland, Sanborn and Sullivan.

President Cullen reaching the council chamber when business was well under way.

The most important matter which came up for resolution was the one relating to the issue of certificates of indebtedness for 50 per cent of the amount of the tax levy estimate in anticipation of the collection of taxes.

The proceeds of the certificates to be used for the maintenance of the municipal government in all its branches.

It was generally known that Ald. Sanborn differed with the city officials upon the construction of the clauses of the charter relating to the issue of the certificates.

Sanborn maintained that the reading of the resolution, the alderman rose, and, in measured tones, argued the issue.

He said that he was not in favor of the issue of the certificates, and that he would vote against it.

City Attorney Lawler being requested to give his opinion as to the validity of the certificates.

He said that he was in favor of the issue of the certificates, and that he would vote for it.

The board of aldermen voted to issue the certificates for 50 per cent of the amount of the tax levy estimate.

The board of aldermen also voted to complete the Fort Snelling line by Nov. 1.

for $3. He obtained this sum of money from a young daughter of Mrs. Kukla, and, it is claimed, secured her sums from the bank.

When the news was highest came the hope of Mrs. Freeman's death.

The many friends of Mrs. Mary Freeman, wife of Fire Commissioner George W. Freeman, will learn with exceeding sorrow of her untimely death.

She died yesterday at Ravenswood, near Chicago, while on the high seas in the hope of regaining her health.

For the past few months she had been suffering from some peculiar glandular swellings which completely baffled the skill of the best physicians.

She was taken to Chicago for examination by the physicians there, and the doctors of the allopathic school pronounced her case hopeless, but one homoeopath at Ravenswood resolved to attempt a cure.

Although with grave misgivings as to ultimate results, for a time the patient seemed to rally under the new treatment, and the reports which Mr. Freeman received from day to day were of the most encouraging nature.

So that he began to entertain the hope that she might well be cured. But a short sad message came yesterday morning, announcing in simple words her sudden death.

The dread summons came when Mrs. Freeman was far away among strangers, and this fact makes the case a particularly distressing one.

The deceased was forty-five years of age, and had lived in St. Paul thirty-two years. She had been married twenty-four years, and leaves a family of seven children to mourn her.

Mr. Freeman has the heartfelt sympathy in his own home, and the sympathy of the remains of Mrs. Freeman will arrive Thursday morning, and the funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

WHO STOLE THE COW? A Question Which Judge Twoby Will Have to Unravel.

The stealing of a cow from the pens of Yerxa Brothers some months ago is likely to cause some very peculiar complications.

Last week a butcher named John White was arrested for stealing an animal. It was proved that he had sold the animal to a butcher on West Seventh street.

He had purchased it from another man, but the man who sold it was not considered sufficient, and he was discharged from the municipal court.

It is now known that the man who actually purchased the cow was arrested on a warrant by Officer Meyer of the St. Paul police.

He is now in the city jail, and the man who sold the cow to him is being sought by the police.

EX-GOVERNORS DEFEATED. Senator Davis Gets in His Deadly Work on Midway Postoffice.

Washington advices would make it appear that Senator Davis has been successful in his effort to abolish the Midway postoffice.

That an order was yesterday issued for the discontinuance of the postoffice at Hamline, to take effect Oct. 1.

Another order is issued directing the establishment of a free delivery substitution of the St. Paul postoffice for the patrons of the defunct Hamline postoffice.

The St. Paul letter carriers will be under the supervision of a clerk at $300 per annum. The mail will be delivered by two regular St. Paul letter carriers and one mounted carrier.

Each carrier will receive $800 per annum, and the mounted one will receive $250 additional for furnishing his own horse.

Senator Davis has also recommended the discontinuance of the postoffice at St. Anthony Park.

The postmaster general as soon as he returns will act upon this recommendation.

The St. Anthony Park postoffice would have been discontinued two months ago but for the protests of two or three ex-governors.

Although $200,000 worth of mail is now being carried to the postoffice, the postoffice is now for sale.

The big building, begrimed and desolated, is now for rent. Whether it will be again used for the purpose of a dime store is doubtful.

New Industries Roll In. The Clancy Creek Mining company filed articles of agreement with the secretary of state yesterday.

It is declared that the company will buy, lease and operate mining industries, and the capital stock is $150,000.

The incorporators are A. S. Morton, E. H. C. Taylor, E. C. Gunnsley, Charles F. Johnson and H. M. Hood, of St. Paul.

The Minnesota Flax Puller and Harvesting Machine company also filed articles of agreement with the secretary of state.

It is related that the company will manufacture machinery employed in the culture, harvesting and manufacturing of flax in Minnesota.

William Worby, Ashland, Wis.; G. D. Hall, Milwaukee; E. E. Embree, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Block yesterday sent their cottage at White Bear and returned to the city.

The Officer Won, as Usual. Police Officer Auerberg yesterday brought a conductor of the Seventh street cable line, named Hutches, into the municipal court.

He charged him with using profane language. The evidence showed that Hutches had been trouble between the two for some time on account of the conductor having made the officer pay his fare when he was not in uniform.

Hutches was fined $5 and ordered to keep the peace.
