ROSWELL P.FLOWER .. Governor

W. F. SHEEHAN ... Lieut. Governor FRANK RICE Secretary of State R. R. LVON .Comptroller E. F. DANFORTH Treasurer SIMON ROSENDALE Att'y Gen. MARTIN SCHENCK .. Sur. and Eng. SARATOGA, Sept. 16. — Roswell P. Flower will lead the Democratic hosts of New York to victory this fall. He was practically unanimously nominated this morning amid the greatest enthusiasm ever known to a Democratic convention in Saratoga. The convention was called to order at 10 a.m. The committee on contested seats decided in most cases to give the contestants a half representation, but Tammany was given full representation in New York city, to the exclusion of the county Democracy. The pre-amble and resolutions of the committee on credentials recite the irregular action of the County Democracy, and declare the right of Tammany Hall to nominate all the inspectors of elec-tion, poll clerks and ballot clerks to which the Democratic party may be entitled in the city of New York. After the decision in regard to the County Democracy was presented, the commit-tee on resolutions reported

The Platform. The Democratic party of the state of New York, in convention assembled, renews the pledges of its fidelity to Democratic faith and as regards national issue, reaffirms the doctrine of the national platform of 1884 and 188, indorsed by the popular votes in those years, and so overwhelmingly ratified by the popular verdict in the congressional elections of 1890. We now, as then, steadtastly adhere to the principles of sound finance. We are against the coinage of any dollar which is not of the intrinsic value of every other dollar of the United States. We, there, fore, denounce the new Sherman silver law-under which one-tenth of our go'd stock has been exported and all our silver is dammed ap at home as a false pretense, but artful hindrance of return to free bi-metallic coinage and as tending only to produce a change from one kind of monometallism to another. We therefore unite with the friends of honest money everywhere in stigmatizing the Sherman progressive silver basis law as no solution of the gold and silver question and as a fit appendix to the subsidy and bounty swindle, the McKinley worse-than-war-tartiff, the Blaine reciprocity humbug, the squandered surplus. the chief planks in which are: the subsidy and bounty swindle, the McKinley worse-than-war-tariff, the Blaine reciprocity humbug, the squandered surplus, the advancing deficit, the defective census, the falsified representation and the revolutionary procedures of the billion congress—all justly condemned by the people's great uprising last November—a verdict which, renewed next year, will empower Democratic statesmen to guide the people's councils and to execute the people's will.

The Interests of Labor should be fostered by proper and necessary

The Interests of Labor should be fostered by proper and necessary legislation. Honest workingmen and workingwomen should be protected from competition with convict labor. The Republican party having had control of the legislature almost continuously for many years, has withheld the necessary legislation required to adequately accomplish such purposes, and in this connection we denounce the failure of the Republicans last winter to enact the so-called Riley bill desired by the workingmen of the state, which had passed the Democratic assembly and which had for its object the further restriction of convict labor competition.

We favor legislative provision for a proper exhibit from this state at the world's Columbian exposition to be held in Chicago in 1883, and we especially commend the measure to secure that object which was passed by the Democratic assembly last spring, but which a Republican senate with surprising reluctance, after its successful efforts to locate the fair in Chicago, refused to enact.

This country has always been the refuge of the oppressed of every land—exiles for conscience sake—and the spirit of the founders of our government, We condemn the oppression and expatriation practiced by the Russian government on its Jewish citizens, and we call upon our national government, in the interest of justice and humanity, by all just and proper means, to use its prompt and just and proper means, to use its prompt and best efforts to bring about a cessation of these cruel persecutions in the dominions of the czar, and to secure to the oppressed equal rights.

We heartily indorse the able and statesmanlike administration of Gov. D. B. Hill during his seven years as chief executive of the state. He has absolutely maintained the principles of the Democratic party, and has faithfully contended for the interests of the people, and has ably Resisted the Aggression of successful Republican legislators whose object has been only partisan advantage, and he has been a firm and unrelen-ing foe to vicious and corrupt legisla-tion. In his administration of state affairs tion. In his administration of state affairs he has received the intelligent and conscientious co-operation of his Democratic associates in the state departments, their joint effort has put the state practically out of debt and left a generous surplus in the treasury. Efficiency and economy have marked their official records. We respectfully submit that this faithful discharge of responsibilities justifies a continuance of the trust imposed in the Democratic party, of which they have been true representatives.

Upon motion of Mr. Griffin the platform was adopted with cheers. The form was adopted with cheers. The following, offered by Mr. Cantor, of New York, was also passed:

Resolved, That this convention views with gratification the growing friendly feeling to-Then Thomas F. Gilroy me roceed with nominations, and Mayor Porter nominated Roswell P. Flower for governor. In the course of his speech he said that the Democracy of the state at their primaries and district gatherings, with a unanimity rarely equaled, have pronounced their choice of the person whom they desire to be made their leader, by the delegates to made their leader by the delegates to the convention. He closed with a sketch of Mr. Flower's career. The ballot resulted: Flower 334, Capin 43.

As the tumult attending the announcement of the vote subsided in renouncement of the vote subsided in reluctant waves of applause, it left standing on his feet among the Kings county delegation its chairman, Charles P. Adams, of Brooklyn. "I arise," he said, when recognized, "to move the unanimous nomination of Rosewell P. Flower." The scene that followed was stirring, indeed, and it was come. stirring, indeed, and it was some time before Mr. Adams, who remained standing could be heard. When quiet prevailed, he added, "While we of Kings return home with a mocracy which has never faltered in support of a Democratic candidate and will not now." This was the cause of renewed and wild enthusiasm. Mr. Adams' motion was adopted. All the Nominated Unanimously.

Nothing remained for the convention to do. Its work was finished. There was nothing to delay adjournment, save the desire of the party to see its candidates. Soon after 2 o'clock the committee sent to conduct Mr. Flower entered the hall, and while every man stood on his chair and shouted, the candidate advanced to the platform with smiles on his face. When the shouts of applause had worn off sufficiently so that Mr. Flower could make himself heard he spoke briefly, saying that he was willing to have "the light turned on" his record. He accepted the nomination and promised to lead the party to victory. The applause that followed Mr. Flower's address did not die away, but was merged into growing shouts, Nominated Unanimously. was merged into growing shouts, mingled with the name of "Sheehan." The scene was dramatic, and the rosyfaced Sheehan mounted to the platform, where Mr. Flower advanced with outstretched hands to meet him at the threshold. In full view of the convenience of the conveni tion the leaders of the ticket then shook hands and engaged in a few words of hearty greeting. Mr. Sheehan then addressed the convention. At the con-clusion of Mr. Sheehan's address the onvention, amid great cheering, adourned sine die.

Mr. Flower sent in his resignation as member of the Fifty-second congress this afternoon. His successor in the Twelfth district will be chosen in November.

Burchard Was There.

One of the most notable figures that passed up the aisles of the old rink this passed up the aisles of the old rink this morning was that of an elderly gentleman with gray slight side-whiskers, wearing a black silk hat with a wide cloth band, thoroughly well dressed, and carrying a cane and a benignant smile. Many politicians and others nudged each other and whispered loudly, "That's Burchard." It was Rev. Dr. Burchard, of New York, and on all sides where he was recognized he met the chaffing which greeted him in a genial, hearty way.

the chaffing which greeted him in a genial, hearty way.

"What are you doing here, doctor?" laughingly asked a prominent Democrat who recognized him.
"Aren't you glad to see me here?" was the clergyman's laughing rejoinder.

"We are, we are," came in a chorus of laughter from a party of the doctor's acquaintances near.

acquaintances near.

The larger part of the county Democracy went home yesterday disgusted with the result of their efforts to get seats in the convention.

A significant thing was the fact that the resolution which was offered after the report of the committee on contestthe report of the committee on contest-ed seats, giving Tammany Hall the only recognition inside of the convention or outside as the regular Democratic or-ganization for the county of New York, was adopted by a viva voice vote, ap-parently unanimous, but proceeding al-most wholly from the Tammany seats. Not a protest of any sort came from Kings or Albany, or any of the other counties from which support for the counties from which support for the county Democracy was expected.

When the platform was read Gen. Tracey, of Albany, manifested much nneasiness, rising in his seat so that he could hear every word until the silver clause was safely passed. When a big Tammany outburst of applause had followed this — the loudest and most demonstrative greeting given to anything in the platform—he sat down with n his newspaper.

BAY STATE REPUBLICANS.

natorial Plum. Boston, Sept. 16 .- When Chairman Burdette, of the state committee, called the Republican state convention to order in Tremont Temple at 11:10 o'clock this morning, he spoke to one of the largest gatherings that has ever attended the deliberations of the party delegates. The committee on permanent organizarice committee on permanent organiza-tion reported Henry Cabot Lodge as permanent president, with forty-five vice-presidents at large and seventy-eight vice-presidents by districts. Mr. Lodge made a speech of great length, covering most of the national and local questions of the day. He was listened to with the closest attention and fre-quently received generous applause. The report of the committee on credentials showed that thirty cities and 312 towns were represented in the convention by 1,245 out of 1,269 delegates. The Hon. F. T. Greenhalge, of Lowell, was appointed chairman of the committee on resolutions. Op motion of Mr. Chamberlin, of Cambridge, the convention voted that the nominating speeches for governor should not exceed twenty minutes. The convention then proceeded to ballot. Ex-Gov. John D. Long, of Ringham, then rose, amid applause, and in a general speech presented the name of W. W. Crapo, of New Bedford, as candidate for governor. The name was received with enthusiastic cheering. Mr. Cogswell, of Salem, then took the plat-form, and amid the greatest excitement and cheering, placed in nomination the name of Hon. Charles H. Allen, of Lowell. Hon. F. T. Greenhalge then reported the platform, the money and tariff planks of which follow:

Lowell. Hon. F. T. Greenhalge then reported the platform, the money and tariff planks of which follow:

It is of paramount importance to the whole people to maintain the only true and safe standard of value in money. Every dollar issued by the government, whether paper or coin, should be as good as every other dollar. We are unalterably opposed to the unlimited coinage of silver by this country, excepting upon a uniform international ratio to gold and under similar restrictions and conditions, both as to the government and individuals, as prevail in other leading nations of the world. We condemn the Democratic party for its indorsement of free silver in the party platforms of Ohio, lowa, Indiana, Michigan and eighteen other states.

We again affirm our unwavering fidelity to the American system of protection and our belief in its inestimable value to the interests of the country. We congratulate the country that the experience of less than a twelvemonth has already proved that, instead of being fraught with disaster, as falsely predicted by our opponents, the tariff legislation of the last congress has resulted in the greatest prosperity to the business interests of every section of the country.

At 1:15 p. m. the convention proceeded to a formal billo for governor. The balloting was conpeted at 2:25 and a recess taken until 3 p. m. to allow time for counting the ballots. The result of the ballot was announced when the convention reassembled at 3:18 p. m. The total number of votes cast was 1,281; necessary to a choice, 616: Crapo, 514; Allen, 713; Hale, 1; Lodge, 1; Greenhalge, 1. Mr. Knowlton, of New Bedford, moved that the nomination of Allen be made unanimous. Carried amid tumultuous cheering. Ex-Gov. Brackett, in a speech which was frequently applauded, nominated for heutenant governor Hon. William H. Haile, of Springfield, and the nomination was carried by acclamation. The other nominations of the convention were: For carried by acclamation. The other n inations of the convention were: For secretary of state, William M. Olin; for state treasurer, George A. Warden; for attorney general, Albert E. Pillsbury.

TO HER DAUGHTERS,

Mrs. Fair's Great Fortune Left to Her Girls.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16 .- John Mac-Kay and Mr. Dey, the late Mrs. Eair's men of business, estimate the value of her estate at $6,000,000. The will is not to be opened until after the funeral, but its provisions are known. To her two sons, James G. Fair Jr. and Charles Fair, she leaves but a comparatively small amount. When the separation between Mrs. Fair When the separation between Mrs. Fair and the senator took place one of the things igreed on was that he was to care for the sons while she cared for the girls. That is now it happened that so little of her fortune goes to them. The great residue of the estate is to be divided equally between the two daughters, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and Virginia Fair. Their fortunes, like their brothers' portion, are to be in the hands of trustees and the inbe in the hands of trustees, and the in-come only is to go to them, at least for some years. There are no bequests to churches or charitable institutions.

PARIS, Sept. 16 .- The performance of "Lohengrin" commenced at 8 o'clock this evening. The precincts of the opera house were crowded, but up to that time only a slight attempt had been made to create disorder, which the police easily suppressed. The police had strict orders to take energetic action if necessary. The "claque" seats were occupied by detectives, all the approaches to the corridors were occupied by police, and an inspector stood by each check taker to scrutinize incomers. Mounted Republican guards kept the streets clear. The house was crowded, there being no special difficulty in obtaining admission. The overture was listened to in profound silence, the audience breaking into rapturous applause at the conclusion. The opera was admirably mounted and finely rendered. Van Dyck and other artists were recalled several times and applauded to the echo. There was a noisy demonsration outside the opera house during the performance. By 9 o'clock the scene outside the opera house was of the liveliest description. The pavement was almost in passable, and there was a sprinkling of anarchists and other rough characters in the crowd that thronged it. A band of students sang the "Marseillaise," the crowd responding with cries of

"Vive La France." "A bas Wagner." Portions of the mob continually made rushes against the police cordon, and the police, whenever these incursions became formidable, assumed the offensive and charged the mob, which would take to flight in hot haste. Then the singing and shouting would soon be renewed and the rushes and charges repeated. In some cases the zeal of the police seemed to outrun their discretion. In severat instances respectable onlookers were roughly handled and arrested on the slightest provocation, and then cuffed if they ventured to make the mildest protest. Fully 350 persons had mildest protest. Fully 350 persons had been arrested by 10 o'clock. Then a fatality. Even those whose houses force of cavalry and mounted police were flooded seemed incapable of realizforcibly patrolled the scene of the dis turbance and a more determined effort to clear the streets was made-an effort meeting with considerable success From first to last there was no really dangerous feature about the disturb bance. The crowd was apparently mainly composed of people curious to witness any demonstration that might be made. Inside the opera house critics objected to the length of the second act and a portion of the audience found the recitatives with which "Lohengrin" abounds wearisome, but, nevertheless. the audience generally appreciated the Late Scenes.

The performance was concluded with out trouble, and the work was pro-nounced a great artistic success, though its popularity with an audience accused to lighter fare is doubtful. Man in the audience went out on the step between the acts to witness the scene outside, and were received with rounds of hisses. At the conclusion of the performance 700 policemen were still occupied in clearing the streets, which were then fast emptying. Some free fights were reported here and there, but no one was hurt. Altogether about 1,000 persons were arrested, but all will probably be liberated before morning. The German embassy was strongly guarded throughout the night. A party of 200 roughs smashed the windows of the German cafe Han ovre. The streets soon resumed their orner and aspect. A curious incident occurred in the course of the evening. One of the meh arrested, on being taken to the police station, announced himself as a Russlan. He was forthwith liberated with a bow and a polite "passez, monsieur."

Sickening Reports From the Scene of the Great Flood. MADRID, Sept. 16 .- Further distressing particulars in regard to the flooded provinces continue to be received at long intervals, each additional report showing that the extent of the disaster has in no way been exaggerated. The latest information is from Jaen, capital of the province of the same name. governor of the province telegraphs that he whole commune of Aubeda is subthe whole commune of Aubeda is submerged; that the damage done is enormous, and that there has been considerable loss of life. The correspondents of the Spanlsh and foreign newspapers who have been able to reach Consuegra describe it as "a city of the dead." On every side are terrible signs of destruction. The rumbling of the death cart grates horribly upon the ear as those ghastly vehicles convey their sickening loads to the common trenches dug for their reception. The streets everywhere are torn up, washed out and filled with all kinds of wreckage. Human remains, stray limbs and headless man remains, stray limbs and headless trunks are seen protruding from he aps of mud-covered wreckage. The depth of the flood at Consuegra can be gauged from the fact that the water rose eighteen feet in the Church of St. John the Baptist. An estimate made of the damage to property in and about Consuegra places the loss at $2,500,000. The survivors of the disaster give vague and confused accounts of the rise and onward sweep of the flood-ing water which wrought such deadly ing water which wrought such deadly havoc. They say, however, that, though the river was noticed to be rising rapidly, no serious apprehension was felt until the waters seemed to make a sudden rush forward, threatening to overwhelm, and eventually overwhelming everything. Then came a wild race for life. Many climbed upon the roofs of the houses, hoping to escape, but the buildings gave way beneath them as the swollen waters swept through the town, consigning hundreds to death in the wreckage waden stream. The Gazetle publishes, by royal authority, a request to Spanish agents abroad to receive contributions for the flood sufferers. A gendarme at Consuegra, who was an eye witness of the disaster, says: The storm was accompanied by terrific thunder and lightning. While I was stanting near the town hall I was startled by hearing the mayor shouting from the balcony of his residence to the guards to run to the river, as the waters were flooding the houses. I hurried with several courades to the lower part of the town. We found the water already in many places neck-high. With much difficulty we saved thirty persons. The mayor presently arrived on the scene, and appealed to all possessing carts to assist in transporting people to the upper-part of the town. Only three persons responded, although 200 lossesses deconveyances. The same difficulty was experienced in obtaining the ropes, ladders, pick-axes, etc., necessary for rescuing people in danger. The storm having abated, they be-lieved all danger past and stolidly re-fused to budge. Torrents speedily commenced to run from the mountain gorges in all directions in the vailey. Children Throw Roses at the Emperor's Feet. MUNICH, Sept. 16.-The emperor of Germany to-day started from Erfurt for Mulhausen. The road to the railroad station was lined with children, who cheered the imperial visitor and threw flowers across his path. After inspecting various troops the em-peror formally entered Mulhausen on horseback riding at the head of his staff. His majesty was pleased to find the main thoroughfares draped with bunting and flowers and spanned with bunting and flowers and spanned in many places by triumphal arches bearing loyal and patriotic mottoes and designs. In addition, the main thoroughfare was lined by a detachment of veteran soldiers of the wars of 1856 and 1870. The emperor will remain at Mulhausen until Saturday, when he will probably return to Berlin.

The Emperor's speech at Erfurt, as reported in the Berlin Post, caused a heavy decline to-day in all Imperial and
