FOREST FIRES DYING.

But Slight Danger Now From the Flames Among the Pine Trees.

The Report That Five Men Were Burned Near Pine City Untrue.

An Obnoxious Correspondent Fired From White Earth by Indian Police.

The Notorious Nellie King Arrested for Horse Stealing Near Duluth.

Special to the Globe. HINCKLEY, Minn., Sept. 25 .- The fires are gradually subsiding and all danger is now past, though the smoke from the dying flames is dense in the village to-night. From fire fighting to dancing is the order of the day. The annual ball of the fire department was fixed for to-night some time ago, and it came off in splte of the arduous labors of the boys during the past week. The management of the Brennan Lumber company presented the fire company with a $75 clock in recognition of its services, and the boys are happy. The report that five men were burned near Pine City is untrue.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 25 .- Specials from ten towns of Northern Wisconsin say that the rain of last night checked the forest fires. Drummond had a close shave, and hundreds of men were fighting the fire at one time. Last night the weather turned cool and clear. The damage will not be as heavy as first reported, as most of the fires were confined to districts burned over last PRINTERS WALK OUT. Union Force of the Duluth News Quits Work.

DULUTH, Sept. 25 .- The Union printers on the Daily News of this city went out in a body this evening. The cause of the trouble was a dispute about wages. The News has always had the reputation of paying promptly, and has never engaged any but union men. But, owing to temporary financial stringency, pay day was allowed to pass without the appearance of the customary "ghost," hence the strike. "King" Cole, the well known non-union printer. was equal to the emergency, and soon filled the News composing room with a force of men, and the work proceeded without a break. Some Drastic Changes

Ex-President Cleveland Pays Tribute to W. L. Scott's

ROCHESTER, N. Y.. Sept. 25 .- The presbytery of Rochester has held its stated fall meeting at Nunda, N. Y. The matter of chief interest and importance that came up for consideration was the confession of faith as revised by the committee of the general assembly. On Sept. 3, the clause, "God hath predestinated some of mankind unto was changed to "predestinated a multitude whom no man can number." The last sentence in the sixth section of the same chapter was struck out, to wit: "Neither are any other redeemed by Christ effectually called, justified, adopted, sanctified and saved, but the elect only." The most remarkable thing done was to vote that the seventh section, chapter 3, both in the original form, which declares that "the rest of mankind God was pleased to pass by and to ordain to dishonor and wrath," and the revised form, should be omitted altogether and the following adopted as a substitute for it: Decrees of God concerning all mankind are to be so construed as to be in harmony with these declarations of Scripture, viz: That Christ is the propitiation for the sins of the whole world, and that God is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance and live." This change having been made, it was decided to be necessary to strike out the last section of the chapter, which relates to the high mystery just expunged. Other changes were made, such as the following: In chapter 6, section 2, the statement "defiled in all the faculties and parts of soul and body," was modified. In the third secand the faculties and parts of soul and body," was modified. In the third section of the same chapter the clause "the guilt of this sin was imputed" was dropped, because to say "we all sinned in Adam" is to say what is utterly unintelligible and inconceivable, and the whole idea is contrary to natural justice, and to the express declaration of Scripture "The son shall not hear the Scripture, "The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father." In chapter 7 the clause, "promising His Holy Spirit to all that are ordained into life," was changed to "all that ask Him." A similar change was made in chapter 10, section 4, where it is said the on-elect "may have so erations of the Spirit," should read, 'may have the gracious operations of the Spirit." These were all of primary nterest that were passed upon by the presbytery. IN BRIGGS' FOOTSTEPS.

Dr. Vincent's Address at Union Was Not Orthodox.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25. - The little chapel of Union Theological seminary, usually sacred to quiet devotion, rang with applause yesterday while Rev. Dr. Marvin R. Vincent delivered to the students and friends of the institution the annual address, opening the scho-lastic year. In the same place seven months ago Dr. Charles A. Briggs read the famous inaugural which has since the famous inaugural which has since promised to disrupt the Presbyterian church. In every way as vigorous in tone and as advanced in thought, Dr. Vincent's address was almost equally remarkable, and may be followed by results as important.

President Hastings and other leaders of the seminary smilingly admitted that what Dr. Vincent had said was exactly in the line of Dr. Briggs' effort, and if the one was heretical the other was not orthodox, but this did not seem to worry them. Most of those who crowded the chapel were the supporters of Union, but five or six gentlemen were those who are noted opponents of Dr. Briggs. Among them was a layman from In-diana, who, at the Detroit general assembly, was a foremost anti-Briggs lobbyist. The friends of Dr. Briggs said these gentlemen attended yesterday for the purpose of "getting ammu-nition." From which it appears likely that there is trouble ahead for Dr. Vin-

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 25. - A constant stream of visitors passed in and out of the Reed house yesterday afternoon to pay their respects to ex-President Cleve-land. In the course of a conversation on the death of Mr. Scott, Mr. Cleveand referred to his late friend in a feeling manner. "My acquaintance with Mr. Scott dates further back than his prominence in public life. That acquaintance, however, rapidly drew to a close intimacy, which was only interrupted by his death. I learned to love him for his sincerity and for his stead-fastness in his relations to his friends. His preference for people was based on something he saw in them of sturdy usefulness and upon qualities of inde-pendent strength that commanded his respect, and having once selected friend he remained a friend in all cicumstances and without a shade of turn-

It was certainly true of him that, having determined that a certain course of conduct led to that a certain course of conduct led to the promotion of the public good, his private interests and all personal conconsiderations were set aside as he followed in the way of public duty. If his life had only been valuable for the example he set for the faithful performance of the trust the people repose in their public servants, he should be femmembered with gratitide and affection; and when we fecal his other trusts of mind and heart, those who loved him

York's Governor Calls Mr. Fassett's Bluff. ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 25.-Gov. Hill arrived in the city to-night. He was welcomed by Mayor Carroll. The governor in the course of his reply said: "We have carried every state election for nine years, and the issues in this campaign are the same as those upon which we have won an unbroken line of victories. So far as the issues relate to my administration, I am willing to stand upon them, and I think that the Democratic party is willing to stand stand upon them, and I think that the Democratic party is willing to stand upon them. This campaign is one of people against the aristocracy. I am pleased with the ticket, and it is one which should please all good Democrats. The prospects for victory were never brighter. Our party is united, and that means success. Mr. Fassett has said that the campaign is the skirmish before the battle—that as goes. New York this year, so goes the country in 1892. I am willing to accept the issue, but remember that no victory is ever won without hard work."

great many wagons are trailing back over the Cherokee strip with people who failed to get claims in the lands opened last Tuesday. Almost all of them will drift about, living under cannas, waiting for the strip to open. They seem to feel as if every one on the strip is their enemy, and are said to be firing the grass in hundreds of places. They do not know when they are on the strip or when they are on the Indian reservations, and the reservations along the Santa Fe have suffered greatly. About Panca yesterday the grass was burning on every side, and it was only after a hard fight that the houses a little way from the station were saved. Mr. Wilson summoned Sanitary Superintendent Ewing and Dr. Cyrus Edson by telephone at once. and a hurried conference was held that resulted in an order for the immediate inspection of all the grapes in the city. spectiod of all the grapes in the city. Dr. Lederle, Mr. Weeks and a half dozen policemen were told off for the duty at once and went down to begin duty at once and went down to begin among the wholesalers. On their way, half a stone's-throw from sanitary headquarters, they seized and destroyed the stocks of W. H. Becker, a grocer at Mott and Houston streets, and of Giuseppe Farnerila, a Houston street grape peddler.

It was believed by the authorities that the majority of the stock in the city is tainted with copper. It is the result of the efforts to destroy the phylloxera that have attacked the grapes everywhere this year. Copper is used for this. Ordinarily the green crystals are observable mainly on the stem, where they had been protected from the rain by the clustering grapes. At 1 o'clock Dr. Lederle and his party arrived at Washington market. They stopped at a big fruit stand under the L road station at Cortlandt and Church streets. The up-river grapes, or those which come from Ulster and the adjoining counties, were found sprayed with the green substance. The seizure joining counties, were found sprayed Joining counties, were found sprayed with the green substance. The seizure amounted to over a barrel and they were destroyed despite the protest of J. Fellar, their Italian owner. He was very ugly over the raid and made so much noise that he attracted a crowd of fifty persons.

From there the rais was continued along Greenwich, Washington, Barclay, Warren, and the other streets where wholesale fruit dealers have their headquarters. The news of their coming spread rapidly among the dealers, and wherever they went a crowd followed. The next important discovery was made at the warehouse of A. H. Grefe, a fruit commission merchant. Over thirty-six commission merchant. Over thirty-six commission merchant. Over thirty-six crates of up-the-river grapes were examined. They were called Marlboros and Concords. Every crate was condemned, and Mr. Grefe was requested not to dispose of them until an analysis was made. A TRICK OF TRADE.

A Dishonest Broker Unwittingly

Enriches His Firm. CHICAGO, Sept. 25 .- Not many case are on record where a dishonest employe in robbing his employers has unvittingly enriched the firm. But the board of trade furnishes such a case. It has been talked about pretty exten-sively, although the house in question has said nothing. The members just chuckle. The house is one of the best known of the establishments that rank second to the five or six first-class houses. A year ago the house hired a young man, and put him on the floor as its broker. He had practically spent his life on the board, and he had spec lated on a small scale with profit to himself. Besides being a knowing young man as to the details, he had a pretty, good notion of the larger side of speculation, and he came to the concluion that corn was going to drop before

He began to sell and corn began to rise. Deacon White, down East, was getting in his work. The young man continued to sell, and corn perversely continued to rise, until the young man's could get the property of the propert small capital disappeared. He could go no further, and he made up his mind to a daring piece of dishonesty which would have made him rich if it had gone undetected, and which, having come to light, broke him and drove him from the town. The members of the firm were bulls in every kind of grain The young man undertook to use the firm in his speculations. He continued to sell for himself extensively, but he put the sales down to his firm. In the language of the board of trade, he "buried them"

It is said that he sold as high as 67 and 68 and still corp rose. The young

The members of the firm made an investigation, and when they found out the extent of the young man's deals they were paralyzed. They were bulls and they did not desire to throw a lot of corn on the market. Then, corn was pretty high anyhow. One of the members said "stead net?" and they hold bers said "stand pat," and they held their corn. Pretty soon the smash came, which the young man had foreseen. Corn began to drop, and it went slowly down until it reached the place where it met poor Deacon White trying to but against it and crushed him. The firm it met poor Deacon White trying to butt against it and crushed him. The firm watched it and grinned. The young man watched it from his hiding place and swore. The firm had unwittingly profited by his dishonesty in a good, healthy sum. This is the way a board of trade man put it: "His account with the firm stands: Short, 160,000 September corn, averaging 57½; market today, 49. You can see why the firm likesit."
