

MINNEAPOLIS.

JUST A FEW FACTS.

James Gray will positively not dance the highland fling at the Caledonian celebration to-morrow night.

This bloodthirstiness of C. M. Foote, according to the Evening Tribune, is something appalling.

Now would be a good time for Fred George to exercise his ingenuity in organizing a party to take and control the entire voting population to present Supt. Henderson with an address of confidence in him.

The old-timers do astonish the younger fellows occasionally. Tuesday old Palo Alto went upon the tank and overturned his record, and the same evening Dr. Ames emerged from the shadows, and made a speech that astonished the boys.

The engagement of "Wally" Wait, one of the attractions of the Hotel St. Louis for the coming season is announced. Strange how some men will fly in the face of their business projects, for the marriageable young ladies compose the bulk of the hotel dwellers, and they can't marry a married man.

Since the Black Pearl was won a fight against a good man, and away from home at that, Hal Watson is thinking of running for mayor.

Mayor Winston's quail huntize experience comes handy now. He studied the bird so thoroughly that he became so enthusiastic that he is making several men quail since his return.

That is a brave, patriotic young woman down there in Crawfordsville, Ind., who is determined that the stars and stripes shall wave over the school house. Such a true patriot for a husband. Isn't it too bad that Charles D. Moyer is married?

An evening newspaper's cartoon honors Supt. Henderson. It is a big bone two dogs are fighting over.

Frank Hunter Dutter delighted a recited audience at the public library last night with the first of a series of recitals of folk songs of many nations. Mr. Dutter's selection of folk songs are sung in a sweet, pleasant tenor voice. It is a delightful entertainment.

Rose Coghlan will fill the balance of the week at the Bijou opera house. "Old Jed Prouty," which is to be given at the Bijou opera house next week, commencing with Sunday matinee, is a production that everybody, from all accounts, will want to see, and there are few people who do not desire to attend a pleasant evening's entertainment.

Next week the Lyceum will present the great comedy "The Millionaire" by Apple Orchard Farm, which is descriptive of rural New-England life, and brimming over with humorous situations and bright, witty speeches. The celebrated American cantatrice, Emma Thursby, who is the best concert singer in the world to-day, will only appear once in Minneapolis, and should receive a cordial reception. The event will occur at the Lyceum theater Saturday night, and tickets are now on sale at Dyer Bros' music store.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBULES.

The bank clearances yesterday were $1,642,061.54.

Cases of diphtheria at 247 Fourteenth avenue south and 325 North second street, and scarlet fever at 221 First avenue north were reported at the health office yesterday.

It is said that the first two loads of gold-bearing ore from the Lake of the Woods district are already on their way to Duluth. They will be reduced here by the Leeds process.

Charles Merrill, who fell from a scaffold at the glass block a week ago Monday night, is still delirious. Dr. W. O. Stevens, who is attending him, says that he is somewhat better, however.

The engagement is announced of Wallace Wait, manager of the Hotel St. Louis, and Miss May Hinton, of Kansas City. The wedding will be celebrated early in the winter, probably in February.

James Taylor will deliver a lecture entitled "The Evolution of the Human Species" before the Eschwege Theosophical society this evening at 6 o'clock at their headquarters, 922 New York life insurance building.

The people's meeting executive committee proposes to give the Catholic side of the public school question at some future meeting to even up for the address of G. L. Morrill, Archbishop of Ireland, which was given at Garfield and Acker posts, G. A. R., of St. Paul, will visit Morgan post, 40 Coffey on Friday night next, when an open meeting will be held at Morgan post hall. Coffee and other refreshments will be served during the evening.

The Great Northern will discontinue train service to Minnetonka beach and Spring Park next Monday. The last train to the north shore of the lake will go Sunday afternoon, and the last in from Spring Park Monday morning.

Will Brace, son of the Methodist minister of that name, and Miss Marie Beach have been married at Hudson, Wis. He is only nineteen and she is only seventeen.

Booths are satisfied, but the Brass family have not yet tendered their congratulations. Nicholas Munch, the husband of the week-ended woman who, after her wedding, was pinned down at the city lock-up for the past few days, arrived at his home yesterday and returned with his uniformed relatives to his home at Wood Lake.

Sheriff Nyquist, of Pine county, taking with him Mrs. Jeanette Nyquist, who a few days since deserted her husband, and Charles Green, the negro barber with whom she expected and whose true name appears to be James Gibson.

Antoine Damshek, the prisoner who exhibited so much perseverance and ingenuity in his attempts to hang himself at the lock-up on Tuesday afternoon, was sentenced to the workhouse yesterday. He was examined as to his sanity, however, for an examination as to his sanity.

The council committee on licenses, at its meeting held yesterday afternoon, agreed to recommend that the license of J. W. Berecholtz and Horan & Shaw be revoked in compliance with the report of Inspector Hazen, who states that they have violated the ordinance regulating plumbing.

At the meeting of the Caledonian club yesterday it was decided to tear down the stand which was used for Vera Cruz and pile the lumber ready for a new stand. The erection of this kind will be operated in connection with the extra session. There seems to be a feeling in favor of holding an extra session in 1902.

The Scotchmen of the Caledonian club will celebrate Halloween to-morrow night in Scotch style. There will be all sorts of entertainments, and all of it will be in the program. The program includes speeches by President Northrup and others, and music from the bagpipes, as well as more modern entertainments. Dancing will follow.

They Are in Relation to C. M. Foote and the North Star.

Some of Them Refer to the Police Department Troubles.

Roger Vail Tells What He Saw in the Old Country.

Police Matron Paine's Rough Path--General News of a Day.

There are two classes of people in this world who make, unwittingly, no doubt, more trouble for the newspapers than all the libel suits that were ever instituted. The first of these classes is composed of those who take as truth everything seen in a newspaper, without considering the character of the paper or its motive for publishing certain statements. The other class is made up of the people who can never see the point of a joke until it has been dissected and explained. The existence of these classes renders necessary the explanation of some things that has appeared in evening papers last night.

The following was doubtless intended for a rare joke, but some one is bound to misunderstand it unless explained: Those who have read the proceedings of the executive committee yesterday will smile at the round fat spot thrown at C. M. Foote in the shape of a place on the executive committee when they understand that Mr. Foote did not authorize the mention of his name in the proceedings, but only to accept the offer. When his name was added to the executive committee yesterday morning, he was notified by a letter which requested to go out and notify the would-be members of the committee, and to bring with him a high honor conferred upon him and request to come in and do his duty. When the committee of notification pointed to know that he would not go to Harmonia hall.

The action in which the above appeared goes on to state that Mr. Foote will not accept his election to a place on the executive committee of the North Star association until Supt. Henderson has been deposed. Mr. Foote is not a member of the North Star association, and he is not a member of the executive committee of the North Star association. He is a member of the executive committee of the North Star association, and he is a member of the executive committee of the North Star association.

Mr. Foote has not demanded the scalp of Supt. Henderson. He may have opposed the appointment of the mayor, but he did not stop. He is not asking his dismissal. There is no reason for his doing so. No reason for his asking it has been advanced. Mr. Foote has been elected a member of the executive committee of the North Star association, and he is a member of the executive committee of the North Star association.

It is unfortunate that the occurrences of the past few days in the police department which call for investigation have been mixed up by a few malicious individuals with affairs public; but, since they have been so mixed, they must be treated in connection with politics. To begin with, the stories that have been published concerning the said-to-be impending fall of Supt. Henderson and his secretary, Fred George, are ridiculous.

What connection with politics has the presentation of a diamond star to the superintendent of the Minneapolis police department? And that presentation is made the basis of Foote's demand for resignation. As a matter of fact, Henderson is not to be removed from his position. He has not, and he is not to be removed from his position. He has not, and he is not to be removed from his position.

As for the King and Doyle matter, that comes under the head of exclusively police business and has no connection with politics. That is a matter that calls for executive investigation, and that is what will be accorded it. Mayor Winston is in the habit of investigating such matters thoroughly. It is not an act of haste, but it is the result of the opinion that it is through his nearest him, that the King-Doyle affair has been unduly exaggerated. He will find out for himself and act accordingly. No prejudices will obtain in the investigation.

It has been said that King and Doyle call to have been discriminated against by the superintendent. If they have made any such assertion and it is doubtful if they have, they have made a mistake. They have faced as well as any one in the police department, better than some. The superintendent has never acted prejudicially to their interests, so far as anyone can discover. If their conduct has been such as to warrant a despatch, it will determine what will become of them.

Sergeant Kirkham is in about the same situation as King and Doyle. He is said to have acted as a private detective, and he is said to have acted as a private detective. He is said to have acted as a private detective, and he is said to have acted as a private detective.

WHAT HE SAW. Roger Vail Takes His Friends Through Ireland. It was a rather small but deeply interested audience that attended the Lyceum last evening to hear Roger Vail's lecture upon "A Trip Through Ireland."

It was a rather small but deeply interested audience that attended the Lyceum last evening to hear Roger Vail's lecture upon "A Trip Through Ireland."

Corrigan in a few fitting remarks, and then began his lecture with his departure from New York in May last in company with Bishop McGillicuddy, of Duluth, and his arrival at Queenstown, once known as the Cove of Cork, on May 23. Queenstown he found to be a place of ten thousand inhabitants, the most conspicuous features of which were the British soldiers, whose principal occupation seemed to be drinking in public houses. The Irish policemen with their hair worn on the side of the head, and the donkeys. The native-born Irish, he said, were very scarce in Queenstown, the employees all being given to natives of England.

There were, he said, nineteen rivers in Ireland which could not be excelled for beauty, and none of them were put to very practical use. Cork he found to be a very intellectual place, with fine churches, excellent educational institutions and highly educated people. One of its principal industries appeared to be the manufacture of whisky. In fact, that appeared to be the only industry England encouraged in Ireland. However, he has seen more intoxication in New York in one day than he had in three months in Ireland.

He visited the little town of Barney and, of course, kissed the Barney stone. At Barney he found only one woolen mill in operation, where there used to be twenty. At Lisnore he saw the seat of the Duke of Devonshire, an absentee nobleman who receives $10,000 per year from his tenantry, and never visits Ireland. The duke owns the river banks, and by virtue of a decision of the English house of parliament completely controls and owns the fish in it. No fish were allowed to catch any of the fish without his permission.

At Wexford, the scene of the insurrection of 1798, he was particularly interested in evening papers last night. The following was doubtless intended for a rare joke, but some one is bound to misunderstand it unless explained: Those who have read the proceedings of the executive committee yesterday will smile at the round fat spot thrown at C. M. Foote in the shape of a place on the executive committee when they understand that Mr. Foote did not authorize the mention of his name in the proceedings, but only to accept the offer.

AND NOW THE MATRON.

Complaints Being Made Against Mrs. Paine's Methods. To add to the recent complications in police matters it now appears that an opposition to Mrs. E. Louise Paine, the police matron, has sprung up among the ladies of the various charitable organizations which pay half of her salary of $600 per month. The ladies who represent the Bethany Home, the W. C. T. U., Non-Partisan League, and several other charitable organizations, appear to think that Mrs. Paine is more independent than is becoming under the circumstances, and also charged that she discriminates in favor of the Home of the Friendless as against the Bethany Home, and that she is not to be removed from her position.

PLYMOUTH'S NEW PASTOR.

He Has Already Been Welcomed to the City. Dr. George H. Wells, the new pastor of Plymouth church, arrived in Minneapolis yesterday morning. The pastoral committee of the church, headed by George H. Rust, was at the depot to meet him and to tell him how glad they were to have him in Minneapolis. The new pastor was taken to the home of Mr. Rust, where he will remain at least through the winter. He is a pleasant-faced bachelor, who always has a smile and a kind word, as well as a joke, for all with whom he comes in contact. Of his departure from Montreal he said:

"I lost me many a pang to leave a church in which I have been identified for the past twenty years, and both members and myself were heartbroken at parting. A week ago they began to get together for a farewell reception, at which time I was presented with a check for $1,000 and a splendid framed picture. My people were kind to myself to me, and leaving them caused me many a sad feeling. Twenty-one years of service to a church, which means much, and makes a separation all the more painful."

He was born and educated in Illinois, and he believes that he will like the West. He says that he will feel more at home now that he is back in the Congregational church. He was originally of that creed, but became a Presbyterian. Now he is glad to get back into the old fold. The installation ceremonies will occur to-morrow night in Plymouth church. The program arranged is as follows: The minutes of the church, to be read by Rev. S. L. Spear; the charge to the pastor will be given by Rev. J. W. Strong, D. D., and the prayer of installation by Rev. S. L. Spear; the charge to the pastor will be given by Rev. J. W. Strong, D. D., and the prayer of installation by Rev. S. L. Spear.

Died of a Tumor. An autopsy held yesterday upon the body of E. R. Abrahamson, the coachman who died suddenly at the Sawyer house, corner Park avenue and Twenty-sixth street, south of Hennepin, developed the fact that death was caused by tumor of the brain. Deceased had relatives living near Morris, Minn. His death was a surprise, as he had been taken last evening, no inquest being considered necessary.

Killed by the Cars. Alpha B. Loftus, a youth of sixteen, employed by the Northern Pacific Railway company as a checker, met with an accident on Tuesday afternoon at the crossing at Twenty-ninth avenue northeast, which resulted in his death. Loftus was riding on a freight car, when the jolting of the car caused him to fall from the wheels passing over him, crushing both legs and injuring him internally. He was taken to St.

Anthony hospital, where he died at 6 o'clock yesterday morning in great agony. From a hasty investigation Coroner Byrnes decided that the inquest would probably not be necessary, and he allowed the afflicted mother to remove her remains to their home at 303 and 305 Second street, southeast. The funeral will take place to-day from the Open Door Congregational church.

One-Legged Bicycle Race. On the evening of Nov. 11 the sports-lovers will have an opportunity of witnessing a queer sort of a race. It will be a bicycle race between two one-legged men. The following articles of agreement were entered into and agreed to on this day by Charles G. Kilpatrick, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Harry Leathers, of Minneapolis, Minn., the one-legged bicyclists, to compete in a race at a distance of three miles for the one-legged championship of America, the race to take the entire game receipt, the race to be held at the Washington avenue rink, the ordinary wheel to be used.

A Peculiar Case. A young man who gives his name as J. McLaughlin was found at the Washburn Hotel, called by the police yesterday morning, under circumstances which led to his arrest on a charge of attempted burglary. About $200, when the man was arrested, some of the servants found McLaughlin crouching under the upper floors of the hotel, and by virtue of a decision of the court he was found guilty of the charge. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for six months.

A Clever Counterfeit. A very perfect and in every respect well executed counterfeit bill has appeared in Minneapolis. The bill recently came into the hands of E. E. Gaylord, assistant cashier of the Metropolitan bank. It is a silver certificate of the denomination of $2 and of the issue authorized by act of Congress of Aug. 4, 1886. It was sent to J. W. Lawrence, of the treasury department at Washington, who pronounced it the most perfect counterfeit he has ever seen.

They Were Fined, Too. The North Side saloonkeepers charged with having failed to keep their places closed on Sunday met the same fate as the proprietors. Peter Mattson, Louis Moe, Ole Hansson, Victor Roman, Oscar Peterson, E. E. Peterson, M. D. Swanson, James Peterson, Andrew Frederickson, Paul Wadell, Henry Kniole were sentenced to pay fines of $10 each for violating the law. The same day the proprietors of the saloons were sentenced to pay fines of $10 each for violating the law.

To Try Heilprin. A special venire of forty jurors was drawn yesterday afternoon to try the Heilprin case, which commences next Saturday.

After the Cash. The Failure of Richard G. Peters recalled. CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Arguments are being made before Judge Briggs for the appointment of another receiver for Richard G. Peters in the suit of Edward V. B. Hoos. Peters failed a year ago, leaving an indebtedness of nearly $2,000,000 and his assets, which were valued at $1,000,000, were sold for $500,000.
