

SULLIVAN NOT SHY.

He Is Willing to Lick Mitchell Under Suitable Conditions.

A Big Purse and a Heavy Side Bet Will Be Insisted Upon.

The Tricky Britisher Seeking to Fix a Game at New Orleans.

Fitzsimmons Will Not Fight Hall-Maher's Career at an End.

Last night's telegrams conveyed the information that Charlie Mitchell and the Olympic club of New Orleans were endeavoring to arrange a meeting between Mitchell and Sullivan for a large purse and that the former was willing to bet $5,000 on the side. This dispatch was shown Sullivan last night after he came off the stage at the Grand Opera house. The champion is in the best form since he struck St. Paul, baring his right arm, which is swathed in bandages. A day or two ago he smashed his fist through a window by accident and was rendered unable to appear in the forenoon, necessitating care and patience for his healing. He had just knocked out the redoubtable "Frog" Sullivan and the curtain had descended to uproarious applause, when a Globe reporter chased Sullivan to his dressing room and read him a dispatch which said first he would say nothing beyond beating Mitchell as a coward and seeker after notoriety.

"It's all wind, this talk. Mitchell don't want to fight. He only wants a little advertising to help out his tour." "But this dispatch seems to mean business," was urged.

"Why don't they put up Slavin? He's the man I'd like to get at if there's any fight in it. I'd like to see a nigger and the nigger 'll kill him, but I hope he won't until I get a chance at him. Now about the money. The prize money for the Olympic club will put up a purse worth fighting for. I'll meet Mitchell or Slavin, whichever he wants to fight on any one condition, and that is that he will bet $10,000 on the side. I won't fight him unless he is willing to back himself for that amount. He must have something else to back up. He must have something at stake to fight for, and not merely hipodromes for a purse. Now, if these points are satisfied, I'll meet him for a purse of $5,000 the last week of August or the first week of September, and I'll meet him in a twenty-four foot ring."

"What did you think of last night's fight?"

"It was exactly as I predicted all the time. I don't want to say anything against Maher, but he was manacled by a cure. I refer to Madison. I don't think much of Fitzsimmons either, for he is a good deal of the same stripe, and I can bring a man in his class who will knock him out of him up. These fellows say they are fighters are not all good men, you see. Now, I don't care a damn for the championship, but I care for the citizen, and I want to lick every fighter that comes on American soil to fight. I never take any money, and I asked questions, but if Sullivan should die, what would all these fellows do for fighting?"

SPORTS ON THE MOVE.

Fitzsimmons Chipper as a Bird-Mitchell Scheming.

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—The morning train carried away many of the sports who saw last night's fight, and there was a further postponement of this evening. The New York men and Easterners generally were very anxious to get away, for they plunged heavily on Maher, and were nearly if not quite broke. Fitzsimmons was up early this morning, and was ready to go to the ring by 10 o'clock. He had come down to the St. Charles and was receiving the congratulations of hundreds of admirers. An Australian said he felt as well as he ever did in his life. He bore no marks resulting from last night's contest. Fitz was probably going to Bay St. Louis for a day or two, and then go north with Carroll. The Maher party were scattered. Maher went to his room last night after the fight, and did not show himself on the streets today because of the damaged condition of his face, which was very much swollen and quite unrecognizable.

Mitchell is in consultation with the Olympic club management, awaiting for a fight with Sullivan. He says he wants to try his hand against the champion once more, and is willing to fight before the Olympic club tonight at a purse, and will make a side bet of $5,000 on himself. Sullivan may be offered the opportunity to meet the Englishman.

Peter Maher's career as a promising pugilist was brought to a full stop by his performance last night. At least the amount was universal verdict of the representatives of the sporting fraternity of the country as expressed here today. He was dubbed "the quitter." Phil Dwyer says that the new man is a disappointment, and of little account.

Efforts were inaugurated this evening to bring about another meeting between Fitzsimmons and Hall. The latter is willing, he says, to meet on any terms. It is believed that the latter will be intimidated around without delay. Carroll, however, in behalf of Fitzsimmons, said they proposed to take no notice of Hall, but that the latter was fighting for a fight they were willing to put up Joe Chynski against him.

There was a private conference of officers of the Olympic club tonight at which Frank Slavin announced that Mitchell proposed to do an all challenge Sullivan for $5,000 a side for a meeting in October and that he would prefer that the affair come off in the Olympic arena if the club would hang up a purse of not less than $10,000. The men were favorably impressed by members of the committee, but no action was taken. Slavin says that he proposes doing nothing until after his meeting with Jackson, and should he prove the winner, he would fight anybody in the world, Sullivan preferred.

Danny Needham leaves tomorrow night for his home in California. Nothing has been done in the matter of arranging for an early meeting between him and Ryan.

The syndicate, headed by Harry Varnell, John Long and J. H. Watson, which syndicate, raked in something in the neighborhood of $50,000 of New York money.

Wants One-Third Commission.

Theodore Shotwell, of Minneapolis, is about to begin an action against A. H. Lindeke to recover $8,323.33 as commissions on settling the accounts of Shotwell, Clewley & Latham. This was a Minneapolis dry goods house that Lindeke asked to be made assignee of the insolvent firm, and promised to turn over his allowances as assignee to the representatives of the firm. It is alleged that $25,000 was allowed the assignee, and Shotwell asks for one-third thereof.

Tilden Club Election.

The Tilden club held its annual meeting last night. Short addresses were delivered by Hon. D. W. Lawler, John L. Townley, John E. Heam, A. B. Oviatt and M. Mullen. The officers elected were: President, D. W. Lawler; first vice president, John E. Heam; second vice president, P. R. McDonnell; secretary, Charles Bachofner; treasurer, Michael Mullany; executive committee, D. W. Lawler and A. B. Oviatt. The next meeting of the club will be on the evening of March 21.

CHORAL CHORUS.

A Delightful Concert in the Association Series.

The second concert of the St. Paul Choral association was given last night at the People's church. The audience was large—flattering so, but it was not at all prompt. Notwithstanding the earnest appeals of the director that the members be in their several seats with its top coats and overcoats off at 8 o'clock, the first number, which was the choral song, "The Rose Maiden," by Alfred Greenfeld, was over before the stragglers began to diminish.

Alfred Greenfeld was greeted with applause. The first part, solo was "The Rose Maiden," which was played with breadth of movement and delicacy of coloring. Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" was the second number. The pianist's own arrangement of some Hungarian dances completed the trio, and won determined and hearty encore. Herr Greenfeld played the best number with nimble dexterity and fire, displaying his masterly technique.

The part song, "The Old Church Dweller," by Hauptmann, the Choral association sang, as they habitually sing, artistically and well. An audience from concert, by M. Lique, introduced the soloist, Heinrich Greenfeld, who is an artist. His bowing is firm, yet delicate, and his sustaining tones unusually pure. Gabriel Martz's whimsically gay "La Cinquanteaine" was exquisitely given. Moszkowski's "The Merry Widow" was interesting. "The Star" completed Herr Greenfeld's triple number, which was enthusiastically encored.

"The Baby of Life," by Leslie, gave the association an opportunity—which it is needless to say was improved—of displaying its concerted ability. The piano accompaniment was done throughly by the basses as especially commendable.

Alfred Greenfeld returned with two of Schumann's best known compositions, the "Romance" in D minor and "Träumerei." They were given with great effect. The latter was given by the pianist's own fantasia on motives from "Lohegrün" and "Tannhäuser" was the most enjoyable. The pianist, Wagner, sang a libretto unique, and anything in the nature of a modification of an idea of the great master invariably lacks the originality and strength of coloring of the original. The motives of Wagner are too large for one piano.

"I was Young Dream," sung before by the choral association, was enjoyably rendered. Then came what was for the association the success of the evening, Brahms' "The Hunting Song," given with a dash and spirit that fairly captivated the audience, and made response to an encore.

Etude, Chopin's opus 25, by Herr H. Greenfeld, preceded the delicate, quiet and always charming minuetto by Beethoven. In contrast to the movement came Popp's waltz "Vito," which was admirably expressed. The soloist was compelled to respond to an encore.

The last number of the choral association was Fauré's "Song of the Villagers," given with a deal of expression and with accuracy.

Alfred Greenfeld's most artistically played number was Chopin's Nocturne in B major, an American impression, and had yet a clear cut definiteness of conception and execution that made it admirable. Chopin's "Mazurka" with a trilled melody, and Matthew Bland Harrison, who will also come from Duluth, which assurance Gov. Merriam gives.

The New Iron Company Chart-ers Continue to Enrich the State.

Minnesota will raise, without serious difficulty, the $100,000 for the state exhibit at the world's fair, in addition to the amount already appropriated by the legislature. As stated yesterday, the $31,700 apportioned to Ramsey county has already been secured. Col. D. A. Monfort said yesterday the work throughout the state was rapidly progressing and the amount would soon be raised. He made the following statement of the situation to date.
