HILL CAN BE ELECTED

So Says Miller, of Omaha, After a Study of the Situation.

Cleveland He Holds Unavailable, and No Hope for a Western Man.

Editor McClure, of Philadelphia, Would Like to See Hill Out of It.

The Texas Senatorship Contest—Thayer Daft on Officeholding.

CHICAGO, March 12.—"I do not think Mr. Cleveland's nomination among the possibilities, and should the Democrats of the country override New York's wishes and put Cleveland over the top, his defeat is inevitable," said Dr. George L. Miller, of Omaha, at the Auditorium today. Dr. Miller is a politician of long experience and wide observation. For years he was a member of the Democratic national committee. "New York's wishes are not Cleveland's," he said. "The Democrats must carry to win," continued Dr. Miller. "We must have the South, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, or we are whipped. The hope that the Democrats carry any of the western states on a national issue is all moonshine."

"I have been hearing the same story," he went on to say, "for twenty-five years. I do not think we have yet made enough converts to warrant us in including a huge contingent of state heretics safely Republican. All things are possible with God and the tariff reform—but I am not looking for miracles in the coming election. The Hill can be elected, and next to him I would like to see Senator Gorman, of Maryland, nominated."

Dr. Miller is a member of the Western man. "Jones is good enough for second place, but he could not carry his own state if named for president. Palmer's nomination would mean a change of party, and I am not in favor of that. Gray, Campbell, Vilas, none of them are available. I am opposed to this free silver fiasco. I am not in favor of the 'back' craze in 1876, when we had to save the party from being committed to the issue of an irredeemable currency. It would be plentiful and cheap."

OUR FRIEND, THE ENEMY.

Editor McClure Decries Senator Hill's Chances.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 12.—Col. A. K. McClure, editor of the Philadelphia Times, was in Charleston for a few hours today, en route to Philadelphia. In an interview with a reporter he discussed the presidential situation and relative standing of Hill and Cleveland. He said that he had no average intelligence, who dispassionately reviews the political situation in the country, and that he was in favor of a state voting for Senator Hill if nominated at Chicago, and the largest majority against him in any state would be New York. This McClure said very clearly presented and understood at Chicago, and the nomination of Hill will not be seriously thought of when the convention opens.

The only possible achievement of the Hill movement is the defeat of Cleveland; but the positive choice of fully two-thirds of the people who will elect a Democratic president, if one shall be elected this year, is in favor of the reckless raid of pot-house politicians on the presidency. Senator Hill's political system has many attractions for a considerable class of men who are active in modern politics. It offers plunder for the venal, place for his ambitions and flattery for fools, and if his election to the presidency were secured, there would be tenfold more disappointment in political circles of the successful party than there was under Cleveland.

The fact that Cleveland's candidacy does not appeal to the jobber or to the party of the "stand by" means, is why he is the strongest possible candidate the Democrats could present for president this year, and the fact that he can be a serious movement for the president in any section of the country suggests a measure of degradation in American politics that is unexampled in the history of the republic.

TEXAS SENATORSHIP.

Chilton, Mills and Culberson in the Hunt.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Considerable interest has been manifested among Democratic congressmen over the coming senatorial contest in the Texas legislature. The governor has called the legislature of that state to meet in special session next Monday, March 14, and one of the subjects to be considered will be the election of a United States senator to fill the unexpired term of Senator Reagan, resigned. Senator Chilton, who was appointed to fill the vacancy until the legislature should regularly elect, is being warmly pressed by his friends, among whom the most earnest is Gov. Hogg. Representative Mills and Representative Culberson are also strong competitors for the vacant seat.

The balloting for the State senator will begin Tuesday, the 22d inst., and a unique feature of the contest is that there will be no preliminary Democratic caucus to select the question of preference. As there are only one or two Republicans in the legislature, a caucus is regarded as wholly unnecessary, so long as the Democrats are in a majority. The preliminary conferences balloting will begin on the 22d and continue from day to day until somebody is elected. Another somewhat unusual feature of the contest is the fact that it will be conducted without any of the aspirants on the field. Mr. Chilton has announced today that they expect to remain in Washington at their posts of duty during the whole contest.

ATKINS, Tex., March 12.—A large number of the members of the legislature to convene Monday who have already declared their intention to vote for Mills, but this is no criterion as the actual vote, as the members now here are shaky on the final result. The probabilities tonight are that Mills will be elected.

Mr. Phelps' Hopes.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 12.—Hon. Edward J. Phelps, minister to England under President Cleveland, is quoted as saying: "I think a reaction has set in since the convention at Albany at which

MANDERSON TALKED OF OPPONENTS OF HARRISON MOVING TO BEAT HIM.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The Herald's Washington man says a strong effort is being made by the opponents of President Harrison in the senate to have as many state delegations sent to Minneapolis uncommitted as possible. Some of the senators who are favoring this plan hope that by so doing they will be able to prevent the president-elect from securing votes enough to succeed himself, and thus enable some of the anti-Harrison candidates to win the prize. Senator Mauderson, of Nebraska, is the last of these gentlemen who is talked of as a presidential possibility.

The Nebraska senator is very popular in the trans-Mississippi country and I am told that his own delegation will be a unit in his favor if he so desires. Mr. Mauderson himself ridicules the suggestion and says that he has no ambition in that direction. His friends insist that he is a man of serious purpose and that he is talking seriously of making a concerted effort to bring him out.

Polk County Iowans Refuse Help to Harrison.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 12.—The Republicans of Polk county today held a convention to select delegates to the state convention next week. Resolutions indorsing Harrison and Blaine were unanimously passed. An attempt was made to instruct the delegates to vote for Harrison, but it was defeated by a vote of 104 to 72. An endeavor was made to draw A. B. Cummings, selected by the state central committee, to the convention, but he refused to let his friends make a fight for him as a delegate to the state convention. He had been made necessary for the temporary chairman to be a delegate. The fight against Cummings was made because of his position as an anti-prohibitionist. Delegates to the state convention are beginning to arrive for the meeting next Wednesday, and preparations are being made for a most enthusiastic gathering.

THURMAN FOR GOVERNOR.

The Old Roman Alleged to Have So Stated.

COLUMBUS, O., March 12.—Ex-Senator Allen G. Thurman has recently expressed his views on the question of the presidency to an old friend. It is stated that Mr. Thurman thought that Mr. Cleveland represents the best interest of the country to any other Democrat. He is reported as saying: "In the event Mr. Cleveland should be elected, the thing to do would be to nominate him by acclamation and leave the rest to the people, for the people, ready or not, have elected Cleveland a stronger man than he was four years ago."

DANGER IN TENNESSEE.

Farmers' Alliance Democrats May Do Mischief.

MEMPHIS, March 12.—For two years the Farmers' Alliance has been making politics in this state. Gov. Buchanan is a candidate for re-election, and so far he has refused to state his position on the land loan and the Ocala demands. The Democrats through the state have become indignant, and are rallying to the support of Supreme Judge Turley. Another somewhat unusual feature of the election of a Republican governor, and might also elect Republican presidential electors, and thus throw Tennessee into the column of Republican states.

Michigan Sentiment.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 12.—The Kalamazoo tonight will print out graph letters from Republican editors in various parts of the state on preference and governor. The sentiment as expressed is about equally divided between Alger and Harrison. Next to the assumption that the Michigan state will support its favorite son, Harrison is the unanimous choice.

Special to the Globe. FAIRBULT, March 12.—The Democratic and Republican city conventions will be held on March 19. The Democratic convention will be held on the same day in this city.

Sister Pauline May Be Dead.

Special to the Globe. WINONA, March 12.—Sister Pauline Tracy, of the order of St. Francis, who taught in the St. Joseph's parochial school, died at 4 o'clock this morning of consumption.

CHICAGO, March 12.—"I do not think Mr. Cleveland's nomination among the possibilities, and should the Democrats of the country override New York's wishes and put Cleveland over the top, his defeat is inevitable," said Dr. George L. Miller, of Omaha, at the Auditorium today. Dr. Miller is a politician of long experience and wide observation. For years he was a member of the Democratic national committee. "New York's wishes are not Cleveland's," he said. "The Democrats must carry to win," continued Dr. Miller. "We must have the South, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, or we are whipped. The hope that the Democrats carry any of the western states on a national issue is all moonshine."

"I have been hearing the same story," he went on to say, "for twenty-five years. I do not think we have yet made enough converts to warrant us in including a huge contingent of state heretics safely Republican. All things are possible with God and the tariff reform—but I am not looking for miracles in the coming election. The Hill can be elected, and next to him I would like to see Senator Gorman, of Maryland, nominated."

Dr. Miller is a member of the Western man. "Jones is good enough for second place, but he could not carry his own state if named for president. Palmer's nomination would mean a change of party, and I am not in favor of that. Gray, Campbell, Vilas, none of them are available. I am opposed to this free silver fiasco. I am not in favor of the 'back' craze in 1876, when we had to save the party from being committed to the issue of an irredeemable currency. It would be plentiful and cheap."

OUR FRIEND, THE ENEMY.

Editor McClure Decries Senator Hill's Chances.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 12.—Col. A. K. McClure, editor of the Philadelphia Times, was in Charleston for a few hours today, en route to Philadelphia. In an interview with a reporter he discussed the presidential situation and relative standing of Hill and Cleveland. He said that he had no average intelligence, who dispassionately reviews the political situation in the country, and that he was in favor of a state voting for Senator Hill if nominated at Chicago, and the largest majority against him in any state would be New York. This McClure said very clearly presented and understood at Chicago, and the nomination of Hill will not be seriously thought of when the convention opens.

The only possible achievement of the Hill movement is the defeat of Cleveland; but the positive choice of fully two-thirds of the people who will elect a Democratic president, if one shall be elected this year, is in favor of the reckless raid of pot-house politicians on the presidency. Senator Hill's political system has many attractions for a considerable class of men who are active in modern politics. It offers plunder for the venal, place for his ambitions and flattery for fools, and if his election to the presidency were secured, there would be tenfold more disappointment in political circles of the successful party than there was under Cleveland.

The fact that Cleveland's candidacy does not appeal to the jobber or to the party of the "stand by" means, is why he is the strongest possible candidate the Democrats could present for president this year, and the fact that he can be a serious movement for the president in any section of the country suggests a measure of degradation in American politics that is unexampled in the history of the republic.

TEXAS SENATORSHIP.

Chilton, Mills and Culberson in the Hunt.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Considerable interest has been manifested among Democratic congressmen over the coming senatorial contest in the Texas legislature. The governor has called the legislature of that state to meet in special session next Monday, March 14, and one of the subjects to be considered will be the election of a United States senator to fill the unexpired term of Senator Reagan, resigned. Senator Chilton, who was appointed to fill the vacancy until the legislature should regularly elect, is being warmly pressed by his friends, among whom the most earnest is Gov. Hogg. Representative Mills and Representative Culberson are also strong competitors for the vacant seat.

The balloting for the State senator will begin Tuesday, the 22d inst., and a unique feature of the contest is that there will be no preliminary Democratic caucus to select the question of preference. As there are only one or two Republicans in the legislature, a caucus is regarded as wholly unnecessary, so long as
