INTO A RESTAURANT.

Burglars Make Off With Cigars and Candy.

Burglars in St. Paul are so few and far between that when one does occur it creates considerable excitement in the neighborhood where the operation is carried on, and consequently the business men around Seven corners are somewhat wrought up over a bold burglary perpetrated in their midst Wednesday night. The proprietor of the restaurant at 105 West Third street opened his place yesterday morning to find the interior of his place a scene of confusion. Several boxes of cigars were taken, and the thieves had evidently been scared away before securing this booty.

DIED ON THE STREET.

Capt. John Bresette Suddenly Stricken Down by Apoplexy.

Was in Minneapolis attending to Various Business Engagements.

The Festive Burglar Makes Off With Cigars and Candy Galore.

City News Dished Into Shape to Please All Palates.

The friends of Capt. John Bresette, of this city, were painfully shocked late yesterday afternoon when news came from Minneapolis that the ex-police officer had fallen dead on the street in that city. The captain was in his usual health yesterday morning, and was about town in the same happy humor that made him so popular. At noon he had occasion to go to Minneapolis and took a short line train at the union depot. He was walking up Hennepin avenue at 3:30 in the afternoon, when at the corner of Second street, he suddenly stopped, and a moment later, sank to the ground. Inspector Hay and Sergeant Leonard were a few feet away and hurried to his aid. He was carried into the station and Dr. Norton summoned, who pronounced life extinct. The probable cause of death was apoplexy. While at the station the body was identified by several persons. Later it was removed to the home of Mrs. M. J. Norton to await instructions from relatives. The captain was subject to apoplexy, and some years ago was the victim of a very severe attack, after which he resided at the corner of Selby avenue and Kent street, and leaves a wife and grown-up daughter in comfortable circumstances.

John B. Bresette has been a familiar figure in St. Paul for many years. He was one of the most widely known members of the police force in the city, from which he retired two years ago, although drawing the usual salary of $1,000 per year. A retired officer who has been long in the service. He came to St. Paul from Plattsville, N. Y., where he was a member of the police force for several months of various occupations, joined the police force as patrolman. He enlisted with the Eighth Minnesota, and at the close of the war he followed the life of a river man up to 1868, when he again became a member of the police force in Minneapolis. The man refused to give up any particulars in regard to the arrest.

At last night's meeting of the shoemakers' assembly it was reported that the hat of the stock for the co-operative boot and shoe factory had been subscribed. A special meeting will be held at labor hall Saturday night to discuss the co-operative factory, at which time it is expected that stockholders' meeting will be called for an early day.

THE INDIAN MOUNDS.

Commissioners Prepare to Utilize Them for a Park.

At the meeting of the park commissioners last evening Mr. Aberle had the following resolutions adopted: Whereas, The owners of certain property situated in the city of St. Paul, known as the "Indian Mounds," have not made any offer of such property to this board for park purposes; and Whereas, It is proper for this board to inquire into the value of such property and the public interest requires the acquisition of such property for park purposes.

Therefore it is resolved, That the committee on sites be and it is hereby instructed to consult the owners of said "Indian Mounds" and receive from them the name of such property; said offers shall be reported by a committee to said board at its next meeting in April, 1892; this board shall at such time, or as soon thereafter as practicable, consider such offers, and if said "Indian Mounds" property shall be acquired for said purposes any offer of said property, and in case such property shall not be offered, said board at its reasonable market value, said board shall institute proper legal proceedings for the condemnation of such part of said property as this board shall deem proper and necessary.

President Patsch announced the standing committees as follows: Sites—Aberle, Horton and Breidenhagen. Trees, Shrubs and Flowers—Horton and Breidenhagen. Fountains, Water and Settees—Horton and Breidenhagen. Horticulture—Horton, Breidenhagen and Aberle. Employees—Breidenhagen and Aberle.

President Patsch presented his annual report. He began the financial statement with the showing of the late comptroller Roche. The following is from the report: CITY PARK FUND. Jan. 1, 1891, balance to credit of account $1,247.74. To the following expenditures during January, February, March and April, 1891, viz: Sites—Aberle, Horton and Breidenhagen. Trees, Shrubs and Flowers—Horton and Breidenhagen. Fountains, Water and Settees—Horton and Breidenhagen. Horticulture—Horton, Breidenhagen and Aberle. Employees—Breidenhagen and Aberle. Total $1,247.74. This amount deducted left a balance of $197,098.29 to the credit of the account of $197,098.29, 1891.

Supt. Nussbaumer handed in his regular semi-monthly report. He recounted that a sprinkling wagon he purchased for the city, and which he stands at Lafayette park, he thinks, should be removed and a flower wagon substituted there. He suggested that the broken and worn-out ones in the parks. City Engineer Rundlett reported progress upon the improvement of the shores of Lake Como, and stated that everything was accomplished which could be done with economy before the frost is out of the ground.

A SAD BEREAVEMENT.

Death of the Only Daughter of Ald. Banholzer.

With the fleeting hours of Wednesday the soul of little Lulu Banholzer was called to the presence of his Maker. Father and mother stood at the bedside with a yearning hope in their eyes that their loved one would be spared to them, but all they could do was to make clear and bright the pathway which would lead the little sufferer to her eternal home. And before the early dawn had ushered in the new day all that remained to them was a casket of clay. Lulu was the only daughter of Ald. Banholzer, aged five years and three months, and the bereavement is sad indeed to the little darling had just begun to win her joyous footsteps to the bright and sunny slopes of life, and after reaching the pinnacle would aid and cheer the declining years of her parents. But the little one who has gone before will, in angel garb, await the coming of mama and papa to again receive the sweet caresses which their shadowy forms are dispelled by the light of everlasting life. The funeral will take place from the residence, 620 Stewart avenue, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.
