SIBLEY SUCCESSFUL

He Secures the Windsor Trophy After a Hot Game With Bean.

A large assembly, made up of delegates to celebrate the contest last night for the first trophy in the Windsor billiard tournament. This was the last game in a series of 100 for which three prizes were offered, namely, $15, $10 and $5.

While the first trophy is disposed of by last night's game, there remains three more to be won. The first of these trophies, there are Bean, Clausen and Wilder. It is probable that Bean and Clausen will play again this afternoon in the contest for second place, and another of the games will be played next week.

The standing of the players at the close of the regular series is as follows: Bean, 100; Wilder, 97; Clausen, 95; Sibley, 93; Wilder, 92; Hardsen, 91; Marcham, 89; Buckhout, 88; Donald, 87; Stauffer, 86; De Camp, 85; Cook, 84.

A game played last night between Fred Sibley, the winner of the first trophy in the tournament, and Harry Ash in a private wager between bystanders was watched with almost as much interest as the game between Bean and Sibley.

Sibley 100 points to 66 for Ash. It took forty-eight innings to decide the contest. Ash made a run of 23. The highest made by Sibley was 10.

CEVELAND, March 18.—Walter A. Williams was placed on trial this morning charged with burglary. Seated at the trial table was John A. Williams, auditor of Wells county, North Dakota, and father of the accused. The tears rolled down his cheeks in spite of his efforts to retain his composure as he said: "In war times I enlisted, leaving my wife and Walter, then a baby, at home in Addison, Mich. I served through the war and returned home to find my wife dead and my baby boy living with his grand-parents in Jackson, Mich. I have not seen my son in twenty-six years. While he was still a little child he was taken by O. M. Barber, a relative, and brought to this city. I knew nothing of his whereabouts until about eight years ago, when he found me through a relative. We kept up a correspondence for a short time, and then he failed to reply to my letters. The next thing I heard was of his arrest, and I told it was hard for me to bear." Young Williams was found guilty.

CAPRIVI WILL RESIGN.

The Primary Education Bill Forces a German Ministerial Crisis.

Kaiser Wilhelm Sorely Perplexed by the Dilemma Facing Him.

Chancellor Von Caprivi Will Stand or Fall on the Bill as Presented.

The Situation is Grave and the Outcome Doubtful in the Extreme.

BERLIN, March 18.—The report of the chancellor's resignation has excited the greatest sensation throughout the city, and crowds throng Unter den Linden, discussing the ministerial crisis. Caprivi offered his resignation at the cabinet meeting today as the result of the protracted contest on the educational bill which the chancellor, as Prussian premier, has championed from the first. At this moment there is no definite information as to the action of the cabinet on the chancellor's resignation. It is known that the Kaiser has apprehended for some time a movement of the kind on Caprivi's part, and has also been much disconcerted by the trouble which the educational bill has aroused. The Kaiser got angry with his own advice of his physicians in order to confront the approaching political storm. In the cabinet meeting yesterday the Kaiser appeared to be sustained by the retention of the occasion, and the necessity of keeping it determined front in view of the probable disruption of the ministry. The Kaiser himself has earnestly desired to see the education bill become a law, and was prepared to drive the Kaiser to effect his adoption. But the storm of opposition has been gathering in force with every day, and from nearly all of Protestant Prussia has arisen a Long and Resolute Protest.

Against the proposed bill proposed to the Roman Catholic faith. The Kaiser has been reminded of the devotion of his house to the Lutheran faith in the early days of his reign, and in the cause of the reformed religion, and of the more recent contest so hotly maintained between the Roman hierarchy and the Prussian government. These protests have been brought to bear with even greater force by the fact that the emperor's member had deserted the cause of the government. Within a few days it has become a question whether, in order to preserve the case on behalf of the landtag, the Kaiser and Caprivi would not have to alienate the whole liberal party.

The immediate cause of Caprivi's resignation is said to be that, at the cabinet meeting today the Kaiser substantially stated that the proposed bill was a violation of the educational bill. As Caprivi had substantially stated in the landtag that he would stand or fall by the bill as presented to him, he was honor to resign. Caprivi is known to have, in a high degree, the soldier's devotion to his duty, and he is not likely to be swayed by the Minister von Gossler. The Kaiser's choice now is either to force the resignation of Caprivi, or to accept Caprivi's resignation. He is known to be deeply attached to Caprivi, and it is thought that he may incline to the latter course, and call upon the Conservative and Ultramarine combination in the landtag to give their support to the bill.
