DANGEROUS PROCEEDING.

The Supreme Court Warns Against Reading Law Books.

The proverbial freedom of the judiciary from frivolity as exemplified in the saying, "As sober as a judge," leaves laymen as well as legal gentlemen in doubt, sometimes, as to whether they are permitted to take a humorous or serious view of utterances when wearing the ermine. The usual judicial expression, or interpolations are occasionally so worded in decisions handed down from the bench as to leave the reader in doubt as to whether a humorous construction may be given thereto. Such an instance occurs in the case of the supreme court of the state of Minnesota. A few days ago it solemnly announced, without a dissenting vote, in the case of Stollson vs. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, and reported in the Fifty-first Northwest Reporter, page 610, a rule which will certainly meet the approval of a portion of the bar. This rule, which embraces a caution, reads as follows: "We have not been able to discover where the ermine is to be found, but take this occasion to remark that the practice of reading from the law books is an exceedingly unbecoming one, and should not be indulged in."

Who says our clothing is like the paper on the wall? Who says our clothing is like the skin on a sausage? It's not that kind of clothing. "The Boston," Third and Robert.

EDUCATIONAL EXHIBIT.

The Auxiliary Body Wants Space at the Auxiliary.

The education committee held a meeting at the capitol yesterday and decided to ask for 10,000 square feet of the 300,000 square feet appropriated by the national committee for educational exhibits. The tract is to be in the south end of the main building. It was also decided to take the reports of the several sub-committees of the auxiliary and prepare a general report of the auxiliary to the state relative to the educational institutions and systems of education in the state relative to the proposed exhibit.

The largest Soda Fountain in the West will be opened in a few days by the Ryan Fruit and Canning Co. and Robert. With their expert draughtsmen and uniformed attendants to wait on carriages they expect to attract 50,000 guests at the latest New York beverages on opening day. You will be especially invited to call.

EFFECT OF A DREAM.

A Young Man Leaps From a Maple Leaf Train.

Otto Carlson, a passenger on board the Kansas City train from Chicago yesterday morning, awoke from a dreamy slumber as the train was going through West St. Paul and, imagining that he had reached his destination, Portland, Or., and was being carried by, jumped from the train. He received two severe scalp wounds and had his skull fractured. He is now at St. Joseph's hospital, and it will be some time before he can resume his journey. The physician says his wounds are dangerous, but not necessarily fatal.

Easter Bonnets and Hats.

Do not miss attending our opening tomorrow, as we will show the latest novelties in Millinery direct from Europe. Mrs. F. J. Schultz, corner Third and Minnesota.

Bishop Shanley's Mission.

The mission given at St. Patrick's church during the past week by Bishop Shanley will be concluded today. The bishop will preach at the 8:30 and 10:30 a. m. mass, and will give a lecture at the vesper services in the evening at 7:30, to which all are invited. All the services during the past week have been attended by large numbers from all parts of the city and vicinity. The inclement weather, the large church was packed. Those who have attended this course of practical sermons by the bishop will long remember them with pleasure, as this is probably the last mission he will conduct in this city, and it is without doubt the most successful one ever given here. All are invited to attend the services today.

Millinery.

Madame Thompson's regular spring and summer opening Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week—68 East Third street.

A Pioneer Dead.

August Koedler, a pioneer resident of St. Paul, died at his home on West Sixth street Friday, after an illness of a few days. Mr. Koedler came to this city in 1850 and has lived here continuously since that time, being engaged in the furniture business. He was a member of the first volunteer fire company organized in St. Paul, and served with the department for several years. He was sixty-one years of age, and was a member of St. Peter's Benevolent society and St. Joseph's orphan asylum. Both organizations will attend his funeral, which takes place from Assumption church at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The Curtains Will Not Be Up.

The curtains will not be up today, but Monday morning you will see the display of Spring Overcoats in our Robert street windows. Note well the prices, then come in and give the goods a critical examination. There's a great difference in ready-made clothing if you only knew it. "The Boston," Third and Robert.

Traffic Interfered.

The street railway was demoralized a greater part of the day yesterday. One of the main feed wires at the power house was burned out, and for about three hours traffic was entirely suspended. When the cars were again started they could make but a little speed, and all efforts to keep up with the time table were fruitless. Before evening, however, the wire was repaired, and travel after supper was the same as usual.

A Rare Treat.

For the ladies attending our opening on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Mrs. F. J. Schultz, corner Third and Minnesota.

Council Neatly Nips a Republican Election Judge Scheme.

What the New Law Requires in the Choice of the Judges.

The Alliance, With Third Highest Vote, Gets Its Share.

Prohibitionists Must Wait Until Their Strength Grows.

The judges of election were chosen by the city council at a special session held yesterday afternoon. The meeting was called by Mayor Smith at the request of the Republican members. The object was merely to submit the names of citizens recommended by several judges in the coming municipal election. This plan developed as the meeting of the board of aldermen progressed. The provisions of the revised Aulic system of voting made a radical change from the old regime in selecting judges. They place the choice absolutely in the hands of the dominant political parties, and give the organizations, to be more specific, that cast the major vote, the right to designate who shall serve in the judgeship capacity, the party polling the largest vote having first say, and so on to the third judge to be elected, and the council is obliged to name the men selected after this fashion. To make the point plain the law is quoted:

How Judges Are Chosen.

Sec. 5. At least thirty days before any election, the local city or village committee of the several parties participating at the last preceding election may furnish to the city council, or other appointing authority, a list of qualified electors for the various election districts to act as judges of election, which lists shall be certified to by the several judges in the coming municipal election. The names of the judges to be selected from each list shall be selected from the list submitted by the party polling the largest number of votes in said city or village at the last preceding general election; and in case there are not three lists submitted to such council, or other appointing authority, then said council, or other appointing authority, shall provide, and said council or other appointing authority shall themselves select the remaining judges or judges, but in no case shall more than two of such judges belong to the same political party.

It was apparent to the disinterested spectator of yesterday's session that it was not anticipated on the part of the Republican members of the board that the Democratic members would be present with a familiar knowledge with the provisions just given. The Democratic city committee had presented a list of names to be chosen from, and the Republican city committee had presented two names for each election district in the city. And then came a Prohibition party list and a Farmers' Alliance list. "Thereby hangs a tale."

The Scheme.

was to have a Democrat, a Republican and a Prohibitionist appointed in each district, but the Democratic members of the board disagreed with the position assumed by the Republican aldermen. They questioned the priority of the list that the Republicans were disposed to accord the Prohibition candidates for appointment as judges, and Aid. Gehan checkedmate the scheme by introducing an ordinance naming one Democrat, one Republican and one Farmers' Alliance judge of election in each district. This had no sooner been presented than Aid. Sanborn moved to postpone further action until the next regular meeting of the board, and Aid. Gehan would not listen to this proposition. He insisted upon summary action, and he carried that under the circumstances had been strictly complied with, and there was no valid excuse for the proposed delay. He considered it merely a piece of filibustering that the Democratic councilmen were not bound to respect. "You are very foxy," he said, jocosely, to Aid. Sanborn, "but see through your scheme. It is simply a plan to ring in some prohibitionists." It was then shown that the Alliance ticket polled a much larger vote than the Prohibition ticket did, and the corporation attorney gave the opinion that the council had no option in the matter. They were forced to appoint the men presented by the Alliance committee. Aid. Sanborn explained that under the circumstances was right, but he still wanted a postponement, but his motion was voted down on a party vote, and the ordinance designating the different polling places as recently published in the GLOBE was also passed and the assembly took its turn the two measures. There was not a word of dissent in this body. The ordinances were passed, and the following gentlemen will serve as judges of election:

Black Shanghai Silks, 27 inches wide, make the most serviceable dresses we know of. Price, 79 cents. If you find similar goods sold elsewhere at $1 don't be surprised. We always try to be a little below the general run of prices. Twelve yards will make a dress.

TRIMMINGS.

It's a difficult task to speak of our Easter assortment of Dress Trimmings and do it justice. The collection is larger, more varied, and, if possible, more attractive than in any former season. The styles are exclusive and represent the choicest productions of the leading fashion centers of the world.

Let us give you an idea of the greatness of our stock.

DRESS GOODS. It has become a habit with us to begin our Sunday advertisements with news of Dress Goods. Not because there are not hundreds of other things to tell of, but because the Dress Goods stock is the head and front of a big dry goods business. The attention devoted to Dress Goods (other department) is one of the main causes of the great success of this business.

Every lady in town is interested, and all buyers are pleased. They are pleased with the vast assortment, with the great variety and with the modest prices. For it is a fact that few cities—certainly none in the Northwest—can boast of such a stock as ours. And our prices will challenge any competition in America.

Three special lots at 50 Cents a yard should attract marked attention this week.

All-Wool Storm Serges, 38 inches wide, black, brown, navy, tan and gray, at 50 cents.

All-Wool Cheviots, plain and mixed colors, 36 inches wide, at 50 cents.

All-Wool Scotch Suitings, 36 inches wide, fifty different colorings and patterns, at 50 cents.

Genuine Lansdownes have the words "Wm. F. Read" perforated in the selvage at intervals of five yards. We sell them at $1. Look for this trademark when buying Lansdownes.

Cords, Repps, Diagonals, Jacquards, Brocades and all the other newest weaves in full color assortments at lowest prices.

Vigognes and Clay Suitings, mixed colorings, 50 inches wide, at $1.25.

Probably the best things in stock are the Scotch Suitings of our own importation. We imported them in single pieces only, and the styles cannot be found elsewhere in the city. Prices moderate.

The stock of All-Wool French Challis is like a lovely garden of flowers. Sprays and buds and flowers in delicate designs and beautiful colorings printed as "only Koechlin" can, on light and dark grounds.

"Javanaise." All-Wool Challis with satin stripes, are late novelties. Wonderfully fine fabrics, wonderfully printed. Price, $1.

Among the other fashionable summer fabrics the following are prominent: French Dimities. French Organdies. Printed Mulls. Printed Flannels. Fine Scotch Gingham, 29 inches wide, 25 cents. David & John Anderson's Scotch Gingham, finished by the world's greatest finishers, "Fultons," 32 inches wide, 40 cents.

SILKS.

You may have noticed what a busy place our Silk department is. Do you know of any other that's half as busy? And there are more salesmen here than behind all the other Silk Counters in town combined. Every effect has its cause, or causes. For this particular effect the causes are chiefly the best stock and best prices.

Black and White Shepherd's Plaids in full oil-boiled Taffeta Silks make neat and serviceable Summer Dresses. Price, 58 cents. Retail value, $1.

Hemstitched Surahs, all black or with colored hair lines, are very new and extremely fashionable. Price, $1.25.
