RHODY GOES WRONG.

No Election of State Officers by the People of Rhode Island.

Indications of a Republican Plurality on the Face of the Returns.

Democrats Fail to Secure the Legislature and Aldrich Is Saved.

Republicans Will Elect the State Officers--Largest Vote Ever Cast.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 7.—At 12:40 this morning the returns from all over the state were not in, owing to the tedious counting necessary under the Australian system. The returns at hand are sufficient, however, to indicate that there is no election for state officers, with a probability of a Republican plurality. The state law requires a majority vote to elect, and no one representative, and the Republicans returned up to this hour to secure the election of Senator Aldrich to the United States senate and the choice of the Republican candidates for state officers. Newport probably elects but one representative, and it will require another election to determine the choice for the other four. It requires fifty-four members of the legislature to elect on joint ballot, and the Republicans have at present fifty-one, with every probability of having elected six more. The city of Providence went Democratic by about 400 majority, but the city assembly is in doubt. Pawtucket was carried by the Democrats by about 100 majority, and Woonsocket by a little less. The Democratic assembly ticket in Woonsocket is elected by 30, but the Pawtucket assembly ticket is in doubt.

The vote polled was the largest in the history of the state. The result is a surprise to everybody, and shows that there are several thousand people in the state who the party managers can never locate.

At 1 o'clock this morning the vote for governor stood: Brown, Republican, 23,187; Wardwell, Democrat, 22,772; Gilbert, Prohibition, 1,411; Burton, Independent, 176. Total, 68,346.

The town of Lincoln elected six Republicans, assembling, thus insuring the Republican majority of fifty-seven votes on joint ballot, and giving them control. The Democrats made legislative gains in several towns. The result is a surprise to the Democrats. The ordinary stay-at-home voters came out and overcame the heavy Democratic registration.

The wheat investigation committee was in session all day yesterday, but practically made no progress so far as the completion of its report was concerned. In fact, it took a step backward by allowing Attorney W. W. Erwin, on behalf of the Grain Growers' association, to submit a summary of the evidence from the grain growers' standpoint. The summary was adopted as a part of the proceedings of the committee, after which a general discussion of Mr. Erwin's report was indulged in, but no progress made.

EDWARD BEATS ELLEN

Young Pollock Finally Granted a Divorce From His Mother's Maid.

Fifty Dollars a Month Granted the Woman to Support Her Babes.

A Rather Romantic Wedding Is Consummated at Winona.

Duluth's New Iron Exchange Is Opened With a Big Boom.

Special to the Globe.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 6.—E. E. Pollock, of New York, the son of a millionaire, received today his decree of divorce from his mother's maid, when she arrived in New York from Ireland, was plain Ellen Mahoney. That a decree should be issued is a surprise, for the evidence of young Pollock was exceptionally weak. Judge Aikens provides for the wife with $50 a month alimony to support the two children born during the marriage. Young Pollock in his complaint alleges desertion and adultery. The decree effectually puts a damper on the last charge by declaring both children to be legitimate. The grounds for the decision are based upon the charge of desertion entirely and absolutely, although it is very questionable that the testimony will bear this point out. It was in 1887 that young Pollock, then nineteen years of age, was stopping at his father's handsome residence at New York, a summer resort near New York.

His Mother's Maid.
and young Pollock professed great love to her. He formally persuaded her to go with him before a priest, who married them. He provided a home down town in New York city, and they pursued a quiet life until the night of November 10, 1890. All this time the father of the young man was ignorant of his son's marriage, but one day some one told the true situation, and after a violent scene or two between the wife and relatives on the mother's side, the young man was finally shipped out to Sioux Falls, S. D. For months the wife was in ignorance of her husband's whereabouts, but one day service of the suit for a divorce was made on Tuesday, Oct. 6, and she saved money to bring her and her children to Sioux Falls. Before this occurred she was allowed money to come out by the court on application of her attorney. She arrived just a day or two before the trial, and before the case was opened the father of young Pollock offered her.

Twelve Thousand Dollars
a cash if she would withdraw her appearance and consent to his son's application for a decree. She answered: "No, you are not to give me a cent for my children's sake I wish to clear my name. All the money in the world would not tempt me to sacrifice my good name for such a stigma."

ST. JAMES, Minn., April 6.—"I am Charles Whalen, I killed Spaulding." The man whom an officer had just captured with the aid of a thirty-eight-caliber revolver spoke these words, and Chief of Detectives J. J. O'Connor, of St. Paul, realized fully that the man appeared to be the criminal whom a late train over the Omaha last night, and this morning quietly informed Sheriff Stempfer and Police Officer George Schultz of his suspicions of the murderer of Gerald Spaulding, who was in town, or would arrive here within a very short time. The officers at once tabbed every stranger in the town and closely watched all new arrivals.

A Little Truth About Business.
There is a fixed, inexorable FASHION in business. It is to advertise. There is a fixed, irremediable public HABIT. It is to patronize the business that advertises. You can't get far away from these facts. They are truths; ethics of today's civilization. And, as in every phase of life, the biggest, brainiest, brightest, most constant advertiser gets the biggest and best of the public favor and patronage.

They Did Their Duty.
But Had to Pay Rather Dear for It.

WINONA, April 6.—An interesting case was tried before Justice Fuller, at Winona, on Tuesday. On Feb. 25, 1891, the Calkins, of that place, came to Winona with three heirs, one of which became imbued with an evil spirit and tore round the streets to the great fright of ladies, horses and children.
