

TROT OR NOT TROT?

The Latest Fad Among the Women is a Morning Ride.

Rules Which the Fair Equestrienne Would Do Well to Adopt.

No One Born With the Ability to Ride a Trotting Horse.

The Combination Required by a First-Class Rider.

To trot or not to trot? That is the question agitating the mind of the fashionable woman at present. If she wants to remain in the swim...

Mornings from 10 to 12, or just before dusk, seem to be the favorite hours for taking a canter—i mean trot—and the asphalt pavement on the hill or the long smooth country roads in the western part of town...

One morning last week I was up on the hill and chanced to see a rather stylish looking boy, and as the young lady is one of the best whips about town, and as she is familiar with the equestrian performance of mounting, she was seen perched upon his back...

DID HIM UP BROWN.

The Same Old, Old Story of December and May.

Caleb Brown, a Bald-Headed Sinner, Relieved of His Money.

By the Honeyed Words and Fair Promises of an Adventuress.

Who Refuses Him Aid When Stranded in a Strange City.

Caleb Brown, Teumseh, Neb., is in town, and unless he finds a pocketbook or some friend who will advance him the price of a ticket he is likely to become a resident. Brown is old enough to know better...

And it was real fun, too. I began to feel the exhilaration of the sport. My hot cheeks cooled a little, and I even risked the loss of all I had gained by a hasty adjustment of my hat...

However, the reward came when I dismounted, and the very tired after my hour's work, I had really found enjoyment as well as "exercise" in the ride.

A MORNING CANTER.

And it was real fun, too. I began to feel the exhilaration of the sport. My hot cheeks cooled a little, and I even risked the loss of all I had gained by a hasty adjustment of my hat...

Not a Remedy, But a Certain Cure.

To cure Biliousness, Sick-headache, Constipation, Malaise, Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints use the ELECTROPORE. Safe, sure, always ready. No medicine. You are making a mistake not to try it.

LACK OF WIND

Robbed White Bear of a Yacht Race Yesterday.

Yesterday's regatta of the White Bear Yachting association was very successful in every respect save one—the wind was tried and found wanting.

AN EASY GAIT.

It was all right, only I had never learned to ride a trotting horse. People prate about being born great; that may occur. But there is one thing sure, no one is born with the ability to ride a trotting horse.

"Yes, my trouble had existed for a long time," said Mr. E. Dempsey, the well known and popular lawyer at No. 547 Dearborn street; "it began about two years ago. For a long time I was unable to discover what was the cause of the pain in my head and the sore condition of my stomach...

From the first day I began treatment with Drs. Copeland and Hunt my condition commenced to improve. My breathing became stronger and more regular. The discharge from my nose ceased. My stomach trouble lessened so that I could eat well and sleep peacefully. I now feel perfectly well and am able to attend to my business as usual. I can walk long distances without fatigue; can sleep peacefully at night. My skin was in a terrible condition; it was of a dirty yellowish color, which was caused by poor circulation of the blood.

MR. E. DEMPSEY, 547 DEARBORN STREET.

My nose would stop up, particularly at night, when I would awaken with another sneeze, and would only be relieved by removing the hard matter which had formed there, completely obstructing the passage. The miserable slime I would spit up in the morning would make me sick, my stomach and cause me to vomit. I could not eat much, and what I did eat did not remain in my stomach. I had a disagreeable hacking cough, and to add to my misery...
