

Peace and Quiet Yet Reigns at Homestead While Awaiting the Arrival of the Militia.

VOL. XIV.

ST. PAUL, MINN., TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 12, 1892.—TWELVE PAGES.

194.

THE DIE IS CAST.

Carnegie's Mammoth Monopoly Takes a Bold Step to Shield Itself.

Leaders of the Locked-Out Workmen to Be Persecuted in Court.

A Flash-Light Camera Said to Have Been Used During the Fight.

Arrests to Be Effected on Arrival of the Militia at Homestead.

An Already Desperate Situation Sure to Be Aggravated by This Move.

Mill Workers Determined on a Fight to a Finish With Frick.

Burgess McLuckie Places His Borough Under Strict Regulations.

Troops Are Scheduled to Arrive at Homestead Early This Morning.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 11.—It is announced on what is considered to be good authority that the Carnegie Steel company has begun prosecution against the leaders of the Homestead riot for conspiracy and murder.

A flash light camera is said to have been used from the tower of the Carnegie mill during the riot, and the pictures of the men thus obtained are to be used as evidence.

MOVING ON HOMESTEAD.

All the State Troops to Land There This Morning.

BRINTON, Pa., July 11.—About a dozen cable newspapers waited the whole afternoon at Brinton for the Pennsylvania state troops to go into the great camping ground just south of the Brinton station.

Four o'clock came and 5 and 6, and there was nothing to justify the patient expectancy of the waiting journalists.

Half an hour later another special train, laden with the Eighteenth regiment, came up and stopped at the water tank, Maj. Kay, although averse to talk, said the destination of the force had been changed from Brinton to Blairsville, where the whole power of Western Pennsylvania will rendezvous before midnight.

Keystone Militia Being Rapidly Sent to the Front.

PITTSBURG, July 11.—The Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments of the National Guard from the cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny left this evening for the front.

M'CLEARY IS RELIEVED.

The Militia Takes Responsibility From Him.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 11.—Sheriff M'Cleary was in much better spirits today, and was under the impression that the Homestead matter was in a fair way to settlement.

A NICE QUESTION.

Civil Officers Do Not Want the Militia in Town.

HOMESTEAD, July 11.—The locked-out workmen of the Carnegie mills, and the citizens of Homestead who sympathize with them have taken a peculiar attitude in regard to the approach of the militia. They raise the point that Carnegie's mills are in Allegheny county, outside of the borough of Homestead, and that the borough has no jurisdiction in a peaceable condition, which does not call for the intervention of the armed forces of the state.

Chief Byrne, of the fire department, and who is also a member of the borough council, said today that the troops are not wanted in the borough, and that while there will be no resistance on the part of the residents the officers will be informed that the town is in the hands of its civil authorities and interference by state troops is neither desired or necessary.

Mr. Byrne declined to say what action would be taken if the troops entered the town. The chief of police was asked if he would meet the troops at the borough line and escort them into town. He replied: "No. We will give them a wide berth. We don't want the militia in the town. They can go to the mills if they like."

THE CAPTURED GUNS.

Pinkertons Not Likely to Handle Them Again.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 11.—The question of returning the guns and ammunition taken from the boats of the captured Pinkerton men at Homestead last Wednesday morning is a matter of history that the boats were pilaged by the crowd the moment the detectives were taken on board. One of the leaders, a member of the advisory committee, said tonight:

"Of course, the Pinkerton agency will make a demand for their guns, revolvers and ammunition, and we will do our best for them, but you will understand that we are in a peculiar position. The terms of surrender were that the guns should be all boxed up and sent back to Pinkerton's headquarters, I suppose, are distributed in every town in the county, and one long-headed fellow from McKeesport got away with seven of them. He hired a skill to carry himself and guns to Port Perry, where he disposed of them at $7.50 apiece, and when we went after him the next morning he had not one of the captured guns."

"Many of the guns also went to the mill," he said, "and I can say that though we did our best to save the guns and keep our promise we found that we had all enough to do to keep the Pinkertons from being killed. Some of the firearms are in Homestead, scattered through the town, but it is safe to say if we called for the guns this minute we could not gather up more than two or three dozen of them. A great deal of the ammunition was burned in the fire, and other men who took out the guns, seized as relics by the visitors to the town who wished to carry away some memento of the scene of battle. There were about $5,000 worth of firearms, including revolvers, on the boat, while there is no reliable information as to the value of the ammunition."

A SLOW CONFERENCE.

An Over-Night Rest on the Scale of a Strike.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 11.—Another session of the conference between the Amalgamated association and the iron manufacturers was held last night. The conference reached the consideration of the scale of wages to be paid, and after an arduous and adjournment taken until tomorrow.

Moorehead, McLean & Co., the iron firm which has the scale of wages to issue work as soon as some necessary repairs have been made.

The employees, managers, helpers and laborers of the Marshall Construction company are dissatisfied, and left the foundry last night to look at the scale of wages.

BANDS PRACTICING.

Triumphal Marches Preparatory to the Reception.

HOMESTEAD, July 11.—At a late hour tonight perfect peace and order prevailed at Homestead. The streets are almost deserted, and this busy manufacturing town has taken on the appearance of a country village. One reason for this is that most of the population retired at an early hour in order to be up by sunrise tomorrow to participate in the reception ceremonies to the militia who are expected to march into the city at that time.

The bands held a rehearsal this evening, and determined upon the program to be followed tomorrow. A triumphal march should be played on the arrival of the militia tomorrow. A committee representing Mr. McKelvie and the advisory committee of the workmen, is tonight in telegraphic communication with Gen. Snowden to ascertain the exact hour at which the militia may be expected tomorrow.

It has informed Gen. Snowden of the other Carnegie strike meeting, and stated information is desired in regard to the reception may be timed with the arrival of the troops.

ARMED AID OFFERED.

Report of Miners Ready to Go to the Front.

HOMESTEAD, July 11.—A mounted miner rode into town this afternoon from Six Mile ferry and reported that 4,000 miners from the Allegheny valley were gathering and intend to come here and aid the strikers.

The man reported that 2,000 of them are armed with Springfield rifles and that they would come here at once to fight the militia or any other body of men who attempted to down the Homestead men. He said that the miners believed that if the militia men were crushed into submission, there would be a severe blow to all organized labor men and the miners are willing to go to any extreme to assist the Homestead men.

The story was not fully credited here, for, although it is known that the miners are in sympathy with the Homestead men, it is not believed they could number 4,000 to 5,000 men without it being a very serious matter. The messenger returned to the men who he represented, and they said to be an acceptance of the offer of the miners, but the exact nature of the reply could not be ascertained.

Cash Made a Square Fight.

Special to the Globe.

BRANDIS, July 11.—Maj. Ruffee returned from Washington today well satisfied, apparently, that he is good as

DONNELLY ON DECK.

The People's Party Head Gives Out a Rattling Interview.

He Scores the Alliance Effort in His Own Unique Style.

And Gives His Ideas of the Tragedy on the Homestead Stage.

The Advance Mutterings of the Big People's Party Gathering.

"I have asked no man to support me for the nomination, but if the convention desires me to accept it I shall not refuse," said Senator Ignatius Donnelly, the great leader of the People's party, last evening. Mr. Donnelly arrived in the city early yesterday afternoon, and at once secured quarters at the Merchants' hotel, where he will remain until the end of the People's party convention. The state is looking as rosy and healthy as though he had not been rushing from place to place, and doing the most vigorous campaigning of his life for the past few weeks and he is just as enthusiastic as he was when on the floor of the Omaha convention predicting success for the ticket there nominated. He had little to do yesterday, but he did not let his fingers relax as he reached the city during the day, but this morning he will commence the preliminary work. The state central committee of the People's party, or rather the executive part of the body, will meet at 10 o'clock this morning and will elect a permanent or temporary chairman of the convention.

"I have heard of no one desirous of the honor," said Mr. Donnelly, with a smile, "and I can say that the man selected will have no easy task."

"How large do you anticipate the convention will be?" he was asked.

"I think we will have a large and harmonious convention," replied Mr. Donnelly; "not, perhaps, so large as the one held at Omaha, but I think it will be a considerable part of the state are busy having, and as they do not anticipate that there will be a conflict in the convention, a good many of them may not attend. I do not think that the state will be so much split in the convention, unless it comes from the emissaries of the railroad corporations."

THE ALLIANCE MOVE.

"What do you think of the Alliance movement?" he was asked.

"I have regretted very much the action of the gentlemen who call themselves the Alliance party," he said, "and I think that the people of this state are entitled to a very fair and just representation in the People's party. I think that the Alliance movement is a very good thing, and I think that the people of this state are entitled to a very fair and just representation in the People's party."

WANT A CHAIRMAN.

The state central committee of the People's party will meet at the Merchants' hotel at 10 o'clock this morning to consider the matters preliminary to the holding of the convention. A capable man for temporary chairman will be selected, as well as the secretary. The committee will meet at the Merchants' hotel at 10 o'clock this morning to consider the matters preliminary to the holding of the convention.

KENDALL FAR AHEAD.

The Duluth Man Lacks but Few Votes of a Nomination.

A very vigorous contest for the congressional nomination on the Republican side is being made in the Sixth district. The excitement has crowded all county favorites out of the field, and Hon. H. C. Kendall, of Duluth, and Hon. D. B. Seaman, of St. Cloud, are having the fun all to themselves. Thus far the odds are decidedly in favor of Mr. Kendall, who has carried every county vote, the home of his rival, and now claims ninety-six votes to sixteen for the St. Cloud man.

The morning Republican orator of St. Paul is, as usual, making some heavily pointed claims for Judge Seale, but is damaging him far more than it is helping him. Mr. Kendall is making a lively campaign and seems to have all the young men in the party behind him. Mr. Kendall seems to have a sure hold on the workmen of the county

ICE

THE SMALL-BOYS' DREAM.

ICE CREAM SODA.

THE POOR.

THE RICH.

THE MIDDLE CLASS.

SOME OF YESTERDAY'S WEATHER IDYLLS.

Weather—Local showers and cooler. Twenty killed in a miners' riot in Idaho. All quiet at Homestead.

Garbage committee meets. A Washba bridge sensation. Big potato crop in Minnesota. Conference committee reports. World's fair women meet. Burglary in Minneapolis. Funeral of J. L. Foregnah. Burlington road and brokers. Kansas's letter to Stevenson. Groves fusion talk. Washburn roasts option dealers. Laborists certain of a majority. A hurry for farmers.

THE GLOBE BULLETIN.

Wallace, Idaho, July 11.—A rumor is current that twenty of the non-union miners were killed in the Frisco mill when that structure was destroyed with dynamite this morning. It is impossible as yet to obtain confirmation of the report.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 11.—The strained situation in the Coeur d'Alene labor troubles culminated this morning between 5 and 6 o'clock. The events of the day previous consisted of challenges from non-union miners at the Frisco and Gem mines to the union miners at the town of Gem, and all seemed to indicate a speedy rupture. Both the Gem and Frisco mines were guarded by men behind barricades, armed with Winchester, and as the canyon is narrow where the mines are located, the men behind the barricades could sweep the two railroad tracks and the country with bullets. The Gem mine is situated within 300 feet of the center of the town of Gem. This morning at 5 o'clock a miner from Gem started for Burke. When opposite the Frisco mine he was fired upon. He ran back several hundred yards to Gem, where the shot had been heard, and soon the miners in the town gathered with arms. They marched in a body to the Frisco mill, located directly in front of the mine. When scarcely within rifle range a volley from the Frisco mill greeted the miners and led whistled all about them. They scattered, and

NINE REPORTED DEAD.

Eight Were Killed at the Frisco Mine and One at Gem.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 11.—It is impossible at this hour (7 p. m.) to learn the exact condition of affairs in the Coeur d'Alene mines. It is known, however, that nine men are dead, and that the Frisco mill has been destroyed by dynamite, and that the Gem mine has been rendered inoperative by the strikers' association, and 3,000 union miners were thrown out of work. Since then the mine owners have been making a struggle to run their mines with non-union men and guards. The tension has been great for months and the opinion has prevailed that only a spark was needed to start the flames of riot. The example at Homestead and the decision of the United States courts at Boise, making a perpetual injunction against the miners' union, brought matters to a head.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Four Companies Held in Readiness, and the Government Notified.

BOISE, Idaho, July 11.—Gov. Wiley has ordered Companies A, I, N and G, of this city, to report at 8 p. m., and hold themselves in readiness to proceed to the scene of the Coeur d'Alene mining trouble. It is not thought that the strike is likely to be sent there. United States Marshal Pinkham has laid the matter before the attorney general at Washington, the outbreak having been in defiance of the federal court injunction.

DETECTIVES ARE THERE.

But It Is Claimed Simply as Laborers and Are Not Armed.

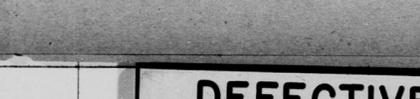

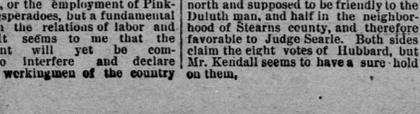

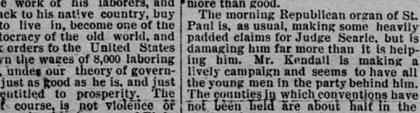

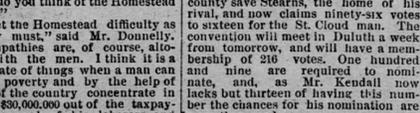

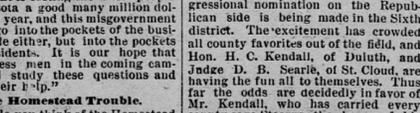

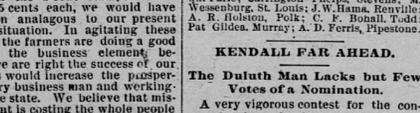

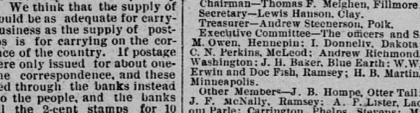

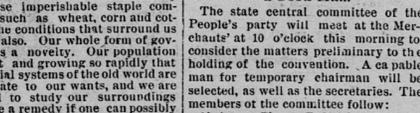

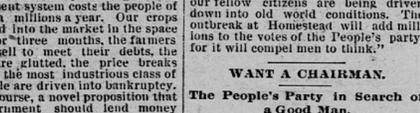

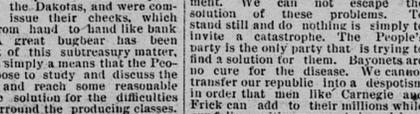

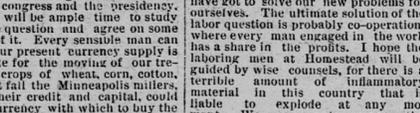

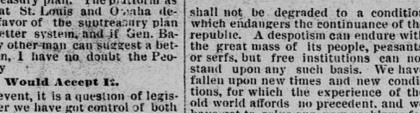

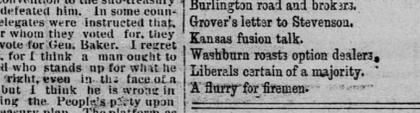

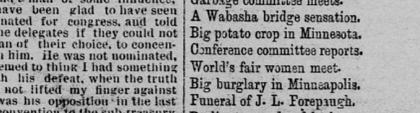

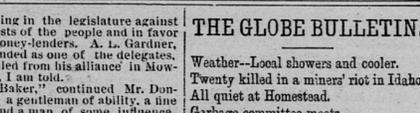

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—M. C. Sullivan, local manager of the Thiel detective agency, said: "We have had a few men in nearly every mine in the Coeur d'Alene district since the strike began, but they are there merely as laborers and have no arms. We have been expecting trouble, but the mine owners thought the union men were not prepared for a long struggle and would soon return to work. I received a dispatch from Wallace this afternoon that twenty men, of whom one of our men, was shot and killed."

DEATH TO A LEADER.

A Striker at Crookston Is Shot Down by the Police.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.

CROOKSTON, Minn., July 11.—About 150 men in the Red River Lumber company's mills went out on a strike this morning. They wanted an advance of wages, and the company refused to give until Aug. 1. The strikers gathered in the city and tried to intimidate workmen in the Cedon business blocks. The result was one of the leaders was killed by the police. The strikers threatened to sack the jail, but desisted after being counseled. They returned to the mill, but could not effect a compromise, and would not return to work at the old terms, $1.50 per day. They wanted $2, and offered to compromise at $1.75. They say they will stay out until their demands are met. The lumber company stated to a Times reporter that their saw mill would run, but their men would not work. The men at the Eskine brick yards also refused to work, but went back to work, after being out a short time, without a raise of wages.

BLOODY BATTLE BY MINERS.

The Scenes at Homestead Are Repeated in the Frisco and Gem Mines at Coeur d'Alene, But Without Pinkertons.

Unionists and Non-Unionists Meet in Battle Array, and at the Crack of Winchesters Many Fall on Both Sides.

The Deadly Fire From Those Entrenched Behind the Barricades Is Met by Whistling Bullets From Hillside and Ravine.

The Locked-Out Miners Send a Car of Giant Powder Down the Canyon and Blow the Frisco Works to Fragments.

Latest Reports Show Over a Dozen Killed, While Many More May Be Found in the Shattered Ruins of the Mill and Mine.

A Strike at Crookston, Minn., Results in Death to One of the Leaders, While Many Others Are Behind the Bars.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 11.—A rumor is current that twenty of the non-union miners were killed in the Frisco mill when that structure was destroyed with dynamite this morning. It is impossible as yet to obtain confirmation of the report.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 11.—The strained situation in the Coeur d'Alene labor troubles culminated this morning between 5 and 6 o'clock. The events of the day previous consisted of challenges from non-union miners at the Frisco and Gem mines to the union miners at the town of Gem, and all seemed to indicate a speedy rupture. Both the Gem and Frisco mines were guarded by men behind barricades, armed with Winchester, and as the canyon is narrow where the mines are located, the men behind the barricades could sweep the two railroad tracks and the country with bullets. The Gem mine is situated within 300 feet of the center of the town of Gem. This morning at 5 o'clock a miner from Gem started for Burke. When opposite the Frisco mine he was fired upon. He ran back several hundred yards to Gem, where the shot had been heard, and soon the miners in the town gathered with arms. They marched in a body to the Frisco mill, located directly in front of the mine. When scarcely within rifle range a volley from the Frisco mill greeted the miners and led whistled all about them. They scattered, and

THE GLOBE BULLETIN.

Weather—Local showers and cooler. Twenty killed in a miners' riot in Idaho. All quiet at Homestead.

Garbage committee meets. A Washba bridge sensation. Big potato crop in Minnesota. Conference committee reports. World's fair women meet. Burglary in Minneapolis. Funeral of J. L. Foregnah. Burlington road and brokers. Kansas's letter to Stevenson. Groves fusion talk. Washburn roasts option dealers. Laborists certain of a majority. A hurry for farmers.

THE GLOBE BULLETIN.

Wallace, Idaho, July 11.—A rumor is current that twenty of the non-union miners were killed in the Frisco mill when that structure was destroyed with dynamite this morning. It is impossible as yet to obtain confirmation of the report.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 11.—The strained situation in the Coeur d'Alene labor troubles culminated this morning between 5 and 6 o'clock. The events of the day previous consisted of challenges from non-union miners at the Frisco and Gem mines to the union miners at the town of Gem, and all seemed to indicate a speedy rupture. Both the Gem and Frisco mines were guarded by men behind barricades, armed with Winchester, and as the canyon is narrow where the mines are located, the men behind the barricades could sweep the two railroad tracks and the country with bullets. The Gem mine is situated within 300 feet of the center of the town of Gem. This morning at 5 o'clock a miner from Gem started for Burke. When opposite the Frisco mine he was fired upon. He ran back several hundred yards to Gem, where the shot had been heard, and soon the miners in the town gathered with arms. They marched in a body to the Frisco mill, located directly in front of the mine. When scarcely within rifle range a volley from the Frisco mill greeted the miners and led whistled all about them. They scattered, and

NINE REPORTED DEAD.

Eight Were Killed at the Frisco Mine and One at Gem.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 11.—It is impossible at this hour (7 p. m.) to learn the exact condition of affairs in the Coeur d'Alene mines. It is known, however, that nine men are dead, and that the Frisco mill has been destroyed by dynamite, and that the Gem mine has been rendered inoperative by the strikers' association, and 3,000 union miners were thrown out of work. Since then the mine owners have been making a struggle to run their mines with non-union men and guards. The tension has been great for months and the opinion has prevailed that only a spark was needed to start the flames of riot. The example at Homestead and the decision of the United States courts at Boise, making a perpetual injunction against the miners' union, brought matters to a head.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Four Companies Held in Readiness, and the Government Notified.

BOISE, Idaho, July 11.—Gov. Wiley has ordered Companies A, I, N and G, of this city, to report at 8 p. m., and hold themselves in readiness to proceed to the scene of the Coeur d'Alene mining trouble. It is not thought that the strike is likely to be sent there. United States Marshal Pinkham has laid the matter before the attorney general at Washington, the outbreak having been in defiance of the federal court injunction.

DETECTIVES ARE THERE.

But It Is Claimed Simply as Laborers and Are Not Armed.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—M. C. Sullivan, local manager of the Thiel detective agency, said: "We have had a few men in nearly every mine in the Coeur d'Alene district since the strike began, but they are there merely as laborers and have no arms. We have been expecting trouble, but the mine owners thought the union men were not prepared for a long struggle and would soon return to work. I received a dispatch from Wallace this afternoon that twenty men, of whom one of our men, was shot and killed."

DEATH TO A LEADER.

A Striker at Crookston Is Shot Down by the Police.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.

DETECTIVES ARE THERE.

But It Is Claimed Simply as Laborers and Are Not Armed.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—M. C. Sullivan, local manager of the Thiel detective agency, said: "We have had a few men in nearly every mine in the Coeur d'Alene district since the strike began, but they are there merely as laborers and have no arms. We have been expecting trouble, but the mine owners thought the union men were not prepared for a long struggle and would soon return to work. I received a dispatch from Wallace this afternoon that twenty men, of whom one of our men, was shot and killed."

DEATH TO A LEADER.

A Striker at Crookston Is Shot Down by the Police.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.

CROOKSTON, Minn., July 11.—About 150 men in the Red River Lumber company's mills went out on a strike this morning. They wanted an advance of wages, and the company refused to give until Aug. 1. The strikers gathered in the city and tried to intimidate workmen in the Cedon business blocks. The result was one of the leaders was killed by the police. The strikers threatened to sack the jail, but desisted after being counseled. They returned to the mill, but could not effect a compromise, and would not return to work at the old terms, $1.50 per day. They wanted $2, and offered to compromise at $1.75. They say they will stay out until their demands are met. The lumber company stated to a Times reporter that their saw mill would run, but their men would not work. The men at the Eskine brick yards also refused to work, but went back to work, after being out a short time, without a raise of wages.

DETECTIVES ARE THERE.

But It Is Claimed Simply as Laborers and Are Not Armed.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—M. C. Sullivan, local manager of the Thiel detective agency, said: "We have had a few men in nearly every mine in the Coeur d'Alene district since the strike began, but they are there merely as laborers and have no arms. We have been expecting trouble, but the mine owners thought the union men were not prepared for a long struggle and would soon return to work. I received a dispatch from Wallace this afternoon that twenty men, of whom one of our men, was shot and killed."

DEATH TO A LEADER.

A Striker at Crookston Is Shot Down by the Police.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.

CROOKSTON, Minn., July 11.—About 150 men in the Red River Lumber company's mills went out on a strike this morning. They wanted an advance of wages, and the company refused to give until Aug. 1. The strikers gathered in the city and tried to intimidate workmen in the Cedon business blocks. The result was one of the leaders was killed by the police. The strikers threatened to sack the jail, but desisted after being counseled. They returned to the mill, but could not effect a compromise, and would not return to work at the old terms, $1.50 per day. They wanted $2, and offered to compromise at $1.75. They say they will stay out until their demands are met. The lumber company stated to a Times reporter that their saw mill would run, but their men would not work. The men at the Eskine brick yards also refused to work, but went back to work, after being out a short time, without a raise of wages.

DETECTIVES ARE THERE.

But It Is Claimed Simply as Laborers and Are Not Armed.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—M. C. Sullivan, local manager of the Thiel detective agency, said: "We have had a few men in nearly every mine in the Coeur d'Alene district since the strike began, but they are there merely as laborers and have no arms. We have been expecting trouble, but the mine owners thought the union men were not prepared for a long struggle and would soon return to work. I received a dispatch from Wallace this afternoon that twenty men, of whom one of our men, was shot and killed."

DEATH TO A LEADER.

A Striker at Crookston Is Shot Down by the Police.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.

CROOKSTON, Minn., July 11.—About 150 men in the Red River Lumber company's mills went out on a strike this morning. They wanted an advance of wages, and the company refused to give until Aug. 1. The strikers gathered in the city and tried to intimidate workmen in the Cedon business blocks. The result was one of the leaders was killed by the police. The strikers threatened to sack the jail, but desisted after being counseled. They returned to the mill, but could not effect a compromise, and would not return to work at the old terms, $1.50 per day. They wanted $2, and offered to compromise at $1.75. They say they will stay out until their demands are met. The lumber company stated to a Times reporter that their saw mill would run, but their men would not work. The men at the Eskine brick yards also refused to work, but went back to work, after being out a short time, without a raise of wages.

DETECTIVES ARE THERE.