Borrowers will find it to their advantage to deal with a home institution that loans its own funds at moderate rates, charges no commission, arranges with borrowers to pay off to suit their convenience, and has never made a mortgage. Before you make loans, or renew old ones, see The State Savings Bank, Germania Life Building, Fourth and Minnesota streets.

FOR THE STATE FAIR.

Gen. Weaver Has Been Invited to Address the Visiting Grangers.

Trotting Racing and Running Races Will Be Made Strong Features.

From an Agricultural Standpoint the Fair Will Rank High.

The thousands of people who have attended the summer meeting of the Twin City Jockey club have had an opportunity to obtain a general idea of the vast improvements inaugurated in the state fair grounds since last year.

The improvements in the structure of its kind in the country, and will accommodate many thousands of people, and, in addition to being of a remarkably pleasing design, was constructed with the idea of making it possible for its occupants to command an unobstructed view of the entire track.

The interior arrangements, as shown at the race meeting, are the very finest, and the different track events, for which liberal purses have been provided by the association, should be thoroughly enjoyed by visitors to the fair.

The track for trotting and running races has been much improved and is now in excellent condition. As for the grounds, they have undergone a complete transformation. Shade trees have been planted and protected, and an abundant supply of clear, cold water will enable the fair and visiting multitude to slake their thirst during the gathering which will be held Sept. 5 to 10.

The fair buildings are being put in readiness for the reception of the Great Variety of Exhibits.

and have all been completely refurnished. The main building, from present indications, will contain a more diversified and interesting display than ever. The dairy building is a model of its kind, and the officers of the association have been very successful in their appreciation of the fact that Minnesota is the leading dairy state in the Union, and that a fitting place should be provided for a great and representative exhibit in this industry.

Space has been set aside for cold storage, and large refrigerators with glass fronts will contain butter and cheese, which may readily be examined by visitors. In addition to this, ample space has been provided for the exhibition and working of dairy apparatus. One of the attractive features in this building will be a modern cheese factory in full operation, which will prove most instructive and conducive to much improvement in the methods of producing the various other dairies are spacious and fitted throughout with such conveniences as will enable the exhibitor to display their wares to the best advantage. The space allotted for the exhibits of agriculture and horticulture will, in all probability, be filled to overflowing. The barns for live stock are spacious and are constructed on the most approved plans. The horse stables are very roomy, and are fitted with both box and open stalls, while the sheep and hog pens are built with a view to combining comfort and cleanliness.

The grounds themselves possess unusual natural beauty, and are especially adapted to such purposes as the holding of a state fair.

Well made roads wind about the grounds, leading to the different buildings, and velvety terraces are fringed with thousands of young trees and dotted here and there with flowers and flower beds of many shapes and containing a multitude of hues. The transportation facilities are unsurpassed. Trains were active during the season in building the well known steel, coal and iron freighters. Four wheelbacks have been turned out this season and six more are in course of construction. These boats are built entirely of steel and are of immense capacity. They are suitable for either lake or ocean traffic, and are built for the American Steamship company. The yards are active with workmen and, as medicines are promptly shipped, those living out of the city have the same advantage as those who come here.

A Big Real Estate Sale at Beaver Lake.

An important sale of real estate is that of eighty acres on Beaver Lake by William C. Bennett to Simon D. Paddock. Mr. Paddock is a capitalist residing in New York. He has had large real estate holdings in the city for several years. A short time ago he made a trip West with the purpose of making some considerable investments at Spokane, Wash., but that came back here in a very disappointing manner. He is now doing so, thinking this not a favorable time to invest money at Spokane. While he here Mr. Bennett showed him the improvements that are going on at Beaver Lake—the new harbor works and Mr. Paddock expressed himself as much pleased with the prospects of that district. The result of the negotiations is the sale to Mr. Paddock of the eighty-acre tract mentioned for the price of $64,000. This sale is the direct outcome of the location of the Wood Harvester works in that district, which has the confidence of a conservative Eastern capitalist in that district. Paddock's intention to plow the land at once.

The Bicycle Clubs.

which will prove of special interest is the electrical exhibit, which will be made by a local firm, consisting of the numberless electrical contrivances which have been patented. It will be readily seen that a display of this character could hardly fail to be exceedingly attractive, as well as of great scientific value.

The forestry and grain exhibits have come to be expected at the fair, but this year they will be larger and more varied, and the live stock shown will attract the usual large numbers.

Horses and cattle, particularly high grade stock, possess a singular fascination for not only men, but for members of the fair sex.

and children as well, while the enormous hog and the gentle sheep have their share of admiration. The exhibit of farm machinery has probably never been so complete as it is now, and the fact that those articles which the feminine heart is supposed to delight will be brought well to the front.

The officers have issued invitations to a number of noted men to be present during the progress of the fair and address the people, and it is probable that the governors of adjoining states will accept the invitation. Secretary Cross has also issued an invitation to the fair, but as yet has received no reply.

Gregg will conduct the farmers' institute in the institute building, and students will be addressed by several authorities on the subject of agriculture.

Taken all in all, the fair promises to be a howling success.

WORK IN WHALEBACKS

Capt. McDougal's Great Industry in Operation at the Head of Lake Superior.

Big Territory Covered and Business Done by Inspectors of Vessels for the Duluth District.

Capt. John Monaghan and M. F. Clark, of Duluth, were in the city yesterday to confer with the supervising inspector of steam vessels. These gentlemen are the local inspectors of vessels for the Duluth district. Their territory covers an area of about a thousand miles square, and is one of the most important districts in the United States.

The tonnage of vessels inspected by them is probably greater than that of any other district. The Duluth district not only takes the important harbor of Duluth and Superior, but includes the thousands of lakes in the state of Minnesota and the states to the north and west, the Mississippi river, from Wabasha to the head of navigation, the Red River of the North and the Missouri river from Poonoia to the head waters thereof. The vessels inspected by them thus far during the season number 137, and will run up to about 100 before the season ends. The steam vessels in this district have been largely increased the past six years.

The duties of these inspectors consist of them to do a great amount of traveling during the year. Aside from the work of inspecting vessels in the vicinity of Duluth and Superior, they are obliged to travel to other parts of the territory, but are not authorized by the treasury department to employ one. They find it hard to convince the inspector general of this need, but it is hoped that Gen. Daunt will realize the importance of the district and grant their reasonable request.

A no inconsiderable part of the duties of the inspectors is that required of them at their station at the extreme western end of Lake Superior. There are a multitude of vessels entering Duluth harbor that are inspected by them. In the district that the extensive shipyard at West Superior is located. This yard is well known as the "McDougal whiteback steamship yard." These yards are active with workmen this season in building the well known steel, coal and iron freighters. Four wheelbacks have been turned out this season and six more are in course of construction. These boats are built entirely of steel and are of immense capacity. They are suitable for either lake or ocean traffic, and are built for the American Steamship company. A NEW WITNESS.

Mr. K. P. Nelson, a Well-Known Carpenter, Relates How He Was Cured by Drs. Copeland and Hunt of a Catarrhal Trouble of the Lungs.

"I have been a resident of St. Paul for the last twelve years," said Mr. K. P. Nelson, of 963 Juno street. "During all that time I have been a sufferer from catarrh. It began as I understand does in most cases, in neglected colds and exposures. I tried various remedies, but got no relief, nothing seemed to check my progress, and it grew slowly but steadily worse until I was in a miserable state of body and mind. My nose would stop up, causing severe pain in my head; they were greater over the bridge of my nose and over the eyes. I was constantly sneezing and spitting, my eyes were weak at times, and my breath had a bad, foul odor, that made me reluctant to meet any one. The dizzy attacks I had were painful as well as annoying. I would not know what moment I would fall to the ground in a fit of weakness. I began to improve at once, now am perfectly well and rid of that miserable malady that for twelve years has been a source of great annoyance to me and to those around me. You ask, am I grateful to Drs. Copeland and Hunt for the service they did me? I can't but extend to them in my most grateful and enthusiastic manner. They have saved me from suffering as I did."

REPRESENTATIVE MEN.

Mr. S. Small, corner Fourth and Robert streets, says: "Without solicitation from any one I desire to say that the treatment I have received from you has given me more real benefit than four other physicians in a year and a half. My trouble was catarrh of the nose and throat."

Mr. E. Dempsey, 547 Deane street, says: "Drs. Copeland and Hunt treated me very intelligently in my case of catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach of long standing."

Mr. Otto Johnson, 523 Laurel avenue, says: "I had the grippe two years ago, which left me with a bad case of catarrh. Drs. Copeland and Hunt cured me of my trouble, and now my nose is always open and free as a new channel. I cannot recommend them too highly."

Mr. Sidney Lee Porter, 1901 Milwaukee avenue, says: "I suffered severely from an obstruction in my throat from childhood. Drs. Copeland and Hunt removed the growth which was the cause of my trouble, and now my nose is always open and free as a new channel. I cannot recommend them too highly."

Mr. Arthur Boyles, townman at St. Paul & Kansas City railroad, says: "I had a chronic catarrh of twelve years standing. My nose was always stopped up on one side, often on both. Drs. Copeland and Hunt cured me entirely."

Mr. W. H. Gibbs, St. Anthony Park, says: "I had a most distressing case of chronic catarrh of the nose and throat. Drs. Copeland and Hunt cured me. I have not felt well as I do now for years."

Charles H. King, superintendent elevators, Pioneer Press building, says: "My treatment with Drs. Copeland and Hunt was entirely satisfactory to me. I was cured of a most distressing case of chronic catarrh of the nose and throat. I cannot recommend them too highly."

Mr. John C. Fisher, president of the Merchant Bakers' Association of St. Paul, who stands at the head of the city, says: "Drs. Copeland and Hunt cured me of a severe bronchial trouble. I cannot recommend them too highly."
