

MINNEAPOLIS.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBULES.

The bank clearings yesterday were $1,783,366.27. Sixteen real estate transfers, aggregating $47,175, were recorded yesterday.

An autopsy reveals that Thomas Ryan, who was found dead in a cell at the lockup Wednesday morning, died of heart disease, resulting from alcoholism.

Sol Smith Russell in "A Poor Relation" spent the Grand last night before the biggest house of the season. The play pleased well as of yore.

Nellie McLure, surnamed "Jolly," will present her stirring farce, "A Night at the Bixton," for the first time in this city at the Bixton next Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Geoffrey, of 129 Irving avenue north, reported to the police yesterday that her thirteen-year-old boy, Harry S., was missing. She is afraid he has run away from home.

The kick of the late sleepers in the vicinity of Cedarhurst church, at its meeting, voted to discontinue the ringing of the bells in the early morning.

Hundreds were turned away at the Bijou last evening. "The Still Alarm" and "Little Tuesday" are provided for Tuesday.

John Ryan, a vagrant and drunkard, who was sent to the workhouse two weeks ago to appear tonight and for the Saturday matinee.

The new passenger station of the St. Louis road on Fourth avenue north and Washington, is rapidly nearing completion.

The retail clerks are making a combined effort for the adoption of the early closing hour. Toward that end they will shortly be put in circulation among the ladies of the city.

Under the direction of Deputy Coroner H. A. Cory, a coroner's jury yesterday investigated the cause of death of Sven F. Sundgren, who died at the University of Minnesota.

A party of twenty Japanese, direct from their native land, passed through the city yesterday en route for Chicago.

The board of corrections and charities was scheduled to meet yesterday afternoon. Mayor Winston, however, did not appear.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Bert A. Lather and Josephine M. Johnson; Charles A. Pechin and Lillian A. Northfield; James G. Hendrick and Annie S. Stoen.

E. A. Busch, formerly bookkeeper of the Irish-American bank, went to St. Louis last week. Last Tuesday he was arrested.

Angus McDonald wanted $23,000 from the Akery Laundry company because a pulley burst and hurt him.

The case of David Coombs for $10,640 from the Northern Pacific Railroad company for being hurt while coupling cars is on trial in the district court.

George W. Bunce, a traveling man, sued the firm of R. Newell & Co. for salary. The judge ruled that C. L. Pratt should pay Bunce.

The divorce case of Frederick Metzler from Louis Metzler, the details of which were given in Wednesday's Globe, is on trial before Judge Hurd.

A judgment against the Educational Endowment Association of Minneapolis for $75,000 on a policy that the association tried, but failed, to show had lapsed.

L. L. Watson sued the Minneapolis Street Railway company for $5,000 damages because a car ran into a load of lumber on which he was sitting.

The Electric Combine. The combine of electrical companies seems to be a reality in Minneapolis.

CURRENCY SHIPMENTS. They Are Less From New York Than in 1891.

LIVED Nearly Six Score Years. TONTO, Oct. 6.—John Merryweather, colored, a native of Richmond, Va., died in this city yesterday, aged 119 years, 3 months and 4 days.

NERVOUS DEBILITY cured by the use of Sarsaparilla. Tones the system, makes the weak strong. Cures Others will cure you.

WARM WORDS TODAY.

They Are Expected in the Methodist Annual Church Conference.

Congregationalist Church Federation Plan Will Be Up for Action.

"Uncle Loren" Has Taken Another Turn at the Explanation Business.

J. Milton Turner Will Speak Tonight—Other Matters of Import.

The first thing Bishop Goodsell did yesterday morning after the Methodist conference got down to business was to announce the appointment of the committee to investigate the conference relations of Rev. Robert Forbes, of St. Paul.

The retail clerks are making a combined effort for the adoption of the early closing hour. Toward that end they will shortly be put in circulation among the ladies of the city.

Under the direction of Deputy Coroner H. A. Cory, a coroner's jury yesterday investigated the cause of death of Sven F. Sundgren, who died at the University of Minnesota.

A party of twenty Japanese, direct from their native land, passed through the city yesterday en route for Chicago.

The board of corrections and charities was scheduled to meet yesterday afternoon. Mayor Winston, however, did not appear.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Bert A. Lather and Josephine M. Johnson; Charles A. Pechin and Lillian A. Northfield; James G. Hendrick and Annie S. Stoen.

E. A. Busch, formerly bookkeeper of the Irish-American bank, went to St. Louis last week. Last Tuesday he was arrested.

Angus McDonald wanted $23,000 from the Akery Laundry company because a pulley burst and hurt him.

The case of David Coombs for $10,640 from the Northern Pacific Railroad company for being hurt while coupling cars is on trial in the district court.

George W. Bunce, a traveling man, sued the firm of R. Newell & Co. for salary. The judge ruled that C. L. Pratt should pay Bunce.

The divorce case of Frederick Metzler from Louis Metzler, the details of which were given in Wednesday's Globe, is on trial before Judge Hurd.

A judgment against the Educational Endowment Association of Minneapolis for $75,000 on a policy that the association tried, but failed, to show had lapsed.

L. L. Watson sued the Minneapolis Street Railway company for $5,000 damages because a car ran into a load of lumber on which he was sitting.

The Electric Combine. The combine of electrical companies seems to be a reality in Minneapolis.

CURRENCY SHIPMENTS. They Are Less From New York Than in 1891.

LIVED Nearly Six Score Years. TONTO, Oct. 6.—John Merryweather, colored, a native of Richmond, Va., died in this city yesterday, aged 119 years, 3 months and 4 days.

NERVOUS DEBILITY cured by the use of Sarsaparilla. Tones the system, makes the weak strong. Cures Others will cure you.

THE SENATOR RAVED.

Because of a Big Bull Made by the Tribune.

Special to the Globe. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 6.—Senator Pettigrew and Congressman Pickler spoke this evening to a crowd of 400. The biggest joke of the season was the premature publication in the Minneapolis Tribune of Senator Pettigrew's speech a whole day before it was delivered, and the audience was compelled to listen to two columns of speech which every one had read in the paper.

The matter of making a straight party nomination will be the subject of the eighth ward delegates Saturday night. Chairman Lathrop, of the eighth ward anti-Grimes committee, is out with a long statement presenting, in a compilation of all that has been said on the subject, the reasons why he does not have a majority of all the votes cast in the primaries against Jones, but a majority of the delegates elected were against him, in spite of the packing of causes by street railway employes.

Grimes has sought and obtained, against the wishes of the people, nomination for an office holding only $200 a year. Such a person is not a candidate to the office for something more than his salary. Either this, or he is elected solely by public spirit, by a lofty and pure conviction that he should have the right of the good of the community. This is not likely.

Last night the Journal, a sheet that boasts of its accuracy in all matters and its fairness in dealing with all things, said the Democratic county committee was having trouble with candidate J. M. Turner for the eighth ward in the Thirty-second district. Gunderson, the Journal said, would not pay for his regular assessment. Not a word of it is true. Mr. Gunderson is a loyal Democrat and a man of good sense. He is not paying his regular assessment, and there is no feud between him and the county committee.

Martin Ring chairman of the subcommittee on halls, and A. Christol, chairman of the subcommittee on clubs and uniforms, will be at Democratic headquarters every day from now until after the campaign.

THE "CHAMBER" ELECTION. Shepard Was Laid Out and a Composite Ticket Won. Politics was plentiful around the chamber of commerce yesterday—annual election day. Three tickets were in the field. The ticket put nomination by the caucus held Tuesday night was the only one covering all the offices. The independents nominated George W. Shepard for secretary in place of C. C. Sturtevant, the caucus member. Still another faction of bolters put up what was called the "chamber of commerce ticket," substituting W. O. Dodge for C. J. Martin on the board of directors; Kinsey Maxfield, P. B. Mann and John D. McMillan for P. O. Peterson, L. M. Buchanan and C. F. Crockett on the board of arbitration; J. M. Jenks for G. H. Dazgett on the board of appeals. A composite of "caucus" and "chamber of commerce" won. Sturtevant and Shepard for secretary by 101 votes. W. O. Dodge, "chamber of commerce," was elected a director. J. M. Jenks, "chamber of commerce," was elected on the board of appeals. All of the board of arbitration were in the "chamber of commerce" ticket. The following is a list of the officers elected:

President, C. A. Pillsbury, vice president, L. W. Mumford, secretary, E. E. Boehler, L. R. Brooks, W. V. Dodge, H. W. Pratt, T. M. Leonard, secretary, C. E. Sturtevant, treasurer, H. J. Hendrick, H. W. Peterson, J. C. Maxfield, P. B. Mann, J. M. Jenks, J. S. Teeley, William (two years), S. M. Jenks, P. S. Teeley, William (two years).

The business session today will probably be the most interesting of the conference. The matter of church federation, the subject of the first meeting, is the subject of the second meeting. The congregational association of Minnesota two weeks ago, will come up for discussion. Revs. J. H. Clendenen and H. Morley, of the Congregational association, will address the conference. Their addresses will make the matter of church federation a subject of the first meeting. The church is composed of all the evangelical churches, and that those churches, the denominations, that are in the spirit. Therefore, they should work together. The conference will be asked to adopt resolutions declaring in favor of church federation, and authorizing the formation of committees to work for that end with the state meetings of the other denominational bodies. The details of this question promises to be warm. A good deal of opposition to the federation idea is to be found among the Methodists.

Rev. J. C. Kyle is working on this conference in the interest of another church federation. He is working along the line of temperance work. He proposes that all the temperance workers in all the various denominations unite for the furtherance of that work. They would consider all phases of the temperance movement, from the enforcement of the laws, to the liquor selling and the selling of liquor to minors, up to absolute prohibition.

LOREN EXPLAINS AGAIN. He Tells the Veterans Why He Didn't Go to the War. Loren Fletcher, "Uncle Loren," who wants to go to your address waiting for the letter yesterday, again took the platform last night to make an explanation. This time he wanted to explain why he did not go to the war. He was speaking before a meeting of the Union Veterans' association, and of course, had to say something about war.

Loren says that when the war began he had just started in business. He had a wagon, but he could not get it out of the city, and he had bought in Boston all the goods he could get on credit. He wanted to go to the war, but he could not get the money he had borrowed and the goods he had bought on credit in Boston. He had to stay at home and kept store, saved his money, his friends' money, his stock, and made plenty of money besides, incidentally he had a large amount of money. The widows and orphans were cared for. Loren's explanation didn't take any toll with the old veterans, but he had marched and fought for four long years could not understand how any man could place a few paltry dollars above the protection of his country and defense of his country's flag.

TURNER TONIGHT. He Speaks at Armory Hall—Aldermen of the Eighth. Tonight the Democrats will hold the first big meeting of the campaign at Armory Hall. The speaker of the evening will be J. Milton Turner, "The Black Demortheses," of St. Louis. Mr. Turner will arrive in Minneapolis this morning and while here will be quartered at the West. In the evening the colored Democrats of Minneapolis will turn out and escort Mr. Turner to Armory Hall. L. R. Blinn will preside over the meeting. First-class music will be on draught. The Cleveland quartette, organized by W. H. Eilers, the well-known musician, will make its first appearance tonight, and will be heard hereafter only at Democratic meetings. No more than all of the Democrats who moves to hear the tariff discussed logically and from a standpoint of an economist, and at the same time eloquently, can afford to miss this meeting tonight. J. Milton is one of the few orators of the United States. He ranks alongside the best platform speakers that ever faced an audience.

The Democratic city committee met last night, and among other matters, discussed the eighth ward aldermanic question. Several of the eighth ward

THE SENATOR RAVED.

Because of a Big Bull Made by the Tribune.

Special to the Globe. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 6.—Senator Pettigrew and Congressman Pickler spoke this evening to a crowd of 400. The biggest joke of the season was the premature publication in the Minneapolis Tribune of Senator Pettigrew's speech a whole day before it was delivered, and the audience was compelled to listen to two columns of speech which every one had read in the paper.

The matter of making a straight party nomination will be the subject of the eighth ward delegates Saturday night. Chairman Lathrop, of the eighth ward anti-Grimes committee, is out with a long statement presenting, in a compilation of all that has been said on the subject, the reasons why he does not have a majority of all the votes cast in the primaries against Jones, but a majority of the delegates elected were against him, in spite of the packing of causes by street railway employes.

Grimes has sought and obtained, against the wishes of the people, nomination for an office holding only $200 a year. Such a person is not a candidate to the office for something more than his salary. Either this, or he is elected solely by public spirit, by a lofty and pure conviction that he should have the right of the good of the community. This is not likely.

Last night the Journal, a sheet that boasts of its accuracy in all matters and its fairness in dealing with all things, said the Democratic county committee was having trouble with candidate J. M. Turner for the eighth ward in the Thirty-second district. Gunderson, the Journal said, would not pay for his regular assessment. Not a word of it is true. Mr. Gunderson is a loyal Democrat and a man of good sense. He is not paying his regular assessment, and there is no feud between him and the county committee.

Martin Ring chairman of the subcommittee on halls, and A. Christol, chairman of the subcommittee on clubs and uniforms, will be at Democratic headquarters every day from now until after the campaign.

THE "CHAMBER" ELECTION. Shepard Was Laid Out and a Composite Ticket Won. Politics was plentiful around the chamber of commerce yesterday—annual election day. Three tickets were in the field. The ticket put nomination by the caucus held Tuesday night was the only one covering all the offices. The independents nominated George W. Shepard for secretary in place of C. C. Sturtevant, the caucus member. Still another faction of bolters put up what was called the "chamber of commerce ticket," substituting W. O. Dodge for C. J. Martin on the board of directors; Kinsey Maxfield, P. B. Mann and John D. McMillan for P. O. Peterson, L. M. Buchanan and C. F. Crockett on the board of arbitration; J. M. Jenks for G. H. Dazgett on the board of appeals. A composite of "caucus" and "chamber of commerce" won. Sturtevant and Shepard for secretary by 101 votes. W. O. Dodge, "chamber of commerce," was elected a director. J. M. Jenks, "chamber of commerce," was elected on the board of appeals. All of the board of arbitration were in the "chamber of commerce" ticket. The following is a list of the officers elected:

President, C. A. Pillsbury, vice president, L. W. Mumford, secretary, E. E. Boehler, L. R. Brooks, W. V. Dodge, H. W. Pratt, T. M. Leonard, secretary, C. E. Sturtevant, treasurer, H. J. Hendrick, H. W. Peterson, J. C. Maxfield, P. B. Mann, J. M. Jenks, J. S. Teeley, William (two years), S. M. Jenks, P. S. Teeley, William (two years).

The business session today will probably be the most interesting of the conference. The matter of church federation, the subject of the first meeting, is the subject of the second meeting. The congregational association of Minnesota two weeks ago, will come up for discussion. Revs. J. H. Clendenen and H. Morley, of the Congregational association, will address the conference. Their addresses will make the matter of church federation a subject of the first meeting. The church is composed of all the evangelical churches, and that those churches, the denominations, that are in the spirit. Therefore, they should work together. The conference will be asked to adopt resolutions declaring in favor of church federation, and authorizing the formation of committees to work for that end with the state meetings of the other denominational bodies. The details of this question promises to be warm. A good deal of opposition to the federation idea is to be found among the Methodists.

Rev. J. C. Kyle is working on this conference in the interest of another church federation. He is working along the line of temperance work. He proposes that all the temperance workers in all the various denominations unite for the furtherance of that work. They would consider all phases of the temperance movement, from the enforcement of the laws, to the liquor selling and the selling of liquor to minors, up to absolute prohibition.

LOREN EXPLAINS AGAIN. He Tells the Veterans Why He Didn't Go to the War. Loren Fletcher, "Uncle Loren," who wants to go to your address waiting for the letter yesterday, again took the platform last night to make an explanation. This time he wanted to explain why he did not go to the war. He was speaking before a meeting of the Union Veterans' association, and of course, had to say something about war.

Loren says that when the war began he had just started in business. He had a wagon, but he could not get it out of the city, and he had bought in Boston all the goods he could get on credit. He wanted to go to the war, but he could not get the money he had borrowed and the goods he had bought on credit in Boston. He had to stay at home and kept store, saved his money, his friends' money, his stock, and made plenty of money besides, incidentally he had a large amount of money. The widows and orphans were cared for. Loren's explanation didn't take any toll with the old veterans, but he had marched and fought for four long years could not understand how any man could place a few paltry dollars above the protection of his country and defense of his country's flag.

TURNER TONIGHT. He Speaks at Armory Hall—Aldermen of the Eighth. Tonight the Democrats will hold the first big meeting of the campaign at Armory Hall. The speaker of the evening will be J. Milton Turner, "The Black Demortheses," of St. Louis. Mr. Turner will arrive in Minneapolis this morning and while here will be quartered at the West. In the evening the colored Democrats of Minneapolis will turn out and escort Mr. Turner to Armory Hall. L. R. Blinn will preside over the meeting. First-class music will be on draught. The Cleveland quartette, organized by W. H. Eilers, the well-known musician, will make its first appearance tonight, and will be heard hereafter only at Democratic meetings. No more than all of the Democrats who moves to hear the tariff discussed logically and from a standpoint of an economist, and at the same time eloquently, can afford to miss this meeting tonight. J. Milton is one of the few orators of the United States. He ranks alongside the best platform speakers that ever faced an audience.

The Democratic city committee met last night, and among other matters, discussed the eighth ward aldermanic question. Several of the eighth ward

THE SENATOR RAVED.

Because of a Big Bull Made by the Tribune.

Special to the Globe. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 6.—Senator Pettigrew and Congressman Pickler spoke this evening to a crowd of 400. The biggest joke of the season was the premature publication in the Minneapolis Tribune of Senator Pettigrew's speech a whole day before it was delivered, and the audience was compelled to listen to two columns of speech which every one had read in the paper.

The matter of making a straight party nomination will be the subject of the eighth ward delegates Saturday night. Chairman Lathrop, of the eighth ward anti-Grimes committee, is out with a long statement presenting, in a compilation of all that has been said on the subject, the reasons why he does not have a majority of all the votes cast in the primaries against Jones, but a majority of the delegates elected were against him, in spite of the packing of causes by street railway employes.

Grimes has sought and obtained, against the wishes of the people, nomination for an office holding only $200 a year. Such a person is not a candidate to the office for something more than his salary. Either this, or he is elected solely by public spirit, by a lofty and pure conviction that he should have the right of the good of the community. This is not likely.

Last night the Journal, a sheet that boasts of its accuracy in all matters and its fairness in dealing with all things, said the Democratic county committee was having trouble with candidate J. M. Turner for the eighth ward in the Thirty-second district. Gunderson, the Journal said, would not pay for his regular assessment. Not a word of it is true. Mr. Gunderson is a loyal Democrat and a man of good sense. He is not paying his regular assessment, and there is no feud between him and the county committee.

Martin Ring chairman of the subcommittee on halls, and A. Christol, chairman of the subcommittee on clubs and uniforms, will be at Democratic headquarters every day from now until after the campaign.

THE "CHAMBER" ELECTION. Shepard Was Laid Out and a Composite Ticket Won. Politics was plentiful around the chamber of commerce yesterday—annual election day. Three tickets were in the field. The ticket put nomination by the caucus held Tuesday night was the only one covering all the offices. The independents nominated George W. Shepard for secretary in place of C. C. Sturtevant, the caucus member. Still another faction of bolters put up what was called the "chamber of commerce ticket," substituting W. O. Dodge for C. J. Martin on the board of directors; Kinsey Maxfield, P. B. Mann and John D. McMillan for P. O. Peterson, L. M. Buchanan and C. F. Crockett on the board of arbitration; J. M. Jenks for G. H. Dazgett on the board of appeals. A composite of "caucus" and "chamber of commerce" won. Sturtevant and Shepard for secretary by 101 votes. W. O. Dodge, "chamber of commerce," was elected a director. J. M. Jenks, "chamber of commerce," was elected on the board of appeals. All of the board of arbitration were in the "chamber of commerce" ticket. The following is a list of the officers elected:

President, C. A. Pillsbury, vice president, L. W. Mumford, secretary, E. E. Boehler, L. R. Brooks, W. V. Dodge, H. W. Pratt, T. M. Leonard, secretary, C. E. Sturtevant, treasurer, H. J. Hendrick, H. W. Peterson, J. C. Maxfield, P. B. Mann, J. M. Jenks, J. S. Teeley, William (two years), S. M. Jenks, P. S. Teeley, William (two years).

The business session today will probably be the most interesting of the conference. The matter of church federation, the subject of the first meeting, is the subject of the second meeting. The congregational association of Minnesota two weeks ago, will come up for discussion. Revs. J. H. Clendenen and H. Morley, of the Congregational association, will address the conference. Their addresses will make the matter of church federation a subject of the first meeting. The church is composed of all the evangelical churches, and that those churches, the denominations, that are in the spirit. Therefore, they should work together. The conference will be asked to adopt resolutions declaring in favor of church federation, and authorizing the formation of committees to work for that end with the state meetings of the other denominational bodies. The details of this question promises to be warm. A good deal of opposition to the federation idea is to be found among the Methodists.

Rev. J. C. Kyle is working on this conference in the interest of another church federation. He is working along the line of temperance work. He proposes that all the temperance workers in all the various denominations unite for the furtherance of that work. They would consider all phases of the temperance movement, from the enforcement of the laws, to the liquor selling and the selling of liquor to minors, up to absolute prohibition.

LOREN EXPLAINS AGAIN. He Tells the Veterans Why He Didn't Go to the War. Loren Fletcher, "Uncle Loren," who wants to go to your address waiting for the letter yesterday, again took the platform last night to make an explanation. This time he wanted to explain why he did not go to the war. He was speaking before a meeting of the Union Veterans' association, and of course, had to say something about war.

Loren says that when the war began he had just started in business. He had a wagon, but he could not get it out of the city, and he had bought in Boston all the goods he could get on credit. He wanted to go to the war, but he could not get the money he had borrowed and the goods he had bought on credit in Boston. He had to stay at home and kept store, saved his money, his friends' money, his stock, and made plenty of money besides, incidentally he had a large amount of money. The widows and orphans were cared for. Loren's explanation didn't take any toll with the old veterans, but he had marched and fought for four long years could not understand how any man could place a few paltry dollars above the protection of his country and defense of his country's flag.

TURNER TONIGHT. He Speaks at Armory Hall—Aldermen of the Eighth. Tonight the Democrats will hold the first big meeting of the campaign at Armory Hall. The speaker of the evening will be J. Milton Turner, "The Black Demortheses," of St. Louis. Mr. Turner will arrive in Minneapolis this morning and while here will be quartered at the West. In the evening the colored Democrats of Minneapolis will turn out and escort Mr. Turner to Armory Hall. L. R. Blinn will preside over the meeting. First-class music will be on draught. The Cleveland quartette, organized by W. H. Eilers, the well-known musician, will make its first appearance tonight, and will be heard hereafter only at Democratic meetings. No more than all of the Democrats who moves to hear the tariff discussed logically and from a standpoint of an economist, and at the same time eloquently, can afford to miss this meeting tonight. J. Milton is one of the few orators of the United States. He ranks alongside the best platform speakers that ever faced an audience.

The Democratic city committee met last night, and among other matters, discussed the eighth ward aldermanic question. Several of the eighth ward

THE SENATOR RAVED.

Because of a Big Bull Made by the Tribune.

Special to the Globe. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 6.—Senator Pettigrew and Congressman Pickler spoke this evening to a crowd of 400. The biggest joke of the season was the premature publication in the Minneapolis Tribune of Senator Pettigrew's speech a whole day before it was delivered, and the audience was compelled to listen to two columns of speech which every one had read in the paper.

The matter of making a straight party nomination will be the subject of the eighth ward delegates Saturday night. Chairman Lathrop, of the eighth ward anti-Grimes committee, is out with a long statement presenting, in a compilation of all that has been said on the subject, the reasons why he does not have a majority of all the votes cast in the primaries against Jones, but a majority of the delegates elected were against him, in spite of the packing of causes by street railway employes.

Grimes has sought and obtained, against the wishes of the people, nomination for an office holding only $200 a year. Such a person is not a candidate to the office for something more than his salary. Either this, or he is elected solely by public spirit, by a lofty and pure conviction that he should have the right of the good of the community. This is not likely.

Last night the Journal, a sheet that boasts of its accuracy in all matters and its fairness in dealing with all things, said the Democratic county committee was having trouble with candidate J. M. Turner for the eighth ward in the Thirty-second district. Gunderson, the Journal said, would not pay for his regular assessment. Not a word of it is true. Mr. Gunderson is a loyal Democrat and a man of good sense. He is not paying his regular assessment, and there is no feud between him and the county committee.

Martin Ring chairman of the subcommittee on halls, and A. Christol, chairman of the subcommittee on clubs and uniforms, will be at Democratic headquarters every day from now until after the campaign.

THE "CHAMBER" ELECTION. Shepard Was Laid Out and a Composite Ticket Won. Politics was plentiful around the chamber of commerce yesterday—annual election day. Three tickets were in the field. The ticket put nomination by the caucus held Tuesday night was the only one covering all the offices. The independents nominated George W. Shepard for secretary in place of C. C. Sturtevant, the caucus member. Still another faction of bolters put up what was called the "chamber of commerce ticket," substituting W. O. Dodge for C. J. Martin on the board of directors; Kinsey Maxfield, P. B. Mann and John D. McMillan for P. O. Peterson, L. M. Buchanan and C. F. Crockett on the board of arbitration; J. M. Jenks for G. H. Dazgett on the board of appeals. A composite of "caucus" and "chamber of commerce" won. Sturtevant and Shepard for secretary by 101 votes. W. O. Dodge, "chamber of commerce," was elected a director. J. M. Jenks, "chamber of commerce," was elected on the board of appeals. All of the board of arbitration were in the "chamber of commerce" ticket. The following is a list of the officers elected:

President, C. A. Pillsbury, vice president, L. W. Mumford, secretary, E. E. Boehler, L. R. Brooks, W. V. Dodge, H. W. Pratt, T. M. Leonard, secretary, C. E. Sturtevant, treasurer, H. J. Hendrick, H. W. Peterson, J. C. Maxfield, P. B. Mann, J. M. Jenks, J. S. Teeley, William (two years), S. M. Jenks, P. S. Teeley, William (two years).

The business session today will probably be the most interesting of the conference. The matter of church federation, the subject of the first meeting, is the subject of the second meeting. The congregational association of Minnesota two weeks ago, will come up for discussion. Revs. J. H. Clendenen and H. Morley, of the Congregational association, will address the conference. Their addresses will make the matter of church federation a subject of the first meeting. The church is composed of all the evangelical churches, and that those churches, the denominations, that are in the spirit. Therefore, they should work together. The conference will be asked to adopt resolutions declaring in favor of church federation, and authorizing the formation of committees to work for that end with the state meetings of the other denominational bodies. The details of this question promises to be warm. A good deal of opposition to the federation idea is to be found among the Methodists.

Rev. J. C. Kyle is working on this conference in the interest of another church federation. He is working along the line of temperance work. He proposes that all the temperance workers in all the various denominations unite for the furtherance of that work. They would consider all phases of the temperance movement, from the enforcement of the laws, to the liquor selling and the selling of liquor to minors, up to absolute prohibition.

LOREN EXPLAINS AGAIN. He Tells the Veterans Why He Didn't Go to the War. Loren Fletcher, "Uncle Loren," who wants to go to your address waiting for the letter yesterday, again took the platform last night to make an explanation. This time he wanted to explain why he did not go to the war. He was speaking before a meeting of the Union Veterans' association, and of course, had to say something about war.

Loren says that when the war began he had just started in business. He had a wagon, but he could not get it out of the city, and he had bought in Boston all the goods he could get on credit. He wanted to go to the war, but he could not get the money he had borrowed and the goods he had bought on credit in Boston. He had to stay at home and kept store, saved his money, his friends' money, his stock, and made plenty of money besides, incidentally he had a large amount of money. The widows and orphans were cared for. Loren's explanation didn't take any toll with the old veterans, but he had marched and fought for four long years could not understand how any man could place a few paltry dollars above the protection of his country and defense of his country's flag.

TURNER TONIGHT. He Speaks at Armory Hall—Aldermen of the Eighth. Tonight the Democrats will hold the first big meeting of the campaign at Armory Hall. The speaker of the evening will be J. Milton Turner, "The Black Demortheses," of St. Louis. Mr. Turner will arrive in Minneapolis this morning and while here will be quartered at the West. In the evening the colored Democrats of Minneapolis will turn out and escort Mr. Turner to Armory Hall. L. R. Blinn will preside over the meeting. First-class music will be on draught. The Cleveland quartette, organized by W. H. Eilers, the well-known musician, will make its first appearance tonight, and will be heard hereafter only at Democratic meetings. No more than all of the Democrats who moves to hear the tariff discussed logically and from a standpoint of an economist, and at the same time eloquently, can afford to miss this meeting tonight. J. Milton is one of the few orators of the United States. He ranks alongside the best platform speakers that ever faced an audience.

The Democratic city committee met last night, and among other matters, discussed the eighth ward aldermanic question. Several of the eighth ward

THE SENATOR RAVED.

Because of a Big Bull Made by the Tribune.

Special to the Globe. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 6.—Senator Pettigrew and Congressman Pickler spoke this evening to a crowd of 400. The biggest joke of the season was the premature publication in the Minneapolis Tribune of Senator Pettigrew's speech a whole day before it was delivered, and the audience was compelled to listen to two columns of speech which every one had read in the paper.

The matter of making a straight party nomination will be the subject of the eighth ward delegates Saturday night. Chairman Lathrop, of the eighth ward anti-Grimes committee, is out with a long statement presenting, in a compilation of all that has been said on the subject, the reasons why he does not have a majority of all the votes cast in the primaries against Jones, but a majority of the delegates elected were against him, in spite of the packing of causes by street railway employes.

Grimes has sought and obtained, against the wishes of the people, nomination for an office holding only $200 a year. Such a person is not a candidate to the office for something more than his salary. Either this, or he is elected solely by public spirit, by a lofty and pure conviction that he should have the right of the good of the community. This is not likely.

Last night the Journal, a sheet that boasts of its accuracy in all matters and its fairness in dealing with all things, said the Democratic county committee was having trouble with candidate J. M. Turner for the eighth ward in the Thirty-second district. Gunderson, the Journal said, would not pay for his regular assessment. Not a word of it is true. Mr. Gunderson is a loyal Democrat and a man of good sense. He is not paying his regular assessment, and there is no feud between him and the county committee.

Martin Ring chairman of the subcommittee on halls, and A. Christol, chairman of the subcommittee on clubs and uniforms, will be at Democratic headquarters every day from now until after the campaign.

THE "CHAMBER" ELECTION. Shepard Was Laid Out and a Composite Ticket Won. Politics was plentiful around the chamber of commerce yesterday—annual election day. Three tickets were in the field. The ticket put nomination by the caucus held Tuesday night was the only one covering all the offices. The independents nominated George W. Shepard for secretary in place of C. C. Sturtevant, the caucus member. Still another faction of bolters put up what was called the "