TERMED A CONSPIRACY.

A Husband's Scheme Spoiled by the Jury.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—The jury in the trial of the suit of Jacob B. Culbertson against Dr. J. R. Mansfield, of Germantown, Pa., brought to recover $50,000 damages for the alienation of Mrs. Culbertson's affections, this morning brought in a verdict in favor of the defendant, Dr. Mansfield. The case has attracted widespread interest on account of the sensational charges from both sides, and was practically decided when Judge Finletter handed the case over to the jury last night, expressing the decided opinion that the evidence in this case conclusively shows that the plaintiff's case is a vile conspiracy sustained by perjury. The purpose of this conspiracy is evident—to be freed from his wife for a newer love and make money by it.

BLAINE'S INTENTION.

Pat Egan Says the Plumed Knight Will Take the Stump.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Minister Egan said today that he expected to visit Mr. Blaine before proceeding to his home, Lincoln, Neb. Mr. Egan said he had met a gentleman in New York, just from Maine, who informed him it was Mr. Blaine's intention to take an active part in the campaign before the close.

New York, Oct. 8.—From a reliable source it was ascertained that Republican headquarters in New York City were busy today in making arrangements for the reception of Mr. Blaine to come to the rescue of Harrison and Reid.

WOULD WRECK AN EXPRESS.

Obstructions Placed on Top of a High Embankment.

MAY, LANDED, N. J., Oct. 8.—An attempt was made to wreck a train last night near Winslow, on the Williams branch of the Reading railroad. Several rails were laid across the track and spiked to the ties. The obstruction was discovered by persons who happened to be passing, and was only removed after much difficulty. An express train was almost due at the time. The spot where the obstruction was placed was on top of a steep embankment, and if a train had struck it, it would have been derailed. This is the third attempt to wreck trains on this road within a few weeks.

An assignment of the property of the defendant has been made by the order of a justice, an organization which differed only from that of the plaintiff in the modification of its promises of profit.
