

STILL NO ARRESTS.

Burglars Continue Their Picnic, and No One Is Gathered In.

All Parts of the City Are Invaded in Rapid Succession.

Hon. J. D. Humphrey's House Was Sazed Up by the Robbers.

The McQuillan House Invaded by the Porch Climber Last Evening.

And still the reports of burglaries continue to come in to the chief of detectives, and still he and his force continue to not arrest anybody. The chief of detectives is so busy trying to find out where the GLOBE gets its news of the event that he has no time for anything else, and will not have this year. It will take him until the end of the year to learn that he cannot find out. He has been indulging in suspicions that some of the men under him were giving out tips, but of course, was as wide of the mark as usual. Then it was surmised that the GLOBE was running a private detective agency, and this comes nearer to the fact, which is that the GLOBE has a staff of editors and reporters each of whom has a nose for news and can sniff out a tip in the air. Then they are quick at following up the scent, so that they often give the police the first information, through the paper, that the force receives of a crime. If the force doesn't catch somebody pretty soon, the GLOBE will have to give up its reporters to that line for the protection of the people of the city.

A few days ago, one of our reporters was working on the forged check racket, and told how Sweeney Keener Schmidt was worked by a fellow drawing a check in his place for $25 on the Capital bank, where he had no funds. The publication of the story caused Schmidt to go and look for the fellow himself, and he found him on the street. The fellow, George Underwood, was paraded as the man who did the forging, and he was Charged With Forgery on the job at headquarters. Now it turns out, as predicted, that he was not the forger, and the detectives will have to continue to not find the forger. Underwood simply signed his own name to a check on a bank where he had no funds. This is not forgery, for a man cannot forge his own name. Then, too, the check was given on the 17th inst. dated the 19th, thus making Schmidt's complaint to the police premature, as Underwood might have had funds in the bank by the time the check was cashed, and the chances are that he would not. He can probably be held on the charge of simple larceny, but he is getting the grip from Schmidt's brother.

The forged checks were passed on Neils & Dean, E. A. Varney & Co., Edward Kelly and others, and were cashed according to their descriptions. One of Varney's clerks, who took particular notice of the checks, and says that he is not the man that got the checks cashed there. He says that Underwood is larger and darker than the other man, and not so smart looking. Underwood is a common dud, while the other man, who will not give his name, is a professional. No dud can forge a check to fool shrewd business men, and even get a copy of a firm's rubber stamp to complete his work.

But to return to the burglars. Here are more jobs the workers of which have not been reported. William Hendricks has an office in room 211 of the National German-American bank building, and lives at 711 Lincoln avenue. Saturday evening last he went to work and heard a racket in front of his house and stepped out to see what it was about. He found his door open, and the steps hanging on to a man's leg. The man asked him to call his dog off, and said that he was passing the house and the dog rushed at him. He tried to dodge the dog by Going Toward the House, but the dog was too quick, and grabbed his leg, letting his teeth in good and hard. Hendricks tried to get away, but had been let out of the barn a few minutes before and did not doubt the story. He therefore tried to get away and beat the dog off and then apologized to the man. "He was a gentleman," says Hendricks, "and he accepted my apology and said it was all a mistake. He said that he hurt much. I went back to the barn, and a few minutes later he called me up and said that the dog had been out of the window, and the bureau drawers pried open and ransacked. I then saw that the dog had caused the fellow to slide down from the porch, and I went and apologized to the dog for whipping him."

"Did he accept the apology?" was asked, and Hendricks replied: "Oh, yes. He is a smart fellow, and knows who you square yourself with." Mr. Hendricks says the robber got nothing for his pains, for since his house was ransacked last evening, he has not received anything of any value in bureau, but has a hiding place that no burglar can find.

The next victim is James D. Humphrey, who lives on the east side of Central park in the large house No. 624 Central park place. Humphrey says he doesn't want the people to know that he was worked, and is very desirous that the newspapers say nothing about his burglary. This peculiarity of Mr. Humphrey's is well known, and the reporter caught a friend, who is a private detective in a certain way, to go to the house and interview him. Mr. Humphrey started in to tell a theory he has on the occasion, asking if Humphrey Johnson lived there. Last Saturday afternoon, a little before the burglary occurred, two women

Called for Emma Johnson and would hardly believe that she did not live there. Then two weeks ago two men called and acted very much astonished when that Emma did not live there. The spokesman was a heavy man with a light overcoat, silk hat and gold-headed cane. (This is about the description of the man who was questioned Mr. Humphrey.) Then Mrs. Humphrey came in and asked if the visitor was a reporter. This scared the old gentleman, and he begged the visitor's denial, he closed up as tight as a clam, and refused to say any more. He had already said that he didn't know of the burglary until a few days over, and that the haul was quite heavy.

Again the Porch-Climber. The porch-climber got in his good work again last night. He has not kept guard for the widows and orphans, and his operations last evening were at the house of Mrs. J. P. McQuillan, widow of Philip McQuillan, 237 East Tenth street. While the family was at tea about 7 o'clock he went into the house by the window over the side porch and heaved himself to a breastpin with two diamonds and a ruby, a pearl ring, two gold bracelets, a lady's gold watch, a silver watch and a few dollars in silver. No one saw him. Some time after midnight yesterday morning the bold burglars went through Moorhead's livery stable on St. Paul street, and took a pair of rubber boots, but concluded he did not want them and left them in the alley in the rear of the barn.

Two more hold-ups, or highway robberies, have been reported to the police recently. Saturday evening two men disguised as colored women held up a man at the corner of Pearl and Jackson streets with guns. Each of the two men indicted with the above-named two, were put on trial yesterday for the same offense. All the evidence presented yesterday, and the jury will be charged by Judge Cornish in the afternoon. Heretofore the boys found guilty of the offense, was put on the witness stand by the defense yesterday. He said he had met the other boys the night of their arrest. He asserted that the coat he was accused of stealing had been secured by him in Minneapolis. He traded another coat for it, and gave 50 cents boot. He stated in direct examination that he came from the corner of Grand avenue and Dale street. One girl, her name is not given, a woman was attacked by three men at the corner of Grand avenue and Dale street. GRANTED THE INCREASE. The Great Northern Voluntarily Raises the Wages of Trainmen. The report was circulated yesterday that the differences between the trainmen and the officials of the Great Northern railroad had come to an amicable conclusion. This finale, it is related, was reached after the trainmen had refused the "usual" whatever that may mean, agreement is said to have been signed, and business goes on as of yore. The order of the Great Northern, as conductors, is quoted as lending his voice in support of this settlement. He is reported to have said: "The men reported to me that they were very well treated by President Hill. The Great Northern conceded an increase of $2 per month to passenger conductors and $10 to passenger brakemen, together with the ten-hour basis of overtime asked. Several minor matters were also cleared up. You need not connect me officially with the conference, as President Hill did this himself, and was willing to accept what he deserved. I was present merely in an advisory capacity."

chewed on the handkerchiefs and tried to bite them off, all the time barking and snarling like a dog in a fight. He hit at everything that got in reach, and thrashed around so that he had to be strapped in his cell. It was thought to be a case of hydrophobia, and the city physician was called. But by his arrival the fellow had fallen asleep, and when the doctor woke him up he asked for a drink. When asked if he would have whisky or beer he said beer, and it was concluded that he was all right.

WILL GET A REST. Several Smooth Thieves Will Go Over the Road. James Herbert and Thomas O'Meara were found guilty of grand larceny in the second degree by the verdict of a jury yesterday. They were half of the quartette indicted for robbing rooms in the Nicollet house a couple of weeks ago.

Shoved a Gun Into His Face and told him to throw up his hands. He complied, and they went through his pockets, getting $4.50, but missing a roll of bills he had in his pocket. The detective has been looking up the case, but caught no trace of the men, and therefore the police say that the fellow is lying about his loss. The man's name is therefore withheld for a few days.

Then again Sunday, at the hour of midday, a woman was attacked by three men at the corner of Grand avenue and Dale street. One girl, her name is not given, a woman was attacked by three men at the corner of Grand avenue and Dale street. Record of Observations Taken for Twenty-One Years Past. Observer Lyons has prepared a statement showing observations taken during the month of November for twenty-one years past by the St. Paul station. As there is no better way of judging of the future than by the past, the following record will give the reader some of what may be expected in the way of weather during next month:

Mean or normal temperature, 30 deg.; minimum, 15 deg.; maximum, 45 deg.; average, 31.1 deg.; the coldest November was that of 1893, with an average of 22.2 deg.; the highest temperature during any November was 74 deg. on the 1st, 1886; the lowest temperature during any November was 4 deg. below zero on the 25th, 1854.

Precipitation—Average for the month, 1.15 inches. Average number of days with an inch or more, 8. The greatest monthly precipitation was 3.4 inches in 1888. The greatest amount of precipitation in any one day was 1.03 inches on Nov. 10, 1889. The greatest amount of snow recorded in 24 consecutive hours (record extending to winter of 1845) only was 6.5 inches on Nov. 16 and 17, 1861.

Clouds and Weather—Average number of cloudy days, 7. Average number of rainy days, 10. The prevailing winds have been from the northwest. The highest velocity of the wind during any November was 59 miles on the 15th, 1874.

"THE CHARITY BALL." Frohman's Company Repeats Its Success at the Metropolitan. Daniel Frohman's company opened in "The Charity Ball" at the Metropolitan last night. The favorable impression made by the company when presenting the same play here last year was repeated. The company is good, but is not so uniformly pleasing as its last season's organization.

Frances Drake as Amy Cruger is excellent. Ethel Greylock is delightful as Mrs. De Puyster, and Eliza Logan Saitly as Mrs. Van Buren. Jean Coryn as Mrs. De Puyster's maid, and the other members of the cast are well cast. The play is a unit, despite minor faults, is played excellently well, and was enthusiastically received. Miss Neely received a hearty recall after her clever work in the first act.

"The Charity Ball" is repeated tonight and tomorrow night, and on Friday a matinee. "The Wife" will be given, and continues for the week.

TO KILL THE SAGE. But He Forgot All About the Contract When He Sobered Up. M. S. Garvin, a telegraph operator, was discharged yesterday in the municipal court. The charge was drunk and at the station during the night he had an attack of the jim-jams and wanted to be let out so he could go and kill Ignatius Donnelly. He said that he had taken the contract to kill the Sage for $10,000, which was to be paid in three installments. He forgot this in the morning when he sobered up.

FOUND THEIR FRIEND. Reporters Furnish Information to Strangers on a Sad Errand. William Istas, with a cancer in his throat, left Plum City Monday in charge of Michael Fritz to come to St. Paul for treatment. Yesterday morning William Budewitz and Albert Ingel, brother Odell fellows of Plum City, received a telegram from Fritz to come at once.

Press Feeders Go Back to Work in Several Establishments. The press feeders are out on a strike. These are the job printers' press feeders. They went out at the Price, McGill company, at the Pioneer Press, at Brown, Treacy & Co.'s and at the West Publishing company. Some of the houses seemed willing to accede. The fact that there was justice in the demand, and the matter was left to the arbitration of the arbitration committee. The press feeders ask, as is said by Price, McGill & Co., for an advance of from 15 to 20 per cent, and as stated by the West Publishing company, an advance to $9 per week.

Deliciousness Within the Reach of All. By the labor and ingenuity of Dr. Price, we have now before us the sweetest, freshest and most natural flavors. His Delicious Vanilla Extract surpasses in delicate flavor any other flavoring extract, while his Extracts of Lemon and Orange are really as fresh and agreeable in their flavor as the true fruits from which they are made. Any housekeeper who has once used DR. PRICE'S DELICIOUS FLAVORS in her cakes, puddings, or creams, will never return to the use of any other.

BEER HIS DRINK. But He Had Evidently Had Too Much of It. Last evening a man, seeming to be crazy, was terrifying the people in the vicinity of Third and Broadway by his wild motions and dog-like barking. The patrol wagon was called, but the officers had to handcuff and sit on him to keep him in the wagon. At the station he Istas was dead. They reached the city last night, but were not met at the depot, and did not know where to go to find Fritz or the remains of Istas. They went to police headquarters and the hospitals were telephoned, and the substations, but nothing could be learned. They were asked to leave in despair when they met a couple of reporters, and in less than five minutes the remains of Istas and Mr. Fritz were located at Pierre Gaultout's undertaking rooms, 473 Wabasha.

DEMAND A LARGE AMOUNT. The Union Depot Company Sues the Kansas City. The St. Paul Union Depot company and the Kansas City Railway company have a difference that they are trying to adjust in court. The former asks judgment against the latter for $48,830.25 as charges for depot privileges. The terms of the depot were granted to the Missouri & North Western Railway company, to which the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City Railway company is a success. The depot company for the railroad company at the agreed rate of 35 cents for each engine for each car entering and departing from the union depot.

WANTED TO BE "FIXED." Polk County Republican Leaders Set a Trap for the People's Party. S. S. Shelley and William Smith, the two men indicted with the above-named two, were put on trial yesterday for the same offense. All the evidence presented yesterday, and the jury will be charged by Judge Cornish in the afternoon. Heretofore the boys found guilty of the offense, was put on the witness stand by the defense yesterday. He said he had met the other boys the night of their arrest. He asserted that the coat he was accused of stealing had been secured by him in Minneapolis. He traded another coat for it, and gave 50 cents boot. Support of a Paper Offered for Four Hundred Dollars. The following correspondence explains itself. Either the writer of the first letter made a mistake in not approaching the Republican state committee, which is sorely in need of the support of newspapers in Polk county, or he intended to contribute to the committee of the People's party. Louis Hanson expresses the belief that the latter was his intention, and that the paper is already in the employ of the Republicans. The name of the writer is concealed out of charity, for whether his design was to sell the support of the paper to the People's party, or to entrap the committee, it is reprehensible. It is the motive was to entrap, it was certainly inspired by the political party which the paper is supporting as an offset to the terrible exposures which have been published of the efforts to purchase the support of papers. The correspondence is as follows:

Louis Hanson—Dear Sir: My employer, Mr. Stroop, editor of the Polk County Review, in the early part of the campaign waited as to the policy he should pursue, was that of 1893, with an average of 22.2 deg.; the highest temperature during any November was 74 deg. on the 1st, 1886; the lowest temperature during any November was 4 deg. below zero on the 25th, 1854.

NOTE THE CHANGE. Time of the "Milwaukee" in Effect Sunday, Oct. 25. Day Express to Chicago and local points will leave Minneapolis at 7:30 and St. Paul at 7:55 a. m., arriving at Chicago 10 p. m. A DAY IN THE COURTS. Litigants Numerous, Many of Whom Got Accused. Margaret O'Malley, an infant by her guardian ad litem, Patrick O'Malley, has sued the Boston-Northwest Real Estate company for $200, which was to be paid in three installments. Margaret was a waitress in the Madison Hotel, and for this she was crushed while riding in the elevator on the night of Feb. 5 last. It is claimed the elevator was not properly opened and not properly lighted.

James Burns has sued the President Fuel Accidents Insurance company, of New York, to recover $250 accident insurance. Burns was injured by a fall from a scaffold in his hand shattered by the explosion of a giant fire cracker held in his hand July 4, and his reputation was ruined.

John Ista asks $11,000 from the St. Paul City Railway company as compensation for personal injuries sustained by him while riding in the Madison Hotel elevator on the night of Feb. 5 last. It is claimed the elevator was not properly opened and not properly lighted.

Rasmus Peterson asserts that George J. Ring deceived him by a statement that he had a lot for sale, when in fact he had no interest in it or right to sell. Peterson paid $250 for the purchase price, which he has sued Ring and Peterson Johnson, his agent, to recover.

Spencer Phillips, indicted for adultery, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Cornish yesterday. Maynard W. D. R. Noyes went to jail in the sum of $500, for a judgment in favor of the Germania building, a married woman.

Thomas Clark, accused by the grand jury of adultery, was arraigned yesterday and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released upon a recognizance in the penalty of $500, his father becoming his bondsman.

The divorce case of E. P. Wilgus against Agnes Wilgus was heard by Judge Ovi yesterday. The testimony in the case was that they were married by the court. Mr. Wilgus will be secured by the court.

James Ferguson, charged by the grand jury with swindling, pleaded not guilty when arraigned yesterday. He was released upon a recognizance in the penalty of $500, Michael Mulligan and Pat Conroy as sureties.
