CANDIDATES QUERIED

Labor Unions Receive Answers of the Legislative Nominees.
Some Answered Yes to All, and Without Any Qualification.

While Others Stated Their Objections and Their Ideas of Right.

Great Democratic Rallies-Davis' Poor Meeting at White Bear Village.

The labor unions met at Labor hall last evening to hear and act upon the reports of answers of the various candidates for the legislature as to how they stand upon the list of laws the union desire passed by the coming legislature.

spirt has been apparent in every instance, and the indications are truly encouraging for the election of every candidate before the people on the Democratic ticket.

At White Bear Thursday night a large audience assembled from the village and surrounding country to give an ovation to their next representative in the state legislature, Hon. Michael Doran, also to David Hanna, candidate for county commissioner from the district.

Judge McCaffery was the principal speaker and made a masterful presentation, not only on the issues of the national campaign, but also dissected the Republican record of misrule in Minnesota, and gave logical reasons why the state is fast swinging into the Democratic column.

Mr. Doran himself was then called for and responded in a neat little speech, in which he castigated reviewed some of the desperate tactics being resorted to by his opponents to defeat him, and the worthless body of the kind ever organized by any party in the city, and that in the verge of disruption and perilous facts that the legislature can explain how it is that not a candidate for a county or legislative office has paid more than a small share of his assessed taxes.

SAINTS ARE AHEAD.

St. Paul High School Debaters Vanquish Their Minneapolis Opponents.
And Two Debates Out of Three Stand to Their Credit.

High School Pupils of Two Cities Pack the Assembly Hall.
Closer Relations Between the United States and Mexico Are Advocated.

The third debate between the St. Paul and Minneapolis central high schools was held in the assembly hall of the St. Paul school last night. The custom of interurban debates was inaugurated in '89 by the St. Paul High School Debating and Entertainment society. The first debate was won by Minneapolis. The second debate, held the following evening in Minneapolis, was won by the St. Paul speakers.

The debate was preceded at 8 o'clock by mandolin music, and the opening of the question, "Resolved, that in case of a threatened strike or lock-out of the state should enforce arbitration," as announced by the president of the St. Paul society, called out a storm of applause. Applause was frequent and hearty. In fact it was at times so thunderous as to render it difficult to hear the progress of the debate. The debaters were:

BOYS' DRESS SUITS.

Boys' Dress Suits, fashionable and becoming, lowest prices, Boys' Department. The Boston, on Third street.

SOME HAVE RESIGNED.

While the Others Are Doing a Large "Trading" Business.
The morning organ of Republicanism, as might be expected, has taken the cue of the imbecile Republican county committee, and asserts that the organization is a harmonious and industrious lot which is making votes for its ticket at the rate of a thousand or so a day, and that the success of November Ramsey county will be swept by the party as with a cyclone.

Mr. Doran himself was then called for and responded in a neat little speech, in which he castigated reviewed some of the desperate tactics being resorted to by his opponents to defeat him, and the worthless body of the kind ever organized by any party in the city, and that in the verge of disruption and perilous facts that the legislature can explain how it is that not a candidate for a county or legislative office has paid more than a small share of his assessed taxes.
