

ATCHISON WAS RIGHT.

Arbitrators Decide It Was Justified in Cutting Rates to Denver.

Charges It Filled Against Caldwell Not Sustained by the Evidence.

The Decision Averts the Disruption of the Western Passenger Association.

Western General Managers Making Progress on the New Agreement.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—E. A. Ford, J. A. Smith and C. P. Atmore, arbitrators in the Atchison's appeal from Chairman Caldwell's decision finding it guilty of reducing rates without sufficient justification to Denver and return on account of the Knights Templar convulse last August, handed down their decision today. They also had before them the question of whether Chairman Caldwell and various members of the association were guilty of conspiring with Atchison to reduce rates.

Atchison, on the other hand, to deprive the Atchison of its rights under the agreement of the Western Passenger Association.

In the conspiracy case the arbitrators find that the charges have not been sustained by the evidence. Nevertheless, they hold that the Atchison was not fairly treated either by the chairman or its fellow members of the association—first, because it was given no voice in the matter of granting relief, and, second, because the other roads based their application for relief on the announced intention as well as on the warrantable procedure of the Atchison company, which was preparing to lawfully protect its interests under article 9 of the agreement.

A Line Outside. The chairman was not justified in granting relief to some members of the association. His ruling was an error because it was based on the declared intention of the Atchison to protect its interests in harmony with the letter and the spirit of the law, whereas the Atchison should have been responsible for its action under the agreement.

Regarding the question of whether the Atchison was guilty of conspiring with the other roads to reduce rates, the arbitrators decide in favor of the railroad. They find that it did present to the chairman sufficient justification, under article 9 of the agreement, to warrant it in meeting the action of a line outside of the association in offering less than the agreed rates.

NEW TORY PLATFORM.

A Frankly Democratic Programme Adopted by the British Conservatives.

It Even Goes Beyond the New-Castle Programme of the Liberals.

Rigidity of Old Toryism Replaced by an Elastic Constitutionalism.

Internal Dissensions Disrupting Morley's Evicted Tenants' Commission.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—No event in the history of the Conservative party approaches in importance the adoption of the new programme by the conference of Conservative associations which held in Edinburgh. The platform is frankly democratic. It even goes beyond the New-Castle programme of the Liberals in admitting popular control of party legislation, and further, it contrasts favorably with the Liberal federations' policy of allowing greater independence of opinion among the adherents of the principles of unionism.

The rigidity of old Toryism has absolutely vanished and is replaced by an elastic constitutionalism, which Mr. Balfour and others have accepted, though certain fossils like the Duke of Rutland continue to blink incompatibility with the generally conservative and dangerous to the success of party government.

The programme included electoral registration reform, with an equalization of votes and a reform of the franchise, and a requirement to qualify voters. This in itself trumps the Liberal proposals in the same direction. Next, the conference approved the extension of the franchise to the female ratepayers, the disfranchisement of illiterate voters, those in control of the liquor traffic, state prison and the control of the press.

Men to enable them to acquire land for building purposes, an amendment to the employers' liability law, and a reform of the workingmen's interest. Finally some touch of home rule was infused in the programme by the approval of the transfer of power from the committee of parliament to local bodies. The transformed spirit is attributed largely to the liberalizing influence of the unionists, and partly to the leaders recognizing the necessities of the times.

SEEMS A FAILURE.

John Morley's Evicted Tenants' Commission in Danger of Disruption. LONDON, Nov. 11.—John Morley's evicted tenants' commission seems doomed to a disastrous failure. Lord Salisbury has characterized it as a salubrious for insolvent debtors, and has declared that Justice Matthews, its president, will return to the judicial bench with high robes and a sword. Internal dissensions concerning the sphere and methods of the inquiry, taken instructions by Mr. Morley, and partisan mismanagement by Justice Matthews, have done the rest.

At the meeting of the committee, Mr. Morley resigned on account of Justice Matthews' procedure. Mr. Morley, the ablest and most practical member, will retire, ostensibly because he has been appointed a land purchase commissioner, but really through a row with the committee over the procedure.

Mr. Roche, C. C., has intimated his desire to be replaced. The withdrawal of these three members leaves only Justice Matthews and Mr. Keimington to sit today for Mr. O'Brien's half hour. Although discredited even among the unionists, the government will fill the vacancies with home rule nominees and continue the commission, though its ends smoke foul and its methods are of ill omen.

DEADLOCK IN HAWAII.

The Queen and Parliament Cannot Agree.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—A letter from Honolulu, dated Oct. 31, says: "Business is at a standstill, the government is almost bankrupt, the government employees have not been paid for the last month, the appropriation bill is through the second reading, and the queen and legislature are at loggerheads. That is the situation as the Gaelic leaves this evening. The queen asks us to make a cabinet, but the queen and legislature are at loggerheads. The last cabinet, consisting of Cornwall, Gulick, Craighead and Hawaii, was removed in just two hours after its formation."

The opposition will not allow an enabling act passed by the queen to be taken to the legislature. At least twenty-six members still recognize no cabinet that is not formed by one of the majority, and furthermore, the cabinet formed must be submitted to the members of the opposition for approval. This means that all matters at a standstill, until the queen agrees to the principle of a cabinet.

CHILE JOYCE.

Cleveland's Election Hailed With Delight.

VALPARAISO, Nov. 11.—There is great rejoicing in Chile over the election of Cleveland as president of the United States. Both the United States and Chilean citizens are sending congratulatory telegrams to their American friends and expressing the hope that an American gentleman will be sent as minister to Chile.

The papers at Buenos Aires also rejoice at the election of Cleveland, and say that Harrison's defeat means a conciliatory policy toward the South American republics and a lack of aggression on the part of the United States.

The most laughing thing I have seen lately, observes a writer in Kate Field's Washington, was the discovery of a new kind of game by a lively young setter dog. It was a large dog, and he was whirling around on slender rails, and was catching his prey in a flash, and was eating it up as fast as he could.

BABY'S RECORD FOR AN HOUR.

A Good-Natured Uncle Keeps Tab on Young Hopf's Performance.

Out of curiosity he made a list of what the baby did in one hour, and gave the result as follows: 1, yawned fifteen minutes without taking breath; 2, yawned enough to fill his uncle's hat; 3, broke a glass vase by sitting down on it; 4, swallowed six buttons and a good part of a skein of thread; 5, emptied the contents of his mother's workbasket into the fireplace; 6, tried to squeeze the head of the cat into his cup and was badly scratched in the attempt; 7, knocked the head of his mother's slipper into the fire; 8, tried to drive a tack into a toy wagon with a nail; 9, fell off the edge of a sofa and brought down two costly vases, which were ruined; 10, broke two panes of glass with a stick his uncle left him; 11, fell into his mother's lap and soiled his white dress; 12, set fire to a pile of white linen out of the room; 13, crawled under the sofa and would not come out unless uncle called him; 14, got twisted among the legs of a chair which had to be broken to get him out; 15, poured a jug of milk into his mother's slipper; 16, finally, when he saw his mother coming, he ran to the door and tumbled off the steps, making his nose bleed and tearing a hole in a foot square in his dress.

And still the youngster's uncle thinks that the boy will make something yet.
