

JOY AT RED WING.

The Triumphant Democracy Fittingly Celebrates Its Victory of Nov. 8.

People of a Dozen Neighboring Towns Help out at the Hurrah.

Comings Refuses to Return From California Without a Requisition.

Remarkable Case Involving a Child's Birthright Decided in Wisconsin.

Special to the Globe. RED WING, Nov. 17.—A mid of the boom of giant explosives and bonfires, with a display of fireworks the equal, if not superior to anything ever before seen here, did the triumphant Democracy of Red Wing celebrate the glorious victory of Tuesday a week, tonight.

Early the trains brought large delegations from the surrounding towns, and hundreds came in by wagon. Cannon Falls, Northfield, Faribault, Hastings, Lake City and Frontenac all sent large delegations, and many other places smaller ones.

Early a procession of over 400 formed on Main street, and, with three bands, including the Third regiment band, marched through the principal streets. All along the route business houses and private dwellings were decorated, and fireworks made the heavens a grand spectacle. Bonfires illumined the surrounding bluffs, and night was turned into day.

After the procession a grand ratification meeting was held at the opera house. Congressman Hall, Hon. D. W. Lawler, Hon. W. H. Campbell, Hon. John W. Willis, Prof. Stromme and others made stirring addresses amid the greatest enthusiasm.

From start to finish the ratification was a success such as Red Wing has never before seen.

A MANKATO HURRAH. Democrats Fittingly Remember Their Big Triumph.

MANKATO, Nov. 17.—The Democrats celebrated in a royal manner tonight. There were a torchlight procession a mile long, fireworks, bands of music from neighboring towns, floats and a mounted division. Mapleton, Vernon Center, Good Thunder, Lake Crystal, St. Peter, etc., were present.

Winnebago City and St. James clubs and bands were present.

COMINGS IS CORNERED. But Won't Return to Minnesota Without a Requisition.

Special to the Globe. GRAND FORKS, N. D., Nov. 17.—Today Sheriff Gunderson, of Tolk county, Minnesota, started for San Bernardino, Cal., to bring back C. L. Comings, alias C. L. Brown, who is now in jail in that city, charged with attempting to defraud, which charge may be returned to a more serious one, the prisoner is held in Minnesota. Comings left East Grand Forks with three cars of what sold him by Dick White, and returned to Grand Forks with a Routy. Chief Murray is in receipt of a report from officers at San Bernardino stating that Comings had $1,200 on his person when arrested. Later another dispatch was received stating Comings denied having lived in Grand Forks, and returned to the return of a requisition papers. He got away with $5,000, possibly more.

PATERNITY AT STAKE. A Child's Birthright Determined by a Court.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 17.—The supreme court of the state of Wisconsin has just passed upon a case, the like of which is not found in the annals of adjudication. It involves the right of a little child to an inheritance, and the question of paternity. The story of the circumstances surrounding Francis Shuman's entrance into this world will be read with interest.

Oct. 3, 1884, an action for divorce was begun by Lella Ingle against Andrew Ingle, of Janesville, Wis. During the pendency of the suit, Francis Shuman, a child, was born to the parties. Ingle lived in the same house, sat at the same table and occupied adjoining rooms with a door between. The divorce was granted Nov. 15, and in the least months later Mrs. Ingle became the wife of Alexander Shuman. Two hundred and thirty-five days after the divorce from Ingle, which would be 145 days after her marriage to Shuman, a daughter was born to her, who received the name Francis Shuman. The child was born before the child was three years old, possessed in her own right of about $50,000 worth of property. To a share in this Francis was entitled, but there was raised concerning her a more important question—that of property involving, as it did, her birthright. Although born during the wedlock of her mother and Andrew Shuman, there was a strong presumption that she was not his child, but the child of Ingle. It would bring Andrew Ingle, Ingle is quite wealthy, and the determination that she is his daughter would, besides vindicating her mother's good name, give her an interest in Ingle's estate.

Shuman has contended that the child was his issue, and the mother being found from the Iowa courts to be the legitimate daughter of Andrew Ingle, the divorced husband of her late mother, and the child not only becomes an heiress, but she gains for herself a good name and the vindication of her mother's memory.

The case has created considerable interest among lawyers and jurists in the West. Her father, now that she is restored to her mother's arms, as a daughter, and has manifested much impatience at the attempts to blacken her little hours with the social stain of questioned paternity. She is now seven years of age, and in addition to her direct inheritance of $25,000 from her mother, in her own name, she will come in for a fair share of her father's estate.

In the case involving the law covering the question of the supreme court has plainly indicated its tendency to give the child to Ingle, but Shuman contended every point in the face of almost certain defeat, from the time the case was first brought to the attention of the court.

RESUBMISSION. Prohibition to Be Knocked Out in South Dakota. Special to the Globe. SIOUX FALLS, Nov. 17.—Now that the election excitement has about died out, the people of South Dakota are becoming interested in the resubmission question. Owing to the fact that little was said regarding this question during the campaign just closed it might be inferred that resubmission was a dead issue, but such is far indeed from the case. Your correspondent had a lengthy interview with one of the leading lights in the resubmission cause, a gentleman who is as much, if not more, interested in the question than any other resident of the state.

To the question of resubmission stand with the newly elected legislature? he replied: "First-class. You will remember we lacked barely one vote in the last legislature of carrying the measure—the sickness of a senator from Black Hills kept him out. There will be no such failure this year. We have a nice, snug majority in the lower house, and while we will not have as big a vote in the upper house, it will be enough. While the other side thought we were sleeping we were quietly getting in our work. The legislature just elected will pass a resubmission bill with a whoop."

RED BUD DESOLEDATED.

An Early Morning Cyclone Sweeps Through an Illinois Town.

Thirty-five Buildings Wrecked by the Fury of the Storm Demon.

One Boy Killed and Eleven People Injured, Some Fatally.

Three Persons Killed by an Explosion at a Democratic Jollification.

Special to the Globe. RED BUD, Ill., Nov. 17.—At exactly 3:30 this morning a cyclone swept over this village, destroying thirty-five houses, killing one boy, and injuring some fifteen other persons. Two churches, the town hall, jail and newspaper offices were among the buildings leveled. The wind came in the midst of a driving rain storm, and it was daylight before the full extent of the catastrophe was known. Of the injured could be given attention. The storm came from the south, and cleared a path 200 yards wide through the town. Jacob Kabe was the name of the boy killed. His mother was among the injured. Wires are down in every direction and roads impassable, so that the full extent of the storm's work cannot be obtained. There is much suffering among the homeless victims of the disaster, and help must come from abroad.

Where last night existed a beautiful little town full of happy homes is today a scene of desolation. Houses, barns, fences and orchards are leveled to the ground and spread over the surrounding country. From the south, the cyclone first demolished the Catholic church and school building. This was followed by the German Lutheran church which was next leveled to the ground. After destroying several barns and tearing away all the windows of the houses, the cyclone struck the residence of Peter Kendall, which was of solid stone, and crumbled it to pieces. Mr. Kendall was severely injured. A brick house, owned by Mrs. J. D. Perry, was blown down, and the ruins, but managed to extricate themselves without serious injury. Peter's agricultural warehouse was blown down, and fourteen other residences were destroyed. The eleven-year-old son of Mrs. Jacob Koch was killed, and his mother was fatally injured. The injured include the following: Mrs. Jacob Koch, Mrs. Peter Kendall, Mrs. Mary Fisher, Mrs. J. D. Perry, Mrs. Julia Hom, Mr. Beltman, Adrien Starr, Miss Emma Crow, Mrs. John Manderville, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Perry. Some of the interesting developments will transpire before the case is ended. Hayes was prominent in the organization of iron workers during the campaign.

TAILORS FOR COMMISSIONER. South Dakotans Have a Candidate for a Place. Special to the Globe. HURON, S. D., Nov. 17.—Gen. Maris Taylor, of this city, was elected by South Dakota Democrats for commissioner of the general land office under the new administration. The movement to this end is already inaugurated. He was the Democratic nominee for governor, and he has been elected to the office of his ticket. He is a surveyor general of South Dakota during Cleveland's former administration, has lived in the state thirty years, and is a member of the first Democratic paper in the territory. He is well qualified for commissioner, and his appointment would be gratifying to the entire Northwest.

SMALL-POX SPREADING. Many Cases of the Disease in the Puget Sound Country. SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 17.—Small-pox prevails in the Puget Sound country. The disease first broke out in a railroad camp along the Great Northern line and was spread by men coming to the city. All along the line between here and the camps men have been taken down with the disease, and in the last eighteen cases in Seattle. All the victims have been placed in the pesthouse.

BOEN IS ELECTED. He Received 266 More Votes Than Mr. Feig. Special to the Globe. FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Nov. 17.—Marshall county held its official returns on congressmen today, the last in the Seventh district, giving Boen 593 plurality. This gives the Populist candidate, by official count, 306 plurality in the district, and elects him beyond the possibility of a slip.

County Records Stolen. SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 17.—Colville and Kettle Falls, two Stevens county towns, are again troubled with the county seat. At the last election 559 votes were cast in favor of Kettle Falls for the county seat, but Colville, the present county seat, claimed that the vote was less than three-fifths of the total vote, as required by law, and refused to deliver up the records. Late last night Kettle Falls parties broke into the court house at Colville and stole the records. Bloodshed is apprehended over the affair.

Hot Lumber Fire. Special to the Globe. PHILLIPS, Wis., Nov. 17.—The John R. Davis Lumber Company's ten dry kilns, with sheet iron roofs and contents, burned today. The kiln engines and heaters were saved. The loss is $300,000, fully insured in fifty leading companies. The fire started in the kilns, and spread to the shipping of lumber, as they have upward of 25,000,000 feet of dry stock on hand.

Died at 102. MANKATO, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Bridget Murtagh died in this county a few days ago at the age of one hundred and two years. She left four children, twenty-one grandchildren and twenty-six great grandchildren, the oldest of the fourth generation being thirteen years.

Probably From St. Paul. Special to the Globe. EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Nov. 17.—Burglars seem plenty in this city now. The house of Louis Young was robbed of two gold watches and $200 in money last night, and an old man named Mack was held up on the street.

EATING BLUFFS AWAY.

A Severe Storm Raging Along the Jersey Coast.

The Sage of Nininger Dissatisfied With the Great West's Course.

An Address to the New Party Reviewing the Late Campaign.

The Republican Party Will Disintegrate, as Did the Old Whigs.

There is a vacancy in the official board of the Minnesota State Farmers' Alliance. And the Great West is no longer the official organ of the association. Do "Fish" was not "fired," but he saved himself yesterday by giving the office of state lecturer yesterday when he became convinced that he would be fired as soon as the executive committee of the Alliance could get together to consider the "Great West" saying: "Donnelly is ungrateful and orge is the man who must go."

The coming annual meeting of the state Alliance will be held about the time of the meeting of the legislature, and for the reason that many of the senators and representatives will desire to attend it is quite likely that the place of meeting will be changed from St. Cloud to Minneapolis or St. Paul. Powderly will be present and deliver addresses, and a very large attendance is expected.

Today the executive committee of the Alliance will meet and accept the resignation of Fish, probably pass congratulatory resolutions over the resignation of the pair, and arrange for the annual meeting.

THE END IS NEAR. The Disintegration of the Republican Party at Hand. The principal work of the executive committee, after receiving the resignation of Do "Fish," was the preparation of an address to the People's party of which his address reviews the results of the election in state and nation, predicts the disintegration of the Republican party, congratulates the people on the election of Judges Ely and Anderson, declares that the wheat and other rings have a firm hold on the Republican party and will control the actions of the governor-elect. His address is a readable document in the graceful and entertaining style of the Sage and is well worth perusal. It follows:

To the Members of the People's Party of Minnesota: The undersigned, your state executive committee, respectfully reports that it has this day closed up the business of the campaign of 1892, and commences the campaign of 1893. The accounts of the secretary and treasurer have been carefully examined by a subcommittee, and found to be correct. The total receipts aggregated about $5,000, and this large amount was nearly all contributed by the voters in small amounts, much of it in the form of letters and articles, and was faithfully disbursed by the secretary and assistant secretary, a large part of the money going to pay for hundreds of tracts, and for the purchase of advertising space for personal expenses, and the thousand and one other expenditures incident to a campaign. We are glad to state that we are rearers less than two hundred dollars, while we have four or five hundred dollars due us which will, with what we have already received, put us in a position to pay up. A complete report is in the hands of the secretary, and open at any time to the inspection of any member of the party. It is needless to say that we have no secrets, and that not one dollar was paid for any illegal or improper purpose.

We find much in the outcome of the national campaign to encourage us. It is only four months since our party was organized in Ohio, but in that short period of time we have secured an organization in every state in the Union, and on election day we carried the electoral vote of seven states, to wit: Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho, for our candidates, Weaver and Field. Our vote

Decided the Contest in Illinois and Indiana: we doubled the independent vote in Massachusetts; we have elected six members of congress (more than doubling our vote in the present house), and we shall have six senators in the United States senate, and we have come to stay. The history of the politics of this country, or of the nation, because of the universal consent of all, is that the Republican party will repeat itself, not only in our victory in 1894, but in the disintegration of the Republican party, precisely as William Scott, the Republican party, has carried this year only about twice as many states as his new-born giant of reform, and many of these have been won by majorities of a few hundred. There is every reason to believe that the party will be the politics of the country to rearrange itself on new lines.

The Democratic party has triumphed in the nation, because of the universal consent with existing conditions. The people were led to believe that the deep-seated diseases of the body-politic could be cured by the difference between the Mills bill and the McKinley bill. It was like treating a man in the last stages of consumption with camomile tea. If the Democrats apply their medicine it will be found that the distresses of the people do not diminish. The people will kick them out of doors, they will kick them out of doors, they are between the devil and the deep sea. In 1894 the clock may be ready to report to more drastic remedies than a disintegration of the party.

Don't "fish" was not in a pleasant frame of mind over his enforced resignation, and talked rather wildly about the matter. He denounced the management of the campaign, severely and to the point, but he had not only made the People's party, but he also laid claim to the making of Donnelly himself. He accused the Sage of ingratitude, saying: "Donnelly is ungrateful and orge is the man who must go."

The coming annual meeting of the state Alliance will be held about the time of the meeting of the legislature, and for the reason that many of the senators and representatives will desire to attend it is quite likely that the place of meeting will be changed from St. Cloud to Minneapolis or St. Paul. Powderly will be present and deliver addresses, and a very large attendance is expected.

Today the executive committee of the Alliance will meet and accept the resignation of Fish, probably pass congratulatory resolutions over the resignation of the pair, and arrange for the annual meeting.

THE END IS NEAR. The Disintegration of the Republican Party at Hand. The principal work of the executive committee, after receiving the resignation of Do "Fish," was the preparation of an address to the People's party of which his address reviews the results of the election in state and nation, predicts the disintegration of the Republican party, congratulates the people on the election of Judges Ely and Anderson, declares that the wheat and other rings have a firm hold on the Republican party and will control the actions of the governor-elect. His address is a readable document in the graceful and entertaining style of the Sage and is well worth perusal. It follows:

To the Members of the People's Party of Minnesota: The undersigned, your state executive committee, respectfully reports that it has this day closed up the business of the campaign of 1892, and commences the campaign of 1893. The accounts of the secretary and treasurer have been carefully examined by a subcommittee, and found to be correct. The total receipts aggregated about $5,000, and this large amount was nearly all contributed by the voters in small amounts, much of it in the form of letters and articles, and was faithfully disbursed by the secretary and assistant secretary, a large part of the money going to pay for hundreds of tracts, and for the purchase of advertising space for personal expenses, and the thousand and one other expenditures incident to a campaign. We are glad to state that we are rearers less than two hundred dollars, while we have four or five hundred dollars due us which will, with what we have already received, put us in a position to pay up. A complete report is in the hands of the secretary, and open at any time to the inspection of any member of the party. It is needless to say that we have no secrets, and that not one dollar was paid for any illegal or improper purpose.

We find much in the outcome of the national campaign to encourage us. It is only four months since our party was organized in Ohio, but in that short period of time we have secured an organization in every state in the Union, and on election day we carried the electoral vote of seven states, to wit: Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho, for our candidates, Weaver and Field. Our vote

Decided the Contest in Illinois and Indiana: we doubled the independent vote in Massachusetts; we have elected six members of congress (more than doubling our vote in the present house), and we shall have six senators in the United States senate, and we have come to stay. The history of the politics of this country, or of the nation, because of the universal consent of all, is that the Republican party will repeat itself, not only in our victory in 1894, but in the disintegration of the Republican party, precisely as William Scott, the Republican party, has carried this year only about twice as many states as his new-born giant of reform, and many of these have been won by majorities of a few hundred. There is every reason to believe that the party will be the politics of the country to rearrange itself on new lines.

The Democratic party has triumphed in the nation, because of the universal consent with existing conditions. The people were led to believe that the deep-seated diseases of the body-politic could be cured by the difference between the Mills bill and the McKinley bill. It was like treating a man in the last stages of consumption with camomile tea. If the Democrats apply their medicine it will be found that the distresses of the people do not diminish. The people will kick them out of doors, they are between the devil and the deep sea. In 1894 the clock may be ready to report to more drastic remedies than a disintegration of the party.

Don't "fish" was not in a pleasant frame of mind over his enforced resignation, and talked rather wildly about the matter. He denounced the management of the campaign, severely and to the point, but he had not only made the People's party, but he also laid claim to the making of Donnelly himself. He accused the Sage of ingratitude, saying: "Donnelly is ungrateful and orge is the man who must go."

The coming annual meeting of the state Alliance will be held about the time of the meeting of the legislature, and for the reason that many of the senators and representatives will desire to attend it is quite likely that the place of meeting will be changed from St. Cloud to Minneapolis or St. Paul. Powderly will be present and deliver addresses, and a very large attendance is expected.

Today the executive committee of the Alliance will meet and accept the resignation of Fish, probably pass congratulatory resolutions over the resignation of the pair, and arrange for the annual meeting.

THE END IS NEAR. The Disintegration of the Republican Party at Hand. The principal work of the executive committee, after receiving the resignation of Do "Fish," was the preparation of an address to the People's party of which his address reviews the results of the election in state and nation, predicts the disintegration of the Republican party, congratulates the people on the election of Judges Ely and Anderson, declares that the wheat and other rings have a firm hold on the Republican party and will control the actions of the governor-elect. His address is a readable document in the graceful and entertaining style of the Sage and is well worth perusal. It follows:

To the Members of the People's Party of Minnesota: The undersigned, your state executive committee, respectfully reports that it has this day closed up the business of the campaign of 1892, and commences the campaign of 1893. The accounts of the secretary and treasurer have been carefully examined by a subcommittee, and found to be correct. The total receipts aggregated about $5,000, and this large amount was nearly all contributed by the voters in small amounts, much of it in the form of letters and articles, and was faithfully disbursed by the secretary and assistant secretary, a large part of the money going to pay for hundreds of tracts, and for the purchase of advertising space for personal expenses, and the thousand and one other expenditures incident to a campaign. We are glad to state that we are rearers less than two hundred dollars, while we have four or five hundred dollars due us which will, with what we have already received, put us in a position to pay up. A complete report is in the hands of the secretary, and open at any time to the inspection of any member of the party. It is needless to say that we have no secrets, and that not one dollar was paid for any illegal or improper purpose.

We find much in the outcome of the national campaign to encourage us. It is only four months since our party was organized in Ohio, but in that short period of time we have secured an organization in every state in the Union, and on election day we carried the electoral vote of seven states, to wit: Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho, for our candidates, Weaver and Field. Our vote

Decided the Contest in Illinois and Indiana: we doubled the independent vote in Massachusetts; we have elected six members of congress (more than doubling our vote in the present house), and we shall have six senators in the United States senate, and we have come to stay. The history of the politics of this country, or of the nation, because of the universal consent of all, is that the Republican party will repeat itself, not only in our victory in 1894, but in the disintegration of the Republican party, precisely as William Scott, the Republican party, has carried this year only about twice as many states as his new-born giant of reform, and many of these have been won by majorities of a few hundred. There is every reason to believe that the party will be the politics of the country to rearrange itself on new lines.

The Democratic party has triumphed in the nation, because of the universal consent with existing conditions. The people were led to believe that the deep-seated diseases of the body-politic could be cured by the difference between the Mills bill and the McKinley bill. It was like treating a man in the last stages of consumption with camomile tea. If the Democrats apply their medicine it will be found that the distresses of the people do not diminish. The people will kick them out of doors, they are between the devil and the deep sea. In 1894 the clock may be ready to report to more drastic remedies than a disintegration of the party.

Don't "fish" was not in a pleasant frame of mind over his enforced resignation, and talked rather wildly about the matter. He denounced the management of the campaign, severely and to the point, but he had not only made the People's party, but he also laid claim to the making of Donnelly himself. He accused the Sage of ingratitude, saying: "Donnelly is ungrateful and orge is the man who must go."

The coming annual meeting of the state Alliance will be held about the time of the meeting of the legislature, and for the reason that many of the senators and representatives will desire to attend it is quite likely that the place of meeting will be changed from St. Cloud to Minneapolis or St. Paul. Powderly will be present and deliver addresses, and a very large attendance is expected.

Today the executive committee of the Alliance will meet and accept the resignation of Fish, probably pass congratulatory resolutions over the resignation of the pair, and arrange for the annual meeting.

"DOG" FISH RETIRES.

A Resignation That Came in Time to Save an Expulsion.

The Sage of Nininger Dissatisfied With the Great West's Course.

An Address to the New Party Reviewing the Late Campaign.

The Republican Party Will Disintegrate, as Did the Old Whigs.

There is a vacancy in the official board of the Minnesota State Farmers' Alliance. And the Great West is no longer the official organ of the association. Do "Fish" was not "fired," but he saved himself yesterday by giving the office of state lecturer yesterday when he became convinced that he would be fired as soon as the executive committee of the Alliance could get together to consider the "Great West" saying: "Donnelly is ungrateful and orge is the man who must go."

The coming annual meeting of the state Alliance will be held about the time of the meeting of the legislature, and for the reason that many of the senators and representatives will desire to attend it is quite likely that the place of meeting will be changed from St. Cloud to Minneapolis or St. Paul. Powderly will be present and deliver addresses, and a very large attendance is expected.

Today the executive committee of the Alliance will meet and accept the resignation of Fish, probably pass congratulatory resolutions over the resignation of the pair, and arrange for the annual meeting.

THE END IS NEAR. The Disintegration of the Republican Party at Hand. The principal work of the executive committee, after receiving the resignation of Do "Fish," was the preparation of an address to the People's party of which his address reviews the results of the election in state and nation, predicts the disintegration of the Republican party, congratulates the people on the election of Judges Ely and Anderson, declares that the wheat and other rings have a firm hold on the Republican party and will control the actions of the governor-elect. His address is a readable document in the graceful and entertaining style of the Sage and is well worth perusal. It follows:

To the Members of the People's Party of Minnesota: The undersigned, your state executive committee, respectfully reports that it has this day closed up the business of the campaign of 1892, and commences the campaign of 1893. The accounts of the secretary and treasurer have been carefully examined by a subcommittee, and found to be correct. The total receipts aggregated about $5,000, and this large amount was nearly all contributed by the voters in small amounts, much of it in the form of letters and articles, and was faithfully disbursed by the secretary and assistant secretary, a large part of the money going to pay for hundreds of tracts, and for the purchase of advertising space for personal expenses, and the thousand and one other expenditures incident to a campaign. We are glad to state that we are rearers less than two hundred dollars, while we have four or five hundred dollars due us which will, with what we have already received, put us in a position to pay up. A complete report is in the hands of the secretary, and open at any time to the inspection of any member of the party. It is needless to say that we have no secrets, and that not one dollar was paid for any illegal or improper purpose.

We find much in the outcome of the national campaign to encourage us. It is only four months since our party was organized in Ohio, but in that short period of time we have secured an organization in every state in the Union, and on election day we carried the electoral vote of seven states, to wit: Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho, for our candidates, Weaver and Field. Our vote

Decided the Contest in Illinois and Indiana: we doubled the independent vote in Massachusetts; we have elected six members of congress (more than doubling our vote in the present house), and we shall have six senators in the United States senate, and we have come to stay. The history of the politics of this country, or of the nation, because of the universal consent of all, is that the Republican party will repeat itself, not only in our victory in 1894, but in the disintegration of the Republican party, precisely as William Scott, the Republican party, has carried this year only about twice as many states as his new-born giant of reform, and many of these have been won by majorities of a few hundred. There is every reason to believe that the party will be the politics of the country to rearrange itself on new lines.

The Democratic party has triumphed in the nation, because of the universal consent with existing conditions. The people were led to believe that the deep-seated diseases of the body-politic could be cured by the difference between the Mills bill and the McKinley bill. It was like treating a man in the last stages of consumption with camomile tea. If the Democrats apply their medicine it will be found that the distresses of the people do not diminish. The people will kick them out of doors, they are between the devil and the deep sea. In 1894 the clock may be ready to report to more drastic remedies than a disintegration of the party.

Don't "fish" was not in a pleasant frame of mind over his enforced resignation, and talked rather wildly about the matter. He denounced the management of the campaign, severely and to the point, but he had not only made the People's party, but he also laid claim to the making of Donnelly himself. He accused the Sage of ingratitude, saying: "Donnelly is ungrateful and orge is the man who must go."

The coming annual meeting of the state Alliance will be held about the time of the meeting of the legislature, and for the reason that many of the senators and representatives will desire to attend it is quite likely that the place of meeting will be changed from St. Cloud to Minneapolis or St. Paul. Powderly will be present and deliver addresses, and a very large attendance is expected.

Today the executive committee of the Alliance will meet and accept the resignation of Fish, probably pass congratulatory resolutions over the resignation of the pair, and arrange for the annual meeting.

THE END IS NEAR. The Disintegration of the Republican Party at Hand. The principal work of the executive committee, after receiving the resignation of Do "Fish," was the preparation of an address to the People's party of which his address reviews the results of the election in state and nation, predicts the disintegration of the Republican party, congratulates the people on the election of Judges Ely and Anderson, declares that the wheat and other rings have a firm hold on the Republican party and will control the actions of the governor-elect. His address is a readable document in the graceful and entertaining style of the Sage and is well worth perusal. It follows:

To the Members of the People's Party of Minnesota: The undersigned, your state executive committee, respectfully reports that it has this day closed up the business of the campaign of 1892, and commences the campaign of 1893. The accounts of the secretary and treasurer have been carefully examined by a subcommittee, and found to be correct. The total receipts aggregated about $5,000, and this large amount was nearly all contributed by the voters in small amounts, much of it in the form of letters and articles, and was faithfully disbursed by the secretary and assistant secretary, a large part of the money going to pay for hundreds of tracts, and for the purchase of advertising space for personal expenses, and the thousand and one other expenditures incident to a campaign. We are glad to state that we are rearers less than two hundred dollars, while we have four or five hundred dollars due us which will, with what we have already received, put us in a position to pay up. A complete report is in the hands of the secretary, and open at any time to the inspection of any member of the party. It is needless to say that we have no secrets, and that not one dollar was paid for any illegal or improper purpose.

We find much in the outcome of the national campaign to encourage us. It is only four months since our party was organized in Ohio, but in that short period of time we have secured an organization in every state in the Union, and on election day we carried the electoral vote of seven states, to wit: Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho, for our candidates, Weaver and Field. Our vote

Decided the Contest in Illinois and Indiana: we doubled the independent vote in Massachusetts; we have elected six members of congress (more than doubling our vote in the present house), and we shall have six senators in the United States senate, and we have come to stay. The history of the politics of this country, or of the nation, because of the universal consent of all, is that the Republican party will repeat itself, not only in our victory in 1894, but in the disintegration of the Republican party, precisely as William Scott, the Republican party, has carried this year only about twice as many states as his new-born giant of reform, and many of these have been won by majorities of a few hundred. There is every reason to believe that the party will be the politics of the country to rearrange itself on new lines.

The Democratic party has triumphed in the nation, because of the universal consent with existing conditions. The people were led to believe that the deep-seated diseases of the body-politic could be cured by the difference between the Mills bill and the McKinley bill. It was like treating a man in the last stages of consumption with camomile tea. If the Democrats apply their medicine it will be found that the distresses of the people do not diminish. The people will kick them out of doors, they are between the devil and the deep sea. In 1894 the clock may be ready to report to more drastic remedies than a disintegration of the party.

Don't "fish" was not in a pleasant frame of mind over his enforced resignation, and talked rather wildly about the matter. He denounced the management of the campaign, severely and to the point, but he had not only made the People's party, but he also laid claim to the making of Donnelly himself. He accused the Sage of ingratitude, saying: "Donnelly is ungrateful and orge is the man who must go."

The coming annual meeting of the state Alliance will be held about the time of the meeting of the legislature, and for the reason that many of the senators and representatives will desire to attend it is quite likely that the place of meeting will be changed from St. Cloud to Minneapolis or St. Paul. Powderly will be present and deliver addresses, and a very large attendance is expected.

Today the executive committee of the Alliance will meet and accept the resignation of Fish, probably pass congratulatory resolutions over the resignation of the pair, and arrange for the annual meeting.

THE END IS NEAR. The Disintegration of the Republican Party at Hand. The principal work of the executive committee, after receiving the resignation of Do "Fish," was the preparation of an address to the People's party of which his address reviews the results of the election in state and nation, predicts the disintegration of the Republican party, congratulates the people on the election of Judges Ely and Anderson, declares that the wheat and other rings have a firm hold on the Republican party and will control the actions of the governor-elect. His address is a readable document in the graceful and entertaining style of the Sage and is well worth perusal. It follows:

To the Members of the People's Party of Minnesota: The undersigned, your state executive committee, respectfully reports that it has this day closed up the business of the campaign of 1892, and commences the campaign of 1893. The accounts of the secretary and treasurer have been carefully examined by a subcommittee, and found to be correct. The total receipts aggregated about $5,000, and this large amount was nearly all contributed by the voters in small amounts, much of it in the form of letters and articles, and was faithfully disbursed by the secretary and assistant secretary, a large part of the money going to pay for hundreds of tracts, and for the purchase of advertising space for personal expenses, and the thousand and one other expenditures incident to a campaign. We are glad to state that we are rearers less than two hundred dollars, while we have four or five hundred dollars due us which will, with what we have already received, put us in a position to pay up. A complete report is in the hands of the secretary, and open at any time to the inspection of any member of the party. It is needless to say that we have no secrets, and that not one dollar was paid for any illegal or improper purpose.

We find much in the outcome of the national campaign to encourage us. It is only four months since our party was organized in Ohio, but in that short period of time we have secured an organization in every state in the Union, and on election day we carried the electoral vote of seven states, to wit: Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho, for our candidates, Weaver and Field. Our vote

Decided the Contest in Illinois and Indiana: we doubled the independent vote in Massachusetts; we have elected six members of congress (more than doubling our vote in the present house), and we shall have six senators in the United States senate, and we have come to stay. The history of the politics of this country, or of the nation, because of the universal consent of all, is that the Republican party will repeat itself, not only in our victory in 1894, but in the disintegration of the Republican party, precisely as William Scott, the Republican party, has carried this year only about twice as many states as his new-born giant of reform, and many of these have been won by majorities of a few hundred. There is every reason to believe that the party will be the politics of the country to rearrange itself on new lines.

The Democratic party has triumphed in the nation, because of the universal consent with existing conditions. The people were led to believe that the deep-seated diseases of the body-politic could be cured by the difference between the Mills bill and the McKinley bill. It was like treating a man in the last stages of consumption with camomile tea. If the Democrats apply their medicine it will be found that the distresses of the people do not diminish. The people will kick them out of doors, they are between the devil and the deep sea. In 1894 the clock may be ready to report to more drastic remedies than a disintegration of the party.