

SAINT PAUL.

DRIFT OF THE CITY.

Diphtheria at 575 Cass street. Capt. M. O'Connor, of the health department, is confined to his home with a severe cold.

Ex-Senator John J. Inalls will lecture on "Politics and Politicians" at the People's church on Feb. 23.

The last appearance of Charles L. Davis as "Alvin Karpis" at the Grand will be this afternoon and tonight.

A small fire, caused by a gasoline stove explosion, in the Foreman block, called out the department last night. Damage trifling.

A fire, caused by a salamander left in the dwelling being constructed on Victoria street, called out the department at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. No damage.

At Hotel Metropolitan—A. G. Ganach, Charles Sawyer, Crookston, Minn.; L. D. Tucker, Chicago; R. A. Campbell, city; W. P. Foster, St. Croix Falls; P. A. Sweet, H. E. Swayman, New York; M. B. Ascher, Chicago.

Theodore Gustinger, eight years of age, was brought to the central station last night. The boy was taken in at the request of Relief Agent Hanchette, who says the boy's parents keep him on the street late nights selling papers.

Frank Smith, charged with complicity in the burglary of rooms at 50 West Seventh street, was arrested last night. The offense was committed about a month ago, and Smith's companions are in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Edwin Anderson and his company, including Frank Lese and Marion Elmore, will amuse the patrons of the Grand next week with the highly finished and sensational comedy drama, "Evelyn's Nest," a play based on life in the far West and the Sierras.

The comedians Evans and Hoy will give their last two performances of "The Success," a "Patrol" and "The Metropolitan Opera House," today, matinee and evening. This will be an excellent opportunity for the ladies and children to see the excellent performance of a play at popular prices.

A post-mortem was held yesterday on the body of Alexander Crater, who died at the union depot Thursday. The autopsy showed death was caused by tuberculosis. A telegram was received by Coroner Whitcomb from Julius Crater, a brother of the deceased, who lives at Butte, Mont., requesting that the body be returned here.

At the Clifton—Miss Baker, Duluth; P. H. Palmer and wife, Cincinnati; E. L. Day and wife, Boston, Mass.; C. E. Pabian, Okauchee, N. Y.; W. H. Phillips, Waukegan, Wis.; G. B. Barlow, Marquette; N. P. MADE A GOOD HAUL.

The Police Round Up a Promising Nest of Burglars.

And Some Evidence That Will Later Prove of Value.

Good Results Sure to Follow the Recent Road Assembly.

An Appropriation to be Asked for Red River Water.

Yesterday morning Isaac Lazarus, proprietor of a second-hand store at 397 Minnesota street, was arrested on a warrant charging him with receiving stolen property. The arrest was made by Detectives McGuigan and Meyerding, who were also provided with a search warrant. The officers found in the place a roll of carpet which was stolen about a month ago from Cardozo's furniture store, Jackson street.

With the arrest of Lazarus, the burglary of Vitt's saloon and Schnell & Kraus's cutlery store a week ago is cleared up. Monday last Jack Manning was arrested by Detectives Ryan and McFetridge as a suspicious character. Manning gave the officers a fight, but was finally overpowered and locked up. The night of his arrest he attempted to escape from the central station, and was taken to the water table.

Lieut. Murphy and Jailer Jack Daly would have secured his liberty. A couple of days in the sweat box and several talks with Chief of Detectives Manning resulted in Manning telling what he knew. According to Manning's story he committed both burglaries at the same time, and was taken to St. Paul yesterday, and with him a lot of tailoring goods, supposed to have been stolen by Manning, whose real name is James Burns, resides, when not in prison, in New York city, and is a head man. He reported several years in San Quentin prison, California, and was released last August from the state's prison at Salt Lake, where he had been confined for burglary. Since that time he has been drifting about the Northwest, and arrived in St. Paul ten days ago. James Manning, who is now in the custody of Manning, is an Englishman about fifty years old, and has made St. Paul his headquarters for about two years. He admitted buying the stuff from Manning, but before he was arrested had shipped it to his wife, who lives at 71 East Third street. Chief of Detectives McFetridge says that the goods were found in numerous express receipts, showing that he had shipped packages from Omaha, St. Louis and other points to his wife. Chief of Detectives McFetridge says Powell evidently makes a business of traveling about the West and purchasing stolen goods.

Attorney Davis, who will appear for Lazarus when he is arraigned, says his client has been guilty of no offense. He keeps a second-hand store, and reports regularly to the police all purchases made by him. At police headquarters the property found in Powell's possession, which had been put in a term in the workhouse for vagrancy.

So Says Col. Chambers of the Good Roads Convention. "I believe the good roads association will effect an invaluable work the coming ten years," said Clark Chambers, of Watouana, at the Merchants' yesterday.

But J. Fancey that Mr. Potter's lecture was founded upon a false premise. To arrive at such a conclusion he must have estimated that Minnesota is an almost exclusively wheat-bearing state. This is a fallacy. In all that territory south of the Twin Cities wheat raising is a secondary affair in agriculture. Mixed farming has displaced the wheat because it is more profitable. The county, Steele, raises so little wheat that it is seldom spoken of. The dairy and stock farm is the rule. As a result, there is very little heavy wagon traffic. Still we would like better roads, and I doubt if there is a county in the state that does not need improvements in this respect. But the time has not come for Macadam on the prairies. Good gravel roads, well built, with efficient drainage, are good enough; but in the more thickly populated sections of the state, like the district between the two cities, for illustration, would undoubtedly be benefited by the Macadam or telford roads. And the roads running out of these cities in all directions Macadam is probably the best. We have an excellent quality of granite at St. Cloud, and there must be an immense tonnage already chipped up there in the reformitory quarries that can be used to advantage if it can be hauled at a minimum expense. I hope the good work will go on."

RED RIVER VALLEY NEEDS. Appropriation to be Asked to Open Waterways.

There has not been a session of the legislature for years in which bills have not been introduced providing for Red river valley appropriations. In a day or two Senator Lomen will present an act to the senate for passage, and Representative Chesley will introduce a copy of the same bill in the house simultaneously. The object is obviously expedition.

A meeting of a committee and the two gentlemen mentioned was held at the Merchants' at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The committee is sent to the Capital city by the citizens of the Red river valley, and it was composed of Ezra G. Valentine, of Breckenridge; Mr. Childs, of Crookston; D. McAnulty, D. Bodkins, and John Erickson, of Moorhead; H. W. Johnson, of Kittson county, and Mr. Bailey, of Marshall.

The senator and representative agreed that the bill was in accord with public sentiment in the Red river valley. The purpose is to improve the watercourse. It provides for an appropriation amounting to $25,000 for the next year, making a total of $100,000 for opening the closed waterways of the streams tributary to the Red river, and it was prepared by the Red River drainage company. An appropriation is asked upon the further condition that J. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad company, will donate $25,000 additionally, and the committee that brought the bill to St. Paul represents that Mr. Hill has assented to the conditions. The Great Northern road taps the valley, and it is considered good financing to secure the projected improvements.

The bill provides for the appropriation of money for opening the closed waterways in Wilkin, Clay, Norman, Fork, Marshall and Kittson counties. The annual appropriation asked for is $25,000 for four years, to be taken from the general fund. The bill also pro-VIDES FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A COMMISSION to consist of the governor of the state, one of the grand jurors, the commissioner and a person to be named by the Great Northern Railway company to take charge of the work.

Which Leads to Domestic Difficulty and a Law Suit.

A Peculiar Case Decided in Court by Judge Willis.

The Perpetrator of an Assault Gets Off Very Lightly.

Damages Asked of a Railroad for a Fight on a Train.

A case, and in some of its features the result of domestic discord, terminated yesterday in the branch of the district court presided over by Judge Willis. Helen M. Snell was the plaintiff in the action, and the defendants were George Snell and Jennie C. Snell.

George Snell is the son of the plaintiff and Jennie C. Snell his young wife. They were married in December, 1902, the maiden name of the young lady being Jennie Caward, her age being then about eighteen years. It appears that young Snell during his courtship had represented to his fiancée that he was well-to-do, being the owner of a piece of real estate, property on Dayton avenue, where he was living at the time. Later, in asking the consent of the girl's father for his daughter's hand, he made similar statements. On the strength of this, and the fact that the young man seemed to be of good family, the father acquiesced in the marriage and bid him goodspeed. Up to this time all had gone merrily as a wedding bell, but about this time the father-in-law loomed up on the scene and then the trouble began. She (the mother-in-law) was accompanied by a sister, who was returning from the young couple made the mistake of their lives in permitting them to come and live with them. In a little while came the inevitable smash-up due to the clash of authority. According to Mrs. George Snell's testimony, one morning the old lady objected to her going out so much, whereupon the youthful mistress of the house retorted that she thought she could do as she pleased in her own house. What was her surprise when she was informed by the mother-in-law that the house was the property of herself. This was a revelation to her, for the first time, that she had been duped and tricked by her husband, by the man who should be her protector and defender. She then learned that the house was owned by her mother-in-law, and she had been living there for some time. FARE. Boshell interfered in the conversation and called Mullen a "whore," and Mullen retorted with the remark that he ought to be made to pay his fare. Mullen resorted to a personal encounter to vindicate himself, and got severely punished about the time the train closed in the car. Mullen claims the railroad company should have afforded him protection from assault on its car, and sued for damages. The case was tried in the Ramsey county district, and then went to the court of appeals, where it was affirmed. Mullen went to the federal court, and is now on trial before Justice E. L. Linton and a jury.

The Democrats Not Yet Ready to Spring Col. Benton Again.

Liquor Men of South Dakota Prepare a Bill on the Traffic.

The Big Flouring Mill at Benson Completely Destroyed by Fire.

Special to the Globe. BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 27.—Instead of another exciting day in the legislature, it was time in the extreme. In the morning it was rumored that another attempt would be made by the Democrats to elect Benton, but it seems they were not successful in getting the Independents to go in for their man again. Besides there are other Democrats in the city who are anxious for an inning, among them Judge McConnell, of Fargo, and Judge Rose, of Jamestown. Both are popular with the Populists, and each believes that Benton having failed, he should make way for them. The most of the Casey men came out from under cover today, and on the first ballot he got 37 votes, nine short of a nomination, two members being absent. The vote stood: Casey, 37; Worst, 1; Roach, 16; Muir, 3; Anderson, 14; Smith, 6; Kingman, 5; scattering, 4.

A LIQUOR BILL. Drawn by the Dealers of South Dakota. Special to the Globe. PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 27.—The announcement of Mr. Blaine's death brought the legislative sessions to an early adjournment, the senate going over to Tuesday. A joint resolution was presented for joint memorial services on the day of the funeral. Stuverud's warehouse bill became a law, and Donoghue's making state a law, and commissioners' office went through the house with but six dissenting votes. The house temperance committee met this morning for the first time, and considered a new bill from the liquor men proposing local option by cities and towns and state inspection and state control of the traffic. It will report tomorrow.
