GEN. BUTLER'S BRAIN.

FOUR OUNCES HEAVIER THAN DANIEL WEBSTER'S.

Why Great Brains Shrink—Disclosures Regarding the Brains of eminent Men—What They Indicate—Brain of General Benjamin F. Butler.

The brain of the late Benjamin F. Butler was found to weigh two ounces, four ounces more than the brain of the great Daniel Webster.

Up to this time Webster's brain was the second largest on record, the largest being that of Cuvier, which weighed sixty-five ounces.

The physicians state that the brain of Daniel Webster was originally much smaller than as before, but that it had become shrunken by disease and the use of alcohol; it is estimated that at least six ounces were lost in this way.

Think of it! The brain shrinks, the tissues waste, the thinking power becomes less, and the result is over-exertion, disease, or dissipation.

How many men and women today are shrinking, wasting brains, and shortening their lives. The number is legion; and yet it is all needless, it can all be avoided; let us explain.

The brain and nerves need food; not such food as sustains the muscles, makes bone, makes sinews, but brain food.
