The Browns will start the season with the following players: Catchers, Buckley and Peitz; pitchers, Clarkson, Barnett, Hawley, Hawke, Breitenstein and Dolan; first base, Warden; second base, White; third, Crooks; short, Glasscock; left, Griffin; center, Brodie; right, Dowd or Carothers. Newell will be used as utility man.

RECEIVED WITH ENTHUSIASM Mitchell Surprised at the Cordiality of the New Yorkers.

New York, Feb. 19.—Charlie Mitchell made his appearance on the stage of the Standard theater this evening at a benefit and was enthusiastically received, and seemed somewhat taken aback by the heartiness of his reception in the series.

"I hardly think I will say much," he began, "for I have been so misquoted in my words so many times by certain people in this country that I will hereafter let my actions speak for themselves. I will not say that I can or will in my coming endeavor, but I will say that I will be there without fail."

Manager Brady said that he had received three telegrams from Corbett during the day. Corbett is pleased that arrangements have been perfected for the match, Judge Newton, the president of the Coney Island Athletic club, this evening said his club would make a bet on the match between Corbett and Mitchell, the proper time.

BEER-DRESSING CONTEST. A Novel Event Proposed for the World's Fair.

New York, Feb. 19.—Albert Manheimer, of 325 East Forty-third street, who holds the world's record for dressing a steer, has challenged Michael F. Mullins, of Chicago, who defeated every butcher who contested against him, to a beer-dressing match at the World's fair soon after the opening of the fair.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—The Chicago navy to row at the world's fair next summer has not changed the attitude of Yale in the matter. Capt. J. W. of the Yale crew, says he will not go to Chicago, as it is believed that the Yale crew would be encountered, and, besides, the climate at Chicago would not agree with his men.

HALL CATCHING ON.

The Third District Congressman Making His Mark in Washington.

Clever Work in Getting Through the South St. Paul Bridge Bill.

What John Lind Has Done During His Career at the Capital.

Halvorsen's Quiet but Effective Labor for the Old Fifth District.

Special to the Globe.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Although Congressman Hall, of the Third district of Minnesota, is just about completing his first term in the lower house, he seems to have the standing and influence of a member of many congresses. This was evidenced by his success in passing through the South St. Paul bridge bill a few days ago.

JOHN LIND'S WORK. The Second District Member's Career in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Congressman John Lind, of the second district, will complete a period of six years in the lower house on the day that the Democracy again comes into power, and he does not hesitate to say that he retires to private life with a great deal of pleasure.

Among the candidates before the convention, which was held at Mankato in August, were the late Hon. D. L. Collette and Hon. E. P. Freeman, of Mankato; Hon. O. E. Turrell, of Redwood Falls; Hon. C. H. Smith, of Washington, and Hon. John Lind, of New Ulm.

Mr. Hatch is getting very restless over the delay in the ratification of his bill that resulted in the retirement of Senator Ramsey away back in 1875. A resolution was introduced in the senate to pass the bill under suspension of the rules, and it is asserted by those who are familiar with the bill that it will be passed.

UNCLE JERRY EXPLAINS. Says He Really Isn't Using Up Too Much Money.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Replying to a question of the Globe, the appropriations for the department of agriculture have increased three-fold under the present administration. Secretary Rusk says: "I have already called attention to my last annual report to the effect that the appropriations for the department of agriculture have been so much deducted from the appropriations for other departments that it is not possible to consider it as a department of the government."

WHAT IS HAPPENING?

Rev. Edwards, of the Church of Christ, Continues His Series.

In his series of sermons of John's description of Heaven, the Rev. E. R. Edwards, of the Church of Christ, delivered a discourse on the subject of happiness yesterday morning. He said: "We desire to live before you this morning the universal proposition that God intended all men should be supremely happy. This truth has a vital connection with both the Alpha and Omega of Scripture. The opening chapters of Genesis emphasize it and the last vision of John's Revelation displays it with luminous glory. That mankind is not now universally holy and happy may not be charged to the dealings of the Creator. It is only necessary to adjust and fashion our environments and circumstances as to make them conducive to the attainment of that happiness which the Supreme Ruler is dealing with intelligent, rational and responsible beings, not things. My conviction concerning the opinion with which I have started has been awakened by a reading of man's primitive state. If it be true that man was created in the image of God, he is a being who is supremely blessed I apprehend that there could be no more welcome truth propounded to mankind. Let some doubt be removed by the assurance that liberty to man is not a mere formality of a man's primitive state. If it be true that man was created in the image of God, he is a being who is supremely blessed I apprehend that there could be no more welcome truth propounded to mankind. Let some doubt be removed by the assurance that liberty to man is not a
