THE TREND OF TRADE.

merous orders, and they indicate a very substantial trade for the season. Our preparations for the season's trade, especially in baskets, were on a larger scale than ever. We doubled our cold storage capacity, and we are glad, of course, that the season's trade is favorably. The trade in vinegars promises well; the Northwestern demand for pure goods is particularly satisfactory to us.

J. S. Robertson, B. Presley & Co., Wholesale Fruits—The warm, pleasant weather has had during the past few days has opened up the fruit trade very noticeably, and business with us is active, though there is no improvement in prices. In fact, there is a decline in California oranges, which are now arriving quite freely. A little more warm weather, however, will open up the ice and snow will make better business all around. In California the prospects for green fruits were never better than they are this season. While in California a short time ago I arranged for a supply five times as large as St. Paul has ever had before. They sent us a choice assortment. I spent six weeks out there, and I must say it is a very extensive fruit district, and that it produces all varieties and of the finest quality. At least 6,000 carloads of oranges are to be marketed from Riverside, Cal., by June. The amount almost equaling the entire yearly consumption of the United States heretofore. Their vineyard interests seem to be on the upswing at present. Grapes and figs sell there at very low prices. Their walnut and almond crops, which are of excellent quality. Their olives and olive oils cannot be beaten by any foreign goods. I had a pleasant but busy time on the Pacific coast. The fruit trade is considerably better than it was a year ago. The strawberry crop is of good quality. The St. Paul fruit market is likely to be of excellent quality and to have a good trade all through the season.

Lakes Inflow the West Side and Back Water Washes the Flats.

While the Mississippi has not yet risen to the danger point the abundance of water is making matters very lively for those who live close to the edge of the river. Sons of America who rarely enjoy the luxury of a bath now find it necessary to wade through the ice-cold water in order to attend to their chores. The frame houses close to the

COLLEGIAN ORATORS.

The Inter-Collegiate Contest Tomorrow Evening.

The inter-collegiate oratorical contest of Minnesota will be held in the Central Park M. E. church Monday evening. It is the annual crossing of swords on the oratorical battlefield between the representatives of the state university, Hamline university and Carleton college. Each institution is represented by two speakers, chosen at home contests, and the successful one will stand for the state in the national contest to be held in Ohio the middle of May.

For Monday evening the flower of oratory in all three colleges is expected, and they are said to be evenly matched than in any previous contest. Carleton has chartered a special train and will come 200 strong to sell for their delegates, as it is the first contest they have entered in ten years. The state university always sends a large delega-

THE LIMIT.

The $5 Rate Will Positively Be Withdrawn to New Patients After April 30th.

Read Today's Convincing Statements, and if You Desire Treatment Apply at Once.

The month of April will positively be the last during which the physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute will treat all catarrhal diseases for the uniform sum of $5 per month. The announcement is made at this time to give ample notice to all contemplating taking treatment. The reasons which led them to make the price named have been stated in these columns, but the time has arrived when they find it impossible to longer continue the offer, and accordingly, on the 1st of May it will be finally withdrawn.

PLAIN TRUTHS PLAINLY PUT.

The testimonials that are presented to the public by the physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute do not come from unknown people or from distant and obscure towns. They are from this city. They are from your friends and neighbors, and can be easily verified and substantiated. In no case is a false name or a false address given. They are not thrust upon the public for the purpose of bolstering up the assertions of weak and incompetent men, nor are they the product of the imaginative writer. Further, they are not the result of a "give" in exchange for free treatment.

 The Lowest-Priced Watch House in America
 Cor. 7th and Jackson Sts., St. Paul.

Concerning trade, it is evident that the pleasant, sunny days, such as were had during part of last week, have improved the feelings and business of the wholesale merchants. They are doing a good, conservative, safe business, and they are not striving to extend trade beyond the steady, substantial volume. The country merchants are carrying over part of their stocks in some lines, and show a disposition to keep their purchases within the limits of current needs. Delays on the railroads are now forgotten, and traffic is moving along freely. The freight rate situation has, during the week, taken on a feature that is agreeable to the merchants. The ice has gone out of the Missouri river at St. Charles, and the rivers on the Northern Pacific, and the Milk river is clear at the Great Northern crossing. The latter had no appreciable delays this season. The shows went off very nicely along the transcontinental lines. The land departments of the railways report good, active inquiries for acres, especially in Minnesota, and the passenger departments report that immigration to the Northwest has set in nicely. Part of these "settlers" are "first-class," and a larger proportion "second-class," and only a small portion take the old-time emigrant cars. Second-class passengers bound for Washington and other Pacific coast states have the privileges of the tourist sleepers en route. Lands are holding up well in value under the good demand.

George Benz & Sons, Wholesale Liquors—Our trade so far this year is ahead of the trade of '92 during the corresponding period. The city trade shows quite an improvement in business. L. A. Hardenberg & Co., Wholesale Leather and Saddlery Hardware—This sunny weather is putting a better look upon business. There is considerable improvement this week in both trade and collections. I think we will do an average spring trade.

L. A. Guiterman, Guiterman Brothers, Wholesale, and Manufacturers of Gents' Furnishings—We are extending our manufacturing, putting in new machines and hiring more help. The trade is fair, although collections are quiet. There is a demand for better goods than ever.

A. B. Driscoll, McKibbin & Co., Wholesale Furs, Hats and Caps, Gloves, Etc.—In many lines our trade is considerably better than last year. We have had a very fair trade in furs, and prices advanced from $2 to $5 per pound during the season. The West is taking a good line of stock. The glove and mitten sales are very satisfactory indeed at present. We have never before at this time of the year had as many orders for fall delivery. The larger buyers are placing orders, and the smaller ones are doing well, especially soft hats—such as the Fedoras.

Henry E. Humphrey, Manager St. Paul Hardware—In sporting goods, guns, bicycles, etc., trade is lively. I was looking over our books a short time ago and found that our business a year ago. City trade is picking up and we are getting some trade from the country.

FIFTH WARD FLATS, LOOKING FROM RIVER.

river, on the West side, are so near the rising flood that their denizens could fish out of their back doors with a reasonable chance of catching a few shiners. The chances, however, are that they will now devote their energies to catching driftwood from the up-river mills and wait till the June rise before indulging in ordinary sport. A few would be as much at home floating down the slivery tide as they are while merely tugging the shore. These houses that might, possibly, be in some danger in case of very high water stand on the river side of the levee. The houses that are built so close to the water are further south are well protected by the levee and the grading of Fairfield avenue. The large body of water now noticeable in that locality seldom to be seen in the summer time. In May and June the sunshine will raise some of the water to such a height that it will be waited away by the breezes. On the east side the water causes the most concern to the dwellers on the Bohemian flats, under the high bridge, but the levee there promises to give them ample protection. The Bohemians are beginning to catch fish and are laying in a few more supplies of fuel and fence boards. Their fences on the flats indicate that when the people run out of material they merely stop building. A few dwellings farther up the river on the west side are uncomfortably washed by the river waves, but there are so close to the bluffs that their inmates could easily climb out of the reach of a rising tide. The most exposed clump of houses (about half a dozen) near the river on the island opposite South Park, two miles south of the city line. The water has been rising in the Pacific coast district lying between here and the Pacific coast, and he thinks the depression which has existed along the Pacific coast is about over—that that district will soon show an improvement. The weather in the Northwestern states has been more favorable to business than the dry weather of the Southwest.

FLOWERS, MUSIC AND BEAUTY

The Fair Sex Turn Out En Masse at Smith & Farwell's Spring Opening.

Perhaps a more replete array of house furnishings and a more varied assortment shown by this firm at their spring opening, which commenced Friday and continued for two days. Their enormous building, which is a "world within itself," was artistically decorated throughout the interior with their choice of flowers and embellished by a superb abundance of flowers. Carriage after carriage arrived, and departed during Friday and Saturday afternoon; and last night it reminded one of a full-dress affair.

During last evening, amid the odor of the innumerable floral decorations, the guest moved to the harmony of a superb repertoire of music, which was rendered by the Van City Mandolin and Guitar club. The following was the program:

- 1. March—"Spanish Romances".....Romero
- 2. Valse—"Las Flores".....Sutorius
- 3. Selection from "Wang".....Morso
- 4. Grand March—"Copland".....Morso
- 5. Valse—"Sobre Las Alas".....Rosas

EVERY CHARGE DISMISSED.

Thomas Bowen Jones Will Now Take the Aggressive.

Every one of the charges against Thomas Bowen Jones has fallen to the ground and been dismissed, and he stands today in the light of a young man who has been made the victim of a series of persecutions. The charge was made that he had secured, by false pretenses, an endorsement of a note for some small amount. Jones, when he heard of the charge, did not wait for the officer but went to the sheriff and declared himself ready to meet any accusation. When the case was called it appeared the note referred to had not been matured, and the charges dismissed. Mr. Townley, the attorney for Jones, remarked it looked like an attempt to collect a note through a criminal court, and wondered why a civil suit had not been begun. This is not to be the end of the affair. The friends of Jones do not propose to let the matter drop, but intend to take the aggressive and expose the other side. In the meantime, all cases having been dismissed against Mr. Jones, the public will reinstate him and wait for the developments that he is confident will show that he was the victim of a persecution.

N. B.—We want Traveling Salesmen everywhere, to handle our goods as a side line, and invite them to examine our specialties; for their convenience our office is open Sunday forenoon.

John Hart, Hart, Murphy & Whaley, Manufacturers of Cigars—We are keeping the same force at work. Orders are coming in fairly well. Trade has scarcely recovered from the bad weather and bad roads as yet, but our trade is a little better than it has been. As soon as the country is in shape the farmers will go to seeding, and their being busy will keep them from going to town so much, but still they will have to do some buying before seeding is over. I presume they will get through soon after the 1st of May. D. A. Murphy, who has just returned from a trip through the West and South, said that he found some improvement in business in the district lying between here and the Pacific coast, and he thinks the depression which has existed along the Pacific coast is about over—that that district will soon show an improvement. The weather in the Northwestern states has been more favorable to business than the dry weather of the Southwest.

F. J. Schulz & Co., Wholesale Millinery—We have had about one-third increase in our business this spring as compared with the previous spring. Over a hundred new accounts have been entered upon our books in 1893. Our new location in the heart of the wholesale district may have had something to do with this improvement, for when the buyers are in houses in other lines they learn of us if they want millinery. St. Paul is now quite a center for trade in our line. This is of this new business, however, comes from the ordinary, or natural, increase.

Wheat will soon be moving eastward freely from the Northwestern elevators, before the annual visits of the assessors on or about May 1. As soon as the ice goes out of Duluth harbor the wheat movement will be on its earnest.

Wheat closed at 87 1/2 for May and 70 1/2 for July in Chicago, a net advance of 4 1/2 for May and 3 1/2 for July. Northwest wheat still seems to be reasonably safe property. Park elevator at $17 for May and $17 1/2 for July, showing a net advance of 7 1/2 per barrel for May. The hog market declined early in the week and reacted, closing on light receipts at $6.90 for the best offerings at South St. Paul.

At the Banks.

Paper was discounted a little more freely here during the last half of the week, but money continues well employed at full rates. The St. Paul clearing for the week were $5,024,041.33, an increase of $47,135.36 compared with the corresponding week last year. The New York bank statement yesterday showed another improvement in figures. Exchange here closed at 50c premium on New York and par on Chicago between banks.

The merchants pleasantly viewed the situation, as follows:

Jason W. Cooper, Griggs, Cooper & Co., Wholesale Grocers—Our business has been very satisfactory this year. The bright weather of part of the week caused considerable improvement in our trade, which has been a continuation of pleasant weather would stimulate trade somewhat. Any impediments to railroad movements that may have occurred are now overcome and traffic is moving on the railroads, generally speaking, without delay. There has been some anxiety among our business men as to the probable course of the railroads on the opening of lake and rail transportation, but it seems that the Northern Steamship company will make rates on goods coming in that will be satisfactory, and that will enable our merchants to distribute their goods as usual, especially in the districts to the Northwest and Southwest. As to changes in markets, there has been a material advance in sugar with active and excitable markets. Coffee are easier and dried fruits are active at former prices.

Theodore A. Schulz, Foot, Schulz & Co., Wholesale and Manufacturers of Boots and Shoes—Trade is fair with us in the general shoe business, and our trade in rubbers has been the best we ever had. The 25 per cent advance on rubber goods has been reported. The city trade is improving. Credits have required careful scrutiny on account of slow collections. The leather market is practically unchanged, but firmer.

W. B. Hastings, Manager, Barrett & Barrett, Wholesale, Ciders, Imported Ales, Etc.—We can give a far better report now, for the fine days brought in nu-
