PREPARING FOR CHICAGO. Results at the First of the Series of Field Days. The state university campus presented an animated spectacle yesterday afternoon. The athletes of the college were out in force, each bent upon capt uring as many of the field day events as possible, and each determined, if possible, and each determined, possible, to attain one of the coveted places upon the athletic team which will represent the University of Minnesota in the field day contest in Chi-

Each contestant is required to attain Each contestant is required to attain a certain record in each event; otherwise he is thrown out. The best event of the afternoon was the 100-yard dash by Rogers and Storey, who did some very pretty sprinting, considering the wretched condition of the track. Both men came within the required eleven seconds, thereby qualifying. The cinder track is unfinished, which accounts for its heavy condition. In the 220 hurdle, Harding and E. W. Taylor made the distance in less than the required 31 seconds, and with E. W. Taylor made the distance in less than the required 31 seconds, and with Rogers and Storey were the only ones to qualify. The next trial field day will be May 22, when it is hoped that with the advantages of further practice more of the contestants will come within the required record.

Purchase Bonds. Members of the finance committee of the court house and city hall commission were in session yesterday afternoon to consider further proposals for the purchase of bonds. To the several proposals previously considered, there had been added a straight bid by Blair & Co., of New York, at a price kept confidential, but understood on the outside to be 98, or a discount of 2 per cent. This was on a proposition to take the whole $500,000 at that price, but to actually pay yearly or for $500,000 at this time or as cash over for $200,000 at this time, or as soon as title can be ascertained, the remaining $300,000 to be taken at the amount of $100,000 each thirty days.

SUIT AGAINST FOSTER. The Ex-Ball Player on the Rack

in Court. The somewhat celebrated action for damages for alleged assault brought by Edward M. Runyan against Elmer Foster went to trial before Judge Canty and a jury yesterday. The ex-ball player was defended by Bob Jamison, and took a lively interest in the selection of the jury, while his accuser, tall, slim and long-whiskered, moved his legs about his chair and waited to be called to give his evidence. The fact that and much time was the story of his meeting with Foster on

The only big novelty of the season will be the production of Jefferson, Kiaw & Erlanger's immense entertainment, "The Country Circus," at the Grand Opera house next week. There are upwards of 400 people employed in the production, as well as fifty horses and a number of other trained animals. Popular prices were not sufficiently ng to bring out a crowded matinee to the Sousa concert at Exposition hall, yesterday afternoon. Owing to illness part of the soloists announced did not appear, and this necessitated a considerable rearrangement of the programme. The individual appearances were satisfactory, however, and, as for the band itself, the famous organization is little in need of encomium.

A strike was inaugurated by the messengers in the employ of the American District Telegraph company Wednesday, and eight of the boys quit work. MINNEAPOLIS. A EUSTIS NOVELTY.

The Mayor Forces Two Saloonkeepers to Pay an Englishman $250.

They Pay for a Swindle Perpetrated by Others in Their Places.

The Situation Among the Banks Assuming a Very Cheerful Aspect.

Other Events of Yesterday Put in Readable Shape for the Globe.

Thomas Davis and E. H. Cummings, who were tried in the police court yesterday on the charge of swindling W. J. Blackmore out of $250 in a dice game, were discharged. Blackmore will today get his money back, however. Gordon and Flynn will pay it. The result was brought about by the determined stand taken by the mayor in relation to the proprietors of the saloons where the swindle was perpetrated. The dice sharps were introduced to their victims in N. C. Gordon's saloon and the fleecing process was completed in T. Flynn's saloon. Gordon claims that he was absent at the time and knew nothing of the matter till later. Mr. Flynn saw a part of the dice-throwing at his place and ordered the men to stop. They did so and he went down cellar to attend to some business there, and it was then that Blackmore lost his money, of which fact Flynn was ignorant until the next day. These facts no one disputes, but the mayor holds that a saloon proprietor is responsible for what takes place in his saloon, and so he called the two proprietors before him yesterday afternoon after the alleged swindlers were discharged, and gave them the alternative of paying the Englishman his money or having their licenses revoked. The saloonkeepers chose the former. Flynn gave the mayor a check for $125 last evening and Gordon will pay over a like amount today. Mr. Eustis said this method of dealing with the saloons is a precedent which he will follow hereafter. It is a new departure in city government so far as Minneapolis is concerned, nothing like it having been attempted before. Mr. Flynn said last evening that he thinks the mayor is right in the position he has taken, though it is a little hard on himself. He ordered the men to stop their gambling in his place as soon as he found out what was going on, and supposed that they had obeyed, as they left the counter and he saw nothing more of them.

STEADILY IMPROVING.

The Bank Situation Is Growing Strong Again. The local financial situation continues to improve, and in banking circles especially there is a much stronger and more hopeful feeling than for any time the present month. The first ten days of May there had been a large withdrawal of Eastern money by maturing loans and money sent here for use and for investment, which has, it is said, almost entirely stopped. Some to give his evidence. The fact that Foster had at one time been quite popular as a ball tosser made it rather hard again, which will operate to relieve the men the accommodations which they need in the ordinary course of business, but which the banks have, under the circumstances, been largely obliged to withhold. The continued very flattering reports regarding the crop outlook for the whole Northwest has also materially assisted both here and in the At the Farmers and Mechanics' bank yesterday morning business was en-tirely at the normal stage. The socalled run of a couple of days this week was entirely over, and, in fact, more money was being paid in than was being withdrawn, although it is a time of the year when the drafts for ordinary business, with the hands and the results for ordinary with the hands and the contracts. business with the bank's customers require large withdrawals. President Morrison and Director De Laittre both said that matters were at the ordinary condition, with plenty of money on hand and no one wanting it beyond their immediate uses. President Casey, of the Northwestern, who called about the same time said who called about the same time, said that the general situation was rapidly improving. When the bank closed at 3 o'clock for the day the amount of deposits for the day exceeded the withdrawals by about $1,000. Since Monday cash has continually come to the cash has continually come to the bank from bonds sold at the East, and there is $150,000 more in transit. But the condition has changed so favorably that the bank is not decided as to whether it will—sell any more bonds. Including the money in transit the bank has $250,000 in each in transit, the bank has $850,000 in cash on hand, against $762,000 when the run began on Monday morning.

The Farmers and Merchants' is rapidly straightening out affairs. President Scofield said that the additional stock which they are securing for increase of which they are securing for increase of the bank's capital stock was being rap-idly obtained, and it would only be a few days until they would again be in

OPERATORS OUT. A Continual Weeding Going On in Western Union Offices. According to the statement of a Western Union official, the discharge of three operators within the past few days was not due, as has been stated, to their having belonged to a trades union organization. Referring to the subject this afternoon, Assist. Supt. Levin said that he could not see how their discharge could be construed in that way, especially when they both disclaimed having anything to do with the unions. He said they were let out because their work was not satsfactory, and that changes are being made right along the same as in any other business. In spite of the above statement a great deal of uneasiness is manifested among the operators, as some of the men who union organization. Referring to the the operators, as some of the men who have been let out are away up in their business, and no good reason is given for their discharge. It is also stated that in the case of the men recently let out they were prevented from securing positions in a railroad office in this city, the reason, it is alleged being that they positions in a railroad office in this city, the reason, it is alleged, being that they were on the Western Union black list. Within the past two months fifteen men have been let out in St. Paul and Minnegrelia.

SORE ON NELSON.

Editor Pease Thinks the Governor

Acted Shabbily. Editor Pease, of the Anoka Union, was in the city yesterday, and took oc-casion while here to impale Governor Nelson on a very long and sharp sword for the governor's relation to the Chicago dedication of the Minnesota state building. Mr. Pease thinks that the governor has given the editors of the state a slap in the face, and, indirectly, the state, which all will not soon forget and not readily forgive. Editor Pease and not readily longive, Editor Fease says that the governor had plenty of time to talk about the king of Norway, but had no time to join with the people of Minnesota in a dedication in co-operation with the aditors.

The executive committee's report viewed with concern the vast increase of the fire loss in the country in 1892. It was estimated at $151,516,092, an increase over 1891, when the fire loss was unprecedented. The losses since Jan. 1, 1893, have gone on at the same rapid pace. In connection with this report the members of the board said that they feared incendiarism was increasing, and the arson committee moved that its powers be so extended that it could increase the offers of reward for the ar-rest and conviction of incenduaries. The chief point of interest in the report of the committee on legislation and taxathe committee on legislation and taxation was the report of the bill passed in Tennessee, requiring all insurance companies to pay their policy holders the full amount of the loss sustained by them, provided the amount did not exceed the amount of insurance expressed in the of insurance expressed in the policy, and that all stipulations in such policies to the contrary were and should be null and void. The board indorsed the bill. One of the most important topics considered at the meeting was the faulty construction of buildings. the faulty construction of buildings.
Another topic which called forth considerable discussion was the amount of percentages to be paid to agents, and the number of days that credit would be given to them. It was recommended by the board that commissions should not you higher than 15 per cent. not run higher than 15 per cent.
