Attendance, 1,117. Score: Boston, 10; Pittsburg, 2.

Tierman made one of the longest hits ever seen on the Polo grounds, and John Ward also made a home run. Score: New York, 10; Louisville, 0.

The batting of Farrell and the fielding of Wise and Rafter were the best features. Weather clear. Attendance, 1,900. Score: Washington, 2; Chicago, 0.

Fitcher Schmitt, released by Baltimore, has signed with the New York club, and will report there tomorrow. Attendance, 4,478. Score: Baltimore, 4; Cleveland, 3.

EASY FOR GODDARD.

Columbian Athletic Club Gives Two Contests on Its Initial Night. The Barrier Champion Knocks Out Willis Kennedy in Two Rounds.

Costello and Billy Woods Have a Long and Scientific Fight.

A Big Purse to Be Offered for the Corbett-Mitchell Fight.

ROBY, Ind., June 12.—Before a crowd of 3,000 spectators, Joe Goddard and Willis Kennedy, the colored pugilist of New Orleans, contested for a purse of $1,200. It was the initial contest in the arena of the Columbian Athletic Club. Goddard won in the second round after making a chopping block of Kennedy, who did nothing but fall down and get up and finally remained down for good. Buffalo Costello and Billy Woods fought for a purse of $2,500, and made a pretty scientific fight from beginning to end.

The circumstances leading up to the formation of the club on the heels of a surreptitiously enacted law legalizing glove fighting are already known.

On the 24 day of February at Indianapolis Senator McHugh introduced and passed a bill which provided that gymnastic exhibitions and athletic contests of science and skill be allowed within the limits of the law. Matthews signed the measure and it became a law, and with a batch of other measures found its way into the statutes of the state.

It remained for Dominick C. O'Malley, of New Orleans, to discover that this law had been passed four months before the sheriff of Lake county became aware of the fact. Three men beside O'Malley were taken into our school and a working capital of $50,000 was raised. Three acres of property were bought at a point 100 yards south of the main highway leading from Indiana from Illinois and

A Monster Amphitheater had been raised. Incomplete as yet, when finished the arena will seat 18,000 people. The combined capacities of the Coney Island, Crescent City, Olympic and California clubs.

The contests tonight are the first of a series. When the bidding on the Corbett and Mitchell fight begins the full financial strength of the club will be asserted itself. The club will not be a party to any cornering in this market, and any cornering will be offered a purse far in excess of any amount that the Coney Island or New Orleans clubs can afford to give.

The whole affair will be deposited subject to the order of Referee Siler, when the offer is made. It is intimated that once it will be withdrawn and no further efforts made to secure the match.

The appearance of Sheriff Frederick's twenty stalwart deputies, and who were given seats in a row close to the ropes created a momentary sensation.

When another half hour had passed and the sky above—there was no roof over the vast shed—began to leak threatening the crowd, the referee called for business and at 9:20 the official time keeper, Alf Kenney, responded with a vigorous pull of the bell rope.

At 10:15 Goddard and Kennedy vaulted over the ropes accompanied by their seconds. Dominie O'Malley, in full evening dress, announced that it was the intention of the club to violate the law, but to maintain its majesty. So long as he was identified with the club, he would be tolerated. This was received with mingled laughter and applause, which was renewed when the referee announced that he expected the gentlemen and to see that the fair name of Indiana was neither marred nor disgraced by the fight, and Kennedy was introduced.

The fight between Costello and Woods was declared a draw at the end of the ninth round. In the fourth round, ninth round Joe Chynskis admitted that Costello's hands are broken.

CLOW THE WINNER. He Defeats Capen and Scores a High Average.

The initial game of billiards in the Twin City individual tournament, under the auspices of Tom Moore, was played in Mr. Moore's rooms in Minneapolis last evening. There are but four entries in the tourney, and this was one of the conditions of the series. Two amateurs are to battle for the honor of the Capital City and two for the Flour City. To participate, Charley Clow and Frank Thayer are entered to defend St. Paul's interest, while Charley Capen, of the West hotel, and Frank Dougherty, of Moore's rooms, are to defend the Minneapolis interest.

The game last evening was between Clow and Capen, and it was a stunner. Clow was in magnificent form, and he played "out of sight." Last Sunday he had averaged 95 in a 300-point practice game at Foley's at ball line, but last night in a championship trial he encompassed his 300 points at straight rail with an average of 111-9. Of course the former was the greater performance.

The series of best in twelve games is for a purse of $100 presented by Tom Moore, and this is to be followed by a like purse offered by the West Hotel, and Tom Foley in St. Paul, not to be distinguished and another $100 for a series at his rooms later on.

Clow finished his 300 points in 18 innings, and his high runs were 32, 27 and 21. Capen made while he was up 110 buttons, with runs of 15, 15 and 9.

This evening Capen will play Dougherty, and then Thayer will play Dougherty later in the week.

This evening Frank Thayer will give an exhibition game of straight-rail billiards in Frank Palmer's rooms in Minneapolis, on Fourth street, with a Mill City amateur.

Cadets Given Diplomas. WEST POINT, June 12.—There was an immense throng of people at the military academy to witness the graduating exercises. After speeches had been made by Secretary of War, William C. Taft, Col. John Wilson, late superintendent of the academy, Gen. Schofield addressed the students and gave diplomas, besides the presentation of the colors. Among the graduates are George F. McManus and Elmer E. Clark, Iowa, and Edward Taylor, Idaho.

PARK PRIVILEGES.

Licenses to Transport Passengers Through Yellowstone Given to Montana Parties.

E. C. Waters' Application for Sites on Which to Erect Hotels Denied.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Some weeks ago the secretary of the interior gave a hearing to all parties interested in transportation and other privileges in the Yellowstone National Park. Today Assistant Secretary Sims decided that licenses to transport passengers through the park should be granted to W. S. Dickson, of Livingston, Mont.; M. R. Johnson, of Bozeman, Mont.; L. L. Ryan, of Livingston, Wyo.; and W. C. Williams, of Livingston, Wyo. The permits and rates of fare to be subject to the approval of the department.

Authority is also to be granted to W. W. Wyle to conduct a camping transportation business. It is considered to be to the best interests of the park that the Yellowstone National Park Transportation company have at the present time the sole lease and control of the Yellowstone Park route, the park coming in from the direction of the Northern Pacific railroad, at Mammoth Hot Springs; that a lease, however, be granted to George W. Wakefield, of Bozeman, Mont., to draw traffic from the Union Pacific Railroad company over the Beaverton route, provided that if the increase of travel from the Northern Pacific warrants it, the department may find it proper to extend the lease to Wakefield, or to other parties, for the traffic from that direction also. The agreement of August, last, with the Yellowstone Park association for a lease of the fountain geysers hotel site is to be carried out, but their request for transportation privileges in connection therewith is denied. The hotel company is to be protected from imposition by the Yellowstone Park National Transportation company.

The application of E. C. Waters, representing the National Park Hotel company, for leases of sites on which to erect hotels, is denied, but the department will entertain applications for a proper lease of sites by the company, presenting sufficient guarantee as to capital and ability to construct and maintain a hotel on like conditions as those granted to the Yellowstone Park association. The application of David B. May, for leave to construct a hotel on the site of the old building, is not granted, pending further investigation as to its effects upon the beauty of the natural scenery at that place. In regard to the suspension of the repairs and construction of roads in the park, the matter will be referred back to the president, for action by congress. Baronnet bridge. As to the policy of the department with reference to the proposed extension of the road through the park, no action is taken, inasmuch as applications for this authority are now pending in this department.

A Man Tries to Get Himself Arrested So as to Write It Up. "Realism is all very well," said a young novelist to a New York Herald man, "but it isn't always easy to carry out. Look at me. I'm a victim of the realism craze."

The author was a pitiable sight. His head was bandaged up, his arm was in a sling, and there was an odor of uric acid and carbolic acid around him that suggested the surgical ward of some hospital. "Been writing up a medical work?" I inquired.

"Not a bit of it. I wanted to get a photographic pen picture of a police station and tell all about how prisoners are arrested. The very best way to get arrested is to get arrested by a policeman myself. Nothing I had understood, was easier in New York than to get arrested. I was accompanied and sent to prison for an indefinite time."

"I decided on my plan of action. I went down into the Bowery last night, and I was arrested by a policeman. He took me to a police station, and I was arrested by a policeman myself. Nothing I had understood, was easier in New York than to get arrested. I was accompanied and sent to prison for an indefinite time."

SMUGGLING OPIUM.

Ingenuity of Natives in Concealing the Costly Drug. London Daily News. Mr. Carey's report on the Indian opium department, cites numerous examples of the ingenuity of the natives in smuggling. At Nasseck certain Pardesi Marwaris of Indore, who professed to be pilgrims carrying Ganges water in wicker baskets strung upon a bamboo pole, were found to carry 15 pounds of opium cleverly concealed in baskets, from which the necks of bottles carrying a small quantity of water protruded to avert suspicion.

In Bombay, at the Wari bund station, about the same time, eighty-seven pounds of opium were found in a package of what appeared to be sweets, but really contained three kerosene oil tins full of opium. A common way of smuggling opium is to stow it away in one or two of the hollow joints of a bamboo pole or walking stick. The drug is placed in a small tin, which is then inserted into the joint, and the tin is rendered invisible and lends itself more easily to concealment and disguise than brandy or tobacco, which made a fortune for a British smuggler in the day of high duties.

A TRUST IN DANGER.

New and Startling Evidence Discovered in the Case Against the Whisky Combine. PHOENIA, Ill., June 12.—There is an ominous quiet about the whisky trust office in this city, but it is the calm before the storm. The suit of Attorney General Maloney will be heard in Chicago the 23d inst. Some new and startling evidence has been discovered by his hearing on the case. It has been ascertained that he has secured a number of affidavits from distillers, both in Chicago and Peoria, which have been taken in the name of the trust, and which will strike a mortal blow at the trust, and which fully justifies his action in the case, and exceeds his most sanguine expectations. BITTER-SWEET DESSERTS.

The Kind of Dishes Which Appeal to Man's Palate. Philadelphia Times. Desserts were never more delicious, more easily prepared or more to the taste of men folk than they are today. Pies, puddings, dumplings, custards, tarts, and other delicacies have been done away with and the bitter-sweet substituted at the perfect dinner.

The dessert of desserts is figs in caramel, one fig and a slice of cream make a brandy-fig with cream sponge cake; cherries in aniseette with cream, and a slice of cake for a nice dinner, and brandy cherries with anise cake will be found equally choice.

The figs are expensive. They can be bought only in liquor, but it is easy enough to prepare the cherries. Canned figs may be bought in any grocery store, and in unfashionable places candied cherries sold at reasonable prices. One pint of fine brandy or anise will do, and a quart of fruit. After a course dinner three cherries are as many as any one will want. One of the best figs and candied cherries and pineapple on hand. When something very nice is ordered for dinner he serves the figs and whatever liquor opportunity may have at hand, with assorted cakes.

His cake list, by the way, includes forty different kinds. Candied fruits should stand in honor a few hours before serving, while the canned or preserved fruits may be dressed in a raw moment. The bits of preserved apple, pear, peach, apricot, plum and ginger in brandy or liquor come under the head of bitter-sweet desserts. They are not to be confused with those are not dishes for little folks.

A saucer of whipped cream made very sweet and delicious with a slice of cream, and a slice of cake for a nice dinner, and brandy cherries with anise cake will be found equally choice.

An Oak Strangled by a Fir. Portland Oregonian. A wonderful freak of nature can be seen on the farm of J. D. Petrie, near Loran, in Siuslaw precinct, Lane county. It consists of a fir tree which has grown entirely round a white oak tree. The fir tree is about 150 feet high and about five feet in diameter three feet from the top. The oak tree is not known, except where it projects from the fir, about seven feet from the ground, where it is six inches in diameter. The oak tree has been strangled by the fir some time ago. Not long since there could also be seen on the same farm a purely white oak tree, having one blue eye, the other eye being a natural color. In the same neighborhood, on the farm of William W. Clow, could be seen on a cat with a litter of eleven kittens.

INDIAN PYTHIANS DISSATISFIED.

GERMAN K. OF P. LODGES OF THE UNITED STATES had a very busy session in this city to decide what action should be taken by them against the decision of the supreme lodge that all rituals shall be printed in the English language. The sentiment seems to be to secede from the supreme lodge until their session in 1894, and then they will go back if the supreme lodge shows any spirit of conciliation. No final action was taken today.
