

SAINT PAUL. A TRIO OF MONEY.

DAMP DOLETS. Eleven keepers of houses of ill fame paid $100 each into the municipal court treasury yesterday.

John Daly, who was charged with stealing $50 from H. Cosgrove on July 4, was discharged by Judge Cory yesterday.

A building permit was issued yesterday to Arthur A. Calhoun for an $8,000 dwelling on Goodrich avenue near 14th street.

Reported at the health office yesterday: Scarlet fever at 219 East Congress, membranous croup at 283 Clark street.

The case against Fred Pfeiffer, who shot Harry Keiser, a playmate, about a week ago, was dismissed in the police court yesterday.

William Bishop, James Flynn and John Clark, the three young fellows arrested for burglarizing the residence at 341 West Third street, were held to the grand jury yesterday.

The man who dropped dead at the corner of Sixth and Broadway Wednesday noon was identified yesterday as John Anderson, of 961 Sims street. Death was caused by heart failure.

Will King was arrested yesterday afternoon, charged with the larceny of a trombone. The lad was given the instrument to deliver at a music store, but instead sold it and spent the money.

E. P. Bassford, the well-known architect, whose rumor says is to succeed Cass Gilbert as architect of the new government building, is confined to his room in the Sherman house with a severe attack of peritonitis.

The board of public works yesterday confirmed assessments on the following improvements: Goodrich way in block 6, Irvington hills addition; sewer on Sims street, to cost $2,800; Gantler street sewer system, to cost $2,800.

The First National Bank of Chicago has named the Commercial Bank of Manitoba to recover $1,000 for money advanced. Funds of the defendant in the hands of the First National Bank of St. Paul have been garnished.

Judge Willis was engaged yesterday with the matter of the appeal to the district court from an order of the probate court refusing to allow a claim of the Ehrmanstrut Brothers against the estate of the late William L. Ehrmanstrut.

Harry Francis, a negro boy living in years but an adept in the handling of a razor, was in the police court yesterday afternoon charged with attempting to murder M. E. Haringer, a livery stable keeper. The case was continued to Saturday.

The assessment for the Crown Hill park will be considered at the meeting of the public works this morning. It is expected the amount to be assessed against the property benefited for the park will be decided at the meeting.

The special joint committee appointed to consider the petition of property owners relative to the decidedly novel and original method of bookkeeping used by City Treasurer Miller will hold a meeting at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Rev. W. S. Vail returned yesterday from the East, where he went to accompany the remains of Mrs. Crosby, Mrs. Vail's mother. Mr. Vail will exchange pulpits Sunday with Dr. Shuter, of Moline, and will give a sermon from sermon preparation, and giving the many friends of Dr. Shuter an opportunity to hear that gentleman.

THE FEDERAL COURTS.

A Father Sues to Recover $10,000 From the Kansas City Road for Killing His Boys.

Many Matters Considered and Quite a Number of Indictments Returned.

Judge Williams and a jury in the United States circuit court are engaged in trying the two actions brought by Isaac Katz, as administrator, against The Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City Railway Company to recover $8,000 in each case for the alleged negligent killing of his six-year-old boy, Morris Katz, and his nephew, Isaac Krinsky, aged five years.

The two boys had gone to a store on the West side and made a small purchase, and then started along the track at Fairfield avenue. In crossing the track the Krinsky boy got his foot entangled in the hooking of a car.

The Katz boy was trying to help his companion release his foot when they were run over and killed by a switch engine.

In the case of Thomas W. Sheehan against The Northern Pacific Railroad Company the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

In the United States district court, presided over by Judge Nelson, James Bunge was tried for selling liquor to an Indian.

John Lockwood was tried for sending and obscene letter to Mrs. Weston, at 135 Thirteenth street, St. Paul. The woman was formerly his wife, and in a letter she received in a Mercantile hotel envelope she was treated to bad spelling, poor writing and very filthy composition.

The federal grand jury returned indictments yesterday as follows: Harry S. Bushave for passing a counterfeit $10 treasury note on William H. Hicks, of Minneapolis. John Wake-cum-up, Joe Salec and John Hassett are accused of introducing liquor among the Indians. Charles Murray and Pat Whelan were indicted for selling liquor to Indians.

Went Short on Canned Corn. John H. Leslie & Co., of Chicago, have begun an action in the United States circuit court against Donald Grant, H. Matson and D. W. Grant, surviving partners of the Northwestern Canning company, to recover $2,400 damages for not complying with a contract to sell plaintiff 6,000 cases of canned corn.

Was Boston Murdered? SCRANTON, Pa., July 6.—Morgan Boston, a prominent Welchman, was killed on the Lackawanna tracks last night, and the body was found in a strange woman, and was apparently under the influence of drink. It is supposed that the man was walking with a large sum of money he was known by his family to have carried, and just as a passenger train was approaching to strike him he was struck by the train. The police are on the war's trail.

Where Is He Going? Gentle reader, he is hurrying home. And it's house-cleaning time, too—think of that! Fifteen years ago, he wouldn't have done it. Just at this time, he'd be "taking to the woods." But now things are different. His house is cleaned with Pearline. That makes house-cleaning easy. Easy for those who do it—easy for those who have it done. No hard work, no wear and tear, no turmoil and confusion, no time wasted, no tired women, no home-lesser men. Everything's done simply, quickly, quietly, and sanely. Try it and see.

A TRIO OF MONEY.

A Triple System of Finance Is What Gen. Weaver Advises.

Gold, Silver, and Paper Backed by the Government as Full Legal Tender.

England Trying to Enslave the People by Forcing a Gold Basis.

Money Should Always Be Worth More as Coin Than as Bullion.

Gen. James B. Weaver, of Iowa, congressman and twice a presidential nominee, was at the Ryan yesterday.

In conversation with a GLOBE reporter he talked of the financial situation in this way: "The action of the English government in suspending coinage of silver in India has precipitated a financial crisis throughout the world, which is felt with great severity in this country. It is a part of a gigantic international conspiracy to place the business world upon a single gold basis, and thus permanently enslave the people. It will so arouse the American people that they will throw off the financial yoke of Great Britain, as our fathers did, once for all, a triple system of finance, consisting of gold, silver and paper—each issued by the government, and all made full legal tender. The people are done with allowing the banks, either national or state, to control our finance. The constitution lodges that power exclusively in congress, and it must be exercised by that body. They have no right or authority to return this power to private corporations. The people now fully understand that metal and money are not the same thing, and that the metal value is made equal with the coin value, their money is practically demonetized and prepared for export and use in the arts without loss. You have stricken out the existing clause of the law which makes it money. The dollar is not in the metal, but in the law, and the supreme court has so ruled."

Money and Not Bullion Is Wanted. "If you should put a gold dollar's worth of bullion in a silver dollar at the present rate, you would get a dollar for export. Money should be made for circulation at home, and should always be worth more as coin than it is for bullion. Our present dollar is not worth 75 cents as bullion, but has it not 100 cents of debt and tax-paying power? The people want money, not bullion, and they want money which will stay at home and transact their business without running off to Europe. The trouble with our gold money is that it takes many trips to Europe to be good, reliable home currency."

The proper thing for congress to do is at once authorize the unrestricted coinage of the white metal at the present rate of 16 to 1. They will not do it, and the country will suffer for it."

Hurl Them From Place and Power. "The administration will doubtless have the active support of most of the moneyed interests of the country, and public members in carrying out this conspiracy against the welfare of the industrial classes. They will be broken down by the rising star which is now setting in every part of the country. The great silver congress which will meet at Chicago Aug. 1, will start the ball in motion and take steps to organize the country in the most formidable manner to meet the crisis."

Gen. Weaver is fresh from an extensive campaign in the state of Kansas, and he declares that the "People's" party in that state is as solid as a rock, and rapidly increasing in numbers. He expects to be busily engaged in advancing the cause of the "People's" party in Kansas and New York, and make a short trip to Georgia and during September and October he will be engaged in the campaign in his own state. He left for Des Moines at 7:30 last evening.

A NEW POOL ROOM.

It Is Reported That the Ullman Brothers Will Open One on Lower Third Street.

Spite Work Against Col. Frank Shaw Said to Be at the Bottom of the Scheme.

It is announced that St. Paul stands a fair chance of having another pool room. Up to the present time the Tremont Exchange on Robert street has had a monopoly of the business, but if rumor is true, a competitor will soon swing into the field.

What looks color to the probability that the rumor is not in the least exaggerated is the fact that J. F. and Aleck Ullman, of Chicago, are said to be at the bottom of the new enterprise. It is a new venture for the Ullmans have never wasted any great amount of attention for Col. Frank Shaw, proprietor of the Tremont Exchange. The Ullmans control the betting at Hawthorne Park, Chicago, and certainly would not be slow to make the scheme a success. The sporting fraternity reason that if Minneapolis can support two pool rooms, St. Paul can do the same. The Tremont is not an exclusive franchise of the Tremont Exchange Union, which company would not be loath to sell its rights to both the Tremont exchange and the new pool room that is to be established. The Ullmans are reported to be establishing the proposed venture. There are some who consider that the opening of a new establishment would simply result in such a cutting down of

ONE WON'T-ONE WILL.

Position of Two Minnesota Members of Congress on the Sherman Act.

Senator Davis "Has Nothing to Say" to the People Whose Servant He Is.

Congressman Kiefer Will Vote for Repeal to Please His Constituents.

And Further Says He Will Do So Absolutely Without Qualification.

Cushman K. Davis is a United States senator from Minnesota. He is supposed to be the representative and servant of the people of Minnesota in the upper house of Uncle Sam's congress.

Cushman K. Davis was very amiable and obliging gentleman several months ago—when he was asking for a re-release of his official life. But he is a different man now—he is in for six years more. Senator Davis, good for six years, if you please, is not only considering his future course in the senate of no interest to the people who he is supposed to represent. Whether he intends to vote for the repeal of the Sherman act or not is as much as said to a GLOBE reporter yesterday. For several years past he has been a member of the Sherman act, and anxiously waiting to hear whether or not his servant in the senate was going to vote as to whether or not to continue his support of the obnoxious "Sherman" law. In the hope of interesting information for the people of this state, a GLOBE reporter called on him yesterday.

The Autocratic Senator at his office yesterday. This is the conversation that took place: "How do you do, senator?" "Information, if you please."

"What about?" "What do you have to say to your opinion of the Sherman silver-chasing law?" "Well, senator, you certainly have no objection to stating whether or not you intend to vote for the repeal of the law?" "Information, if you please."

"But the people are anxious to hear from you on this matter?" "I can't say anything."

"Will you vote for the repeal of the law?" "I have nothing to say."

"What reason have you, senator, for not talking on this subject?" "No answer came to this last question, but the senator almost said from the senator's lips: "None of your business."

And the people of Minnesota will have to keep on guessing his true intentions until the next election. The senator and servant is going to vote on the most important question that has come before congress in a decade.

KIEFER IS EMPHATIC. Fourth District Representative Says He Will Vote to Repeal.

Congressman Kiefer's anxiety to vote for the repeal of the Sherman act is so intense that it almost pains him. He has been reported to have said: "The world as being opposed to repeal and in favor of free coinage, but such is not his position."

"First of all," said the congressman to a GLOBE reporter yesterday, "I shall vote for the repeal of the Sherman act."

"I would vote for a bill that would give an honest silver dollar—with a dollar's worth of metal in it. I believe the people would be better off with a dollar's worth of metal in it. I believe the people would be better off with a dollar's worth of metal in it. I believe the people would be better off with a dollar's worth of metal in it."

"You are quite sure you will vote for the repeal of the Sherman act without expecting any assurance that it is to be subsequently substituted by a 'see coinage' law?" "I am sure I will vote for repeal without expecting any assurance that it is to be subsequently substituted by a 'see coinage' law."

Lowest Prices on Record. "Plymouth" Red-Figure Mark-Down Sale—Twenty-fourth semi-annual, Entire outfits for men and boys, Plymouth Corner, Seventh and Robert.

TORRENS LAND SYSTEM This System of Transfer to Be Discussed at the Real Estate Convention.

A Committee to Prepare a Bill for Presentation to the Legislature.

When the National Real Estate association convenes in St. Paul next August the most important matter it will have to deal with is the Torrens land transfer system. Chicago real estate men will take the initiative to secure action by the convention in the direction of having the Torrens system introduced in every state. Several years ago, at the instance of the Chicago real estate board, Gov. Fifer, of Illinois, appointed a commission to investigate the Torrens system, and report to the legislature whether or not it should be adopted in that state. The commission made a thorough investigation of the system, and decided that it would be a splendid thing to introduce in Illinois or any other state. They prepared a bill providing for the introduction of the system and sent it to the late legislature with

PEPPER AFTER POINTS.

He Visits St. Paul to Obtain Information Relative to Agriculture.

Letter Filed With the Secretary of State Asking for Statistics.

Forestry and Live Stock Matters Will Also Be Given Attention.

Gossip Relating to People and Happenings About the State House.

Senator W. A. Pepper, the Alliance champion of Kansas, was a visitor at the capitol yesterday. He is in this state in connection with his duties as chairman of the subcommittee on agriculture and forestry of the United States senate. At the last session of that body a resolution was passed directing the standing committee of the senate to inquire into the condition of agriculture of the country, and to this subcommittee has been assigned the work of ascertaining all the information possible in such states as are chiefly given to grain growing and stock raising. Senators Roach and Washburn are the other members of the subcommittee.

Senator Pepper filed a letter with the secretary of state, in which he says that "in addition to taking testimony before the subcommittee at trade centers, it has been determined to collect as much pertinent matter as we can through the assistance of officers in charge of the agricultural interests of the several states, and from farmers individually."

The committee asks the secretary of state to contribute all information available or of record touching such production and the disposition of grains and live stock for the past twenty years, and to furnish a list of the names of the persons who have been engaged in these facts be supplied, but the values on the farms and at market, cost of transportation, etc. be given, as well as the acreage and the average sales of surplus products, and the average price per unit obtained by farmers for the different classes of products. The committee also requests for assessed valuations of farm property, acreage, under cultivation each year, number of acres in each crop and the aggregate value of all crops, and also the rates of taxation of farm lands.

It is the purpose of the committee to interview several farmers in each section of the state.

CAPITOL CULLINGS. Hon. T. Cole, of Ferguson Falls, was a caller at the state house yesterday.

Secretary Teisberg, of the state railroad and warehouse commission, yesterday sent out to all the railway companies forms blank for the annual reports of business done by the companies. This is to fix the basis of the tax upon the gross earnings of the roads.

The governor has issued commissions to three newly promoted officers of the national guard. They are Henry Bork, of St. Paul, as captain of Company First Infantry; to Charles T. Spear, as First Lieutenant of the company, and to George M. Perkins, as second lieutenant of Company C, First Infantry.

During the past two days the adjutant general has issued 340 pension vouchers for the month of July. They are for the quarter just ended, and they average $30 each. This makes the aggregate of $10,200.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the secretary of state yesterday by Minnesota Shingle Manufacturing company, of Minneapolis. The capital stock is $50,000.

The Purchasing Public Should prepare the interesting lot of business announcements for the upcoming year. For twenty-five years East Third street has been and now is the location of the only eye witness to these things. They comprise the cards of Dr. Hurd, St. Paul Eye Company, Henry E. Wedemeyer & Co., Ransom & Horton, E. A. Brown, Whitney's Music Store, and the Horton Portrait Company.

Couldn't Give a Bond. WHEELING, W. Va., July 6.—Edward Carlin, aged thirty, of the best known citizens of Wheeling, committed suicide today by jumping into the Ohio river. Carlin recently failed in a business. Yesterday he secured a position requiring a bond. His friends refused to be his bondsmen, and he then committed suicide.

Miners' Strike Broken. TORONTO, Kan., July 6.—The backbone of the Southeastern Kansas miners' strike is broken, and strikers are going back to work. A mass meeting of strikers was projected at Pittsburg last night to consider the strike situation. The strikers stopped work, but it was decided to abandon the scheme for fear it might be turned into an indignation meeting.

Trotting Record Fractured. SALEM, Or., July 6.—Blondie, a seven-year-old stallion, yesterday trotted two miles in 4:38 on a regulation track record, including a number of other fine days. Blondie was sired by Lenont, dam Mollie by Frank Chapman and foaled in this state. He has a pacing record of 3:15.

Stabbed by His Brother-in-Law. WHEELING, W. Va., July 6.—In a drunken quarrel George Hartman, a well-known citizen of this city, was fatally stabbed by his brother-in-law, George Pond. A warrant is out for Pond.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA CURES. When all other preparations fail, it is not what we say, but what HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA does, that tells the story of its merit. I am glad to write a few words of commendation of Hood's Sarsaparilla and two boxes of Hood's Pills I have been a great sufferer from Sick Headache, and after using Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills I am now well and happy. I have been a great sufferer from Sick Headache, and after using Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills I am now well and happy. I have been a great sufferer from Sick Headache, and after using Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills I am now well and happy.

TOUCHED BY TYRRELL. The Missing St. Paul Railroad Man Gives Himself Up to the Authorities at Winnipeg.

It Is Stated That He Embezzled Over $200 Belonging to Capitol Court I. O. F.

A telegram from Winnipeg states that T. C. Tyrrell, of St. Paul, gave himself up to the police authorities at that place Wednesday night. Tyrrell, who had been employed as clerk in the Omaha freight yards at East St. Paul, left home three weeks ago for a business trip to Duluth. Not returning, his wife and children became alarmed, and reported his disappearance to the police. It now turns out that Tyrrell, who was financial secretary of Capitol Court I. O. F., had collected dues from the members for June, amounting to about $200, and instead of forwarding them to the treasurer at Toronto embezzled the amount. The lodge of which he was a member is made up of railroad men, and besides taking their money the theft left them in bad standing in the order. An officer will be sent to Winnipeg to bring Tyrrell back to St. Paul. Tyrrell's wife and family live at 431 Mt. Ida street, and his wife, who is in a delicate condition, is completely prostrated by the actions of her husband.

WHITEMAN'S WOES.

The Brilliant Young Politician of the Zenith City Is in Trouble in New York.

Charged With Passing a Worthless Check—Running a Book on the Races.

New York, July 6.—The Times says: Application was made to District Attorney Nield yesterday for requisition papers which to bring to this city from New Jersey Alonzo J. Whiteman, who was arrested at Monmouth Park race track on Tuesday, charged with having passed a worthless check. Whiteman was traced to Chicago, where, it is said, he had opened a book on the races, and then back to Monmouth Park.

The news that Whiteman had been arrested on this charge will be a sensation in parts of the country where he has made his home for the last eight or ten years. He lives in Duluth, Minn., and six or eight years ago was one of the leading young men of Minnesota. He had wealth and fine family connections which gave him the passport to the society. He is a graduate of an Eastern college, a man of good presence, and something of a student. Seven years ago he was elected to the Minnesota legislature, and he has since been a member of the legislature at his first entrance as a senator, and which stood on the books until the Australian ballot system was adopted three years later. Whiteman's career in the legislature gave him such prominence that he was made the Democratic candidate for congress from the Fifth Minnesota district three years ago. Since that time Whiteman has been much in New York. He maintained his residence in Duluth, but his business interests were allowed to drop.

His Home Career. Meteoric is the only word that can fitly describe the career of Alonzo J. Whiteman in Minnesota. A bright, genial young chap, rather effeminate and otherwise in appearance, he succeeded in making a good name for himself in Duluth and St. Louis county. The law was his profession, apparently, but with his practice he conducted a business of agent and speculator. The boom was on and fast developing until a fever at the time he flourished up and down the Mississippi river. Whiteman was more than half fellow well met in the estimation of the boom manipulators of the multitudinous of speculative newcomers. A Democrat in politics, he was still all things to all men when it came to the political work. He went with great ease into the state senate as the youngest member of the session of 1889-90. Representative of the Forty-sixth district, he was "bustle" was at that time the slogan, he seemed deeply imbued with the spirit of the times, and he was placed on important committees. He was persistent, if not a leader, part in the debates; and altogether the name and fame of Alonzo J. Whiteman were multiplied far and wide. It was no secret that the young man had an exceedingly good opinion of himself, which was not evidenced by the flattering notoriety he attained. The session over, he had the credit of placing on the statute books the law of the lottery, which was with slight change on the New York law as then existing—which was being repealed with great haste and indignation. As the strength of his legislative reputation he was nominated for congress by the Democrats of the Fifth district, and he was elected. Then domestic trouble came and financial entanglements were developed, but still he was not contented by any means a "dead duck." Swiftly, however, as he had risen, he sank from public notice, until this scrape brings him his name once more to the surface. J. Whiteman was a rasher while he lasted, and maybe some of his old-time energy will yet bring him again on top.

WHISKERS AND TALK.

They Are Gracefully Intermingled at a Meeting of Weaver, Pepper and Donnelly.

It Was More in the Nature of a Love-Feast Than a Business Meeting.

Weaver, Pepper and Donnelly and a few of the lesser lights of the People's and Alliance parties got together at the Merchants yesterday and had a conference. It was really a conference, and was called a meeting of the joint committee of the Farmers' Alliance and People's party of Minnesota, and Tom Meighan, of Fillmore county, was made chairman, just to jolly him along.

Gen. Weaver was the most conspicuous figure in the meeting. Donnelly's organ was waived and Pepper's whiskers being waived and waved, respectively, for the general's talk. The late presidential candidate said the time had come for the People's party to organize more thoroughly and act more energetically, for it rested with the party to give the United States the wisdom it required to cope with the great financial problem. The Democrats and Republicans of the present congress were about to mend the financial affairs of the country in a bungling manner, and the Populists should hold themselves in readiness to come to the relief of the people's emergency. The People's party should be elected a congress that would adjust financial matters in a thoroughly satisfactory way.

All the gentlemen at the conference agreed that it would be a good idea for Minnesota to send a strong delegation to the silver convention to be held in Chicago Aug. 1.

Supreme Court Routine. The supreme court considered the following cases yesterday: Hannan, D. Heymour, respondent, against The Chicago Guaranty and Life Society, appellant. Argued and submitted.

Peto, petitioner, respondent, against The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, appellant. Argued and submitted.

Lake and Land Improvement Company, respondent, against John A. Stees et al, appellants. Argued and submitted.

Moody Talks to Baldwin. Charles A. Moody, of Sank Rapids, with a large delegation of his friends from the Sixth district, had a short conference with Congressman Baldwin in the Ryan yesterday afternoon. Mr. Moody is a candidate for register of the St. Cloud land office, and yesterday's conference was in the interest of his candidacy. His prospects for receiving the appointment are very good.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED.

Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

End of the Circus Row. In the police court yesterday Arthur McClain, arrested last Sunday charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on Thomas Kelly, had his case dismissed. Both McClain and Kelly were held in jail. McClain was taken to a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McClain was taken to the city hospital yesterday, and as Kelly could not identify him as the man who struck the blow, the case was dismissed. Kelly is on the road to recovery.

WAR DOGS STILL TIED. Expected Rebellion in Samoa Has Not Broken Out.

APTA, Samoa, June 30.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare. King Malletto has informed the consuls of the three powers that he is engaged in being so successful in effecting a free-for-all fight on the circus train Kelly was hit in the head with a monkey wrench. McCl