

THE SONG OF SAYING.

A SPECIAL JOINT COMMITTEE RINGS THE CHANGES ON IT.

HOW TO CUT SCHOOL EXPENSE

Was the Subject of a Vocal Session to Be Resumed Today—Messrs. Reardon, Johnson and Doran Talk of Scholastic Frills in Caustic Language.

The special joint committee from the council appointed to consider the school budget held another meeting yesterday afternoon. Those present were Assemblymen Johnson, Doran, Reardon and Schuette, and Almeren Montgomery and Copeland. The schedule showing the number of engineers, firemen and janitors which was called for at the last meeting of the committee was sent in by the secretary of the school board. The list showed six engineers, five firemen, two assistant firemen, forty-four janitors and four assistant janitors.

Chairman Johnson called the attention of the committee to an error in the budget of $730 in salaries of employees outside of teachers, which would increase the total amount asked for to $44,740.

The members at once plunged into the mass of figures submitted with the budget, and after two hours' talk, plunged out and adjourned to this afternoon, when members of the board are requested to meet with them and explain the details of the budget.

Mr. Johnson said the amount needed for salaries of teachers this year is much less than last year, but he was of the opinion that it might be still further cut down without any injury to the schools. There were sixteen teachers who were getting $1,800, and his idea was that out of a few of the number should receive that sum. It was impossible to get the same salaries elsewhere, and a number of them did not like the present school regime, they said because of the large salary. Mr. Doran said he noticed that the sewing teacher had been cut out, but the elementary science teacher had been retained. The seven supervisors, he noticed, had also been retained at large salaries. The supervisor of drawing, he had been informed, was paid as much as two and a half minutes in each school, and drew a salary of $1,800 per year.

Mr. Reardon thought the amount of salaries could be cut down one-half by the committee, but the same persons would be employed in the higher branches, and the teachers receiving the small salaries would be cut.

Mr. Johnson said he had no hesitancy in saying that the $11,950 paid to the supervisors was like throwing money away. The schools could be run just as well without them. The sixteen teachers at $1,800 was also about $300 too much for each, with one or two exceptions.

Mr. Schuette thought if the committee began to slash they would have to go into details, and as the committee had no power to say where the cut should be made, he saw no reason for this.

Mr. Johnson said the committee could reduce the amount for salaries a certain sum, but could not say where the cut was to be made. The idea of the majority of the committee was that if the salary list were reduced the school board would not cut where the committee recommended, but where they saw fit.

Mr. Montgomery was in favor of approving the budget as sent in, but he could get no one to second his motion.

Mr. Doran again called the attention of the members to the sewing teacher having been dispensed with, which was, in his mind, a very practical thing. He said he might be having an old fogy, but he was in favor of having

In His Career He Blew in Over a Cool Million of Money—Now at the Age of Thirty-Three His New Life Begins—What He Did and Did Not.

DANVILLE, N. Y., July 12.—Editor Duluth News-Tribune: Overwhelmed with grief and mortification, with no wish to excuse or palliate anything I may have done, but only with the desire to mitigate the sorrow and disgrace which has been brought on innocent people, I desire to state a few facts in connection with the events of last week. I went to New York on Monday, July 3, and on Tuesday, the Fourth, I went to Long Branch to spend the holiday. While there I was arrested, charged with having given a check for $150 on the Merchants and Farmers' Bank of Danville, N. Y., which was returned protested for lack of funds. The charge was true. I had given such a check on the same bank from the bank here, and from the American Exchange bank at Duluth. I have been careless and reckless, and have lost a fortune in speculation and gambling. I have on myself and on a heart-broken wife and mother. But the charge that I ever intended to defraud any one, or "had swindled any one with a bogus book," or "was locked up in the Tombs," or as false as the statement published in a certain paper that "my domestic relations were unhappy."

God only knows the agony I have suffered. I pray for His strength and grace to begin life over again. I have been brought to a realizing sense of what I have done, and in a new land and in a new country I shall take up the struggle anew.

I have had the terrible passion for speculation and gambling, to which I have been brought to a realizing sense of what I have done, and in a new land and in a new country I shall take up the struggle anew.
