

SECURE YOUR WINTER'S READING MATTER BY SENDING IN TWO GLOBE COUPONS

A LEADER IS CHOSEN

New Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army.

HAILS FROM THE OLD BAY STATE

Capt. John G. Adams, the Hero of Many Battles.

THE EXODUS FROM HOOSIERDOM.

Gen. Weissert Reviews the Work of the Year.

THE NEXT ENCAMPMENT CITY.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 6.—The ranks are thinning, the old soldiers from every where, after three days and nights of reminiscences and messing, are returning to the farm, the shop and the store.

The exodus began tonight, and by tomorrow morning there will be a big gap in the rank and file.

Gen. Harrison's regiment, the Seventeenth Indiana, met in Masonic hall tonight.

THE SEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE LEADERS OF THE W. R. C. MET TODAY.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 6.—George H. Thomas post No. 5, of Chicago, won the flag presented by the citizens of Indianapolis for the largest number in line on parade.

DOCTORS' DAY.

CLEVELAND GIVES THE MEDICAL RECEPTION.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—At the session of the pan-American medical congress this morning a resolution was adopted requesting the imperial secretary to issue a circular to the effect that means in his power to suppress cholera at its fountain head in that country without fear of the Monanmians.

THE REPEALERS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—A senator, prominent as an opponent of repeal, in discussing the question today, placed the majority of the repealers at eight, but he declared that a vote on the provision could and would be indefinitely postponed.

SWENSON'S COAL LANDS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Ex-Sheriff Swenson, of Minneapolis, completed his business at the interior department and left for home today.

GROVER'S SELECTIONS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The president today announced the following nominations to the senate: Interior—Charles H. Dickinson, of Louisiana, to be surveyor general of Louisiana.

FINED $100.

WELLS, Minn., Sept. 6.—The thief who stole A. L. Taylor's horse was captured at Mankato and fined $100 and costs.

BOEN AT ANNAPOLIS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Congressman Boen went to Annapolis yesterday to see E. T. Risbrud, the naval cadet appointed from the Seventh district.

WILL CONVICTS LOAF?

NO BIDS FOR PRISON LABOR FOR NEXT TWO YEARS.

QUEER STATE OF THINGS.

The Thresher Company Doesn't Care for Convict Work, and the Board of Prison Managers Orders the Company Off Its Premises—A St. Cloud Mystery.

STILLWATER, Minn., Sept. 6.—The board of prison managers met today, and for the first time in a number of years the Minnesota Thresher company has failed to put in a bid for the convict labor.

WHEREAS, the board of prison managers at Stillwater, at their regular meeting held July 7, 1893, authorized an advertisement for bids for the labor of the state convicts, authorized by law, and rental of the prison shops for two years from Oct. 1, 1893, such bids to be submitted on or before Sept. 1, 1893; and whereas, no bids having been made or received for such labor or rent of shops, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the board of prison managers are now ready to receive proposals in writing for such labor and shops as are now open for their disposal. All communications to be addressed to the warden; be it further resolved, That the warden be instructed to notify the Thresher company at once to remove all of its belongings and effects outside of the prison enclosure on or before Oct. 1, 1893.

WED A CHICAGOAN.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Sept. 6.—At 12 o'clock this noon occurred at the residence of Dr. E. Myers, superintendent of the state reformatory, the marriage of Miss Stella, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myers, to Dr. Harry A. Atwood, of Chicago.

SUFFOCATED IN COAL.

MARSHALL, Minn., Sept. 6.—Sam Leonard, of Minnesota, came to Marshall after blacksmith work a few days ago with a friend, got drunk, and when he reached home next morning was found dead, his head imbedded in the soft coal.

SWINDLING FARMERS.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 6.—Farmers throughout the Northwest have been swindled by the Northwestern Seed & Fertilizer company, by means of detachable notes. Seeds and cash prizes were given away to farmers returning an agreement which was really a promissory note.

ROBBED A SAFE.

NEW RICHLAND, Minn., Sept. 6.—Burglars effected an entrance into F. O. Swenson's store about 1:30 o'clock this morning, blew the safe open and secured $2,000 and $400 in jewelry. The robbers were fired upon by the night watchman, but made good their escape.

SERIOUSLY BURNED.

AUSTIN, Minn., Sept. 6.—Daniel Leary, a street lamp lighter, was seriously burned this evening. He was engaged in lighting a street lamp when the can containing the gasoline caught fire and exploded, scattering the burning contents over him.

THE UNEMPLOYED MEET.

DULUTH, Sept. 6.—A mass meeting of unemployed workmen was held at West Duluth today to discuss the situation. A number of addresses were made, but were all temperate in their character, and the meeting ended with the appointment of a committee to consult with the board of charities.

AT A COWBOY SERENADE.

LE MAIS, Iowa, Sept. 6.—At a country cowboy serenade near Le Mais last night, the unfortunate woman shirk laid in the present place some time, as the flesh was entirely gone from the skull and hands. Coroner Deane will go tomorrow to view the remains to identify who he was and the cause of death.

MURDERED BY A MANIAC.

YANKTON, S. D., Aug. 6.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Mrs. Sawyer remains unsolved. The authorities believe it was the work of a maniac, and suspect a man who is now afflicted with an aggravated case of insanity. This belief is strengthened by knowing that during the night of the murder the suspect was absent from his hotel and was found the following morning partly insane.

RECIPROcity CAN WAIT.

DULUTH, Sept. 6.—The reciprocity convention called for Duluth for Oct. 10 has been practically abandoned. The executive committee of the reciprocity association has not yet taken formal action, but responses have been received by Secretary Thompson from more than a majority of the members of the committee, and all believe it best to hold a successful convention at the time fixed.

PEOPLE'S PARTY INDORSed.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Sept. 6.—The Wisconsin labor congress organized today. C. H. Badeau, of Merrill, was chosen president; John Marquet, of La Crosse, secretary; Fred Schmitt, La Crosse, treasurer. One resolution set forth that the effect of strikes and boycotts is temporary, and labor must look for relief to independent political action. The platform of the people's party is indorsed.

BURGARS CAPTURED.

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 6.—Two burglars were captured in Weber & Heintz's drug store last night about 11 o'clock. Nightwatch Thomas was making his rounds and discovered a window open in the rear of the store. He gave the signal with his whistle, and soon a number of citizens were at the scene. The marshal stepped through the window, turned on the gas, and shortly after the birds were landed in the lock-up.

A BRIDGE WANTED.

CASH IS NOW READY.

THREE MANKATO BANKS WILL OPEN TODAY.

MONEY IN NEW YORK EASIER.

Banks and Trust Companies Want Customers for 6 Per Cent Money—Omaha American National Resumes—The Ham of the Factory Heard Throughout the Land.

Special to the Globe. MANKATO, Minn., Sept. 6.—Bank Examiner Brush turned over the three national banks of this city this afternoon to the officers in charge, and all will open for business tomorrow morning, after thirty-four days' suspension. Mr. Brush gives out the information that the banks were never in better condition. No further trouble is anticipated. Not one failure has occurred this summer, and the feeling of contentment is restored.

TIME MONEY IN SIGHT.

Views of New York Bankers on Financial Matters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The bankers and operators in stocks and bonds are "cash interested" just now in the question of time money, and there is a decided variety of opinion on the subject. A well-known and conservative broker said today: "Time money is undoubtedly now in sight, and call money promises to be easy—in fact, fairly easy now. Of course, money will not be a drug in the market until the clearing house certificates are retired, but the time when their retirement will be begun is evidently not very far distant. Many things are combining now to make money plentiful, and the repeal of the Sherman law. Superfluous currency is being returned from the West. Country banks, which were impressed with the idea that they would need large sums, kept all the money they got, and all they could do was to bring as much as possible from their agents to meet possible and expected emergencies. In this way they drew down their balances in this city. It follows, therefore, that these country banks are much better prepared than usual to provide money for the removal of the crops, to say nothing of the expedients that have been resorted to, such as certified checks, clearing house certificates, etc., to take out of circulation the surplus money. The demand on the banks of this city for money to move the crops is likely to be much greater than it has been, and by the fact that the banks report this week a very slight demand for redemptions. Then, too, the banks in the New England states are finding that they have no use for their large supplies of cash in the form of gold or silver, and so much money lying idle. Under the law, they are permitted to keep part of their reserve on deposit with approved banks, and they are taking advantage of that provision again to send money to this city and receive interest on it. That postal authorities are also finding that they have more money on hand than they are likely to need, and much of that will quickly find its way back to the banks. Exchange between New York and the leading cities is becoming normal again, and the business of the country is practically over, so that every indication points to money being very plentiful in this city in a very short time. The banks have practically all their legal reserve, and as their deposits increase, no doubt the loan certificates will be retired."

OUR BIG IRON TRUST.

ROCKEFELLER'S ATTORNEY CONFIRMS THE MINING DEAL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—John D. Rockefeller's attorney, Mr. Murray, today put a finishing touch to the last preliminary agreement which makes an accomplished fact of the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mines, a combination controlling nine-tenths of all the iron ore produced in the United States, with a cash capital of $30,000,000 and a reserve of $100,000,000 more in aggregate property. These statements are made on authority of Leonard A. Merritt, one of the Merritt brothers, who control the Mesabean range iron mines. Mr. Merritt came to this city more than three months ago to bring about the agreement by which the syndicate has sprung into existence. He, as well as his brothers in Duluth, have created themselves trustees to represent one interest, while C. W. Wetmore and F. T. Gates, the private secretary of J. D. Rockefeller, represent the other. Mr. Merritt was seen this afternoon by a reporter, he said: "The Lake Superior consolidated mines have become a corporation. That such an enterprise was under way has been well known among iron men for more than a month, but the news was not made public until today. John D. Rockefeller, the Wetmores and Merritts are in it, but the report that Colgate and William C. Whitney control shares is untrue. The trust is organized by taking over a majority interest in the stock from Colgate and Whitney, and placing it on a valuation basis of $17,000,000, the Duluth, Mesabean and Northern range iron mines, which are valued at $23,000,000, and the Rockefeller interests in the Colby group of Gooch range mines in Michigan and Wisconsin, and the same interests in the Spanish-American group of mines on the east coast of Cuba. Other properties will be added to the company, and the company will control a steel barge fleet of twenty-five whale-back steamships and barges for the coastwise trade, and will have a fleet of 100,000 tons of iron ore, and railroad facilities for getting ore from there to Eastern furnaces. The company has made an agreement to stabilize the price of iron. It will be such as to preclude the possibility of competition by cheap mines which are being developed in the older ranges. This consolidation will mean such a saving in shipping by rail and by water, in insurance and in other expenses that it will insure a profit of $2.95 on the ton. No other company, not even the foreign ones, if so certified by the courts, could compete. If we chose to lower the price to such a level, it would result in the complete prostration of all the other iron mines in the country. As my intention, however, on the contrary, we prefer to keep the price for the ton at $2.50, thus enabling private concerns to make a small profit. This may sound like the dream of a Western financier, but I assure you that the figures bear it out."

MILLS MOVING.

Encouraging Reports From Many Places.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Notices of resumption in various parts of the Eastern and Middle states continue to come in. The road mill of the Iowa Barb Wire works, at Allentown, Pa., with 140 men, started up today, and other departments will speedily follow. Five hundred men also started to work in the broad silk department of the Adelaide silk mill, and the Tamalia Knitting mills have resumed operations at a standard of prices.

DIED AT 100.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Margaret Hanlon, mother of John Hanlon, a farmer near Marshall, was buried yesterday, having died of old age. She was one hundred years old, having been born in Ireland in 1793.

Couldn't Kill Himself.

BRAINERD, Minn., Sept. 6.—Suicide was attempted by R. Wright this morning. He had a revolver, but without success. The man shot himself in the head with a revolver, but the bullet glanced, making an ugly scalp wound.

Horses and Barn Burned.

WINTHROP, Minn., Sept. 6.—Fire early this morning destroyed a barn and three valuable horses owned by John Lundquist. The loss is $3,000; insurance $600 on barn and contents.

High School Opened.

Special to the Globe. The magnificent new high school building at this place was dedicated today. Prof. Aiton, inspector of state high schools, delivered the address.

Ex-Commissioner Williams Weds.

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Sept. 6.—The marriage of J. P. Williams, ex-state railroad commissioner, to Miss Helen A. Westover, occurred today at Dead Lake.

Pillsbury Has 200 Students.

OWATONNA, Minn., Sept. 6.—Pillsbury academy opened this morning with an attendance of about 200 students.

Stamm for Consul.

Special to the Globe. WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Dr. Stamm, of St. Paul, who is here as a delegate to the Pan-American conference, called at the state department to press his claims for a consulship. Col. Klefer accompanied him.

Boen at Annapolis.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Congressman Boen went to Annapolis yesterday to see E. T. Risbrud, the naval cadet appointed from the Seventh district.

TOOTHsome TOPICS

Plugged and Crowned With Golden Speech

BY OUR DENTAL DOCTRINAIRES.

Amalgamation of Western State Associations.

EXTRACTING WISDOM WITHOUT ALLOY.

Nerve Center at Dr. Patterson's This Forenoon.

WITH A FILLING MATCH TONIGHT.

The Tenth annual meeting of the Minnesota State Dental association opened yesterday morning in the senate chamber at the capitol. The attendance at the morning session was rather small, and the time was devoted entirely to routine business.

At the afternoon session, after the roll call, the meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. R. A. Carnahan, after which President Goodrich delivered his address.

In this he referred to the trouble which had come up during the year and expressed a hope that it would soon blow over. The trouble appears to have arisen from dissatisfaction on the part of some of the members with the rulings of the officers on matters connected with the society. The members who have resigned appear to think that the officers were too arbitrary, but the majority seem to be with the officers, and the affair will no doubt be settled to the satisfaction of all. An excellent programme has been arranged, and many live subjects will be discussed at every session by men who are capable of talking about things dental. In his very able address, the president further said: "The programme of the meeting should be published and a copy placed in every dentist's hands in the state a full month before the date of meeting. In this particular, I think the executive committee could do a little missionary work among themselves. By the performance of this duty it will enable the active practitioners to have plenty of time to arrange for the meeting, to note and look up the subjects which are to appear before the meeting in the shape of papers and lectures, and to make other arrangements for the enjoyment of the meeting as he may elect. It should be the duty of every member to be thoroughly familiar with the programme and its contents, so that the meeting will be full of vigor and interest. I do not believe that it is proper to take up the time of a society, limited to an average of six hours per day for three days, by the reading of scientific papers on the development of elephants' teeth and kindred subjects, when there is so much to talk about the human teeth and the human oral cavity. The papers on such subjects spoken of should be written and published, but the active practitioners may find them and digest them at his leisure. The state of Minnesota should have a dental journal for the publication of the proceedings of the dental societies within its borders. There are now four active dental societies in this state, viz.: The Minnesota Dental association, the Southern Minnesota Dental association, the St. Paul Dental society and the Minneapolis Dental society. Here is enough activity, it seems to me, for the maintenance of a dental journal, but should this prove to be more of an arduous task than one would care to undertake, it might be well to have an understanding with some one of the contact with subjects that we would not otherwise look up or think about."

Dr. C. A. Van Duzee, of St. Paul, led the discussion of the president's paper in the afternoon. This lasted for some time, Dr. Van Duzee taking the address part by part and discussing the advisability of adopting certain amendments suggesting by the president. This was followed by a short business session, in which Drs. M. A. Knapp and T. J. Tipper were unanimously elected members of the society.

Dr. C. H. Stern, of Zumbrota, Minn., spoke at some length on the desirability of establishing a local paper, to be published in the interests of the profession. He set forth many very excellent reasons why some action should be taken at once in this matter, and that what he said was the sentiment of the convention as a whole was proven when the doctor proposed that a committee of five be appointed to draw up some plan for the conduct of such a paper, and the proposition was carried by a unanimous vote.

Dr. Goodrich, in addition to all the wise suggestions that he made in his address, also made one more recommendation at this point, namely: that a committee be appointed to consider the advisability of forming an association of ing about things dental. In his very able address, the president further said: "The programme of the meeting should be published and a copy placed in every dentist's hands in the state a full month before the date of meeting. In this particular, I think the executive committee could do a little missionary work among themselves. By the performance of this duty it will enable the active practitioners to have plenty of time to arrange for the meeting, to note and look up the subjects which are to appear before the meeting in the shape of papers and lectures, and to make other arrangements for the enjoyment of the meeting as he may elect. It should be the duty of every member to be thoroughly familiar with the programme and its contents, so that the meeting will be full of vigor and interest. I do not believe that it is proper to take up the time of a society, limited to an average of six hours per day for three days, by the reading of scientific papers on the development of elephants' teeth and kindred subjects, when there is so much to talk about the human teeth and the human oral cavity. The papers on such subjects spoken of should be written and published, but the active practitioners may find them and digest them at his leisure. The state of Minnesota should have a dental journal for the publication of the proceedings of the dental societies within its borders. There are now four active dental societies in this state, viz.: The Minnesota Dental association, the Southern Minnesota Dental association, the St. Paul Dental society and the Minneapolis Dental society. Here is enough activity, it seems to me, for the maintenance of a dental journal, but should this prove to be more of an arduous task than one would care to undertake, it might be well to have an understanding with some one of the

Dr. C. W. Jones, chairman executive committee.

Dr. C. H. Stern, of Zumbrota, wants a dentist's journal.

F. A. Squires, of Blue Earth, receives several awards.

World's Fair grounds, Sept. 6.—This was a gala day in the stock pavilion. The governors of New York and Pennsylvania were there to admire the fine Brown Swiss cattle, Russian, German coach and saddle horses which the judges had at noon all the Canadian stock was brought into the arena and paraded to the delight of thousands. The judging of the contest was held yesterday, and the silver cup was the most interesting event on the programme. The following are the winners: First, a Swiss brown heifer, two years and under three—First premium, Abe Bourquin, Nokomis, Ill.; second premium, F. A. Squires, Blue Earth, Minn. Young heifer consisting of bulls and heifers, all under two years—First, Abe Bourquin, second, E. M. Barton, Hinsdale, Ill.; third, E. A. Squires, Blue Earth, Minn. Four animals the get of one sire—First, Abe Bourquin, Nokomis, Ill.; second, E. M. Barton, Hinsdale, Ill.; third, F. A. Squires, Blue Earth, Minn. Two animals, the produce of one sire—First and second premium, Abe Bourquin, Nokomis, Ill.; third, F. A. Squires, Blue Earth, Minn. Stallion three and under four—First, Verban, of Holstein Marshes, Holstein, Germany; second and third, A. B. Holbert, Greely, Ia. Stallion Two Years or Over—First, second and third, E. D. Knott & Co., Waverly, Ia.

Will Resume.

ALTON, Ill., Sept. 6.—The Illinois Glass company will resume operations

TOOTHsome TOPICS

Plugged and Crowned With Golden Speech

BY OUR DENTAL DOCTRINAIRES.

Amalgamation of Western State Associations.

EXTRACTING WISDOM WITHOUT ALLOY.

Nerve Center at Dr. Patterson's This Forenoon.

WITH A FILLING MATCH TONIGHT.

The Tenth annual meeting of the Minnesota State Dental association opened yesterday morning in the senate chamber at the capitol. The attendance at the morning session was rather small, and the time was devoted entirely to routine business.

At the afternoon session, after the roll call, the meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. R. A. Carnahan, after which President Goodrich delivered his address.

In this he referred to the trouble which had come up during the year and expressed a hope that it would soon blow over. The trouble appears to have arisen from dissatisfaction on the part of some of the members with the rulings of the officers on matters connected with the society. The members who have resigned appear to think that the officers were too arbitrary, but the majority seem to be with the officers, and the affair will no doubt be settled to the satisfaction of all. An excellent programme has been arranged, and many live subjects will be discussed at every session by men who are capable of talking about things dental. In his very able address, the president further said: "The programme of the meeting should be published and a copy placed in every dentist's hands in the state a full month before the date of meeting. In this particular, I think the executive committee could do a little missionary work among themselves. By the performance of this duty it will enable the active practitioners to have plenty of time to arrange for the meeting, to note and look up the subjects which are to appear before the meeting in the shape of papers and lectures, and to make other arrangements for the enjoyment of the meeting as he may elect. It should be the duty of every member to be thoroughly familiar with the programme and its contents, so that the meeting will be full of vigor and interest. I do not believe that it is proper to take up the time of a society, limited to an average of six hours per day for three days, by the reading of scientific papers on the development of elephants' teeth and kindred subjects, when there is so much to talk about the human teeth and the human oral cavity. The papers on such subjects spoken of should be written and published, but the active practitioners may find them and digest them at his leisure. The state of Minnesota should have a dental journal for the publication of the proceedings of the dental societies within its borders. There are now four active dental societies in this state, viz.: The Minnesota Dental association, the Southern Minnesota Dental association, the St. Paul Dental society and the Minneapolis Dental society. Here is enough activity, it seems to me, for the maintenance of a dental journal, but should this prove to be more of an arduous task than one would care to undertake, it might be well to have an understanding with some one of the contact with subjects that we would not otherwise look up or think about."

Dr. C. A. Van Duzee, of St. Paul, led the discussion of the president's paper in the afternoon. This lasted for some time, Dr. Van Duzee taking the address part by part and discussing the advisability of adopting certain amendments suggesting by the president. This was followed by a short business session, in which Drs. M. A. Knapp and T. J. Tipper were unanimously elected members of the society.

Dr. C. H. Stern, of Zumbrota, Minn., spoke at some length on the desirability of establishing a local paper, to be published in the interests of the profession. He set forth many very excellent reasons why some action should be taken at once in this matter, and that what he said was the sentiment of the convention as a whole was proven when the doctor proposed that a committee of five be appointed to draw up some plan for the conduct of such a paper, and the proposition was carried by a unanimous vote.

Dr. Goodrich, in addition to all the wise suggestions that he made in his address, also made one more recommendation at this point, namely: that a committee be appointed to consider the advisability of forming an association of ing about things dental. In his very able address, the president further said: "The programme of the meeting should be published and a copy placed in every dentist's hands in the state a full month before the date of meeting. In this particular, I think the executive committee could do a little missionary work among themselves. By the performance of this duty it will enable the active practitioners to have plenty of time to arrange for the meeting, to note and look up the subjects which are to appear before the meeting in the shape of papers and lectures, and to make other arrangements for the enjoyment of the meeting as he may elect. It should be the duty of every member to be thoroughly familiar with the programme and its contents, so that the meeting will be full of vigor and interest. I do not believe that it is proper to take up the time of a society, limited to an average of six hours per day for three days, by the reading of scientific papers on the development of elephants' teeth and kindred subjects, when there is so much to talk about the human teeth and the human oral cavity. The papers on such subjects spoken of should be written and published, but the active practitioners may find them and digest them at his leisure. The state of Minnesota should have a dental journal for the publication of the proceedings of the dental societies within its borders. There are now four active dental societies in this state, viz.: The Minnesota Dental association, the Southern Minnesota Dental association, the St. Paul Dental society and the Minneapolis Dental society. Here is enough activity, it seems to me, for the maintenance of a dental journal, but should this prove to be more of an arduous task than one would care to undertake, it might be well to have an understanding with some one of the

Dr. C. W. Jones, chairman executive committee.

Dr. C. H. Stern, of Zumbrota, wants a dentist's journal.

F. A. Squires, of Blue Earth, receives several awards.

World's Fair grounds, Sept. 6.—This was a gala day in the stock pavilion. The governors of New York and Pennsylvania were there to admire the fine Brown Swiss cattle, Russian, German coach and saddle horses which the judges had at noon all the Canadian stock was brought into the arena and paraded to the delight of thousands. The judging of the contest was held yesterday, and the silver cup was the most interesting event on the programme. The following are the winners: First, a Swiss brown heifer, two years and under three—First premium, Abe Bourquin, Nokomis, Ill.; second premium, F. A. Squires, Blue Earth, Minn. Young heifer consisting of bulls and heifers, all under two years—First, Abe Bourquin, second, E. M. Barton, Hinsdale, Ill.; third, E. A. Squires, Blue Earth, Minn. Four animals the get of one sire—First, Abe Bourquin, Nokomis, Ill.; second, E. M. Barton, Hinsdale, Ill.; third, F. A. Squires, Blue Earth, Minn. Two animals, the produce of one sire—First and second premium, Abe Bourquin, Nokomis, Ill.; third, F. A. Squires, Blue Earth, Minn. Stallion three and under four—First, Verban, of Holstein Marshes, Holstein, Germany; second and third, A. B. Holbert, Greely, Ia. Stallion Two Years or Over—First, second and third, E. D. Knott & Co., Waverly, Ia.

Will Resume.

ALTON, Ill., Sept. 6.—The Illinois Glass company will resume operations

TOOTHsome TOPICS

Plugged and Crowned With Golden Speech

BY OUR DENTAL DOCTRINAIRES.

Amalgamation of Western State Associations.

EXTRACTING WISDOM WITHOUT ALLOY.

Nerve Center at Dr. Patterson's This Forenoon.

WITH A FILLING MATCH TONIGHT.

The Tenth annual meeting of the Minnesota State Dental association opened yesterday morning in the senate chamber at the capitol. The attendance at the morning session was rather small, and the time was devoted entirely to routine business.

At the afternoon session, after the roll call, the meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. R. A. Carnahan, after which President Goodrich delivered his address.

In this he referred to the trouble which had come up during the year and expressed a hope that it would soon blow over. The trouble appears to have arisen from dissatisfaction on the part of some of the members with the rulings of the officers on matters connected with the society. The members who have resigned appear to think that the officers were too arbitrary, but the majority seem to be with the officers, and the affair will no doubt be settled to the satisfaction of all. An excellent programme has been arranged, and many live subjects will be discussed at every session by men who are capable of talking about things dental. In his very able address, the president further said: "The programme of the meeting should be published and a copy placed in every dentist's hands in the state a full month before the date of meeting. In this particular, I think the executive committee could do a little missionary work among themselves. By the performance of this duty it will enable the active practitioners to have plenty of time to arrange for the meeting, to note and look up the subjects which are to appear before the meeting in the shape of papers and lectures, and to make other arrangements for the enjoyment of the meeting as he may elect. It should be the duty of every member to be thoroughly familiar with the programme and its contents, so that the meeting will be full of vigor and interest. I do not believe that it is proper to take up the time of a society, limited to an average of six hours per day for three days, by the reading of scientific papers on the development of elephants' teeth and kindred subjects, when there is so much to talk about the human teeth and the human oral cavity. The papers on such subjects spoken of should be written and published, but the active practitioners may find them and digest them at his leisure. The state of Minnesota should have a dental journal for the publication of the proceedings of the dental societies within its borders. There are now four active dental societies in this state, viz.: The Minnesota Dental association, the Southern Minnesota Dental association, the St. Paul Dental society and the Minneapolis Dental society. Here is enough activity, it seems to me, for the maintenance of a dental journal, but should this prove to be more of an arduous task than one would care to undertake, it might be well to have an understanding with some one of the contact with subjects that we would not otherwise look up or think about."

Dr. C. A. Van Duzee, of St. Paul, led the discussion of the president's paper in the afternoon. This lasted for some time, Dr. Van Duzee taking the address part by part and discussing the advisability of adopting certain amendments suggesting by the president. This was followed by a short business session, in which Drs. M. A. Knapp and T. J. Tipper were unanimously elected members of the society.