INJUNCTION APPLIED FOR

TO RESTRAIN SEAGER FROM REMOVING ATTACHMENTS FROM THE STREET LIGHTS. City Claims to Own the Attachments, and That All Seeger Owes Is the Burners—Seeger Claims That His Contract Gives Him the Attachments—Matter Goes Into Court.

The gasoline street lighting matter came to the front again yesterday when City Attorney Chamberlain made application on behalf of the city to Judge Brill, of the district court, for an order to show cause why an injunction should not be issued restraining Robert Seeger from removing from the street lamps the attachments used in lighting the same. Judge Brill issued a temporary injunction, and the hearing on the order will come up next Saturday. Seeger, who has had the contract for lighting the gasoline lamps in the city for the past twelve years, stated at a meeting of the council committee when the contract was to be awarded to the Acme Vapor Stove company, that he owned the burners and attachments on nearly all the lamps. This statement was denied by Assemblyman Lichtner, and a copy of the contracts made with Seeger in 1887 and 1890 were sent for an examination by the committee. The committee did not make a decision in the matter, although the point was made that under the contracts, only the burners were the property of Seeger at the conclusion of his contract. At a session of the council when the contract with the Acme company was approved, Seeger stated that he would have all the burners and attachments removed from the lamps soon after daylight on the morning of Jan. 1. Jacob Heilbron, manager of the Acme company, at the same time stated that all arrangements had been made by the company he represented, to secure burners, gasoline tanks and attachments, and as fast as Seeger removed his the Acme company would get others on in their place. Yesterday afternoon, Manager Heilbron was met as he was coming from the office of the city attorney, and asked whether the company would be in shape to light the lamps Monday night. Mr. Heilbron stated that a force of 143 men and twenty-five rigs had been secured, and the lamps would be all lighted the same as under the Seeger contract. The application for the order to show cause sets up that the city is the owner of the lamp posts, lanterns and attachments, and that the only part of the outfit belonging to Seeger is the burners. Further, that Seeger has threatened to remove the tanks, attachments and burners from the lamps, and as these are owned by the city, a temporary injunction is asked for, pending the hearing of the order to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued. Mr. Seeger, seen last evening, said he had intended to remove the burners from all the lamps and the gasoline tanks and attachments running from the tank to the burners on about 2,800 of the 3,300 lamps in the city. His contract with the city, made in 1887 and also in 1890, he said, stated plainly that the burners and attachments on the lamps were and remained his property after the expiration of his contract. The city owned about 500 of the 3,300 attachments, but the balance were his property, the city never having paid for them. As an indication of the justice of his position he called attention to the contract just approved by the council by the terms of which at the end of the year 1894 the lamps, burners and attachments were to become the property of the city. In consequence of the service of the injunction papers he would be restrained from taking anything but the burners from the lamps, but he was certain that when the matter was heard before the courts his position would be sustained. The contract with Seeger and the city made in 1887, and also the one approved in 1890, contains the following clauses in relation to the burners and attachments: "The party of the first part shall supply all burners necessary and place in lamps ready for use without expense or cost to the city, and also such lamps as the city may order from time to time. Said burners to remain the property of said party of the first part, and when removed at the expiration of the contract. And it is further agreed that said party of the first part shall, at the city all gasoline lamps now in use, or hereafter ordered, in the same condition as they are now in, and which have not been paid for by the city." City Attorney Chamberlain did not care to talk about the matter further than to state that it was a question whether the city owned the attachments, and the proceedings when concluded would settle the points raised. Send along your orders or telephone. Frank Shoop, 155 East Third street. PRIVILEGED COMPANY. May Tear Up the Streets Without Asking Permission. It seems that the street railway company has the right to dig up the new pavement on Third street at Hibitum without asking the consent of the board of public works, or any one else. This shows that the Lowry company has rights that an individual may not aspire to, or hope to attain. When the street car company applied to the board of public works some weeks ago for permission to tear up the new pavement on Third street, permission was denied on the theory that the company might have repaired its conduits before the new pavement was laid. The company, however, went ahead to dig up the street to make repairs to its conduits. Two employees were arrested, and discharged by the municipal court on the theory that the ordinance of the city gave the railway company power to dig in certain streets to make repairs. The district court was then applied to for a view of enjoining the street car company from destroying the new paving on Third street. The matter was argued before Judge Willis yesterday in special term, and the application for a permanent injunction was denied, because the street car company had already acquired the right from the common council to dig in certain streets without leave or hindrance. Prof. Maleon will form a new class in dancing for beginners, at Westmoreland hall, Saturday, at 8 p. m. SING OUT THE YEAR. This is What Will Be Done at the Ryan. This evening the St. Paul Musical society will give its first annual celebration at the Ryan. This is in accordance with a time-honored custom of the German societies generally to celebrate the going out of the old year and the welcoming of the New Year. At 10 o'clock a banquet will be held, in which about 200 Germans will take part. All members of the society will participate. Singing, comprising solos and choruses, will be on the programme, besides instrumental music by Seiber's orchestra. At 11 o'clock the banquet proper will begin, preceded by toasts and speeches. At midnight a tableau will be presented representing the exit of the old and the advent of the new year. A social hop will succeed. KEEP OPEN HOUSE. Friendly Association Invites New Year's Callers. At the rooms of the Young Women's Friendly Association, corner of Seventh and Jackson streets, "open house" will be kept during the day, tomorrow, when Mrs. Lichtenburger and several members of the board of lady managers will be glad to receive friends of the association, or any one who is interested in the work and would like to look over the new rooms and assembly hall.
