

TIM REARDON WAS THERE.

ROBBED MAN REFUSED TO COME WITHOUT ASSURANCES.

ZIMMERMAN NOT PRESENT.

Several Opponents to Issuing Saloon Licenses—Reardon Presents List of Seventy-Six Saloonkeepers Who Have Been Brought Before the Municipal Court.

Over one hundred peddlers were present at the council chamber last evening, the occasion being a meeting of the joint committee on license. Attorney Benn Davis, who represented the peddlers, said the ordinance recently passed by the council, fixing the license on vehicle peddlers at $100 per annum, was unreasonable, and he desired on behalf of his clients to protest.

Ald. Zimmerman, chairman of the committee on license, it was reported, was suddenly called out of town, and the other members present did not care to take the matter up until the second ward alderman could attend.

O. H. Elmer, who at the last meeting of the committee had opposed the issuance of a license to the saloon at 433 Jackson street, was on hand.

Mr. Elmer said that he had been robbed of $50 in the saloon, and who was expected to be present at the session, did not put in an appearance. His non-appearance was explained by Mr. Elmer, who said the man refused to come to St. Paul unless there was some chance for him to recover all or a portion of his money back.

Mr. Elmer said Ald. Zimmerman had promised at the meeting last Monday evening that the saloon should be closed pending the decision of the committee. This he said had not been done, as he knew of the place being open on Wednesday last.

The license for the saloon ran out on December 31, and as an application had been made for another one it appeared to him that the license inspector was not doing his duty.

It was explained that the saloon was now closed and the members of the committee present promised Elmer that they would approve no bonds for the saloon this year.

Speaking of the swindling in saloons, Mr. Reardon said a stranger had been robbed of $80 in a saloon at 818 Minnesota street yesterday afternoon, and from what he could learn it was an every day occurrence.

Mr. Reardon submitted a list of seventy-six saloonkeepers who had been brought before the municipal court during the last year for violations of the laws relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors. Of the total number, 30 were charged with selling liquor without a license, 33 for keeping open after midnight, 9 for selling liquor to minors, and 4 for permitting minors to be in saloons.

The disposition of the cases, as shown by Mr. Reardon's tab, was as follows: Discharged, 46; fined, 17; sentences suspended, 10; warrants of arrest issued and no arrests made, 4. In presenting the list, Mr. Reardon said it was the duty of the municipal court to make returns of all cases to the council, and the law said licenses should not be issued to any one during the preceding year had been convicted of violating any of the laws relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors.

The committee took in action, but Ald. Zimmerman, when he returns to the city, is asked to call a special meeting of the committee to consider the matter.

MARKET BULLETIN.

Sent Out by the State Warehouse Commission. The railroad and warehouse commission yesterday furnished the following statement showing market value of No. 1 hard wheat at Duluth on Jan. 8, as compared with actual sale of 1,000 quarters (8,000 bushels) Manitoba 1 hard, London, delivery on same date.

Table with market prices for various commodities like wheat, flour, and oil.

Cost at London (No. 1 L.) $7.63. Jan. 8.—1,000 quarters (8,000 bushels) Manitoba 1 hard, sold in London for 26 shillings, 10 1/2 pence per quarter (or $62 cents per bushel, c. i. f.).

Assuming that the wheat transported to New York via "Lake and Canal," the result would have been a loss to the exporter of 22 1/2 per cent. "C. I. F." means "cost, freight and insurance," or "delivered at the dock," purchaser paying all subsequent charges.

Manitoba one hard is taken as a basis, as no sales of Duluth one hard are reported in London or Liverpool that week.

Duluth market reports Jan. 8 show sale 10,000 bushels at 63 1/2 cents, market closing at 62 1/2 cents.

Statement of receipts and shipments of wheat at New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Baltimore for the week ending Jan. 19 inclusive: Receipts, 27,715 bushels. Shipments, 728,400 bushels.

Aid for Our Poor from Fort Custer, Mont. The following letter received at the army headquarters building yesterday explains itself.

Fort Custer, Mont., Jan. 19, 1894.—My dear Col. McClure: A short time since the ladies of this post, feeling that they would like to do something to aid the poor of St. Paul, conceived the idea of getting up a box of clothing, and the result of their labor was shipped to you on the 17th. The Northern Pacific Railway company generously instructed its agent at Custer station to bill the box free.

I took the liberty of sending it to you, knowing from your description of the donations from Fort Snelling and the public schools for the same purpose, that you are already informed of the proper agent to take charge of and properly distribute the contents.

The enlisted men also desired to do something to aid this worthy charity, and on Wednesday night gave an entertainment, the proceeds of which I inclose also a check for $100, being the amount realized from the performance. Please let me know as soon as the box arrives. Very sincerely yours, Lt. Col. Terry United States Cavalry, Commanding.

The check was received by Agent Hutchins yesterday. Under the dark skins of the gallant Tiers are found the noble, generous hearts of true soldiers.

JAMES MONROE CALENDAR.

DOCUMENTS OF THE EARLY PRESIDENT RECEIVED.

AT THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Library and Original Papers of President Monroe Secured by President Cleveland—Our President Has Also Secured Similar Relics of George Washington—Relics for St. Paul.

March 3, 1840, the president approved an act of congress appropriating $20,000 for the purchase of the library and papers belonging to James Monroe. A similar sum was also appropriated at the time for the purchase of the remainder of the library and papers of George Washington. The papers belonging to Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson have also been acquired, and are among what are known as the revolutionary archives, in the office of the secretary of state at Washington. They will be found in the "Bureau of Rolls and Library." Some of these records have lain in this bureau unclassified and unavailable for over fifty years, but they are now being arranged and indexed. In the case of the Thomas Jefferson papers there are already over 27,000 entries in the index, and it will require a year to complete the work of cataloguing and indexing.

The James Monroe Calendar, which was received at the Minnesota Historical society yesterday, having been partially completed and the first volume of the index published some time ago, is a book of about 320 pages. The calendars are published under the head of "Bulletins of the Bureau of Rolls and Library." The Monroe Calendar is the second volume. The first volume, received quite recently, is a catalogue of the papers of the continental congress, miscellaneous indexes, appendix, documentary history of the constitution. These books and documents have been to a great extent inaccessible, but they will be available after the completion of the present work, and can be reached by the public through permission from the secretary of state upon application made in writing, stating the line of examination it is proposed to make and the time desired covered by the note of permission. One manuscript paper in Monroe's handwriting will no doubt be of interesting value to collectors.

Judge Thomas and a jury in the United States district court are trying Fred C. Farrington on a charge of improperly using the United States mails.

John E. Stryker and J. McCafferty, two prominent candidates for United States district attorney, are pitted against each other in the trial. It is claimed that Farrington was sending out letters and circulars to people who responded to his advertisements that he wanted to employ agents.

In the circulars and letters he represented himself as handling the Mesaba Iron Consumption remedy, and a remedy for catarrh and a long list of other ills.

PROHIBITION IS NOW DEAD

IOWA SUPREME COURT DECLARES IT IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL. FORMER DECISION AFFIRMED.

Prohibitory Amendment to the Constitution Was Never Legally Adopted—Case Was Brought by President Harvey, of the Temperance Alliance, Which is Now Non-Existent.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 2.—The supreme court this morning affirmed its former decision, holding that the prohibitory amendment is not a part of the constitution of the state, having never been legally adopted. The case was brought before it in the action of J. A. Harvey, the president of the state temperance alliance, against W. M. McFarland, secretary of state.

The defendant refused to issue a certified copy of the constitution containing this provision, on the ground that the supreme court had decided it was not a part of the constitution, and the plaintiff therefore practically asked and brought an action for writ of mandamus to compel him to issue such copy, notwithstanding the ruling of the court. Justice Conrad refused to grant the writ, and the former decision of the supreme court, as well as that of the district court, is affirmed.

Since the suit was commenced the state temperance alliance has ceased to exist, and it is safe to say the prohibitory amendment is now dead forever.

Altgeld says he is convinced that the proceedings are merely to obtain money from wealthy friends to pay a debt, and that is not a bona fide criminal action.

Arkansas Usury Law. FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 22.—United States Judge Parker today, in a case involving loans through agents, practically overthrew the Arkansas usury law. He held the agent to be agent of the borrower, not of the lender, and that in order to establish usury it must be proved that the real lender was cognizant of all the acts, especially interest requirements, of the agent before he could be attacked under the state law which allows the borrower to retain money borrowed if usury is established. This decision lets down the bars for all foreign loan companies.
