GLADSTONE'S SUCCESSOR.

Mr. Gladstone has stepped down and out, and is no longer the bright particular star in the political firmament of Great Britain. Old age and physical infirmities have diminished his vital forces, and he is no longer able to lead his party on the floor of the house with that skill and daring that have been characteristic of his campaigns in the past. He is approaching the end, and desires to descend into his grave surrounded by peace and in the midst of the quiet of his home.

The question arises: Who will be Mr. Gladstone's successor as leader of the Liberal party in parliament? He is a member of the aristocracy, descended from one of the oldest families in the realm. His relations with the royal family have been exceedingly intimate. His father-in-law was the Prince of Wales, the future king. There would be a grave inconsistency in the nomination of a man against the policy of the crown, if Gladstone were to be replaced. Could the people have confidence in such a leader?

There is an earnest protest throughout the country against the selection of a man who is so closely connected with the crown as a leader. No one questions his ability or doubts his sincerity. He has for years sat at the feet of his Gamael, Gladstone, and imbibed lessons of political wisdom. In his habits and thought he is a true Liberal. He is in favor of the largest liberty to the people and the most stringent limitation upon the power and privileges of the government. His general policy is in accordance with the love, and that the object of his affections is the granddaughter of the queen and the daughter of the future occupant of the throne. It now seems as if he would have to choose between two positions—either to resign his office for a handsome and distinguished woman or his love for a party and a cause to whose interests he has devoted the best years of his manhood.

The fact that Gladstone is a lord would not disqualify him for the leadership of the Liberal party. There have been titled leaders of both parties heretofore. In fact, Disraeli and Gladstone have been the only untitled leaders of the party, and the latter the only one who persisted in his refusal to accept a peerage. But the motives of Rosebery would be perpetually open to suspicion. No matter how honestly he might strive to serve his country and his party, his personal relations with the royal family would reflect upon his conduct, and it is possible for them to exist again. In case of such an emergency it would be exceedingly unpleasant for both parties, and might give rise to embarrassing situations.

Whether it would be by no means improper, it would be embarrassing for a lord, and a member by marriage of the royal family, to hold the position of leader of the party of the people, so long held by that distinguished commoner, William Gladstone. The nation has so firm a hold upon the affections and confidence of the people. His strength has arisen not alone from the justice of his policies, but from the consciousness of his worth.

The Democratic party is in far more danger from the foes of Democratic principles who maintain a refuge within its organization than it is from its open and avowed enemies. In the past it has suffered more from the treachery of its false friends than from the hostility of those who differ openly with its principles and policies. Its greatest danger at present is from those who, while assuming to be Democrats and leaders of the party, are doing all in their power to defeat the adoption of Democratic measures.

Recent events have shown that there are a few Democrats in the Senate who are not in sympathy with the party, and who are endeavoring to create a sentiment against it as a whole. They are Democrats for revenue only. Mr. Brice is largely interested in coal and iron mines, and other industries directly and indirectly affected by the tariff. He is actuated by motives of pure selfishness. Caring nothing for the party principles, they seek to bend the party policies to suit themselves, and failing to do so, will destroy it.

As long as these three men maintain a leading part in the councils of the Democratic party, there need be little hope for the success of the tariff bill. Each has his benchmen, servile, mercenary and unscrupulous, and all will work together for a common purpose—the defeat of a genuine reform in the tariff system of the country. They are actuated by motives of pure selfishness. Caring nothing for the party principles, they seek to bend the party policies to suit themselves, and failing to do so, will destroy it.

It cannot be denied that the people are large are dissatisfied with the Democratic party. They have shown their displeasure emphatically in the recent elections. There is no abatement in devotion to Democratic principles; it is because of their abandonment by pretended Democrats that the people are displeased. The dilatoriness in disposing of the silver question produced general distress and disgust. The tariff and time-serving policy inaugurated by Hawaii intensified the feeling, and the long and needless delay, the divided purposes and counsels of the party on the tariff question, promise to complete the ruin.

ended to increase the power and wealth of the monopolistic and plutocratic class. They have no comprehension of the true Democracy. They find the party in control of affairs, and are using it to serve their own selfish purposes. Just as like men used to be the Republican party in the past, and will use whatever party may succeed to power in the future. They are not true Democrats; their predecessors were not true Republicans; their successors will not be true to the party of the future. They are laboring for their own interests, but matter under what flag they may be fighting. They change their colors with every varying political breeze, but are always guided by the same motive. It is possible for the Democrats to be as effective as its champions hope it will be. It will undoubtedly result in the easy settlement of many disputes, but we fear that in cases involving interests of importance, or where the passions of the disputants are so inflamed as to be effective as its champions hope it will be. It will undoubtedly result in the easy settlement of many disputes, but we fear that in cases involving interests of importance, or where the passions of the disputants are so inflamed as to be effective as its champions hope it will be.

THE "SMALL POTATO" ORGAN. We anticipated that Mr. Kiefer's organ would not leave to the GLOBE the exclusive privilege of unfolding to the public gaze the beauties of that greatest of the gifts of nature, the potato. His tariff speech, not only so far from effecting the emphatic protest of the people against tariff robbery, but, for their delinquent the Democratic party will be held responsible, and perhaps justly so, although these conspirators are not Democrats except in name and for revenue only.

PITTSBURGH has never achieved distinction for her devotion to fads or fashions, but her devotion to the potato has been so long and so far-reaching that she has become famous throughout the sartorial world. The bloods there have begun to wear knee breeches—just such as were so much in vogue a century and a half ago, and the potato is likely to become a much more important feature of the fashion than it is at present. It is much to be said in favor of the fashion, both as to cleanliness and convenience, and the only opponents of its introduction are those who are not in sympathy with the potato. It is much to be said in favor of the fashion, both as to cleanliness and convenience, and the only opponents of its introduction are those who are not in sympathy with the potato.

It looks, after all, as if Germany was a little behind hand in formulating her treaty with Russia. France got ahead of her. The rumors of an alliance, offensive and defensive, between Russia and France that prevailed at the time of the late war, and which was never proved to have been well founded, and the nations are now cemented by the closest of ties. The Russo-German treaty is simply one of commerce; the Franco-Russian treaty is one of both commerce and war.

I HAVE MY REASONS—If You Are Among our special barrens, and which I wish to sell today, is a most beautiful cream-colored curly maple Kimball Upright Piano of medium tone, with many desirable features, and of unusual deep sympathetic singing tone, with light French repeating action, and is offered at a special price of $450 and wholesales for $380, actually costing to manufacture $200, that can be had today for $225, on payment of $25 down, and the balance in monthly payments of $15. This elegant little instrument is what is known as a "built-up" or "triple"-topped piano, and is a most desirable one for a small parlor, or a study, and is a most desirable one for a small parlor, or a study, and is a most desirable one for a small parlor, or a study.

Let Loose the Dogs of War. The bane of the country press has always been its noisy and unscrupulous fights, and the cause of these fights is invariably the defense of some scheming and ambitious politician. The time has come for the country press to measure itself with the country politicians; and the country press will be intimidated or subsided as in the metropolitan press today; if the country press wins, the country politician will be forced to resign, and if the country press loses, the country politician will be elected. The Present and the Coming. The election of Brother Day, of the Albert Lee Standard, to the presidency of the editorial association was a well-deserved compliment to his faithfulness and zeal. Senator Hill is a protectionist by instinct and education, and ambitious to lead the protectionist faction in the Democratic ranks. These are more dangerous to the cause of tariff reform than all the Republicans combined, and their capacity for evil is only limited by their greed and self-interest.

Not Much Worse Than St. Paul. The Milwaukee undertaker recently indicted for selling the bodies of paupers to medical colleges has surrendered to the police. He says he made no particular effort to prevent arrest, and becoming disgusted with the stupidity of the police, who failed to find his hiding place, he fled to New York. The police of the Cream City are not, after all, vastly superior to those in St. Paul.

An Active Participant. Brother Hoskins, of Otter Tail, who was committed to an insane hospital by a Pulaski court judge, and who escaped through the unconstitutionality of the law, was an active participant in the recent state editorial convention. He is a ready talker, but at times forgetful of the fact that he is a participant in the convention. IN THE THEATERS.

Tomorrow night the darkness that has reigned at the Grand this week will disappear, and Frank Losee, Marion Elmore and their company will begin a new season in "The Roman Rye." Both Mr. Losee and Miss Elmore are too well known to need an introduction. They will be welcomed both for their own good record in the minds of those who have seen their work, but also for the excellence of the play they bring. "The Roman Rye," which has made for itself a lasting impression with the public during the many years that it has been a recognized representative of the best class of the English melodramas.

The last two opportunities to see Miss Emily Banker and her excellent company in "Gloriana" will be given at the Metropolitan opera house on Wednesday and Thursday nights and Wednesday matinee. The matinee will be played at reduced prices, 25 and 50 cents.

MAJOR STRAIT. His decease will be greatly regretted by all who knew him as a soldier. He served with distinction in the war, and was beloved by all who knew him. BURNED IN A MINE. Two lives lost and several injured. KANSAS CITY, March 2.—Two men were instantly killed, two fatally burned, and five others dangerously injured in an explosion at the Kansas City Clay and coal company's coal mine, six miles southeast of Kansas City, this afternoon. The dead are: Eugene Parker, colored, aged thirty; Thomas Dugins, aged twenty-one. The injured are: O. L. Wilson, aged fifty-five, burned about the arms, body and head; William Murray, white, aged twenty-eight, legs fractured and otherwise injured by coal lift, leaves family; William Fuller, seriously burned about arms, body and face; James H. Hines, colored, fearfully burned about body; Benjamin Mardest, colored, internal injuries, badly bruised; flying debris; William Harris, colored, burned from hips up; William Murray, white, badly burned on back, will die.

THEY ARE STILL BURNED. ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 2.—Fritchard, Beila, Palke and Nickulone, the four entombed miners in O. T. Williams' Sons' shaft at Williamsburg, Pa., town, are still buried in the tunnel where the cave-in occurred. The rescue party has reached a solid wall of rock which they will have to blast through, and progress is necessarily slow. They are working in two ways each, using two-foot shafts, and are laboring night and day.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

If Pennsylvania's Republican majority continues to grow, the Democratic vote will be out of sight.—Louisville Courier-Journal. When it comes to bowing to the inevitable Senator Hill's senatorial courtesy is of the regular Turveydrop order.—Philadelphia Times. Senatorial courtesy is stretched far when it allows ex-senators on the floor to lobby in behalf of an infamous tariff bill.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch. It is presumed that Senator Hill was thoughtful enough to send to the White House a marked copy of his executive session speech.—Washington News. With White, Brown and Gray on the supreme bench, that dignified body should do much toward solving the color problem.—Washington News. President Cleveland and Senator Hill will probably never come to an understanding as to which is Jonah and which is the whale.—Washington Star. Mrs. Mary Ellen Lease, of Kansas, may not be a good Mason, but she has a good heart, and her efforts to make even Bernhardt green will enrich Baltimore Herald.

THE PEOPLE OF NEW YORK know well that the President has made among the Senator Hill to blame because the new supreme court justice isn't a New Yorker.—Boston Globe. Must be a dispensation even with a postscript.—Boston Herald. Inasmuch as Mr. Cleveland could not force a change upon the United States senate for supreme court justice, he did the next best thing by selecting a Confederate soldier.—New York Press. The new justice will add strength to the bench, and his knowledge of Southern affairs and necessities will be very useful in meeting questions concerning that section.—Philadelphia Herald. Senator Hill gave out the full text of his speech at the executive session which rejected Peckham. Mr. Peckham's remarks have evidently been withheld for revision.—St. Louis Republic.

NEW YORK is quarreling because it has no representative on the supreme bench. This quarrel should be exclusively local. It is not desired by the rest of the country.—Boston Herald. MINNESOTA SENTIMENT.

The disgraceful scenes in congress last week would put the average ward caucus to shame.—Siberius County Times. Some people could almost love Cleveland for the energy he has made among the bosses. The political boss is a curse and inflation.—Morris Sun. The fact that so many Republicans are in the country is a sign of the age of the new tariff bill is like gall and wormwood to Republican politicians.—Swift County Monitor. It would really be too bad if we should have an early spring this year, when the Republicans are unable to claim the credit for fine weather and good crops.—Hastings Democrat.

ONE FARMER in Falden borrowed $70 two years ago. He has paid $66 in interest and his note is outstanding for $80. No wonder farming does not pay.—Hennepin Alliance Advocate. As for that duty on wheat, it was a fad duty put on the farmers. It isn't a revenue duty, and it isn't even a protective duty. It is simply a stupid scheme to keep the farmers poor.—Chicago Tribune. The McKinley tariff has completely destroyed the price of wheat by prohibiting trade with foreign nations. And a hospital employe, named James Nolan, quarrel and the latter after an apparent settling of the dispute, strangled Long in the right side. He may die.

A Gold Counterfeit. ST. LOUIS, March 2.—A very dangerous counterfeit $5 coin piece is in circulation here. The gold consists of three plates soldered together, as to be of the thickness of a genuine coin. The outer plates are of pure gold and are the obverse and reverse faces of the coin. The middle plate is of base metal. Chicago Politician Dying. CHICAGO, March 2.—John Long, a doctor and well-known politician, lies in the county jail, suffering from a precancerous condition, suffering from a knife wound, received in a saloon. Long and a hospital employe, named James Nolan, quarrel and the latter after an apparent settling of the dispute, strangled Long in the right side. He may die.

AN ERIC INNOVATION. CHICAGO, March 2.—The Erie has determined to suspend all traffic on its system between midnight Saturdays and midnight Sundays. The only exceptions are the limited through passenger trains, the local trains governed by mail contracts and perishable goods, and the latter will be made in the wages of the employes. Thomas Concerts. CHICAGO, March 2.—Theodore Thomas expresses himself as favorably as the idea of giving popular Sunday night concerts. It is thought by some that such entertainments would aid in retaining the Thomas orchestra in Chicago. The noted leader stated today that he will hold his New York offer in suspense until the matter can be decided.

FRISCO BANK CLOSED. SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Green Warlock's bank closed this morning, announcing it had assigned for the benefit of creditors. The assets are $600,000 and liabilities about $400,000. The assets are $600,000 and liabilities about $400,000. The assets are $600,000 and liabilities about $400,000. The assets are $600,000 and liabilities about $400,000.

WILSON'S CONDITION. CITY OF MEXICO, March 2.—Congressman Wilson, who is ill at Guadalajara, is recovering satisfactorily, and the probability of his recovery is great. He now needs only nursing and rest. Dr. Mallet Prevost says after ten to fourteen days convalescence Mr. Wilson can start home in his car. Reciprocity. Henning Advocate. Conde famlin, editor of the Pioneer Press, read a paper before the state editorial association on "How to Destroy Farming." Prof. H. H. Profitt, editor who do not like to be outdone, therefore this paper will give a chronicle for the best paper on "How to Edit the Pioneer." HAD NOT BEEN TO CHICAGO. Teacher (in a physiology lesson)—The next process in digestion is called chymification. During this the food is turned around and around in the stomach. Tommy Traddles—Please sir! Is that what they call the danse du ventr? Philadelphia Inquirer. "I think, sir, you should look over some of your son's wild ways." "I do," answered the old man. "I look over 'em every day, and the more I look the madder I get."

WILSON'S CONDITION. CITY OF MEXICO, March 2.—Congressman Wilson, who is ill at Guadalajara, is recovering satisfactorily, and the probability of his recovery is great. He now needs only nursing and rest. Dr. Mallet Prevost says after ten to fourteen days convalescence Mr. Wilson can start home in his car.

HAD NOT BEEN TO CHICAGO. Teacher (in a physiology lesson)—The next process in digestion is called chymification. During this the food is turned around and around in the stomach. Tommy Traddles—Please sir! Is that what they call the danse du ventr? Philadelphia Inquirer. "I think, sir, you should look over some of your son's wild ways." "I do," answered the old man. "I look over 'em every day, and the more I look the madder I get."
