

MINNEAPOLIS.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBULES. Prof. S. A. Baldwin has completed a new mass in E. which will be sung on Easter Sunday at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

A regular meeting of the central council of trades will be held Thursday evening at Labor Temple, at which reports as to the condition of trade will be submitted.

The members of Golden Circle No. 140 will give a dime social Wednesday evening at the residence of their financial secretary, Mrs. C. P. Thompson, 3035 Cedar avenue.

The alarm of fire at 9:30 o'clock last night was caused by a smudge in the basement of the Metropolitan restaurant, No. 235 Hennepin avenue. The damage was trivial.

An interesting lecture was delivered at St. Paul's church last night by Prof. Ten Broeck on "Henry VIII and the English Reformation." Prof. Ten Broeck is the chief of the department of history in the college at Fairbault.

A musical entertainment and ball will be given at Dania hall on the evening of St. Patrick's day, Saturday next, for the benefit of Archie Johnson, the well-known bagpipe player. Some of the best talent in the city has been enlisted for the event.

Gonou's grand oratorio of the "Redemption" was given a superb rendition last night at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The soloists were Miss Nellie O'Brien, Mrs. Lenore Thompson, S. J. Bunker and Mr. Dunne. A chorus of forty voices assisted, under the direction of S. A. Baldwin.

A concert will be given Friday evening at the Church of the Redeemer by the orchestra of the Metropolitan restaurant, under the direction of B. A. Rose. T. E. Mercer will give a whistling and dancing entertainment and Miss Jennings and Mr. Fisher will assist.

The alumni of Psi Delta Theta will hold their annual banquet next Thursday evening at Quinary Loan restaurant. Members from St. Paul, Duluth, Winona, Grand Forks and other cities will be present.

In the prelude to his sermon last night Dr. Hoyt of the First Baptist church, took for his subject "Thanks to the Mayor of Brooklyn," his remarks having reference to the firm stand taken by the executive regarding the prosecution of Boss McKean and the Gravesend hoodlums.

The new Swedish Episcopal church in West Minneapolis, located at Blaisdell avenue and Twenty-ninth street south, will be formally opened on the evening of March 20. The address will be delivered by Rev. H. P. Nichols, of St. Marks.

EVA IS NOT AFRAID. She Issues a Challenge to Her Detractors. Eva McDonald-Valesh has issued the following challenge in response to charges recently made by her detractors:

Whereas, Local assemblies of the K. of L. have asserted that certain statements made by me in the Tribune of Feb. 25 were untrue, and published with malicious intent; and

Whereas, One person purporting to be the mouthpiece of the K. of L. has questioned the article in like manner; I hereby challenge any member or members of the K. of L. residing in Minneapolis to meet me in public debate, to challenge them to bring proof of their public assertions.

I also challenge them to a debate on the merits of the existing order of the K. of L. and the trade union movement. I prefer to meet the person who has publicly questioned my honesty or veracity, though I will refuse any opponent selected, provided he can present a member of the K. of L. in Minneapolis.

EVA McDONALD-VALESH. The Municipal Debt. An important meeting of the board of trade will be held today at which a report will be submitted on the municipal debt of Minneapolis and the change in rental values. The report will be read by F. N. Stayer, chairman of the committee on taxation, and it will be very extensive. Assessor Plummer will also read a paper.

Packers and Waiters. A regular meeting of the packers and waiters' union was held at Labor Temple yesterday, at which reports were made on the workings of the mine and a half-hour schedule. The main plea for asking shorter hours is that the work in flour dust is unhealthy, and that the excessive speed maintained makes it desirable for men to be in the orch air as much as possible.

Sunday Night Burglars. The family of J. H. Huxley, residing at 2424 Colfax avenue south, went to church last night. While they were away burglars got into the house and ransacked every room. They carried away a lot of silverware, a lady's gold watch and some money. The matter was reported to the police.

Scrofula. Miss Della Stevens, of Boston, Mass., writes: I have always suffered from hereditary scrofula, for which I tried various remedies, and many reliable physicians, but none relieved me. After taking six bottles of Scott's Emulsion I am now well, my appetite is good, and I feel as if I had been cured of all my ailments. I feel that I owe my recovery to the wonderful medicine, and am recommending it to all. SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of cod-liver oil with hypophosphites of lime and soda is a palatable medicine-food. No other preparation combines so much that is medicine with so much that is vital food. Druggists everywhere sell Scott's Emulsion.

Benson's Porous Plasters. Relieve instantly, and cure quicker than any other Porous Plaster. Benson's Porous Plaster is made of purest materials, and is safe and sure. GET THE GENUINE BENSON'S. Wholesale and Retail Dealers: SEABURY & JOHNSON, Manufacturing Chemists, 100 N. WABASH ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

WILCOX COMPOUND ANISO PILLS. SAFE AND SURE. Unsurpassed for all ailments. Wilcox Compound Aniso Pills are made of the finest materials, and are safe and sure. They are sold in small boxes with registered trade mark of a lady holding a mirror. Beware of cheap imitations. Send a coupon for a free trial. Write to Wilcox Compound Aniso Pills, 100 N. Wabash St., Chicago, Ill.

THEY'RE NOT FOR SALE.

CHURCH INDULGENCES CAN'T BE BOUGHT, SAYS FATHER CLEARY. UNWORTHY SCHOOL BOOKS AND REFUSES TO LEAVE.

Lies Are Disseminated Against the Catholic Church in the Public School Rooms—An Interesting Discourse in Labor Temple Well Attended—General News of the City of Minneapolis.

Father Cleary lectured at Labor Temple last night to a large audience. He explained during the course of his lecture the doctrine and practice of the Catholic church concerning "indulgences." He said:

"The authorized definition of an indulgence, as understood in the Catholic church, is the remission or pardoning of the whole or part of the temporal punishment due to sin after the guilt of the sin has been forgiven. The conditions laid down for gaining an indulgence are to be in the state of grace, that is, free from the stain of mortal sin, and to perform the good works prescribed by the church. An indulgence is not the forgiveness of sin. One who is in the state of mortal sin cannot gain an indulgence. Common sense suggests that an indulgence is not a license to commit sin. God himself because of his infinite perfections cannot grant permission to any one to do wrong or commit sin. The indulgence is the church's permission to any one to commit sin. The church has power to pardon sin, when the sinner expresses his sorrow and confesses his sins. But the church has no power to abrogate the moral law, and to declare that vice is virtue or virtue is vice. At no period of the eventful history of the church was any claim ever made that the church had power to permit people to do wrong. The divine power to pardon sin, which Jesus Christ imparted to his church, certainly also implies the power to remit the temporal penalty due to sin after the sin is forgiven.

"Our civil authority punishes offenses against the law by the sentences of our civil courts, and pardons the offender by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

"No one imagines that the state encourages crime by encouraging repentance and extending clemency to the contrite sinner. But by a strange perversion of the human mind, a perversion born of malice, ignorance and prejudice, the Catholic church is accused of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences. It is hard for us, who know of the tireless efforts put forth by the church to reclaim the people from sin, to listen patiently to those who wickedly accuse this ancient bulwark of civilization of encouraging vice by granting indulgences.

"The same authority also grants indulgences by remitting a part of the penalty or by commuting the sentence, when the culprit gives unmistakable signs of repentance and amendment of life.

HYSTERICAL MRS. FLOYD.

SHE REMAINS IN JAIL WITH HER TWO SONS, AND REFUSES TO LEAVE.

Will Go to Prison With Them—Friends and a Physician Visit the Family in the Jail—What the Mother Has to Say About the Verdict and Convict Phil Scheig.

The county jail was crowded with visitors of both sexes yesterday. They all came to see Mrs. Floyd and her two sons, Frank and Lou. The former was hysterical during the greater portion of the day, and a physician called several times and administered opium. The woman refused to leave the jail, and so was allowed by the sheriff to remain in the room where her boys were confined. She occupied a lounge all of the time, while Frank and Lou sat about smoking cigarettes. This did not prevent them from sympathizing with their mother, however. Their expressions of grief were loud and sincere. It is thought they will be arraigned before Judge Davidson for sentence today. What the sentence will be is a matter of considerable speculation. The charge of grand larceny in the first degree, on which they were convicted, allows for a sentence of ten years in the maximum and five years in the minimum. Scheig was given seven and a half years. It is not believed the judge will be so severe on them as to send them over for the same term as the ex-convict tinner received. Some are inclined to think they will be sent to the reformatory at St. Cloud.

Mrs. Floyd was asked by a GLOBE reporter yesterday afternoon what she had to say about the case, and between hysterical sobs she said:

"That my boys are innocent there is no question, in spite of what the jury found. They did not know what they were doing, or they would never have been in with a verdict of guilty. Why, Scheig himself told me when they came back from New York that they had nothing to do with his affair, and knew nothing of it. When he got out of the jail, he said he had been deceived. He is satisfied now that he has brought this crowning shame upon my family. They all lied, the detectives, the bank people and all. What good does it do them to send my boys to jail? Is there any satisfaction in that?"

"I am not going to desert my boys now," continued the woman, waving her hands wildly about. "I will go to prison with them. Where they go I will go, and they shall not keep me apart from them. I am their mother, and have a right to be with them. A time will come when the judge and jury will find out what they have done wrong. They will find out what a tissue of lies has been woven together for the purpose of deceiving me and mine. We had lost all our money, and were practically penniless, yet this villain Scheig is not satisfied, but he will perjure his soul for no other purpose than to put my boys in jail. Why should he be believed? He has been a thief from his cradle, and a liar as well."

It was in this incoherent strain that Mrs. Floyd talked. Her friends, who she will stick to her determination of going to prison with her sons, Scheig will be taken back to Stillwater this afternoon at 1:45, and before leaving will have donned the picturesque suit of stripes in colors of black and gray. Tomorrow he will be back to his home again, and will be known only as "No. 30 and 30."

"THE SCARLET LETTER." A Scathing Sermon by Rev. G. L. Morrill.

Rev. G. L. Morrill, in his sermon last evening at Calvary Baptist church, on "David's Sin and Pardon," took occasion to score the social evil plague spots of the city. Among other things, he said:

"The scarlet letter hearts the house of her whose heart is honeycombed with impurity, whose face is lined with lust and whose eyes are red with tears. The beauty of some of our best streets is marred by buildings which should be quarantined to disreputable alleys. Youth and purity are compelled to hide their faces from the glare of these eyes. One of the most dangerous and disreputable of city life is represented by the man who moves in high church or society circles who rents his property for immoral purposes, and would give his soul for a devil to start a branch hell in if Jatan would pour ice water down in the meanwhile we may content ourselves with Addison's remark, 'Where vice prevails and impiety men may pray the post of honor is a private station.'

Next term the junior law will probably be compelled to take two lectures a day. The senior law "moot court" meets every Saturday evening in the law assembly hall.

The university catalogue for 1894 is now being prepared. It will be issued about the middle of April.

Rev. William Wilkinson, ex-chaplain of the Minnesota house of representatives, is taking a course of junior law. Miss M. Belle Jeffrey, city secretary of the Y. W. C. A., will address the Spring term commencing Tuesday, March 13, and continues, without a break, until commencement week, June 3.

On Thursday afternoon last the Junior law class finished the subject of "Com-

HARD LUCK.

Nothing like a lard bucket for a growler. Then nobody can tell what you've got. But—

1—Nothing like a lard bucket for a growler. Then nobody can tell what you've got. But—

2—Just then he tread on a banana peeling.

MINNESOTA SENTIMENT.

One by one the boys are coming into line for S. G. Iverson for state auditor; Ed Dunn and Lemuel will not let it all their own way.—Echo Enterprise.

All the Republicans who have been mentioned as probable candidates for state officers attend the convention there is bound to be a crowd there.—New-Tim News.

We hope the war on the pine land gang will be kept up until the state has received every cent due for fraudulent sales, and in some cases, genuine sales.—Minneapolis Union.

The Republican papers make as much fuss over carrying some minor elections in Pennsylvania and Iowa now as they used to over carrying New York or Indiana in a presidential election.—New-Tim News.

Republicans seem generally to favor a late state convention this year. A late convention and a short and sharp campaign we believe to be preferable. There can be no doubt of a Republican victory.—Loyalty Banner.

Everything goes to prove that the A. P. A. is but an organization instituted by Becker and his followers to divide the people on religious grounds, that their minds may be diverted from the political issues.—Minneapolis Union.

Won't Attorney General Childs laugh when he reads the "roly poly resolution" of the Winona county board of commissioners declaring the Scheifer act unconstitutional. The world do move, especially in this particular latitude.—Breckenridge Telegram.

It is said that a growing tendency is evinced by young men to not only refrain from marrying heiresses but to choose as life partners maidens whose entire fortune consists of their own sole dowry. The era of hen-pecked husbands is drawing to a close.—Valley Democrat.

In view of the statements made by prominent Republicans and Democrats as to their faith in the success or failure of the new tariff, why not pass the bill over to the understanding that it provides a good law it shall be allowed to stand if it is a bad one, it shall be repealed.—Market News.

In addition to having the opposition of Tom Platt, the McKinley presidential bill is burdened with the indorsement of James G. Thompson, the late Tom Reed is scoring many touch-downs by allowing the Ohio man to do all the editorial talking. It looks as if McKinley's aspirations must be put to sleep by the strains of the political Tom Reed.—Record and Union.

A PROPOSED MUTINY. An Effort at the Desperate Game Being Made by the Franco-Prussian War.

Under the title of "The Word of Honor of a French General" the Cologne Gazette publishes a curious story of Gen. de Bauffremont, whose death was recently announced. According to that paper, Gen. Bauffremont was one of the war-weary French officers who, after being captured during the war of 1870, were allowed to reside on parole at Bonn. Not very far off at the camps of Waik and Gronow, near Cologne and Coire, were many thousands of prisoners of war belonging to the rank and file of the French army.

In the course of November, 1870, a French agent went about among these soldiers, trying to induce them to join in a mutiny. He succeeded in inducing a band of French officers who, after being captured during the war of 1870, were allowed to reside on parole at Bonn. Not very far off at the camps of Waik and Gronow, near Cologne and Coire, were many thousands of prisoners of war belonging to the rank and file of the French army.

The latest of the numerous petitions to settle the classification of these journals. Under the present law such journals cannot be admitted to the class matter at the second grade, but must go as third-class matter at one cent per copy of two ounces or less—more than six copies per pound. These journals are supported by at least 5,000,000 voters, and this policy to be passed looking to their relief from what—in view of the rights accorded other newspapers—must be admitted to be an unjust and needless burden, which means inevitable annihilation to them, and a serious consequent inconvenience to all members of the societies and institutions which they represent. The students of the university are greatly interested in this matter, and the petition is being largely signed by the voters among both the students and faculty.

Young Girl Takes Strychnine. RAYMOND, Ill., March 11.—This evening the nineteen-year-old daughter of Philip Mangers took a dose of strychnine and died in terrible agony within twenty-five minutes. She has been living with G. W. Sebecker, her father, for three months. Her father arrived before she died and asked her why she had taken such a dose. She said: "I want to die. You do not love me, and I have no home or friends."

On the Verge of the Aids. LOUISVILLE, March 11.—Capt. Devan's life-saving crew rescued three medical students from death this afternoon just as their boat was about to over the falls. They lost control of the boat when it reached midstream, and the swift current carried it rapidly toward the Indians cove. Their perilous position was discovered just in time by the lookout at the station.

LADIES WHO VALUE A refined complexion must use Person's Powder. It produces soft and beautiful skin.

MINNESOTA SENTIMENT.

One by one the boys are coming into line for S. G. Iverson for state auditor; Ed Dunn and Lemuel will not let it all their own way.—Echo Enterprise.

All the Republicans who have been mentioned as probable candidates for state officers attend the convention there is bound to be a crowd there.—New-Tim News.

We hope the war on the pine land gang will be kept up until the state has received every cent due for fraudulent sales, and in some cases, genuine sales.—Minneapolis Union.

The Republican papers make as much fuss over carrying some minor elections in Pennsylvania and Iowa now as they used to over carrying New York or Indiana in a presidential election.—New-Tim News.

Republicans seem generally to favor a late state convention this year. A late convention and a short and sharp campaign we believe to be preferable. There can be no doubt of a Republican victory.—Loyalty Banner.

Everything goes to prove that the A. P. A. is but an organization instituted by Becker and his followers to divide the people on religious grounds, that their minds may be diverted from the political issues.—Minneapolis Union.

Won't Attorney General Childs laugh when he reads the "roly poly resolution" of the Winona county board of commissioners declaring the Scheifer act unconstitutional. The world do move, especially in this particular latitude.—Breckenridge Telegram.

It is said that a growing tendency is evinced by young men to not only refrain from marrying heiresses but to choose as life partners maidens whose entire fortune consists of their own sole dowry. The era of hen-pecked husbands is drawing to a close.—Valley Democrat.

In view of the statements made by prominent Republicans and Democrats as to their faith in the success or failure of the new tariff, why not pass the bill over to the understanding that it provides a good law it shall be allowed to stand if it is a bad one, it shall be repealed.—Market News.

In addition to having the opposition of Tom Platt, the McKinley presidential bill is burdened with the indorsement of James G. Thompson, the late Tom Reed is scoring many touch-downs by allowing the Ohio man to do all the editorial talking. It looks as if McKinley's aspirations must be put to sleep by the strains of the political Tom Reed.—Record and Union.

A PROPOSED MUTINY. An Effort at the Desperate Game Being Made by the Franco-Prussian War.

Under the title of "The Word of Honor of a French General" the Cologne Gazette publishes a curious story of Gen. de Bauffremont, whose death was recently announced. According to that paper, Gen. Bauffremont was one of the war-weary French officers who, after being captured during the war of 1870, were allowed to reside on parole at Bonn. Not very far off at the camps of Waik and Gronow, near Cologne and Coire, were many thousands of prisoners of war belonging to the rank and file of the French army.

In the course of November, 1870, a French agent went about among these soldiers, trying to induce them to join in a mutiny. He succeeded in inducing a band of French officers who, after being captured during the war of 1870, were allowed to reside on parole at Bonn. Not very far off at the camps of Waik and Gronow, near Cologne and Coire, were many thousands of prisoners of war belonging to the rank and file of the French army.

The latest of the numerous petitions to settle the classification of these journals. Under the present law such journals cannot be admitted to the class matter at the second grade, but must go as third-class matter at one cent per copy of two ounces or less—more than six copies per pound. These journals are supported by at least 5,000,000 voters, and this policy to be passed looking to their relief from what—in view of the rights accorded other newspapers—must be admitted to be an unjust and needless burden, which means inevitable annihilation to them, and a serious consequent inconvenience to all members of the societies and institutions which they represent. The students of the university are greatly interested in this matter, and the petition is being largely signed by the voters among both the students and faculty.

Young Girl Takes Strychnine. RAYMOND, Ill., March 11.—This evening the nineteen-year-old daughter of Philip Mangers took a dose of strychnine and died in terrible agony within twenty-five minutes. She has been living with G. W. Sebecker, her father, for three months. Her father arrived before she died and asked her why she had taken such a dose. She said: "I want to die. You do not love me, and I have no home or friends."

On the Verge of the Aids. LOUISVILLE, March 11.—Capt. Devan's life-saving crew rescued three medical students from death this afternoon just as their boat was about to over the falls. They lost control of the boat when it reached midstream, and the swift current carried it rapidly toward the Indians cove. Their perilous position was discovered just in time by the lookout at the station.

LADIES WHO VALUE A refined complexion must use Person's Powder. It produces soft and beautiful skin.

Nothing Like It!

THE GLOBE'S GREAT Portrait Album!

IT WILL BE PUBLISHED IN SIXTEEN PARTS. Each Part

Contains Portraits of Sixteen Eminent Americans, WITH Biographical Sketch

OF EVERY SUBJECT.

Here Is What Part One Contains:

- 1. PRESIDENT CLEVELAND. 2. MRS. CLEVELAND. 3. CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW. 4. WALTER Q. GRESHAM. 5. CARDINAL GIBBONS. 6. P. D. ARMOUR. 7. REV. DR. PARKHURST. 8. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE. 9. CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER. 10. JAMES GORDON BENNETT. 11. WM. MCKINLEY. 12. EX-GOV. BOIES. 13. GOV. FLOWER. 14. SPEAKER CRI P. 15. OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES. 16. LILLIAN RUSSELL.

The highest grade baking powder ever made, is the new Horsford's. In strength and healthfulness it is superior to all others. Try it.

ONLY the Readers of the Globe will be privileged to secure this Most Desirable Series of Portraits constituting American Celebrities. And by them it may be had upon such easy terms that the cost really cuts no figure. All that our readers need to obtain any Part is to send us 1 Coupon cut from any issue of the Globe and 10 Cents in Coin, and the Part called for will be delivered or mailed promptly.

Seven Coupons will be published in the Globe each week, any one of which, accompanied by 10 Cents, will entitle the subscriber to the Part issued for that particular week, or if Two Coupons are sent, accompanied by Twenty Cents, two parts of the same number may be had, thus enabling our readers to obtain two complete sets by subscribing for only one paper.

These Coupons and the Money may either be left at our office in person and the Part obtained there, or if sent by mail the Part will be mailed to the address given. Be particular in writing to give your Name, Street Number, Town and State legibly written, so that no possible error can occur.

Postage Stamps will not be refused, but it is just as easy to send One Dime, and it is much preferable. The Parts Are Now Ready and May Be Had Whenever the Necessary Coupons Are Secured.

Don't Miss THIS Unparalleled Opportunity!

DR. NELSON 27 years' experience in the use of his office practice; regular physician; expert treatment of all forms of chronic diseases, including all the most difficult cases of the urinary organs, such as gonorrhea, stricture, etc. Medicine or treatment attempted to get well, no experiments, quackery or