

It Is Not What

We Say Hood's Tells the Story

But What Hood's Sarsaparilla Does, That The Testimonials we Publish must convince you that there is reality in the Cures effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla. They come Voluntarily from Honest, Reliable People, and will stand the Closest Investigation. When you buy your Spring Medicine, be sure to get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

SPECIAL TERM.

Saturday Grand Before the District Judges.

Following is a resume of the matters heard by the district judges in special term yesterday:

Judge Brill—Great Northern Railway Company vs. The City of St. Paul; submitted on motion of defendant for a new trial. Stillwater Manufacturing Company vs. R. L. Hall & Co.; submitted on motion to strike out answer as being a sham. In re assignment of Benjamin Mercantile company upon appeal of Henry Glasser; leave given to serve amended reply.

Judge Otis—Charles Joy vs. Burlington Insurance Company and others, as garnishees; referred to secure disclosure of garnishees. In re assignment of Charles Mathews; sale of effects confirmed. National German-American Bank vs. Olat Perry; sale of property confirmed. In re assignment of James F. Ansell & Co.; final account approved. Graham Paper Company vs. News Publishing Company; leave given W. E. Magraw to foreclose a mortgage.

Judge Kelly—William H. Merriam vs. St. Peter Street Improvement Company; submitted on application for a receiver. Judge Kerr—Hennessy Bros. & Cox vs. Benton Foundry Company and the St. Paul Gas Light Company as garnishees; referred to S. E. Sawyer to take disclosure. In re motion of the Tradesmen's Building and Loan Society; leave given receiver to sell real estate. J. J. Sloan et al., as executors, vs. Thomas O'Connell et al., sheriff's report of sale approved. Savings Bank of St. Paul vs. Lydia J. Andrew et al.; sheriff's sale confirmed. In re assignment of L. and H. Hill; leave given the Jeffreys Parlor Furniture company to file claim of $50. W. R. Pike Company vs. J. S. Robinson; ordered that commissioner take testimony. Charles Clifford vs. M. R. Murnane et al.; sheriff's report of sale confirmed. C. E. Keller & Co. vs. Frazier, Herman and The Bohm Manufacturing Company, as garnishees; judgment ordered against garnishee. Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company vs. Isaac N. Snow et al.; judgment in foreclosure signed. Everett Moon vs. James H. Burns; defendant ordered to appear before referee April 13. In re assignment of Seven Corners bank; leave given Gottlieb Schulz to file claim. In re assignment of Nickel Savings bank; leave given Gottlieb Schulz to file claim. In re assignment of Seven Corners bank; leave given Samuel Lehmann to file claim. Charles J. Berryhill vs. Finnerman Manufacturing Company; referred to J. M. Hawthorne to take disclosure. William Steinmetz vs. St. Paul Electric Manufacturing and Construction Company; submitted on application to foreclose mechanic's lien. William W. Frazier vs. William Crooks; decree in foreclosure signed. In re assignment of George A. Hunter; order signed confirming sale of assets by assignee. Judge Egan—Elizabeth Seward vs. Columbia Accident Insurance Company; taken under advisement on motion for new trial. William P. Carroll vs. Nellie M. Wetter; hearing on motion of Nellie M. Carroll to require certain money paid over by clerk of court continued two weeks.

Judge Willis—James H. Dooley et al. vs. George Oltum et al.; findings announced. Andrew Anderson vs. George E. Stout; demurrer to reply sustained. In re assignment of L. and H. Hill; final account of assignee approved and distribution ordered.

Building permits were yesterday taken out by F. B. Smith for a $40,000 residence on Summit avenue, and J. H. Horton for a $25,000 business block on Sixth street.

THE BOLTERS IN CLOVER.

A MIXED POLITICAL AUDIENCE DRAWN OUT BY CURIOSITY.

TO LISTEN TO TALE OF WOE.

Having Left the Democratic Party They Call on Republicans to Support Their Candidate—Refuse to Show Their Good Faith to the Party Which They Endeavor to Destroy—Much Wind But Mighty Little Cider.

The well-advertised mass meeting of the Cullen club drew out about 800 people to the Auditorium last night to hear discourses on honest, economical government and opposition to ring rule. Probably the large majority of the gathering were Democrats. Among the assembly were a goodly number of prominent Republicans and Democrats, in addition to the rank and file of the parties. The meeting can hardly be said to have been enthusiastic, although there were applause and cheers at intervals. Mention of the names of Robert A. Smith, William D. Dawson Jr. and O. Cullen all elicited applause, as did also the reading of the list of names composing the Democratic city committee. The meeting was a good-natured one. The speakers seemed to appeal almost as much to the Republicans for fair play as they did to the Democrats, and there was an evident purpose to enlist the Republicans to support Cullen for mayor. N. P. Langford appealed to the Republicans to support Mr. Cullen, and even to nominate him on their ticket. John L. Towley made an especial plea for republican support of Mr. Cullen.

The meeting was called to order by John E. Hearn, president of the Cullen club, who assumed the prerogative to preside at the meeting.

Mr. Hearn made a speech in which he alluded to the causes that led up to the mass meeting. He gave the history of his club, and said that because of the endorsement of O. Cullen by the club it was necessary to call this meeting.

After selecting him as standard-bearer, nearly all the members of the Democratic city committee for certain rights as judges and primaries. The club received a reply, in which it was requested to submit a list of its members to the committee. This was refused by the club, and it pursued the even tenor of its way and took the position that it ought to have at least one of the judges at the primaries, and demanded one-half of them. Continuing, Mr. Hearn said:

"When the call for primaries was issued they did grant an occasional man in the Republican wards to the opposing candidate. The personnel of the judges was not such as we wanted. We are here to demand fair play, regardless of the city committee.

"When we have not been given our rights it is right to revolutionize, and go back to where we started from. That is our position tonight."

Mr. Hearn then introduced E. H. O'Neil, who in the course of his remarks said:

"The Democratic Club of Ramsey County has decided, after mature deliberation, not to take part in the primaries of the Democratic party next Wednesday. We give our reasons for this course as follows:

"The city committee of the Democratic party has control of the machinery of the party. It is for the purpose of robbing against the city committee, which has proven false to its trust, that we are here.

The club organization does not have a member who is a candidate for any office, elective or appointive. The men who led the party to defeat two years ago are the ones who now deny us our rights. We have no particular candidate; we are not willing to go into the convention called by men who selected the judges for the primaries. The committee is composed of an office-holding class. They have usurped the place by force and fraud. If we are not going to tolerate it we must break it. But the committee and you will hear no more of the gang.

N. P. Langford was called to the stand and asked to speak. He said he had no place in the meeting as he was a Republican. He then gave the history of the organization of the citizens' committee two years ago. He said the committee was composed of Democrats mostly, but they conceded to the Republicans the right to name the judges.

Two thousand Democrats selected the nominee of the committee two years ago. This year we nominated a Democrat. We might have named a Republican, as several Republicans were considered. We had under consideration the name of Dr. Wheaton, a brother-in-law of mine, but we nominated O. Cullen, a Democrat, as we believed it fair to the Democrats of the committee to name one of their number."

Mr. Langford then read the platform of the citizens' committee, and said:

"We ask the Republicans this year to be as fair as the Democrats were last year, and to endorse the nominee of our committee, and help elect him."

Dr. C. Williams was introduced, and spoke briefly. He disclaimed any ability as a speaker, and then proceeded to say: "I want to accentuate the blame for the position in which the Democratic party is placed today. If the city committee had acted fairly, the defeat that was prepared for him. But the committee first made me the man they wanted to destroy. I will do as hard work as I can to revive the Democratic party. This both, this kick, this spit, is the result of the city committee, city committee, city committee, we are not responsible for the results."

D. D. Williams made a short speech. He said: "I am not here to champion any man or any set of men, but am here as the request of this club to commend the primaries that from time immemorial in the Democratic party have not been free and fair. Consider for a moment how the Democratic primaries in this city have been held heretofore. I have seen men working for the city hauled to the primaries in wagons. "So far as I know, in the history of the party, the Democratic voters have not made the nominations."

Calls for Towley were here heard. Chairman Hearn said: "We want to see what you think of a election for the Democratic party with all the judges Republican? What do you think of a primary with all the judges in favor of one particular candidate?"

At the conclusion of Mr. Williams' speech John L. Towley was called for and responded. He said: "We have heard a great deal about primaries and the city committee and such matters tonight. We want to see what can be done for the better government of St. Paul. I don't say it has been badly governed all the time. The people have simply asked for something new. They ask rotation in office among Democrats.

"We simply ask that primaries be presided over by a fair representation of a club of 680 members.

"Some of the Democrats are so old that they have lost their front teeth, but they are still gritty for the feat.

"We turned the offices over to the Republicans two years ago to have the

NEEDS OF HUMANE WORK.

NUMEROUS INSTANCES OF CRUELTY ARE REPORTED.

THE SOCIETY NEEDS MONEY.

Great Need of Active Agents Working About the City to Prevent the Practice of Inhumanity—Women, Children and Dumb Animals Are the Subjects of Abuse.

In a city where the people are noted for charitable works, and where there are perhaps more charitable institutions than in almost any other city of the same size, it is a matter of surprise that any cases of inhuman treatment to women and children and to dumb animals exist. Yet cases are discovered every day by those who make it their duty to look these things up. To know that in this civilized era it was necessary to prosecute one man because he persists in treating his two little motherless children in an inhuman way, and to know of another father arrested for beating his two-year-old child with a stick, in which were nails, and released by the court with a reprimand, is a matter of which these are only two of the numerous cases of cruel treatment to children which are looked into every year by the authorities, and such cases of cruelty to animals as the one of a horsebreaker who was arrested for treating a broncho, and many cases of newly clipped horses, who, during the cold weather of a week or two ago, suffered tortures by being left standing on the streets unblanketed. The benevolently disposed citizens of this city contribute generously to relief work of all kinds in the city, to the support of hospitals, babies' homes, nurseries and the fifty or more other charities, most of them in connection with relieving the poor, and many of which are maintained by the philanthropist, demands just as imperative as donating money to the charities.

It is in connection with relieving the poor that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

NEEDS OF HUMANE WORK.

NUMEROUS INSTANCES OF CRUELTY ARE REPORTED.

THE SOCIETY NEEDS MONEY.

Great Need of Active Agents Working About the City to Prevent the Practice of Inhumanity—Women, Children and Dumb Animals Are the Subjects of Abuse.

In a city where the people are noted for charitable works, and where there are perhaps more charitable institutions than in almost any other city of the same size, it is a matter of surprise that any cases of inhuman treatment to women and children and to dumb animals exist. Yet cases are discovered every day by those who make it their duty to look these things up. To know that in this civilized era it was necessary to prosecute one man because he persists in treating his two little motherless children in an inhuman way, and to know of another father arrested for beating his two-year-old child with a stick, in which were nails, and released by the court with a reprimand, is a matter of which these are only two of the numerous cases of cruel treatment to children which are looked into every year by the authorities, and such cases of cruelty to animals as the one of a horsebreaker who was arrested for treating a broncho, and many cases of newly clipped horses, who, during the cold weather of a week or two ago, suffered tortures by being left standing on the streets unblanketed. The benevolently disposed citizens of this city contribute generously to relief work of all kinds in the city, to the support of hospitals, babies' homes, nurseries and the fifty or more other charities, most of them in connection with relieving the poor, and many of which are maintained by the philanthropist, demands just as imperative as donating money to the charities.

It is in connection with relieving the poor that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.

These two persons have accomplished a great deal during the past few years, and it behooves the people of St. Paul to give the society the encouragement and support which they need. It is an absolute impossibility for the secretary of the society, Morgan L. Hutchins, who is in addition secretary of the relief society, and agent for the relief of all kinds of distresses, to be personally investigate and attend to all the cases of inhumanity that are reported to him by the secretary of the society, or yet can be, with the co-operation of the officers of the society, do the work. It is too large.

The larger is just this: A man whose sole occupation is to be out to see that when a lame horse is driven the owner is given the time for such a thing to be in the hands of the law. This, however, will seldom be necessary, as the great majority of people will pay heed when kindly advice is given.

Another way, and one in which by education a great deal of the evil might be averted, is the matter of teaching to teach the children in the public schools the principles of humanity and kindness to one another, as well as to the dumb animals. It would not be necessary in order to accomplish this to place it in the curriculum of studies as a separate subject, but the matter could be directed effort it might be brought in connection with other studies, such as reading and language. Such books as "Hollyhust" and "The Striped at Chances," might be placed in the hands of the pupils in the same way as "Black Beauty" is placed in the hands of the children, and the children would unconsciously be taught that the children would never forget.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women, Children and Dumb Animals, which has been standing for several hours with its head checked up so high into the lot that the intense suffering of the poor beast was depicted on its face; these and many other cases of cruelty to women and children, and to dumb animals, unless the good people come to the aid of the society which exists for that purpose, and with generous hand gives, so that a man may be placed on the streets of the city, who will see that such abuses are done up.

For this purpose Mrs. C. A. Meiser and Mrs. N. T. Gauze, two women who have devoted several years to going through the state organizing humane societies, are in the city making their best efforts to have members of the humane society, and endeavoring to secure as many new ones as possible.