WALSH'S EULOGY OF SMITH

R. A. SMITH IS GREETED WITH WILD ENTHUSIASM

IN EVERY WARD HE VISITED

Two Rousing Meetings in the Eighth—One in the Ninth—R. A. Walsh and Others Speak in the Sixth—Various Speakers Stir the Second Ward—Enthusiasm in the Third, Fourth and Fifth—Blackguard Republican Meeting at Market Hall.

There were especially good speeches last night at the Sixth ward Democratic rally in Jordan's hall, South Wabasha and Fairfield avenue, Joseph Rouff president, and introduced as the first speaker R. A. Walsh.

He paid particular tribute to Robert A. Smith's long and honorable career in this city, saying in conclusion that he "was such a man as Jefferson, Jackson, Douglas, Cleveland, of our own times, and ranks with Henry of Navarre and William the Silent; worthy to sit down with the galaxy of the world's immortals."

James Manahan next spoke, and made comparisons without fear or favor. He compared the political caterpillar to the town meetings of old New England, in which more money was raised than in conclusion he brought down the house by suggesting the monument to be erected over the dead Republican party next Wednesday.

The fifth collected on the streets while the crowd gathered in the streets of Republican sidewalk and sawdust. And the epithet should be, "Born of doubtful parentage, coddled by the Writzel nurse, but later starved by false economy, and finally dying of old age."

The funeral would assert the death to be blessed, for the deceased had done more wrong in ten years than ten years of decent government by the people could rectify.

J. T. Avery, O. L. Haese, Matt Bantz and others also spoke, and one more good Democratic meeting was adjourned.

MEETING OF CHEER

Smith Greeted in the Eighth With An Ovation.

The Democrats of the Eighth ward held a rousing meeting last night at Marquardt's hall, corner of Louis and Carroll streets. This was one of the finest meetings of the campaign, and the ward excelled itself in enthusiasm.

The meeting was started by that veteran Democrat L. A. Norumand, who took the chair and made a speech that bubbled with enthusiasm. E. C. Ives made a pointed speech from the standpoint of a laboring man.

William Rhodes, candidate for comptroller, made a business-like speech that was received with much democratic approval.

Hon. O. E. Holman made a telling and convincing speech that bristled with points, showing the fallacies of the present administration. Mr. O'Flynn made a speech that pleased the audience.

Pierce Butler arraigned at the meeting during its progress and was given an ovation. He followed Mr. O'Flynn in a speech that awakened the echoes with a vengeance.

James Shields, a Democratic candidate for justice of the peace, made a good speech. Frank S. Battley followed Mr. Butler in an earnest speech.

Robert A. Smith appeared at the meeting and was given such an ovation as he will never forget. His appearance caused the room to vibrate with applause, and his speech was continually interrupted by cheering.

The audience had a full and complete demonstration of the fact that Mayor Smith has developed and concentrated powers, and is a convincing speaker.

ELOQUENCE AND BANNERS.

Ninth Warders Out in Great Force Last Evening.

The Democrats of the Ninth ward held an enthusiastic rally last night at 655 Broadway. The hall of the Democratic club there is handsomely decorated with flags and banners, and the club is a hummer.

The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic of the campaign. John Banning presided. The hall was packed, and so were the doorways and the spaces around the front and back entrances. The speeches were received with great enthusiasm, notwithstanding the fact that nearly every throat touched upon had been explored before.

Those speaking were Pierce Butler, F. S. Battley, James Lahiff, Otto L. Haese and Matt Bantz.

SMITH IN THE FOURTH

Creates Another Storm of Enthusiasm.

The Fourth ward Democrats held a rally last night at Gray's hall. The audience was large, and the Democrats present seemed interested in the cause.

The speakers of the evening were Frank Ford, Assistant County Attorney Donnelly, Capt. Gallick, C. D. Williams, Mr. Freeman, Mr. Ellerby, H. G. Tardy and Joseph Bergfeld. These discussed the issues of the campaign.

The speakers illustrated the campaign stories. Robert A. Smith appeared late in the evening, and was greeted with tumultuous applause and cheers. Many of the men stood upon their chairs and waved their hats.

ORATORS ON WHEELS.

Seven Corners Young Men's Democratic Club Event.

The Seven Corners Young Men's Democratic club will hold the ward rally of the campaign tonight at the club room in the old Seven Corners bank. There will be good speakers present and the boys are planning to cut a hole in the roof to allow the enthusiasm to escape.

This club takes much of the credit for drawing Robert A. Smith back into the field, and it is doing good work among the young men in championing the cause of the young Democracy. On Monday night the club will load up a large bus and go through the Fifth ward with a band and good speakers, and will have speeches delivered from the bus at several points between the Seven Corners and the farther end of Seventh street.

FIRST WARD MEETING.

The Issues of the Campaign Discussed.

The Democrats of the First ward held a rousing meeting last night at the corner of Seventh and Bradley. The leading address was by J. H. Ives, who rattled the dry bones of Republicanism for nearly an hour. He held the Republicans responsible for the debt of the city, as every dollar of it was authorized by a Republican legislature at the suggestion and with the full support of the Republican members from Ramsey county. The debt, however, was incurred for proper purposes, and they have good assets to show for it.

curred for proper purposes, and they have good assets to show for it. If Mr. Cardy could actually show a reduction of the debt, as claimed by the Republicans, he would like to do a little better for him. No one before him had ever been able to reduce a debt by simply changing its form. Speeches were made by Messrs. Skovog, Parker, Holman, Rhodes, Dr. Buckley and A. L. Robinson. The several candidates, the ticket, the police force, Doran's wood bills and other features of the campaign were brought out in new light.

ENTHUSIASTIC BY M'GHEE.

Hundreds of Fifth Warders Listen to the Colored Orator.

"Twas a rousing rally held at 97 West Seventh street, in the Fifth ward, last evening, and F. L. McGhee, the gifted colored orator, who is doing such excellent work for the Democratic ticket, stirred the audience to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. The Rev. J. H. Ives, a prayer meeting a little further up the street, but the few misguided ones who entered the hall soon left and came to sit down in the hall to hear the Democratic doctrine.

President John Hammes presided, and the first speaker was introduced as C. J. Mienness, who made an argumentative talk of about half an hour on the Republican administration and the blunders of its leaders. His speech was convincing, and from the applause he received it was clearly evident that the audience thoroughly understood all his points, both statistically and in the matter of plain facts and truths.

The colored Democrats were then introduced, and as he stepped on the platform was greeted with a wild chorus of cheers. His speech was a splendid effort, and he carried the audience with him through all its stages, from the pathetic to the humorous, the grave to the gay, and the sprinkling of well-pointed sarcasms brought down the house every turn. He told of his reasons for leaving the Republican local ticket and supporting the Democrats, by ridiculing the program that was promised to be carried out, and the sham execution of promises given. He told how poor Conrad Miller, being unable to juggle the books left by a clean Democratic administration as successfully as Mr. Cardy has juggled the figures in his office, was being driven from office by the leaders could not make political capital out of it. He told how the Republican council, in spite of the earnest efforts of J. J. Hill to the contrary, had insisted on spending the $100,000 to build a mass of plaster and boards into arches when the money should have been taken to relieve the distress that every one knew would come when the cold and dreary winter months came upon us. He said that when people like John O. Wright as well as two years ago they do now they never fail to bring their money to the aid of the important office of mayor of the city of St. Paul. He took up Doran's and Reardon's record in the council, and in an excellent but unimpassioned way he laid out his business. Doran had but two resolutions to his credit for the entire term, and he said that the Democrats had a program of their own. His initiation of Ed Rogers trying to make a statesman out of Doran was the hit of the evening, and when he got through it was a great success. McGhee made many votes for the Democratic ticket in the upper end of the Fifth ward.

The last speaker of the evening was T. J. McDermott, and his address was an able and forcible one. He took the ticket in hand and largely by the throat, and went from top to bottom, and his comparisons with the enemy were well and fearfully received. He read an extract from the Pioneer Press, in which it was shown that the would-be dictator of Republican politics in St. Paul had told the Democrats that the Democrats were elected it was no one's business what appointments were made or what they did with the money. In conclusion he showed that when the Democrats were in power every citizen, no matter what party he belonged to, was entitled to a hearing on public questions. Mr. McDermott took up the financial question and handled it without gloves, and closed with a splendid appeal to the next mayor, Robert A. Smith.

The meeting for this evening in the Fifth ward will be held at Ayd's hall, where a splendid good speaker will address the citizens, and all are cordially invited.

TIRED OF EXPERIMENTS.

Smith Has Been Tried and Found Not Wanting.

The Second ward Democrats met in goodly numbers last night at 728 East Third street, and held a meeting characterized by enthusiasm. J. C. Mangano opened the meeting and made a short speech. A. B. Oviatt followed with a speech on the issues in the campaign, and the speaker in a thoughtful way. He advocated the election of R. A. Smith as being a conservative course to pursue in trying times, and urged the audience to not aid to any more experiments by voting for Mr. Doran. He declared that a better government could be given by the present administration, or could be given by a man lacking in experience. The appointments on boards superior to the appointments by the present executive. Other speeches were made by Judge Alfred S. Hall, H. J. Strouse, Matt Egan and Charles Kartak.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

Where They Will Be Held This Evening.

The following Democratic meetings will be held this evening: First Ward—Foresters' Hall, Payne Avenue and Wells Street—C. D. O'Brien, R. A. Walsh, O. H. Neill. Second Ward—Lover's Hall—F. W. M. Catcheon, E. C. Ives. Third Ward—Constans Block Seventh and Wabasha—J. J. McCaffery Dr. A. J. Stone, Jared Howe. Fourth Ward—Lauer's Hall, Wabasha and Fourth—John E. Hearn, James Manahan, Stan Donnelly. Fifth Ward—Ayd's Hall—M. H. Albin, Frank C. Lambert, J. J. Ryan, D. F. Peablies. Sixth Ward—Liedertal Hall—John H. Ives, Pierce Butler, L. J. Dobner, Frank Ford.

French Going Democratic.

The French-American club of Democrats in the Sixth ward held an excellent meeting last night at the corner of Fairfield and Robertson streets. The speakers of the evening were Frank Ford, Assistant County Attorney Donnelly, Capt. Gallick, C. D. Williams, Mr. Freeman, Mr. Ellerby, H. G. Tardy and Joseph Bergfeld. These discussed the issues of the campaign.

The speakers illustrated the campaign stories. Robert A. Smith appeared late in the evening, and was greeted with tumultuous applause and cheers. Many of the men stood upon their chairs and waved their hats.

SMITH SPEAKS IN EIGHTH.

The Democrats of the Eighth ward were astir in several sections of their bailiwick last night. One of the meetings was held at the corner of Fairfield and Gaudier streets. It was large and enthusiastic and a great reception was given to Robert A. Smith, who was present and made a strong speech. Emiel Walther presided. Other speakers were Paul Theisen, George Spier, John Grode, Otto L. Haese and Matt Bantz.

People's Party Meeting.

The People's party made a very poor showing at their mass meeting in the Eighth ward last night, not a hundred being present. The speakers of the evening were: James Morrow, candidate for assembly; M. E. Prendergast, People's party nominee for city treasurer; Christian Froberg, judge for alderman of the Eighth, and Rudolph Mac-

Donald. The latter was properly the speaker of the evening, although his remarks would have done him little good had spoken less in glittering generalities about national affairs, and more about municipal issues. The proceedings dragged along in a dull sort of fashion, several leaving as the evening progressed. The GLOBE's exposure of controller McCardy's report, came in for a good share of attention.

A SMALL MEETING

Notable for the Vulgarity of its Choice Speaker. A small Republican meeting was held at Market hall last evening of which N. P. Langford was chairman. The first speaker was a Mr. Brown, who stated he had once been a Democrat. He freed over the heads of the audience, and no one man in five knew what he was talking about.

Next came a read by the name of Countryman, a rousing essay upon municipal government, with a flourish and stammer that was a Republican.

The next orator, the chairman said, was Judge Williams. This individual, a swashy way, confessed himself to be a Democratic renegade, and went to sleep during the progress of his speech.

The last speaker was a person named Tom, who made a rousing, vulgar, blatherish and abusive harangue. He claimed that he resided on the West side, but it was thought of him where he may be somewhat. Knowledge is shown by the following, said of him by the West St. Paul Times in its last issue: "Tom, Mr. Tom, you did not come off for trial on Monday, as announced, on account of the withdrawal of Mr. Franklin's attorney, John L. Towler. Mr. Towler's fee was $250 for the case. Mr. Franklin paid him $10, and on Saturday and Monday tendered him the balance of $240. He did not accept unless the whole amount was paid down."

The Times does not state, which, however, is the fact, that this alleged attorney still retains the $110.

POLITICAL STRAWS.

The First Ward Hebrew Democratic-Republican club meets this evening at 840 Payne avenue. Everybody is invited.

There will be a Democratic rally at Ayd's hall, in the upper end of the Fifth ward, this evening. This may be the last meeting for the upper end of the Fifth ward. The speakers will be: Robert A. Smith, who will be the main attraction, and will receive instructions on voting the ticket.

There will be a monster Democratic club meeting of the Como Democratic club at A. O. U. W. hall, Front street, near Lexington, this evening. Mr. Michaels will speak. Other prominent speakers will be present. Come one, come all.

The Hamline University Prohibition club will hold a rousing, vulgar, blatherish and abusive harangue. He claimed that he resided on the West side, but it was thought of him where he may be somewhat. MORE CROWD FOR JOSEF.

ELEGANT DISH SERVED UP FOR HIM LAST NIGHT.

And How Col. Davidson is Going for Him—Taking Revenge on Cause of the Quadrilateral Apostrophe of "Sticks"—Col. Davidson Demands a Retraction—It Must Come this Morning—The P. P. Will Doubtless Jump Down its Own Throat Again.

The Republicans are evidently maddened with fear, and in the way of revenge the Pioneer Press yesterday contained a violent attack on Col. Davidson, who has declined to withdraw from the majority race at their behest.

The substance of the onslaught was that while acting as executor of the late Commodore Davidson's estate he rented ballrooms for saloons and brothels.

The attack evidently made the "Quadrilateral Apostle of Light" slightly warm in the collar, and he last night served due legal papers on the law against the order to show cause why he should be ordered to discontinue his suit and eating another dish of crow this morning, which, it will probably do with all the ease and grace of a man who is accustomed to that kind of diet.

The colonel's attorney, who is least demanding for retraction with two affidavits. The one by himself sets forth that he was only one of five executors of the estate, that three of them were non-residents of the state, and the work devolved upon the committee's son and himself. The board of directors delegated him to handle the sale of property and nothing else, and the commodore's son to rent and collect for all the buildings. His affidavit adds:

"I have been present at meetings of said board of executors at all times and places, protested and remonstrated against the use of said property for any purpose other than for the purposes of the estate, and this deponent further states that in all his life when he has been owner, he has never been arrested in any property, but he has declined to permit for any of said properties to be used for any illegal, immoral or improper purposes, and he has declined to act as agent therefor."

The second affidavit served on the P. P. is made by Henry L. Williams, also a Republican and candidate on the Republican ticket for the council. He swears that he was attorney for the Davidson estate, and adds:

"I know that Col. James H. Davidson, who was one of the executors, was authorized to take charge of the selling the property of the estate, and to use the funds to meet the obligations of the estate. I know that he did not have authority to rent for any other purpose, and I have always opposed the letting of any of said properties for illegal, immoral or improper purposes."

Col. Davidson said last night that unless the order to show cause was issued, he would be arrested today for criminal libel.

In passing it might be noted that when the Pioneer Press building was destroyed by fire, the orator of the occasion and master of the ceremonies except the champagne.

It is said to see such disagreements spring up among the G. O. P. brethren.

TWO DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

Republicans Advised to Support the Best One.

DO NOT SUPPORT STEELE—FOURTH WARD REPUBLICANS DISSATISFIED WITH HIS NOMINATION AND RECORD. The Republicans of the Fourth ward hold their caucus this evening to elect a nominee for alderman. The position of many of them is that while the committee might have had the right to fill the ticket, the proposition was open to doubt under the circumstances, and in any event the caucus might have elected a man upon whom the party could have united and about whom they might have rallied with some prospect of success. The action was to endorse Steele, a Democrat who had been nominated by the committee, but who has always been affiliated with the Democratic party, and who will doubtless occupy the same position in the future. Steele's course in several public matters that have come before the people of the Fourth ward has not made him popular with the people, and he is regarded by many Republicans as narrow and obstructive in his views. Many have decided to vote against him, especially in view of the fact that Frank Brady, his opponent, is a live, bustling business man, popular on all sides, and will make a valuable alderman. "It is a choice between two Democrats," said one of the Republican speakers, "and it is up to you to vote for the man who will do the best for the ward."

TURNED TRAIN LOOSE.

George Francis Gathered In by Washington Police.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—George Francis Train is under arrest. The philosopher of psychic force wanted to languish in a dungeon deeper after his arrest than he has ever known. He refused to comply, and instead carried Mr. Train to the police court for immediate trial, instead of confinement first and trial afterwards. Mr. Train arrived in Washington yesterday, attracted by the notoriety surrounding the Corey movement. Last night he delivered a lecture on the theory of psychic force, and the theory of securing a license, a necessary incident in the District of Columbia, was not complied with, and today the police swooped down on Mr. Train and put him under arrest for violation of the license ordinance. Mr. Train demanded that he be taken to a police cell and incarcerated. The request was refused, and the police took him straight to the police court, which was in session, but Judge Miller refused to make a martyr of him and dismissed the charge.

A Woman's Panacea.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 27.—A person, evidently a woman, writing from Beaver, Mo. calls on Gov. Lowmelling to appoint April 30 a day of fasting and prayer in Kansas, for the purpose of interceding with Divine Providence to remove the disastrous troubles that hang over the country. She remembers, she says, when the governors of Kansas and Missouri appointed such a day for the expulsion of grasshoppers, and it was so effective that she is sure that present evils may be overcome in the same way.

COURT DOWNS STRIKERS.

JUDGE SANBORN MAKES THE INJUNCTION PERPETUAL.

Enjoined Strikers Appear in Court by President of the A. R. U. of St. Cloud as Their Attorney—Overt Acts or Threats Not Essential to Cause "Intimidation" Defined by Court.

Judge Sanborn, of the United States circuit court, had up for consideration yesterday the case of the Great Northern Railway company against Olson and other employees of the road. This was the chance procedure commenced at the beginning of the strike to enjoin the employees of the road against doing damage to property. It was in this proceeding that the chancery subpoenas and the injunction notices were issued and served by the deputy marshals by the hundreds. This proceeding has nothing directly to do with the arrest of the men on warrants for conspiracy or for obstructing the mails, except that it was based on the civil side of the court as a basis for beginning proceedings for contempt or for instituting the criminal proceedings before a commissioner of the court. W. E. Dodge and W. L. Cornish appeared for the railroad, and no appearance was made by attorney for the defendants named in the notice or for others that had been served with the injunction notices by the chancery subpoenas. L. D. Foster, president of the St. Cloud local A. R. U., and one of the defendants in the chancery proceedings, as well as several strikers, were present.

Judge Sanborn asked if any of the defendants were present, and Mr. Foster acknowledged his attendance. After reading the order to show cause why an injunction should not issue, Judge Sanborn asked if there was any desire on the part of defendants to be heard in opposition to granting the injunction.

L. D. Foster asked for a definition of the expression "intimidation" used in the notice.

Judge Sanborn proceeded to outline the course that the employees should follow, and to make the injunction perpetual, and at the conclusion of his opinion Mr. Foster told the court that he had no objection to the injunction, and would obey it as far as he is concerned, and advise the men to do the same.

In defining the meaning of the word "intimidation" Judge Sanborn said: "The employees have the right to organize for their mutual benefit, and for the purpose of advancing their wages. They have the right to induce others by argument and persuasion to join the organization, to quit the service of their employer, or to refuse to enter his service, but they may not induce such action by intimidation. Intimidation in this case is well illustrated by the case of the United States vs. Kane, 23 Fed. Rep. 728, in which a large party of strikers undertook to stop the operation of a railroad by gathering in a sargine crowd and overhauling the property by the threat of superior force; they did not seek to destroy an engine; they did not seek to injure property; but they attempted to stop the operation of the road; to prevent the engines from running out the trains, and tried to prevent the train men from working. Judge Brewer, now Mr. Justice Brewer of the supreme court, said: 'I have no doubt that some men who are excessively bold might have laughed at it and waited, believing that no personal violence would be used; but the average man has a feeling that it is his duty to regard his own property; and he will not act upon that presumption, and when these men met there in that fervor of excitement when the crowd surged backwards and forwards, from one end of that yard to another, approaching now this engine and now that, they knew and every man knows the kind of a demonstration was calculated to intimidate.' And he punished one of the leaders of the party for contempt. In the opinion he illustrates the meaning of intimidation by supposing that two men are working for a farmer and one is discharged and the other wants to stay, and the one that leaves comes around to a number of friends and gathers them and they come around, a large of party than they had, with revolvers and muskets, and the one that leaves comes and says to him: 'Now my friends are here, you had better leave; I request you to leave; the man looks at the party that is standing in front of him, and he says: 'I request—that is, so far as the language which is used; there is no threat, but it is a request backed by a demonstration of force, a demonstration which intimidates, calculated to intimidate, and the man says: 'Well, I would like to stay, I am willing to work here. Yet there are too many men here. There is too much of a demonstration. I am afraid to stay.' Now, the common sense of every man tells him that that is not a mere request—tells him that while the language may be very polite, he is merely in the form of a request, but it is accompanied by a request, and every man intends to make an impression, and the man leaves really because he is intimidated."
