

The Coupon for "Portrait Types" Is Printed on This Page Every Sunday.

Watch This Corner in Next Sunday's Globe for Another Coupon for the "Portrait Types."

FRENCH ARE FURIOUS

The Greatest Excitement Throughout the Republic.

OVER THE MURDER OF CARNOT.

Angry Feeling Against Italians and Anarchists.

RIOTS IN TOULON AND LYONS.

Several Sons of Italy Will Die From Injuries.

ITALIAN CAFES ARE BURNED.

Rulers of All Countries Sent Sympathetic Words.

NEW PRESIDENT TO BE CHOSEN

Wednesday, When the Political Air Will Be Clearer.

REMAINS REMOVED TO PARIS.

"Long Live Carnot, and Death to His Murderer"

WAS THE CRY OF THOUSANDS.

PARIS, June 25.—The deepest sorrow, dismay and anger prevails throughout France. The cowardly assassination of President Sadi-Carnot at Lyons last night is most heartily deplored by all.

Great anxiety is felt in regard to the future, and this will not be allayed until a successor to the late president shall be inducted into office. With all this the anger of France at the assassin, Cesare Giovanni Sante, the young Italian whose deadly knife has plunged a nation into grief.

Telegrams of sympathy are pouring in upon the family and upon the government. These messages of condolence come from all countries of the world, showing that France is not alone in her sorrow at the death of her president.

The newspapers of sympathy of opinion, print leading articles deploring the assassination of Sadi-Carnot.

Flags of mourning are general throughout the city and France today. All the flags are at half-mast, and the public buildings are being draped with crepe.

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her two sons, arrived at Lyons at 7 o'clock this morning. The widow was most respectfully greeted by a large crowd of people assembled about the hotel.

The newspapers of sympathy of opinion, print leading articles deploring the assassination of Sadi-Carnot.

Flags of mourning are general throughout the city and France today. All the flags are at half-mast, and the public buildings are being draped with crepe.

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her two sons, arrived at Lyons at 7 o'clock this morning. The widow was most respectfully greeted by a large crowd of people assembled about the hotel.

The newspapers of sympathy of opinion, print leading articles deploring the assassination of Sadi-Carnot.

Flags of mourning are general throughout the city and France today. All the flags are at half-mast, and the public buildings are being draped with crepe.

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her two sons, arrived at Lyons at 7 o'clock this morning. The widow was most respectfully greeted by a large crowd of people assembled about the hotel.

The newspapers of sympathy of opinion, print leading articles deploring the assassination of Sadi-Carnot.

Flags of mourning are general throughout the city and France today. All the flags are at half-mast, and the public buildings are being draped with crepe.

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her two sons, arrived at Lyons at 7 o'clock this morning. The widow was most respectfully greeted by a large crowd of people assembled about the hotel.

The newspapers of sympathy of opinion, print leading articles deploring the assassination of Sadi-Carnot.

Flags of mourning are general throughout the city and France today. All the flags are at half-mast, and the public buildings are being draped with crepe.

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her two sons, arrived at Lyons at 7 o'clock this morning. The widow was most respectfully greeted by a large crowd of people assembled about the hotel.

The newspapers of sympathy of opinion, print leading articles deploring the assassination of Sadi-Carnot.

Flags of mourning are general throughout the city and France today. All the flags are at half-mast, and the public buildings are being draped with crepe.

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her two sons, arrived at Lyons at 7 o'clock this morning. The widow was most respectfully greeted by a large crowd of people assembled about the hotel.

The newspapers of sympathy of opinion, print leading articles deploring the assassination of Sadi-Carnot.

Flags of mourning are general throughout the city and France today. All the flags are at half-mast, and the public buildings are being draped with crepe.

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her two sons, arrived at Lyons at 7 o'clock this morning. The widow was most respectfully greeted by a large crowd of people assembled about the hotel.

The newspapers of sympathy of opinion, print leading articles deploring the assassination of Sadi-Carnot.

Flags of mourning are general throughout the city and France today. All the flags are at half-mast, and the public buildings are being draped with crepe.

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her two sons, arrived at Lyons at 7 o'clock this morning. The widow was most respectfully greeted by a large crowd of people assembled about the hotel.

The newspapers of sympathy of opinion, print leading articles deploring the assassination of Sadi-Carnot.

Flags of mourning are general throughout the city and France today. All the flags are at half-mast, and the public buildings are being draped with crepe.

Mme. Carnot, accompanied by her two sons, arrived at Lyons at 7 o'clock this morning. The widow was most respectfully greeted by a large crowd of people assembled about the hotel.

against Italians is strong, the sentiments of hatred with which the majority of the people regard anarchists, still stronger, and is growing hourly in intensity. Sante, the murderer, has boldly asserted that he is an anarchist, and therefore upon the anarchists are the people pouring the vials of their wrath.

learned of the insulting words the Italian had said against the dead president. The Italian was taken to a hospital, where the physicians said he could live only a short time.

It is feared that conflicts will occur between the French and Italians.

TRUMPETS SOUND.

Civil and Military Honors Shown to the Remains of Sadi-Carnot.

Just Before the Sillito Was Driven Into His Body.

LYONS, June 25.—Deputy Chaudy, who was an eye witness of the crime, is quoted as saying that President Carnot was in the best of spirits just previous to the attack made upon him by Sante. A few moments before the sillito was driven into his body the president was laughing, and remarked that he was approaching the end of his term of office.

President Carnot did not faint when he was struck, but he was so violently shaken by the blow that he fell upon his back. He was lying on his back for some time before he was revived.

Every civil and military honor was shown the dead. The square in front of the prefecture was densely thronged, as were all the streets leading to the railway station. Troops were lined up on both sides of the route.

The procession that followed the body was a very lengthy one. It included all the civil and military authorities of Lyons, and a large number of delegates from different cities and towns.

Now, regarding this first wound, the small one, how deep was that? A. That was not a deep wound at all, it was a superficial one, it was a cut in the skin, it was a superficial one.

Q. And how far above the large wound? A. It was exactly parallel with it. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did this large wound have the appearance of a cut? A. It had the appearance of a cut, it was a superficial one, it was a cut in the skin, it was a superficial one.

Q. Now, doctor, what was the character of the wound? A. It was a superficial one, it was a cut in the skin, it was a superficial one.

Q. And what would we term an athlete? A. I never saw a more healthy, perfect form than that.

Q. The muscular development was good, was it not? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In fact, extraordinary? A. Very good.

Q. About how tall do you think this man was? A. About five feet six inches.

Q. Did you take a measurement of the shoulders or chest, I suppose? A. No, I did not.

Dr. R. S. Bole.

Dr. Bole's testimony was brief, and merely confined to saying that he corroborated Dr. Davis.

Examined by Mr. Wheaton: Q. You live at 133 West Fourth street, do you not?

Q. Were you at the Metropolitan hotel on the night of the 23d of June? A. I was there.

Q. At what time? A. I was there about 8 o'clock in the evening.

Q. Did you know John H. Clapp? A. Yes, I knew him.

Q. Did anything unusual occur at the Metropolitan hotel that night? A. Yes, there was a shooting.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

learned of the insulting words the Italian had said against the dead president. The Italian was taken to a hospital, where the physicians said he could live only a short time.

It is feared that conflicts will occur between the French and Italians.

TRUMPETS SOUND.

Civil and Military Honors Shown to the Remains of Sadi-Carnot.

Just Before the Sillito Was Driven Into His Body.

LYONS, June 25.—The archbishop of Lyons again visited the prefecture this afternoon and offered consolation to Mme. Carnot and her children.

The body of M. Carnot was taken from the prefecture this evening and placed on the train that conveyed it to Paris.

After prayers for the dead had been offered the casket containing the remains was carried out and placed on a gun carriage. While this was being done salutes of artillery were fired, however, were unassuming, and unimpressive.

Every civil and military honor was shown the dead. The square in front of the prefecture was densely thronged, as were all the streets leading to the railway station.

Troops were lined up on both sides of the route. The procession that followed the body was a very lengthy one.

It included all the civil and military authorities of Lyons, and a large number of delegates from different cities and towns.

Now, regarding this first wound, the small one, how deep was that? A. That was not a deep wound at all, it was a superficial one, it was a cut in the skin, it was a superficial one.

Q. And how far above the large wound? A. It was exactly parallel with it. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did this large wound have the appearance of a cut? A. It had the appearance of a cut, it was a superficial one, it was a cut in the skin, it was a superficial one.

Q. Now, doctor, what was the character of the wound? A. It was a superficial one, it was a cut in the skin, it was a superficial one.

Q. And what would we term an athlete? A. I never saw a more healthy, perfect form than that.

Q. The muscular development was good, was it not? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In fact, extraordinary? A. Very good.

Q. About how tall do you think this man was? A. About five feet six inches.

Q. Did you take a measurement of the shoulders or chest, I suppose? A. No, I did not.

Dr. R. S. Bole.

Dr. Bole's testimony was brief, and merely confined to saying that he corroborated Dr. Davis.

Examined by Mr. Wheaton: Q. You live at 133 West Fourth street, do you not?

Q. Were you at the Metropolitan hotel on the night of the 23d of June? A. I was there.

Q. At what time? A. I was there about 8 o'clock in the evening.

Q. Did you know John H. Clapp? A. Yes, I knew him.

Q. Did anything unusual occur at the Metropolitan hotel that night? A. Yes, there was a shooting.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

Q. How long did it last? A. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

Q. Where was the shooting? A. It was in the barroom.

stralia. Bankruptcy threatened the nation. The South was in arms. Lyons had set up the standard of revolt. The mad Chouans were the masters of Brittany. From this disorder, Carnot, the elder, emerged as the savior of the nation.

He "organized victory," as somebody said. He drew the scattered forces of France together, and he was the first to detect the nascent talent of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Such was the ancestor of Sadi-Carnot, and such the model the murdered president kept always before his eyes. To many, if not to himself, he realized his ideal.

THE SENATE.

President M. Challemel-Lacour presided at the session.

PARIS, June 25.—The senate was crowded this afternoon when the president, M. Challemel-Lacour, made an address expressive of the senate's feeling at the death of President Carnot.

In so doing, he eulogized the dignity of the republic, its unassuming, irreplicable conduct of M. Carnot.

"Europe," he continued, "is appreciating the nobleness and strength of his character, and shares in France's sorrow."

The speaker then voiced the sentiment and confidence with the family, saying:

"If any man's innate goodness should have been murdered from hatred and fanaticism, it was President Carnot."

"The crime has strengthened our energetic resolve to defend the foundations of the republic, and to prevent outrages on human lives."

"The coming congress will show unshaken confidence in the existing 'charter' of the republic, and its decision will be ratified by the majority of Frenchmen, who are resolutely engaged in the defense of the honor of the state, and within its borders peace."

The sitting of the senate was then closed.

HE WALKED THIRTY MILES TO REACH LYONS.

PARIS, June 25.—The police inquiries late this afternoon resulted in obtaining the following facts in regard to the assassin's movements previous to the murder.

Santo missed the train running directly to Lyons from Cotte, on Saturday, and had to go to Montpellier and thence to Vienna. From the latter place he was unable to pay his fare.

He took the train to Lyons, leaving on Sunday, and arrived there on Monday. He was seen at that part of the city given over to the Italians. Before the police could intervene to prevent trouble the mob attacked all the shops belonging to the foreigners and sacked them. The property of the families were forced to flee for their lives.

In the meantime another large band marched through other streets, and by threats compelled every Italian who kept a cafe to close his place of business.

The Italian ambassador, who was in the city, was ordered to leave the city, and he refused to obey orders given them to disperse. It was finally found necessary to command the cuirassiers to charge the crowd.

THE DEADLY BLADE.

It is a Long Instrument of the Sillito Pattern.

PARIS, June 25.—The weapon used by the assassin was a long, triangular blade, the blade of the sillito, a sword of Toledo.

The sheath of the sillito is of velvet, with red and black stripes. President Carnot's last words were: "Thank you, my friends, thank you."

Regarding the political situation, it is believed that ex-President Casimir-Perier, now president of the chamber of deputies, has the best chance of succeeding the late president, but the names of M. Challemel-Lacour, president of the senate, and M. Dupuy, president of the chamber of deputies, are also mentioned as likely to be among candidates.

ITALIANS AROUSED.

Great Consternation Among the Residents of Paris.

PARIS, June 25.—The news of the murder of President Carnot has caused consternation among the Italian residents in this city.

The president of the Italian chamber of commerce, as soon as the president's death became known, immediately drew up an address of condolence, which was signed by the chief Italian residents in Paris.

Subsequently presented to Premier Dupuy, who also received a message from Baron Blanc, the Italian minister for foreign affairs, saying that King Humbert, the Italian nation, the two chambers and the government of Italy shared the grief into which France had been plunged by the hand of an Italian anarchist, a man without a country.

The majority of the deputies, after calling at the Elysee, assembled at the Palais Bourbon, where meetings of all parties were held during the afternoon for the purpose of electing a new president.

HE WAS POPULAR.

The Simple and Successful Career of the Late President.

PARIS, June 25.—Few men in France were better liked than Francois Sadi-Carnot.

He was elected to the presidency December 3, 1877. His competitors were Gen. Sausier, M. Ferry and M. De Freycinet. Practically he was the candidate of the Radicals, and he was often accused of sympathy with the communists and reds. As president, as when he was in the cabinet, he steered between the two parties, conciliating all, antagonizing none.

His history is simple and uneventful. By profession he was an engineer, and by taste a political economist. He planned public works and edited John Stuart Mill's book on the national defense during the Franco-Prussian war, and consistently voted with the Radicals. He spent the best part of his life in remembering that he was Carnot's grandson, and in preserving the family tradition of integrity and courage. Carnot's grandfather, the associate himself with these words.

Let us bow respectfully before the tomb which has been raised to the memory of the fatherland and to the republic.

The president of the chamber of deputies.

Continued on Fourth Page.

BLOODY TALE RETOLD

The Coroner's Inquest Completes Its Work.

VERDICT, ALLEN KILLED CLAPP.

The Question of Self-Defense Not Mentioned by Jury.

THE HALF-SMOKED CIGAR

Clutched in the Fingers of the Dying Man.

LULU LEYDE TESTIFIES,

And Tells the Story of the Fatal Meeting.

DENIES KNOWING DECEASED.

But Landlady of No. 130 Says He Was a Caller.

WITNESS WHO SAW FIGHT

And Thought That Clapp Was Trying to Draw a Pistol.

TESTIMONY OF POLICE OFFICERS.

Sixteen witnesses examined, and but little light has been shed upon the awful tragedy which caused the death of John Clapp.

The inquest introduced last night at the inquest went to demonstrate the fact that the story as published in the Globe was as near correct as it was possible to obtain it.

One witness, Mrs. White, residing in the Fuller house, could not be found in the city yesterday when the officers called to serve the subpoena for her appearance. Just what she may know of the affair will for the present remain a mystery.

From all that was brought out at the inquest, it appears there were but three people who really saw what transpired.

One of these lay stiff in death. The others are Emil Allen, the defendant, and Sadye Allen, his companion.

Both Allen's companions stand during the inquest. Whatever his story of the encounter is will not come out until later.

The intensity of interest displayed by the citizens in the case was strongly brought out last night when the hour for the holding of the inquest arrived.

Long before the hour of 7 the municipal court room was packed with people who were waiting for the inquest. Every seat was filled when the hearing began, and the crowd kept increasing every moment. Every available place was taken advantage of. Many were compelled to stand up, and were even hanging over the clerk's desk, crowding behind the chairs of the jury, filling up the aisles, and became so dense in the front part of the room that the police had to be called into requisition several times to clear the space.

At 7:15 Dr. Wheaton took the bench, polled the jury and began the hearing.

County Attorney Butler and Chief of Police were sitting on the right side of the table. Directly opposite were Messrs. O'Brien and Mann, counsel for Allen. Coroner Whitcomb occupied the clerk's desk.

At the court room sat Messieurs Lamb, Schlicker and Wilson, the women who live at 130 West Fourth street.

A few moments after the inquest began the mother of Lulu Leyde came into the room, and sat on the bench.

She sat on the bench, and I sat him back in the chair. Q. Did he move after that? A. He didn't move. Q. How long before the doctor got there? A. About ten minutes from the time I saw him.

Q. How long did he live after that? A. I don't know. I think he lived about maybe twenty minutes. Q. Twenty minutes in all? A. He took a couple of minutes to get him, or made a game of some kind.

Examined by Mr. Butler: Q. What did you see when you first saw him? A. Well, he was about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and was wearing a dark suit. Q. How long before the doctor got there? A. About ten minutes from the time I saw him.

Q. How long did he live after that? A. I don't know. I think he lived about maybe twenty minutes. Q. Twenty minutes in all? A. He took a couple of minutes to get him, or made a game of some kind.

Examined by Mr. Butler: Q. What did you see when you first saw him? A. Well, he was about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and was wearing a dark suit. Q. How long before the doctor got there? A. About ten minutes from the time I saw him.

Q. How long did he live after that? A. I don't know. I think he lived about maybe twenty minutes. Q. Twenty minutes in all? A. He took a couple of minutes to get him, or made a game of some kind.

Examined by Mr. Butler: Q. What did you see when you first saw him? A. Well, he was about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and was wearing a dark suit. Q. How long before the doctor got there? A. About ten minutes from the time I saw him.

Q. How long did he live after that? A. I don't know. I think he lived about maybe twenty minutes. Q. Twenty minutes in all? A. He took a couple of minutes to get him, or made a game of some kind.

Examined by Mr. Butler: Q. What did you see when you first saw him? A. Well, he was about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and was wearing a dark suit. Q. How long before the doctor got there? A. About ten minutes from the time I saw him.